Jet's Fuselage Found In Bay Near Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese airliner carrying 133 persons crashed into Tokyo Bay last night. An airline spokesman early today said there was no sign of survivors, making it the world's worst single plane disaster.

A spokesman for All-Nippon Airways, operator of the three-engine Boeing 727, made the announcement that dashed most hope that any could have emerged alive.

He said rescue boats had recovered the fuselage of the plane and found "scores of bodies" inside. Hours after the crash there was no sign of a survivor, he added.

All aboard the plane were Japanese.

The debris was reported six to eight miles from Tokyo International Airport, which is on the edge of the bay just south of the main part of Tokyo.

The plane was on a 600-mile flight from Chitose, northern Japan, to Tokyo. Almost all the 126 passengers had attended the city's annual snow festival. Seven crew members also were aboard the plane.

PILOT HAS TROUBLE

Weather was good when the plane disappeared. An airline official said the pilot had reported a malfunction in his instruments and that he would make a visual landing. He was given clearance. Seconds later contact was broken with ground control.

The plane was 18 miles from the airport when it vanished from radar screens.

The worst previous crash involving a single plane brought death to 130 persons aboard an Air France Boeing 707 jetliner near Paris on June 3, 1962. In the second worst, 129 U.S. servicemen died in June 1953, in another crash near Tokyo.

Tokyo Bay is 50 miles long and about 24 miles at its widest. Tokyo, Yokohama, Kawasaki, Yokosuka and Chiba all are on the bay.

ONE OF THREE

The Japanese jetliner was one of three purchased from the Boeing company in May, 1964.

The Japanese airliner was the fourth Boeing 727 to crash in the past six months. The three other crashes occurred in the United States, taking 140 lives.

Reporting on a fiery crash of a 727 in Salt Lake City that killed 43 persons, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board disclosed last month it recommended rerouting of fuel lines that extend through the fuselage of jet planes, particularly those thot have engines mounted in the rear as does the 727.

NO THOROUGHFARE—Poplar Avenue in Ross, at the entrance to the town's commercial area, was blocked to traffic today as flood water poured down the street and bubbled up from storm drains beneath it. Weather Bureau said rain may continue throughout weekend.

Double Life Discovered

DONALD S. HEIEN
Alias Donald Vaughn

The 28-year-old Heien, a convicted murderer, went over the fence of the San Quentin Prison ranch on the night of May 4, 1964, and vanished.

Last March, the FBI placed him on its list of "10 most wanted," reporting "indications that he had fled from the State of California."

Where he had fled came to light with the arrest yesterday.

In Newton Center, a suburb of Boston, Heien had become Donald Vaughn. He had married, and told FBI agents that his wife was not aware of his true identity, according to the announcement of his capture by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

His wife, he disclosed, had recently given birth to twins.

FBI agents captured him at the dry cleaning plant where he was employed. He was not armed and put up no resistance, Hoover said.

He will be returned here for trial for escape.

The quiet life of husband and father Donald Vaughn was in sharp contrast to the earlier career of Donald S. Heien.

On March 12, 1956, he attempted to rob a service station attendant at Lomita Park, Los Angeles County. When his victim resisted, Heien shot and killed him. After his arrest, he reportedly admitted a series of holdups of service stations and liquor stores in the Los Angeles area. A heroin addict, he needed a "fix" the night he killed the service station attendant, he said.

The Lomita Park murder was not Heien's first crime. He had been charged with resisting arrest and disturbing the peace in Los Angeles in November, 1954, and again in January, 1955, also in Los Angeles, he had been charged with auto theft.

When the FBI put him on its "most wanted" list last year, it said Heien "has been armed with .22 and .38-caliber pistols and should be considered extremely dangerous."

The FBI said nothing about how its agents learned that killer Heien had become Newton Center cleaning plant worker Donald Vaughn.

Luna Makes It —Is Man Next?

JODRELL BANK, England (UPI) —The "most sensational pictures" ever received from the moon appeared to show today a dusty and rocky desert surface dotted with lunar pebbles and craters as small as an average dinner plate.

British scientists picked up four pictures of the world's first televised moonscape transmitted to an impatient world from Russia's Luna-9.

The British scientists stole a march on the Russians by giving out the vivid description of the Russians' own closeup moon shots coming from a quarter of a million miles away But the Russians crowed that the first man on the moon would be a Russian.

In Moscow, an official announcement said only that viewers will be able to see Luna-9 television pictures "in due course." but it gave no idea what to expect.

A jubilant Prof. Sir Bernard Lomell, director of the famed observatory near Manchester, said the "fantastic" pictures appear to destroy the theory that the moon's dust is many feet thick."

After viewing the four pictures, none larger than 10 by 11 inches, Lovell said he would now "support the theory that the dust is only a few inches thick."

One picture showed a sweep of the lunar landscape and another bore a black patch which appeared to be the shadow of the Soviet Luna-9—the world's first space vehicle to make a soft landing on the moon.

A Moscow television announcer said:

"Our Soviet men will be pioneers on the moon."

Soviet spaceman Alexei Leonov said in a broadcast that Cosmonauts are training for a moon trip.

Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin said on television that Luna-9 "transmits what it sees with television cameras."

The transmission of television pictures from the first space ship to make a soft landing on the moon was disclosed yesterday by British scientists who

Tip Leads To Capture Of Convict

William J. Dellinger, 36-year-old murderer who climbed over the San Quentin Prison north wall before dawn on Jan. 14 and camped for two days in a Larkspur thicket, was arrested early today by police in Reno, Nev.

Dellinger was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Ruby Miller of Bellflower, Los Angeles County, when he was arrested at 2:30 a.m., police reported.

Police said they had received a call saying he might be in the Reno area.

Mrs. Miller was driving to her sister's house in Reno when her car was stopped, they reported.

Dellinger did not resist arrest, officers said, but he at first gave a false name.

A trusted prisoner who was a fire guard at the prison's textile plant, Dellinger was serving a life term for the shooting of his stepfather, Sterling Miller, while the two were working together in a Kern County mine in 1958.

"His apprehension was a very clever piece of police work," said Elmer L. Howell, business manager at the prison, today.

Howell said that Dellinger was being held at the Reno City Jail until arrangements are made to return him to San Quentin.

Lucas Green Annexation Is Rejected By Commission

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Members of Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, meeting before a full house last night, rejected by 4-1 vote the proposed Lucas Green annexation to San Rafael.

The 54-acre parcel is at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101 and is part of both the Terra Linda Community Services District and Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District.

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, a commission member, moved the denial, saying he was against it mainly because of the economic impact that would be felt by the two small districts in losing the territory.

Commissioner Hugh G. Marchant was the dissenting voter. He said the dispute seemed to

Police Seek Grudge Motive In Murder

Friends, acquaintances and relatives of Marjorie S. Rudolph were interviewed today by police inspectors seeking a lead to anyone who may have a real or imagined grudge against the murdered wife of banker Leroy Rudolph.

"So far, we've turned up nothing," said San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

The police department has been flooded with phone calls offering leads, according to the chief. "We check them all out, no matter how strange," he said.

PRINT WORK

Police technicians continued lifting fingerprints at the Rudolph's home at 19 Carroll Court, San Rafael, scene of the brutal slaying Tuesday night.

"We've picked up a lot of prints, including some on the bathtub in which her body was found," Chiesa said, "but it will take a lot of sifting to see if they're any use."

First, the police will have to match up the prints with those of persons having innocent access to the house, a long process, he said.

FULL TIME

Inspector Thomas Cheetham has been assigned full time to the case, in which Mrs. Rudolph was ferociously beaten by someone — presumably known to her — for whom she opened the door to her home. Her family and neighbors agree she would never have admitted a stranger to the house. There

That Rooftop Beat Will Go On And On

No letup was in sight today in continuous rain which had pelted Marin County for more than 24 hours by noon.

Reservoirs and rain gauges were filled to overflowing, at least two trees were down, landslides were causing motorists inconvenience on two roads —but no major flooding had been reported by midday.

The Weather Bureau warned residents to keep umbrellas and raincoats handy for the next five days. The immediate storm, which earlier had been expected to ease off tomorrow, may last until next Wednesday, the bureau said.

Ross and San Anselmo were among the cities worst hit by the rain. More than three inches were recorded in both in 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today.

In San Rafael, 2.14 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours to noon today.

William Grant, senior engineer for Marin Municipal Water District, said Lagunitas, Nicasio, Bon Tempe and Alpine reservoirs were full. He said "Phoenix Lake is being maintained empty although water is flowing in and out."

The North Marin County Water District reported Stafford Lake reached the spillway and started overflowing yesterday. By this morning, there was a six-inch stream over the spillway.

A tree fell into Corte Madera Creek behind the Flying A service station at Barber Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo.

Kentfield firemen were called out at 5:14 p.m. yesterday to clear away a tree which fell at the side of the road at Evergreen and South Ridgewood drives.

Shortly after midnight, a large

Ex-Sniping Suspect Held In Strawberry Robbery

Two Marin City youths—one of whom was charged in December with shooting at sheriff's deputies—were arrested on suspicion of robbery last night, minutes after a 65-year-old tourist was robbed of $112 in Strawberry.

Booked at the county jail were Dave Townsel Jr., 19, of 211 Drake Avenue—who had been charged with the sniping at sheriff's cars, and Larry Cleary Walker, 18, of 31 Cole Drive, who was free awaiting trial on an auto theft charge. They were held under $3,630 bail each.

A third Marin City youth, picked up with them, was questioned and released.

Victim of the robbery was Ralph J. Bowers of Lancaster, Los Angeles County, who was staying at Alto Motel in Alto. He told sheriff's officers he ate dinner in a restaurant in Marin Town and Country Village at Strawberry and was looking in shop windows nearby at 9 p.m.

Petitions Ask CSD Formation For Tam Valley

Petitions will be circulated within two weeks in Tamalpais and Tennessee Valleys to ask the Local Agency Formation Commission to create a new Community services district.

This was reported last night to directors of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club by director William A. Hargreaves.

The club has bought an 11-acre site and plans to dedicate it to such a district, if one is formed, for a community center.

Hargreaves said the club wants to see a district which would replace the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, expanding its boundaries and adding recreation and parks to its function.

About 200 signatures are needed to bring the matter before the LAFC, Hargreaves said.

TV Star Explains Viet Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Robert Vaughn, television's "Man From U.N.C.L.E.," said last night he had no intention of causing "an uproar" with his speech about the Viet Nam war last weekend in Indianapolis, Ind.

Vaughn

"The speech was the result of soul searching, historical analysis, contemporary evaluation of the current situation from the congressional record and such periodicals as Time, Newsweek, the Washington Post, the New York Times comments made in the press by the Walter Lippmans, Eric Severeids, James Reston, and my collective judgment."

Vaughn, who indicated he disapproves of the war in Viet Nam, said this was the end product of the year's work and his concern since escalation of the war began.

He said the points of view contained in his speech to the John F. Kennedy-Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Dinner audience were points of view that have been expressed repeatedly by responsible people. He said he has no political aspirations, said he was "a gravely concerned citizen about this country and its policies toward the rest of the world."

'Tired' Hedy Fired From Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I was so tired from sleeping only one hour in four days. I just sort of collapsed for a day. That's human isn't it?"

Thus actress Hedy Lamarr explained her absence from work, which resulted in her firing yesterday from her first starring role in 15 years.

Hedy

It was not, said producer Bert I. Gordon, because of her arrest last week on suspicion of shoplifting $86 in goods from a department store.

Miss Lamarr was replaced in "Picture Mommy Dead" by Zsa Zsa Gabor, Gordon said.

Explained Gordon: "The only remaining scenes are those in which she (Miss Lamarr) appears. . . with a million-dollar budget, the people financing the picture will not allow me to gamble further . . ."

Gordon said he learned Miss Lamarr was hospitalized for nervous exhaustion Wednesday when he sent a studio car to pick her up.

She is due for arraignment on a petty theft charge Feb. 9. She has denied stealing anything.

Although Gordon said he would be pleased to have her in a future picture, Miss Lamarr declared: "I will never act again."

Take Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has withdrawn the passport of Staughton Lynd, the Yale University professor who made an unauthorized trip to North Viet Nam last December. Also lifted were the passports of Lynd's two traveling companions, Herbert Apthker, a U.S. Communist party theoretician, and Thomas E. Hayden, founder of Students for a Democratic Society.

Against Air Raids

Perversion Argued In Mossler Trial

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The state lost no time in coming to grips with the defense contention that Jacques Mossler's murder may have been the result of weird sexual habits.

State Atty. Richard Gerstein yesterday asked one of his own witnesses at the first - degree murder trial of Mossler's widow, Candace, and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers: "Did it ever occur to you that Jacques was a little bit effeminate?

"Never," replied the witness, Howard B. Walker, for 21 years an executive in Mossler's $33-million banking and loan empire.

BLUNT QUERY

"Was Mr. Mossler a homosexual?" Gerstein asked point blank in a crowded Dade County Circuit Court room.

"To my knowledge, no," said Walker, a tanned man with thin brown hair who is manager of the Miami branch of the Allen-Parker Co., a Mossler-owned auto finance firm.

Only a half-day court session was planned today before an all male jury in Judge George Schulz' courtroom. The state plans to call laboratory experts who examined the Key Biscayne surroundings after the Mossler, 69, was bludgeoned and knifed to death June 30, 1964.

AFFAIR CHARGED

Candy Mossler, a small, shapely blonde who gives her age as 39, and Powers, a brawny, darkly handsome 29, are on trial for their lives. The state claims they plotted Mossler's murder for his money and to further "a sordid, illicit love affair."

In his opening statement, Powers' chief defense attorney, a colorful Texan with steel grey hair, Percy Foreman, told the jury that "there was not a conceivable sexual deviation in all psychiatry that Mossler did not have."

DEFENSE THEORY

The import of the accusation, Foreman explained, was that Mossler could have been the victim of a homosexual companion on the night he met violent death in his apartment while his pet dog barked in frantic protest.

Walker testified on cross examination that Mossler for a year previously had shared a one-bedroom apartment with Vincent T. Caltagirone, described by the witness as a "handsome young man." He is listed as a future state witness.

However, Walker's testimony primarily was intended as support for handyman Roscoe Brown's statement that Mrs. Mossler twice tried to get him to change his story of events preceding her husband's murder.

Brown, 47, a broad-shouldered Negro odd-jobs man with the Mosslers for 17 years, testified that he cleaned a kitchen counter and drain-board eight hours before Mossler's slaying. The state says Powers' palm print was found there after the murder.

Brown also testified that he had a 1960 white company Chevrolet serviced and turned it over to Mrs. Mossler the afternoon before her husband's murder.

The state contends she in turn loaned the car to Powers, that he used it to get away after the slaying and that his fingerprints were found in it.

Brown said Mrs. Mossler in telephone calls after Powers' arrest asked him to change his story.

He quoted her as saying: "My dear husband, he is dead and gone. There is nothing we can do to bring him back. So, remember a man's life is at stake. The wrong thing can hurt."

Scientists say carbon dioxide is being added to the atmosphere at the rate of 6 billion tons a year. It is coming from the burning of petroleum, coal and gas.

Next Clyde Beatty

TARZAN IN A CAGE

Circus Lion Tamer Boasts Polish Of Two Centuries

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Jean Charles Zerbini of Sarasota—husband, father and businessman—drives an air-conditioned car to work each morning and comes home looking like he's been wrestling lions.

He has.

Zerbini, 23, is an eighth-generation lion tamer who will replace the late Clyde Beatty, America's best known animal trainer, in the featured center ring of the touring Shrine Circus this season.

His act with 11 lions has the polish of 200 years—the time his forebears toured Europe and the Mediterranean countries making the name Zerbini synonymous with circus.

Five years ago Zerbini brought his famous name across the Atlantic, added "Tarzan" for its appeal to U.S. audiences, and set out to carve a niche for the Zerbinis in American circus annals.

He will be near to doing this if he can fill Beatty's shoes. Beatty, 61, succumbed to cancer last summer after 17 years as a Shrine Circus headliner. He survived more than 100 maulings over his 40-year career.

Born in North Africa, Zerbini and his aerialist wife, Jacqueline, live in a converted trailer home with their 20-month-old daughter, Patricia, in a circus community west of Sarasota.

Few who watch it will be inclined to disagree. Coached by his father, Charles, 53, who lost a leg to the cats at age 15, Zerbini is calm as a kindergarten teacher as he puts his animals through their paces—jumping, dancing, and acting as if to devour him.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A twin-engine plane smashed into a group of homes yesterday, killing a 2-year-old boy and two occupants of the plane and injuring seven other persons. The pilot was identified as Hal Haines of Phoenix. His body and that of a woman passenger were recovered from the wreckage. Authorities today were attempting to identify the woman. The dead boy was Michael Muniz.

GENERALS CLASH ON VIET TACTICS

Ex-Envoy Gen. Taylor Brands Gavin's Enclave Proposal 'Abandoning Friends'

NEW YORK (UPI) —Gen. Maxwell Taylor and retired Gen. James A. Gavin clashed yesterday over Gavin's recommendation that the United States limit its operation in Viet Nam to the holding of strategic coastal enclaves.

In speeches in New York and Worcester, Mass., Taylor, former ambassador to Viet Nam, attacked Gavin's suggestion because "it suggests abandonment of our friends, the South Vietnamese . . . it would create difficult political problems . . . it would bring on a loss of confidence in our ability and our willingness to defend South Viet Nam.

Gavin, who proposed in the February issue of Harper's magazine that U.S. forces in Viet Nam limit their operations to coastal enclaves, held a news conference in Boston to elaborate on his views, which had come under fire from administration officials, including Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

The retired paratroop general said yesterday the United States has sufficient troops in Viet Nam now to hold a limited number of enclaves indefinitely while working for a political settlement.

"The ingredients for a political settlement may be there, and we must put a great deal of emphasis in that direction," he said.

Gavin said, however, that his letter to Harper's magazine had been misunderstood.

He said that in suggesting "holding several enclaves on the coast," he had intended that we should continue to hold all areas now controlled by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

"It was my assumption that these enclaves are where we are now," Gavin said.

In his speech to the Worcester Economics Club, last night, Gen. Taylor said the withdrawal of U.S. forces would result in "A major defeat for the United States."

"In fact," he said, "it would be a victory for Hanoi because it would prove, at least in the minds of the Communists, that the theory of wars of liberation is correct.

"As far as negotiating under the enclave theory, it is difficult enough to negotiate from a position of strength with the Communists, let alone negotiating with them when they believe they have won."

Novelist Absent, Warrant Issued

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of author Ken Kesey for failing to appear for a probation hearing on a narcotics charge.

The court waited for an hour for Kesey, author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," to appear.

Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley issued the warrant over the objections of Kesey's attorney who said he thought his clien's absence was due to a misunderstanding.

Other-Man Confession Clouds Stabbing Trial

A San Quentin inmate with a history of confessing at trials of other defendants yesterday startled a Marin Superior Court jury by testifying that he, and not Robert Gene Glover, stabbed a fellow-inmate on Sept. 18, 1963.

Gregory, serving five years to life in San Quentin for armed robbery and escape, told the jury that he carried a sharpened brass rod into the prison's adjustment center classroom with the intention of assaulting a prisoner identified as "Harmon."

He said, however, that he saw a scuffle between Glover and Henry L. Wolfenden, 28, and aided Glover by stabbing Wolfenden.

Glover is on trial for assault on Wolfenden, who recovered. He was convicted in earlier trial, but his motion for new trial was granted by an appellate court.

The confession yseterday came only one day before a three-year statute of limitations would expire and prevent his being charged with the crime.

Leonard Shaw, assistant district attorney, discounted the confession, declaring Gregory did the same thing in a stabbing trial in Marin County in October of 1962, when Angel R. Nino, San Quentin inmate, was the defendant.

He said the confusion, however, contributed to a hung jury. Nino was retried in Jannuary, 1963. Again Gregory testified that he, not Nino, was the assailant. Again, the jury was unable to agree.

Shaw said Glover, too, confessed belatedly to a crime of which Robert B. Dorado, 27, of Los Angeles was convicted. In April 1963, Glover told district attorney representatives that he, not Dorado, killed San Quentin prisoner Abel A. Nevarez on Dec. 12, 1961.

"I'm the one. It's not my buddy," Glover was quoted as saying.

Dorado has since been granted a new trial on a ruling based on a U.S. Supreme Court decision that a main suspect must be informed of his rights.

Testimony in Glover's trial before Judge Joseph G. Wilson is scheduled to resume Monday, and expected to conclude the following day. Trial started Jan. 24.

section of hillside at 260 Beach Road, Belvedere, slid onto the road, blocking traffic. City Mgr. William C. Cavalli said one lane was open by 9 a.m. today. The remainder of the road was cleared by noon.

A small slide blocked about half the northbound lane of Shoreline Highway, a quarter mile south of the intersection with the Bolinas-Olema Road.

Ely Caillouette, San Rafael city engineer, had men watching for flooding in the Bret Harte area at high tide, 11 a.m. today. None developed, however.

Although the rain may ease off slightly tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said today the storm center, now off the Oregon coast, may hit the coast with more rain Sunday.

Rainfall figures in Marin County during the 24 hours at 8 a.m. today included: Ross 3.09 inches, San Anselmo, 3.05, Hamilton Air Force Base 2.96, Fairfax 2.8, Woodacre 2.44, Terra Linda 2.4, Larkspur 1.9, Novato and Chevy Chase area of Larkspur 1.85, Tamalpais Valley and Inverness 1.8, Mill Valley 1.72, Point Reyes Station 1.65, Sausalito 1.5 and Belvedere 1.43.

Inter-Com System Lost To Burglars

Loss of a new inter-communications system in burglary of a house under construction at 201 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said J. R. Coleman Construction Co., San Rafael, reported entry was made by breaking a rear window.

Mrs. Eugenie K. Vitols, San Francisco, reported her summer home at 756 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, was entered by forcing a rear sliding glass door. A camera, valued at $120 when new, was taken. The home was ransacked.

Carolyn Marie Senske, 279 Cecelia Way, Bel Aire, told officers that burglars forced a garage door for entry. Nothing was believed taken.

Water Increase Hearing Slated

The California Public Utilities Commission will hold a public hearing in Stinson Beach on Feb. 15 on an application for a rate increase by Stinson Beach Water District.

Increases are sought by George P. Leonard and the Stinson Beach Water Co., which he heads.

Examiner P. Everett Emerson will preside at the hearing at 10 a.m. in the Stinson Beach Community Center.

LUNA

monitored the successful completion of the flight, but the Soviets withheld the announcement in Moscow until today.

Moscow television announcer Yuri Fokin told the Russians that the first space station on the moon had transmitted a total of three hours of information.

"Everything is functioning normally," Fokin said in a progress report on the space feat made almost 24 hours after the landing.

Gherman Titov, Russia's No. 2 spaceman, told Tass that before the Soviets sent a man to the moon, "live organisms may visit it—they may be Belkas and Strelkas."

These were the names of pioneer space dogs which rose on the early Sputniks.

While Tass set no target date for a Russian manned moon landing, the agency predicted Soviet spacemen would be flying to planets by 1976. The Soviets must first complete successful space docking techniques such as carried out in the last American Gemini launch.

Since the United States does not expect to attempt a soft landing before next May, the Soviet achievement may have pushed the Russians ahead of America in the race to the moon. The United States hopes to land a man on the moon by 1970.

Luna-9 set down gently on the moon's surface near the "Ocean of Storms" region after flying 225,000 miles in about three and a half days. It landed with its package of instruments intact and began transmitting radio signals back to earth.

Tass later reported today that astronomers at the Pulkovo Observatory in Leningrad used a giant telescope to photograph the landing site before and after Luna-9 set down on the moon. The pictures "are being developed," it said.

A team of scientists at the giant radio observatory at Jodrell Bank, England, tracked the Soviet flight to its end and reported signals indicating Luna-9 transmitted television pictures for more than 20 minutes after landing.

They said arrangements were being made today to translate the telemetric signals into picture for a sneak preview of what Luna-9 saw on the moon.

Pentagon Boss Draws Curtain On Viet Nam

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara declined today to testify in public in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee investigation of President Johnson's Viet Nam war policies. He drew quick fire from some committeemen. (See story on Viet Nam, page 5.)

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., disclosed in the midst of sharp questioning of Foreign Aid Administrator David E. Bell that McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had refused to be questioned in open sessions.

"They feel that is is not in the public interest to appear in a public session," Fulbright announced.

This stirred up an angry demand from Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.: "Let's have it out with the secretary of defense."

Fulbright said McNamara offered to "appear in executive session—he doesn't want to appear in public session."

Fulbright, spearheading an attack by Senate critics of policies underlying the Viet Nam fighting, said that we are beginning to know what the war means in lives and suffering for Americans and South Vietnamese alike.

"Do you know how many Viet Cong were killed last year?" Fulbright asked Bell earlier.

Bell said he did not have exact figures, but he estimated it was nearer 30,000 than the 11,247 Fulbright said his committee staff estimated.

Fulbright stuck by his estimate, and said the administration contemplates spending $15.8 billion in military and economic assistance to South Viet Nam before this fiscal year ends.

With 11,247 Viet Cong killed, the chairman said, "it works out to a very high cost per kill."

Earlier Fulbright charged that the major factor in the deep U.S. involvement in South Viet Nam is $3 billion in economic aid it has poured into that country in the past 10 years.

The specific purpose of the hearings was to take testimony on the administration's request for $415 million in additional foreign economic aid this fiscal year. Of that amount, $275 million would go to South Viet Nam.

Fulbright then asked the AID chief if some past statements by U.S. officials about an improving outlook in South Viet Nam were not "more optimistic than the facts justified."

"They certainly were," Bell agreed.

The AID chief insisted despite skeptical questioning that there as considerable public support in South Viet Nam for the Saigon government.

He also said murder and terrorism by the Viet Cong now has spread into northeast Thailand, with increasing instances of police and border patrolmen being murdered.

Pickup 4th pgh: The committee

The committee voted yesterday to hold the hearings. The decision was a victory for Fulbright, who has recently been sharply critical of administration policy and who opposed the resumption of U.S. bombing raids on North Viet Nam.

Farm Workers Seek Employment Near Monterey

SALINAS (UPI)—For the first time within memory, able-bodied farm workers are out of work in Monterey County.

The number of jobs has dwindled because frost and wet weather caused local farmers to plow under many crops.

More than 60 workers have received emergency aid of shelter and food in the last two days, and more are expected to apply.

"I've been in this county 24 years and this is the first time I've come for help," said worker Armando Lozano.

Lucas Green Annexation Is Rejected By Commission

be centered on zoning and he did not think it proper for the commission to meddle in San Rafael and county zoning policies.

Marchant also argued that the area would eventually become part of San Rafael. He said the whole issue as he saw it was one of timing. He thought this the time for annexation.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, also a member of the commission, suggested the denial be without prejudice, indicating the proposal might be resubmitted in less than a year. Storer, however, refused to accept the amendment.

The crowd was overwhelmingly opposed to the annexation, and the commission's vote for denial was greeted with applause.

Though most of the protest came from residents of unincorporated Terra Linda, it was a resident of the city, Mrs. Constance Johnstone of the Twelve Oak Hill subdivision west of the proposed annexation, who stated the zoning argument most clearly.

"We have more confidence in the county's planning than we do in the City of San Rafael's," she declared.

She expressed fear that the commercial acreage in the property, now at 9.25 acres for a neighborhood shopping center, would be increased if the annexation to the city were allowed.

The county turned down an increase in commercial zoning over a year ago.

Melvin Warenback, vice chairman of the Terra Linda Community Services District board, said a major shopping center at the intersection, so close to the regional Northgate center, would probably depress the area, leaving many vacant stores.

Jack Brandon, chairman of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District board, declared that it was "unheard of" to have two shopping centers so close together.

Both Brandon and Warenback said the loss of assessed value to the districts would have a major impact on their finances.

Assessed value of the property is $126,230. An increase is expected with development of the 9.25-acre shopping center. Warenback said the community services district has invested in fire fighting equipment with expectation that the district would be serving the area.

Dan E. Andersen, city manager of San Rafael, spoke at some length in favor of the annexation, arguing that it was not a piecemeal annexation as some had charged, and the property was a logical addition to the city.

He said the commercial zoning probably would be increased, at least 20 acres fronting on the highway should be either commercial or business-professional, he argued.

He also said any change in zoning would depend first on an application by owners and then on public hearings and action by the city planning commission and city council.

Dell M. Mallik and Jack Bennett, owners of 43 acres of the parcel, including the present commercial acreage, also spoke in favor of annexation.

Mallik protested being "put in middle" on the issue. He complained at a recommendation of commission executive officer John F. Barrows that the annexation be used as "leverage" in forcing a study of annexing all of Terra Linda to San Rafael.

Barrows asked that the hearing be continued a month to give him time to meet with representatives of the city and the districts to see if some proposal might be evolved on annexing all of Terra Linda. This would have to be approved by Terra Linda voters.

Behr suggested the Lucas Green proposal would undoubtedly come up again in one form or another and knowledge of this should make Terra Linda residents realize that something must be worked out.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon of Larkspur, sitting in on the commission for the absent Wayne Womack of Novato, said his main objection to the annexation was that it would make the Terra Linda Community Services District an unincorporated island within San Rafael.

The commission can waive the ban on unincorporated islands, but Brixon did not think this would be appropriate.

was no evidence of forced entry, Cheetham said.

Cheetham's investigation took him as far afield as Santa Rosa last night, where he interviewed the former husband of Patricia Lee Sovulewski of Santa Venetia, the Rudolphs' daughter.

The slain woman's husband was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital, where he is recovering from a hernia operation.

Paper Predicts Replacement Of Westmoreland

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — U.S. Army Gen. William C. Westmoreland will be replaced soon as U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported today.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Edward W. O'Brien in Washington, said Westmoreland's successor has been selected.

O'Brien wrote that Westmoreland "has fallen into political disfavor with top civilian officials in the administration because of recent disclosures in Saigon of the large Communist military buildup during the 37-day bombing suspension ordered by President Johnson."

The newspaper said the replacement of Westmoreland, who was named commander Aug. 1, 1964, will be attributed to the expiration of a normal two-year tour of duty.

Presidents Will Fly To Hawaii To See Ky

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today he will fly to Hawaii tomorrow for three days of talks with the president of South Viet Nam and with top American officials from Saigon.

Johnson, holding an unannounced news conference in his oval office, said he will leave for Honolulu tomorrow afternoon and will meet there with the South Vietnamese premier, Nguyen Cao Ky, and with Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu.

HELD

when someone grabbed him around the neck from behind.

He said two youths threw him to the ground, took his wallet and fled afoot.

Bowers gave chase, unsuccessfully. He reported the holdup to Felix Heredia, a private patrolman for the center.

Heredia notified deputies at the Marin City sheriff's sub-station, giving description of the attackers.

Deputies stopped Townsel, Walker, and the third youth driving in a car near Sabella's Restaurant on Highway 101.

They said Townsel and Walker were identified by Bowers as his assailants. The loot was not recovered.

Townsel was charged with a Dec. 2 felony shooting at sheriff's deputies in Marin City, but a grand jury later failed to indict him because of insufficient evidence. The complaint was dismissed.

Walker was bound over to Marin Superior Court on Jan. 7 for auto theft. His case was referred last Tuesday to juvenile court.

OBITUARIES

Marjorie Rudolph Rites Set

Funeral will be held tomorrow for Marjorie S. Rudolph, slain wife of Leroy Rudolph, manager of the main San Rafael branch of the Bank of America.

Service will be at 10 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Entombment will be in Cypress Hill Cemetery in Petaluma.

Mrs. Rudolph, 60, died Tuesday of injuries suffered in a beating by an unknown assailant in her home at 19 Carroll Court, San Rafael.

Mrs. Rudolph, the former Marjorie Stillwell, was a great niece of Dr. Galen Burdell, early Marin pioneer and holder of the Rancho Olompali land grant. She was born in the Burdell home on the ranch near Novato.

She was a member of Sunny Hills.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Rudolph is survived by two daughters, Barbara Lee Sovulewski of Santa Venetia and Mary Stone of Mountain View, and three grandchildren.

JESSIE McNAB

Private funeral for Jessie Grover McNab, 84, of Kentfield, widow of John L. McNab, attorney for many years for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, was scheduled today at Halsted and Co. mortuary, San Francisco.

A former grand officer of the Oreder of the Eastern Star, Mrs. McNab died yesterday at a local convalescent home after a long illness. She lived for eight years in Kentfield.

Her husband, a nationally known orator, nominated Herbert Hoover for President in 1928. He served as attorney for the bridge district from 1939 until 1950.

Mrs. McNab was also a member of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, the Forum Club, and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Scott of Kentfield, Mrs. Vivian M. Smith of Corte Madera, and Mrs. Mildred M. Chambers of Ukiah.

Entombment was to be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma.

LLOYD CURTIS

Lloyd T. Curtis, 76, of 882 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died today at a local hospital after a long illness.

A Marin County resident for six years and a resident of California for 10 years, he was a native of Missouri. He was a retired construction worker.

Funeral and burial will be in Neosho, Mo. Friends may call at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, until 9 p.m. Friday.

He is survived by his wife, Mary, of San Rafael; two sons, Lloyd L. Curtis of San Anselmo, and Jerry H. Curtis, now in the Navy; and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Mackey and Mrs. A. L. Anderson, both of Missouri.

LUCIUS BEEBE

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—Lucius Beebe, 63, elegant and outspoken author, gourmet and newspaper columnist, died today.

According to his associate, Charles Clegg, Beebe collapsed as he walked out of the shower at his Hillsborough home this morning. He was dead on arrival at Mills Hospital here.

Beebe, a long-time member of New York's "cate society," for many years wrote a weekly society column called "This New York" in the New York Herald Tribune.

In 1949, he came west and with Clegg bought the Virginia City, Nev., Territorial Enterprise and embarked on a new crusade to bring back the excitement of the old "wild west."

In Virginia City, Beebe bought a private railroad car and reproduced it in the Victorian furnishings of the late California Sen. Leland Stanford.

He also wrote a number of books on railroads, one of his favorite subjects.

Beebe was born Dec. 9, 1902, at Wakefield, Mass., the fourth child of a wealthy Boston industrialist and financier.

While attending Yale University, he adopted the elegant manners and dress that later would become his trademark. He often rode from New Haven to New York in full evening dress, and carrying a gold-handled cane.

Beebe joined the Herald Tribune in 1929, and in 1934 began the column eagerly awaited each day by New York's society.

In recent years he wrote a syndicated column for the San Francisco Chronicle.

He attended Yale and Harvard and won his master's degree with a thesis on the poetry of Edwin Arlington Robinson, a personal friend.

In 1929, Beebe joined the staff of the New York Herald Tribune when it boasted one of the most remarkable editorial staffs in newspaper history. He worked with such reporters as Henry Cabot Lodge, Walter Lippmann and Joseph Alsop.

He became the Herald Tribune's editorial writer and also wrote a column called "This New York," which chronicled a society as unreal as Beebe's imagination could make it.

He and Clegg reactivated the old Territorial Enterprise in 1952, 26 years after the newspaper had folded. Within months the Enterprise boasted it had the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper west of the Mississippi.

Beebe and Clegg bought a private railroad car from the Georgia Northern Railroad and restored it in the style of the oldtime railroad barons. They called it the "Gold Coast."

Together, Beebe and Clegg produced a number of books, lavishly illustrated, nostalgically recalling the age of steam railroading.

Beebe and Clegg sold the Enterprise in 1960.

Beebe's wealth was inherited.

Beebe had no known relatives surviving.

ANDREW STORM

Funeral for Andrew Storm, 84, of the Aldersly Danish Home, San Rafael, were held yesterday at Hogan and Sullivan Funeral Home, San Francisco.

A native of Denmark, he had lived in Marin for three years, and in California for 60 years. Before moving to San Rafael, he was a longtime resident of San Francisco.

He was a member of Danish Brotherhood 29 and Dania No. 2.

Surviving are his wife, Hansine Storm of the Aldersly Danish Home; a son, Oswald Storm, and a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Sorensen, both of San Francisco, a sister, Mrs. Sigrid LaFan of Thousand Oaks, Ventura County, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

DR. GILBERT H. GROSVENOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, 90, chairman of the board of trustees of the National Geographic Society, died today at his home in Baddeck, Nova Scotia.

His death was announced by the society headquarters here.

Grosvenor had been chairman since 1954 and editor of the National Geographic magazine from 1899 to 1954.

Grosvenor combined half a dozen careers in his lifetime — editor, geographer, educator, scientist, writer and administrator. He built the geographic society from 1,000 members at the turn of the century into an organization which prides itself on being "the world's largest nonprofit scientific and educational organization."

As editor of the magazin from 1899 to 1954, he tran formed a slim academic jou nal into a publication of worl wide popularity.

COUPLE EVICTED AGAIN

Mrs. Mary Patania, 70, struggles with sheriff's deputies trying to remove her and her husband, Sebastian, 71, from the Monterey home they have occupied for 41 years. Their home, one of 60 in the path of an $18 million redevolpment near Fisherman's Wharf, was bulldozed down as soon as the couple were placed on stretchers and carried away yesterday. The scene was a repeat of last Saturday's forcible eviction of the pair; they had gotten back into the home during the week. (AP Wirephoto)

Tax Rate Study Is Called Off By San Rafael, Dixie

County's Erroneous Figures Disturb Members Of Boards

San Rafael and Dixie school board members called off their scheduled unification tax rate study last night after a blast at the county schools office.

Board members were disturbed when they were told that the tax figures presented at their joint meeting in January were erroneous, and a new set was submitted by Asst. Supt. Robert Stannard of the county schools office.

OPERATING TAX

The erroneous figures indicated that the maximum general operating tax rate would have been higher for a unified San Rafael-Dixie district than the existing rates in either district.

The new figures, not yet confirmed, indicate there would be no loss of state aid, and the unified rate would be lower than originally reported.

"They've never had a cotton picking set of figures right yet," said president Earl H. Koehler of the Dixie School District board.

When told San Rafael and Dixie staff members could not guarantee correctness of the new set of figures, Koehler said, "Let's forget it."

NOT THE SAME

Koehler charged that in projecting tax rates for Tamalpais High School area unification, the county schools office has "not come up with two sets that are the same."

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff of Dixie District said he believes the new figures are "substantially correct," but "the two districts (San Rafael and Dixie) haven't had a real chance to study them."

Trustees agreed the staff's of both districts should get together and present their figures.

Dixie Trustee Dorothy M. Brown said, "It's important to get correct information out to the public."

In a letter to the board, Stannard said that he was in error on his original figures because he "ignored the $15 bonus in the computation of equalization aid."

Trustees agreed to meet again sometime after April 19, when the Dixie district will have an election on a 90-cent increase in its general purpose operating tax rate of $2.45.

In their study, the boards have not considered "override" taxes which may be levied without asking voter approval. The Dixie district levied 22 cents in such taxes this year; San Rafael Elementary District, 24.1 cents, and San Rafael High School District, 16.5 cents.

Total rate for elementary and high schools this year is $6.05 per $100 assessed valuation in the Dixie District and $5.28 in the San Rafael Elementary School District.

Trustees will study a report on the tax rates that would be in effect during the 1966-67 school year if unification fails to pass in the June 7 election.

San Rafael School Board members Walter Castro Jr. and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Dixie Trustee Melvin R. Stidham were absent.

Stock Sale Practices Told Jury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An agent for a Los Angeles lending institution testified yesterday aout stock sale practices at the now defunct San Francisco National Bank.

The witness, Morley Turner of Redwood City, said after he had been a stockholder in the bank its president told him: "I made you $15,000 today."

"I asked him how and he said, 'I bought you 1,000 shares of stock at 15 below market'," Turner continued.

"I said, 'I don't have the funds,' and he said, 'Sign a note'," Turner added.

The former bank president is Don C. Silverthorne, who is on trial with money broker William S. Bennett. Both are charged with bank fraud conspiracy and pocketing fees for arranging bank loans.

Turner was called as a defense witness by Bennett's attorney.

Turner testified he signed a blank loan form for Silverthorne. It is part of Bennett's defense that he also signed loan forms in blank.

School Unification 'Better Education'

School district unification provides "a better way of educating children," according to William Cunningham, superintendent of the Hayward Unified School District.

Cunningham, admittedly "pro-unification," spoke at a joint meeting of San Rafael and school boards at Davidson Junior High School last night.

"Unification is not cheaper, but you should get more for the money spent," he said.

Cunningham described the proposed unification of Dixie and San Rafael districts as a "simple form of unification," because only three districts with only two school boards are involved. The adjustments required "may not be major" but there will be change, he said.

There may be difficulty in the realm of "attitudes, understanding, tradition and vested interests rather than in the functional aspects," he said.

The major financial problem is adopting a salary schedule for both teaching and non-teaching personnel, he said. In all cases of unification, "the best existing salary schedule has been adopted by the unified district."

During a question session, Mrs. Anita Strom of the San Rafael Board of Education asked what the community's reaction was to unification in Hayward.

"By and large, they feel it is going well," Cunningham said. One district had an outstanding science program which was diluted, he said. "They feel they've lost something and they're right." But the majority of residents "feel unification has benefitted the majority of children and has not significantly hurt the rest," Cunningham said.

Dixie Trustee Earl H. Koehler noted the areas of saving by unification such as bussing and purchasing "are not significant financially and surely not educationally."

Cunningham also stressed the advantages of "continuity," and noted there has "been little understanding on the part of the elementary teacher about the high school teacher, and vice versa."

Since unification has been better public participation at school board meetings than at the composite of other boards before unification, he said. "The newspaper has only one shoulder to look over and we get better coverage. There is only one meeting for the people to attend instead of two."

Unification is "the most logical, extensive, flexible educational program for children," he said.

Convicts Want Viet Nam Duty

STILLWATER, Minn. (UPI) — A group of inmates at Stillwater State Prison who say they "know how to fight dirty" have volunteered for service in the war in Viet Nam.

Inmates William Aird and Willard La Jeunesse said they polled 42 prisoners and found 38 willing to go into the military service. They wrote Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the Joint Chiefs of Staff asking to go to Viet Nam.

"The cons want a chance to prove themselves," Aird said. "We're willing to fight and the cons know how to fight diry."

Davis Given Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has reserved $3.7 million of college housing loan funds for a dormitory complex on the Davis campus of the University of California, Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., reported today.

North Viet Bomb Raids Continue Uninterrupted

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. planes bombed North Vietnamese military targets for the fifth consecutive day today and a spokesman disclosed that two more planes had been shot down by Communist anti-aircraft defenses strengthened during the 37-day bombing lull.

U.S. military spokesmen have reported five planes lost since the attacks resumed Monday. The Communists have claimed much higher losses and said "several" American pilots were captured. Two pilots apparently were captured today despite U.S. rescue efforts. A Marine helicopter was shot down in South Viet Nam.

A force of 5,000 U.S. Marines meanwhile pressed deeper into Viet Cong territory in southern Quang Ngai Province 320 miles northeast of Saigon. They were advancing under heavy fighter support in the sweep, called "Operation Double Eagle." Ninety Viet Cong were known dead in the first week of fighting.

The Navy aircraft downed in yesterday's attacks over North Viet Nam were a twin-jet RA5 reconnaissance plane with two crewmen and an A4 Skyhawk from the carrier USS Ranger.

The raids today were on the same targets hit yesterday. The F-105s cratered access roads to a highway bridge 60 miles southwest of the Red capital and hit another bridge south of Vinh, on the coast about 130 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

This is the farthest north the American planes have flown since the bombing lull ended last Monday.

Viet Cong guerrillas raided a South Vietnamese refugee camp 30 miles northwest of Saigon last night after sending a mortar barrage into a government infantry command post northwest of the capital.

Firehouse Flood Action Sought

The Tiburon Fire Commission last night planned further pressure on the city council to solve flood conditions around the firehouse on Tiburon Boulevard.

Secretary James Jenkins was instructed to write the council insisting that the problem be put on the next agenda. Jenkins was also to request Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to attend the meeting and represent the commissioners.

Flooding continues in the front and rear of the firehouse and Fire Chief Frank Buscher reported the department's radio communications were knocked out for 24 hours recently when water got into the wiring system.

Drunken Driver On Probation

Marvin Earnest Miller, 51, of 199 Canal Street, San Rafael, was given a suspended 15-day jail term, fined $220, and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

He was arrested Nov. 10 on Canal Street by San Rafael police.

John M. Galeazzi, 54, Santa Rosa, was fined $220 and placed on probation for one year, for drunken driving. He was arrested on Nova Albion Way by San Rafael police Jan. 23.

COLLAPSIBLE CAR SAFER?

Senator Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., predicted yesterday that federal safety funds would be budgeted to build a prototype of the safety car shown in this Republic Aviation artist's sketch for New York State. # Marinite Takes Fifth At Wiretap Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service almost lost some expensive bugging equipment when a suspect dropped his dime while making a call from a public telephone booth, a Senate subcommittee learned yesterday.

IRS agent Normal Hemphill told the Senate subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure that a bookmaking suspect noticed the wiretap gear in the public phone booth when he leaned down to pick up his dropped dime.

"We just heard a swish and then rushed to the booth," Hemphill said. "The suspect had left. Fortunately, he had just disconnected the equipment —not taking it with him."

Hemphill was one of nine IRS agents who testified before the subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., which ends a three-day hearing today.

One former agent, Richard Jauch, of 360 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, who now works for a private investigator, declined to answer questions on grounds of self-incrimination. He evoked the Fifth Amendment, saying he would not reply without counsel, which he said should be provided either by the subcommittee or by the IRS. Jauch left the service last month after about three years.

Long also brought out that the IRS has been discreet in at least one case of eavesdropping by turning off a listening device in the apartment of a male suspect when he was entertaining a female guest.

This was testified to by Martin Philpott, Los Angeles, who said a contact microphone had been installed in a Los Angeles apartment with agents listening from the adjoining apartment.

"Then you were not interested in extracurricular activities?" asked committee counsel Bernard Fensterwald.

License Plates Disprove Adage

BOSTON (AP) — Women vain?

It's not working out that way in Massachusetts.

Of 1,500 requests already received for so-called vanity automobile registration plates, 95 per cent of the applications have come from men, the Registry of Motor Vehicles says.

A law passed by the Massachusetts Legislature Dec. 30 permits automobile owners to apply for special plates using combinations of no more than six letters and numerals. The plates cost $9, which is $3 more than the regular fee.

Marin Dredging Plans Approved

The San Francisco Bay Development and Conservation Commission yesterday granted two permits for dredging in Marin County.

Approved were an application by Marin County to dredge in Gallinas Creek northeast of the county fairgrounds site, and one by Clipper Yacht Co. to dredge next to Marinship Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

The Gallinas Creek project, estimated by the county department of public works to cost $150,000, would make the creek navigable up to the fairgrounds site.

The Sausalito project will create a small boat harbor.

Alvin Baum, deputy director of the commission, reported there was no opposition to either project.

Million-Dollar Gift Aids Library Drive

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A retired automobile executive and his wife, who met while attending Goshen Ind. College in the 1920s, have given the college a million dollars to build a new library.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Good of East Lansing made the donation to a fund-raising campaign started by the college last year for $3.5 million in proposed expansion moves.

Rhodesia Boycott Success Predicted By Bishop Pike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The economic boycott against Rhodesia will succeed because the "racists" ultimately will subordinate their principles to their pocketbooks, according to Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of San Francisco.

The Rt. Rev. Pike recently was arrested and deported from Rhodesia when he landed at Salisbury Airport for a visit. He told a news conference yesterday he expected the Ian Smith regime to fall by summer.

Bishop Pike said once the effectiveness of the Rhodesian boycott is demonstrated, it should be extended to other African nations practicing apartheid, including Angola, Portuguese East Africa and the Union of South Africa.

The bishop said he returned to San Francisco this week, in the midst of a sabbatical leave to Cambridge England, to seek financial aid from his diocese for Rhodesian churches.

Mansfield Moves To Halt Union Shop Bill Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana filed today a cloture petition calling for an end to the filibuster against the union shop bill.

The petition was signed by 22 Democrats and one Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. It brings a vote automatically next Tuesday on the debate-limiting procedure.

Mansfield said yesterday that if this attempt failed he planned to file another petition Tuesday. This would have triggered a second cloture vote next Thursday.

The filibuster, now in its 11th day, has blocked Mansfield's efforts to bring before the Senate a bill to repeal Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law. The section allows states to outlaw union shop contracts under which covered employees must join the union. Nineteen states have such bans.

Opponents of the bill were confident that they would be able to defeat cloture as easily as they did last October when Mansfield tried it during the first floor fight on the same legislation.

The measure's supporters conceded that they did not see how the required two-thirds could be mustered to choke off the filibuster.

Jurors Not Happy With Jail Problem

A Marin Municipal Court jury, which yesterday found two county jail inmates guilty of assault on a fellow prisoner, also reported it was "shocked" at lack of surveillance of the jail's day room where the attack occurred.

Anthony A. Munoz, Corte Madera department store manager who was jury foreman, told Judge Peter Allen Smith that "a sad note" from evidence presented in the three-day case was lack of jailer scrutiny of the room, used by inmates for daytime and early evening lounging, television and reading.

Judge Smith, who presided over the trial of Gary John Ammenti, 21, and Blaine J. Walters, 19, both charged with battery last Jan. 4 on James John McElhinney, 43, told the jury he would take the matter up with Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

He added, however, that efforts at economy have long restricted adequate manpower for jail supervision.

Sheriff Mountanos, informed of the jury's observation, also said he has been seeking approval by the county of additional jailers. The shortage of manpower, coupled with the way the aged jail is constructed, makes proper surveillance impossible, he contended.

"This is something we have been living with for a number of years," he declared. "There isn't sufficient manpower to have a 24-hour a day watch in the day room, and even if it was economically possible to do this, there is no assurance what might happen in the cell blocks, either."

He said correction of the problem should come with eventual moving of the jail to the planned new wing of the Civic Center. "It's humanly impossible the way this old jail is laid out to give the supervision that you can with a modern, up-to-date jail," the sheriff said.

Ammenti and Walters, who was tried in absentia following an escape from Napa State Hospital, are scheduled for sentencing Feb. 17. Three other defendants in the case, James Albert Sprague, 21, Thomas Haskett Thompson, 19, and Reynold Ashley Fitch, 18, all pleaded guilty earlier and are to be sentenced Tuesday.

McElhinney, of 103 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, suffered upper lip and left eyebrow cuts in the afternoon assault. He is at Atascadero State Hospital for 90-day observation as a sex deviate.

National Guard Takes Women

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Legislation has been introduced to make it legal for women to volunteer for the Maryland National Guard.

But you needn't start lining up, girls.

Adj. Gen. George M. Gelston said yesterday the administration-sponsored bill is primarily intended to legalize the present status of 15 nurses assigned to duty in the Guard and make Maryland's law conform with federal statutes.

Personnel Board Gets Chore To Do, At Last

It appeared today that the little used Marin County Personnel Commission will soon have a job to do. Hearing the appeal of a county engineer who claims a de facto demotion.

Walter R. Noll Wednesday filed an appeal with the commission.

Noll, an 11-year employee in the engineering division of Public works, has held the designation for some time of assistant civil engineer. This meant he was in the middle of a three-step classification with junior engineers below and associate engineers above.

About two years ago, the classification was further divided with assistant engineers I and II. Last month, through action of supervisors, the junior engineer position was abolished and all junior engineers went into the assistant I classification with a 10 per cent raise.

The same order by supervisors, adopted last July to take effect last month, gave assistant I engineers a 5 per cent raise.

Though Noll's salary went up by 5 per cent to $790 a month, he claims a demotion because he is now at the bottom of the engineering classifications of which he was once in the middle.

Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott, who explained the complaint, said the commission must hold its first hearing on it within 20 days.

More Job Survey

Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality will do a follow-up job survey Sunday afternoon in Marin City to call on persons who were missed when surveyors went out Jan. 9, Mrs. Enid Folger, secretary of the CORE employment committee, said today. Participants will meet at 2 p.m. in the community lounge.

Youngsters Help Viet Nam Farms

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Farmers in South Viet Nam will be sent half a ton of vegetable seeds late this month — thanks to retarded children at the Rainier State School in Buckley, Wash.

The seed packets had been mixed with flower seed packets in 100 sacks of left-over 1965 seeds donated to the State Highways Department by the Lilly Seed Co.

Sgt. Albert Thierry, who is in South Viet Nam, wrote his wife, a teacher at the school, describing the urgent needs of Vietnamese farmers for seed.

The children, who can not read, separated the packets of seeds by hand after being shown pictures of the various kinds. Junior Chambers of Commerce in the area agreed to ship the seeds from Seattle, Feb. 16.

You give up things when you buy the Mercedes-Benz 230S. Things like rattles, rust, and shabby workmanship.

A pox on the status symbol that's all glitter and no guts. At $4,868, the Mercedes-Benz 230S is an efficient machine, built to endure. Its body is welded 10,000 times—and painted with 7 enamel coats. A 24-pound layer of undercoating stifles rust. Read on for the full story of why the Mercedes-Benz 230S is a shrewd investment indeed.

A SHOCKING admission: the 230S uses a body style first seen in 1959.

Mercedes-Benz engineers refuse to make changes for the sake of change. Superficial styling changes don't make a car better—in fact, they often hinder real technical advances.

And the 230S body is advanced—it's arc welded at 10,000 points. After 50,000 miles, you may begin to wonder if it will ever rattle.

Nor is it likely to rust. The entire body is plunged out of sight in a primer bath before painting. A tough caulking coat swirls into every crevice, every pore. No sooner is the primer baked on than a 24-pound spraying of plasticized undercoat seals the car's underbody against the menace of road salt and rust.

Then comes paint—49 pounds of it, spread on in 7 careful layers. The final coat is hand sprayed, in a paint shop cleaner than a hospital operating room.

Note to nitpickers: You won't find lumpy "orange peel" flaws in the paint. And you won't find pits in the chrome. It's backed by two platings of copper and one of nickel over a steel base. Rust and rot are thwarted again.

The 230S' 6-cylinder engine is designed to last the life of the car. It is so perfectly balanced (engine tolerances are as fine as 4 10,000ths of an inch) that you can keep it humming almost endlessly at near maximum speeds—with no hint of strain.

Sixty-minute engine test

Every 230S engine hums for an hour at the factory on a special test stand. To flush away every speck of dirt and debris, engine oil is changed 62 times during this trial run.

This engine measures about half the size of a domestic V8. Yet the 230S hits a peak speed of 109 mph and in normal driving squeezes over 20 miles from a gallon.

A lesson from racing

"Mercedes-Benz engineers know how to build sports car handling qualities into a family sedan—there's no doubt about that in our minds," comments CAR LIFE magazine.

With rear swing axle, wheels act independently.

The engineers learned how by building a world championship sports-racing car, the 300SLR. Then they adapted its suspension to Mercedes-Benz sedans.

All 4 wheels on the 230S are separately sprung. They soak up ruts and bumps without sending shivers through the whole body.

If this system weren't so costly to build, American cars might have it. No full-sized domestic car does.

European tourists: You'll see the 300SLR at the Daimler-Benz Museum in Stuttgart-Untertürkheim. You'll spot a few dozen other famous racing machines too; Mercedes-Benz has won 4,403 competitions and 5 world championships in the past 70 years.

Forget brake fade

The 230S weighs 1½ tons. Caliper-type, 9-inch disc brakes at front (where 70% of the car's weight is shifted in stopping) help supply braking ability adequate for twice this weight.

Disc brakes shrug off heat buildup in hard use. You can virtually forget the threat of fading (pass the good news along to your wife; it will do wonders for her driving morale).

Science defeats fatigue

Long trips are no ordeal in the 230S. Seats front and rear are almost chair height. They're deeply contoured and firmly padded (just like the doctor ordered—orthopedic physicians guided seat design).

You can tilt both individual front-seat backs to 4 reclining positions. On hot, humid days you'll feel the benefit of those thousands of miniscule air vents in the seat material. Your body won't seem as if it's plastered to a sheet of flypaper.

Comfort without trivia

Mercedes-Benz engineers waste no time on frivolous gadgets. No built-in record players, no card tables, no coffee urns. Yet sensible amenities abound. Item: Small nozzles at either end of the instrument panel. They shoot warm air to defrost the front side windows.

Purists: Note that wood-grain instrument panel trim. Contrary to a popular trend, it's real wood. Contrary to another popular trend, it fits. So does everything else on the 230S. One of every 11 Mercedes-Benz employees is an inspector to keep it that way.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a sober obligation—not a public relations problem. Safety starts with basic car design, not a few tacked-on afterthoughts.

The 230S body is a patented safety feature. Front and rear sections are designed to yield on violent impact, absorbing shock before it can reach the passenger area. Front disc brakes and a dual circuit brake system are standard equipment. The vital matter of tires—so often neglected in new cars—is solved with super premium-grade tires on every 230S. Door locks are designed to keep doors shut in collisions from any angle. Inside, there are no sharp edges. Safety padding extends even to the steering wheel hub—and the rear vision mirror is spring mounted, to break away on heavy impact.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $23,087 to $4,038

Maybe you can afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Suggested retail prices* for a few popular models:

|---|---|
| 600 Grand Mercedes | $23,087 |
| 230SL Roadster | 6,220 |
| 230S Sedan | 4,868 |
| 230 Sedan | 4,222 |
| 200 Diesel Sedan | 4,252 |
| 200 Sedan | 4,038 |

Auto License Line Gets Wet Waiting

Lines stretched out the door and into the rain at the Corte Madera office of the State Department of Vehicles today, the last day for renewing auto registrations without penalty.

Mgr. Dave Davis said that persons who had not received punched card statements from the state for their new registrations were waiting as long as an hour and 20 minutes for service.

Persons who had received the cards and who presented them, were being handled as fast as they arrived, he said.

Although the office was scheduled to close at 5 p.m. today, Davis said all persons who had arrived by that time would be processed.

He noted that persons with the cards could also present them to special tellers at the Crocker-Citizens National Bank in Novato or the Wells Fargo Bank in Mill Valley, both of which were ordered to take applications until 6 p.m.

People today who missed both deadlines, but who had the cards could also mail in their cards and checks without penalty, as long as the mail was postmarked by midnight.

San Anselmo Attorney Set To Seek Council Election

Robert M. Scott of 9 Sunview Avenue, San Anselmo, an attorney with offices in San Francisco, yesterday took out papers of nomination for election to San Anselmo City Council on April 12.

Scott, 52, has lived in San Anselmo 18 years. He is a charter member of the San Anselmo Home Owners Assn. He is married and has a married daughter, Mrs. Merry Thompson of Davis.

"The city is a big business and I think it is time to apply business methods when running it," said Scott, who is a corporation lawyer.

He said residents and businessmen should attempt to help themselves before turning to the tax rolls. At budget time, he said, the council "should spend what we have, not what we think we have."

Duane C. Ragan, who has already announced his candidacy, filed his papers today. He is a department sales manager at the Emporium at Northgate Shopping Center, and formerly was with the Food Merchandisers Corp. in San Rafael.

Employees Of Library Due Raises

Three members of the Mill Valley Library Board last night approved salary raises for six library employees, among 19 city employees for whom raises were approved last week by the city council.

The action amounted to a ratification of an action which alreay took effect with council approval, according to City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

Board members spent much of their three-hour session making several additions and deletions in details of the new library's interior furnishings and equipment.

They ordered a simpler design for a redwood display cabinet after learning the price had been quoted at $900. The board will leave out the cabinet if the price is quoted as high again, said Mrs. Noreen Farnham, chairman.

Board members Paul G. Fourman and Leslie Hood were absent.

Poverty Aid Set

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown today approved a $21,296 federal grant to the Monterey Anti-Poverty Council to conduct a Project Head Start pre-school program for underprivileged children in Salinas.

Cal Rally Leaders Called On Carpet

BERKELEY (UPI)— University of California officials today ordered students Bettina Aptheker and Susan C. Stein to appear next week for a hearing on charges of violating campus rults.

The two were cited for breaking a rule which allows only one rally on the campus per week for each organization, and requires rallies to use university-provided sound equipment. Miss Aptheker and Mrs. Stein participated in a Viet Nam Day Committee rally Wednesday which broke both rules.

Tuna Clipper Reports Seizure In Colombia

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The U.S.-owned tuna boat Day Island reports it has been seized by a Colombian destroyer and is being escorted to a port of that South American country.

The captain of the Day Island, O. W. Martin of San Diego, said yesterday by radio that the destroyer seized the vessel 10½ miles off the coast and took half of the 16-man crew aboard.

Teen-Age Sex Ignorance Hit By Educator

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A noted educator said today that teen-age ignorance about sex is appaing—"athough they know the word and do the thing"—and formal sex education should start in kindergarten.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone said sex education "begins at birth and goes on all the days of our lives" and that parents and teachers must get across the fact that "sex is not just something you do in bed."

Dr. Caderone, 61, criticized American mothers and manufacturers and advertisers of clothing and cosmetics for encouraging girls to date before they are ready, and in many cases before there is even real desire to date.

At a news conference preceding a workshop on "New Ways in Sex Education'sponsored by Planned Parenthood of Contra Costa County, Dr. Calderone said schools should have "family life counselors" independent of school administration.

"Children level with me because I am honest with them," she said. "There is a crying need for someone to whom they can take a their problems, someine not connected with the administration.

"If a child tells his sex problems to such a counselor there is no reason for the school administration to know about it. There is aways someone with a punitive attitude."

Bishop Boycotts Abortion Debate

LONDON (UPI) —The Bishop of Exeter, Dr. Robert Mortimer, walked out of the House of Lords last night during debate on a bill which would make abortions legal under some circumstances.

Dr. Mortimer has been the chief spokesman for the Church of England which has opposed the measure.

THE 1966 LEGISLATURE

Watts Will Be Felt In Upcoming Budget

By RONALD L. SOBLE
Last in a series of the 1966 Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The 1966 legislature will be asked to find cures for the social ills that triggered last year's rioting by Negroes in the Watts district of Los Angeles.

It's clear the price tag will be high.

If all of the education programs recommended by the McCone Commission, created by the governor to study the riots, were to become law, the cost could reach $519 million in state and federal funds, reported Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post.

The commission called for improving some schools, accelerated efforts in job training and creation of jobs for the unemployed.

Post's analysis of the commission's recommendations has been forwarded to lawmakers.

"They would require a separate tax program," he says, in addition to revenue measures needed to make up a budget deficit estimated at up to $300 million.

The governor and legislators agree, however, that the total McCone program will cost more money than will be available this year.

The McCone recommendations concerning education and employment will "definitely be mentioned" in Gov. Brown's budget message, said a spokesman for the governor. Their priority still is an unanswered question.

Most of the employment finding, Post reported, will come from Washington.

The 1965 legislature did the spadework on the basic reading and pre-school projects.

Gov. Brown declared he will propose a $9 million expenditure in his 1966-67 budget to launch intensified reading instruction in primary grades by specialist teachers. Brown says the public school program is aimed at reaching an initial 250,000 youngsters.

The money will be offered to local school districts on a matching basis, Brown said. Most lawmakers agree that the program could eventually cost California $40 million annually.

In the area of preschool education, an as yet undetermined amount of federal cash is available to begin education in poverty communities at age three.

Other budget considerations sparked by the Watts violence will stem from recommendations by Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Napa, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Criminal Procedure.

Young's committee probed the need for changes in the Criminal Code.

Young also will seek an increase in parole officers to increase the correctional parole program. Post said this would cost an additional $112,866 in the first year.

Second, Young recommends that the legislature authorize the employment of nonprofessional parole guides to work with parole officers in priority areas. This item, Post estimated, would cost the state $353,591 the first year.

This legislation, along with some other bills carved out of the McCone report, would have to be placed on a special session agenda to run concurrently with the budget session.

Whether the 1966 legislature will be remembered for finding a remedy for the spreading social illness exemplified by the Watts rebellion remains to be seen.

"Our state government must bear part of the blame for what happened in Watts and what is happening in similar crime and poverty infested areas in California," says Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh. "This state cannot afford another such outbreak."

KLANSMAN SILENT ON KILLING ORDER

Prober Accuses Witness Of Directing Murder Of Woman Civil Rights Worker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Congressional investigator today accused a North Birmingham, Ala., man of being the Ku Klux Klansman who ordered the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in Selma last March.

The witness, Robert S. Thomas, 37, pleaded the 5th amendment to all questions put to him by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which turned its inquiry of the Klan today to Alabama—and the Liuzzo murder that triggered the investigation.

Thomas refused to comment on a direct charge by the committee's chief investigator, Donald Appell, that he directed Collie Leroy Wilkins, Gary Rowe and two other men to go to Selma on the night Mrs. Liuzzo was murdered.

The Detroit civil rights worker was shot to death in her car on a road between Selma and Birmingham.

Rowe, who turned out to be an FBI informer, testified in court in Alabama that Thomas was the man who gave out the murder orders. As a result of Rowe's testimony, four Klansmen implicated in the case were convicted of federal charges.

The federal trials followed proceedings in state courts at which no convictions were obtained.

He sat impassively through the questioning, accompanied by a lawyer.

4:34 p.m., San Rafael—Canvas bag, being dried out, caught fire at home of Alice Simon, 12 Brookdale Avenue; no structural damage.

11:12 p.m., San Rafael—Defective thermostat caused furnace to overheat at George R. Pfeffer home, 149 Park Street setting fire to a filter; damage $10.

Redwood Empire Demos To Meet

Several hundred Redwood Empire Democrats will meet in Ukiah tomorrow to discuss political races in the First Congressional District and the realigned First Senatorial District.

Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer is thus far the only announced candidate for Democratic nomination for Congress. State Sen. Frank Petersen of Ukiah and George McCabe of Santa Rosa have been prominently mentioned as possible candidates.

In the new First Senatorial District, the battle for the Democratic nomination could be between Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka and either Senator Petersen or State Sen. Joseph Rattigan of Sonoma.

Machine Vandalized

A vandal last night defaced and broke pushbuttons on a cigarette vending machine outside Foster Freeze, 1903 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police reported.

Annexation To Novato Is Approved

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night approved a 5.79-acre annexation to the city of Novato and a 20-acre annexation to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

The Novato acreage is on Entrada Drive and now has only two registered voters, permitting it to be annexed as uninhabited territory. Land must have at least 12 voters before an election is necessary for annexation.

The 20 cars added to the sanitary district is on the east side of the Terra Linda interchange. Known as the Aureguy annexation, the property is in commercial use.

The commission also approved detachment of 100 acres from the Alto Sanitary District. The land was part of the Alto Bowl and Alto Corridor annexations to Mill Valley approved several months ago.

The commission also approved the 1.68-acre Charles H. Apple annexation on Sea View Avenue to the San Rafael Sanitation District, and the .77 of an acre Dias annexation on Center Road to the Novato Sanitary District. Also approved for annexation to the Novato Sanitary District were two small parcels north of Vineyard Avenue known as the Campanilli annexation.

The commission adjourned to 7:30 p.m., March 3, at the Civic Center.

Challenge

Rev. Gordon W. Blenkhorn, district representative of the Bible Meditation League will speak of "Meeting the Challenge of This Generation" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at a service of the Southern Marin Assembly of God, Mill Valley.

Bel Marin Minutes Turn Up After All

Minutes of meetings of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District board of directors during the past two years were delivered to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell yesterday.

The handwritten minutes had been misplaced, director Jack H. West Sr. told Mitchell.

In his audit of the district, Mitchell said there had been no minutes of meetings since December, 1963. He said today the report would be amended.

West told Mitchell that he found the minutes only after an extensive search, and apologized that they were not with the minute book delivered to Mitchell earlier by Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the district.

Mitchell said minutes indicated the three-member board, consisting of West, his wife, Lerona West, and son, Jack H. West Jr., had met on "somewhat regular basis" but there was no notice published, as required, for adoption of the current budget.

Jack H. West Jr. said today that his father has resigned as a director and that James L. Zoeller of 53 Montego Key will be appointed to the vacancy at the next meeting. That will be soon after the Feb. 17 filing deadline for candidates in the April 12 election, when Mrs. West's term expires.

Young West said that no nomination papers have yet been filed.

State Commission Recommends Bay Pollution Study

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Water Commission today recommended a three-year study of water pollution in San Francisco Bay and the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

But commissioners said they hoped the study would not delay construction of the controversial $54 million San Joaquin Drain, proposed to empty into bay region waters near Antioch.

The commission said the proposed pollution study was part of a policy that "water quality and water quantity cannot be viewed as separate avenues toward development, but must be considered as closely related segments of the whole."

The proposed study would examine pollution problems in the bay from additional causes besides the San Joaquin Drain.

Fireworks Slated By Chamber

The Novato Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a fireworks display on July 4 at Bel Marin Keys, directors decided yesterday.

The chamber will ask for donations from service clubs to help purchase the fireworks, and will seek to have the Hamilton Air Force Base band play a concert at the same time.

The chamber have a free "pizza and beer" party for members from 8 to 10 p.m. on Feb. 23, at Pinky's Pizza Parlor on the Highway 101 frontage road south of Hamilton Air Force Base.

It was announced that six members of the chamber would fly to Los Angeles March 4 in the aircade meeting for the California Assn. of Chambers of Commerce.

Come to The Sea Ranch
this weekend.

There may be a lot in it for you!

A new selection of secluded woodland lots has just been opened at this unusual second-home colony on the magnificent Sonoma north coast. And there are also sites near the new recreation center on the ocean terrace.

Take advantage of our warm winter days to come up and look them over. See the award-winning condominium apartments in their sea-cliff setting. And see how cluster planning surrounds a group of country houses with greenbelts of open, common lands.

There's open space for everybody at The Sea Ranch, and outdoor recreation for the whole family all year 'round. Here's a handy checklist of Sea Ranch activities that you and your family can enjoy right now, during your weekend visit:

Horseback riding.
You won't find better country for riding than the gentle slopes and ocean terraces of this lovely sea-coast. A number of good riding horses are stabled at The Sea Ranch.

Swimming and tennis.
Always in season at the new sunken recreation center. Bring your suit and towel, and take a dip in the heated pool. Play a few sets of tennis on the wind-protected court. Then relax in the sauna, another Sea Ranch amenity.

Fishing.
You can surf-cast from the ocean beach or off the headlands. Or try your luck at the Gualala River where Jack London used to fish for steelhead. In fact, you may want to enter The Sea Ranch Steelhead Contest, now in progress.

Hiking / Nature study.
Rediscover the pleasures of walking as you explore this stronghold of nature—the sea life that flourishes in tidal pools, the wildflowers on the ocean meadows, the forests of fir and redwood and Bishop pine.

Beachcombing.
Looking for driftwood? Rocks? Shells? Who knows what treasures you'll find tossed ashore by the Pacific's winter storms!

Photography/Painting.
The mighty surfs, the sweeping vistas, the varied landscapes, and the ever-changing sky offer endless inspiration to artists at The Sea Ranch.

General store.
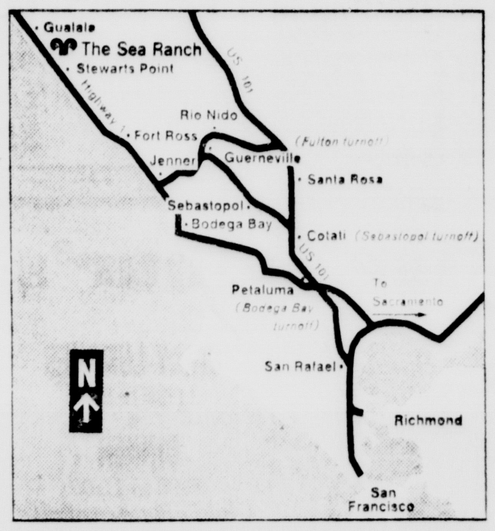
You'll find an unusual selection of merchandise – from sporting goods to country clothing and convenience foods. A good place for gift shopping. Feel free to come in and browse.



The Sea Ranch is only 2½ hours from San Francisco. Take any of the main Sonoma County routes from U.S. 101 to the coast and then drive north on Hwy. 1. You'll find The Sea Ranch entrance 17 miles north of Ft. Ross.

Irishman Debunks Old Saw That All Good Chefs Must Be French

An Irish chef? Shades of Escoffier and Killarney—these two words have never been closely associated in culinary annals, to my knowledge.

But Irish chefs are the best kind, to listen to Don Ryan, who gives the back of his hand to dogmatists that contend a French name and accent are basic requirements. And Don certainly can't be accused of having one or the other. Most assuredly his accent is not from either side of the Loire. More like west Shannon.

However, there is definitely nothing amiss with the cooking at Rico's in Sausalito, where Don rules the kitchen. And he's one Irshman who made Holiday magazine when he held that some office at Monroe's in San Francisco.

Don't misunderstand me. I'm sure Don's know-how extends capably to noisettes d'agneau, Cordon Bleu, tournedos or ris de veau. But Rico's patrons (and there are many of them) are more apt to call for steak, lobster tails, roast beef or brochette of beef and they are just as finicky about the way these are prepared as the habitues of a maison Francaise.

In fact, if you don't visit Rico's dining room when you're in Sausalito you're missing a pleasant experience. You'll find it separated from the bar and lounge, with an attractive decor, good service and food that's a pleasure to behold as well as consume (one of the trademarks of a good chef). My wife and I can testify to both the lobster and medallion of beef, and I'm told the Long Island duck is another bellringer.

And there's a nice selection of wines, among which I was pleased to see the Mayacamas vintages of Mary and Jack Taylor of Sleepy Hollow. (That's where they live—the winery is in Napa County). Mary, by the way, is back in Marin, though Jack is still on the East Coast.

Good lunches at Rico's, too.

TWO RESTAURANTS managed to have openings in San Rafael this week, and one more still hopes to make it by tomorrow.

King Cotton on Francisco Boulevard, recently taken over by Jim Bigelow of Sam's, is back in business with a new menu that features a number of hamburger variations, plus a "Parisian hot dog," a new "Sandwich International" and some novel milkshakes.

International House of Pan-Cakes—the chalet with the steep, blue roof at 1825 Fourth Street is also going strong. According to the number of cars I've been seeing here every day this week it must have picked up immediate popularity.

Sunset House at 909 Lincoln Avenue may get under way tonight—but tomorrow is more likely. Finishing touches have taken a little longer than expected, but Ron Bailey already has his sign out and it may be effective tomorrow morning.

IN SAN ANSELMO, reopening of the Chez Dumont (Pandora) by Pierre Bitterer, Ron Mettam and John Napoli is delayed a bit—there's still some work to be done here. Possibly next Wednesday or Thursday it will be ready.

And Ted Wood's new pub on the Miracle Mile—London Arms, is very near completion—but an opening this weekend was doubtful. Look for it the first part or middle of next week.

OUT AT INVERNESS, Alena and Vladimir Nevl are back from their customary winter ski vacation, and have reopened Drake's Arms. You should find both of them in fine fettle and in a good mood to host you.

"HONORING THE CAT" is the new innovation at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon. And instead of doggie bags to take the leftovers home, Sam's substitute is called a "Cat-Pac," which will provide seafood for some 28 million felines—the entire country's cat population, if necessary. Besides, says Jim Bigelow, cats outnumber dogs so it's about time pussy got a break.

CLIMAXING this season's March of Dimes campaign, the 13th annual windup dinner will be held again at Rancho Nicasio Monday evening where Nick and Mary Kobseff, Glenn Kerch and Dorothy Dolcini have arranged a big floor show for the evening.

Bill Endicott will emcee the program which includes Clorette Clementino (formerly with Lawrence Welk) and Olga Chronis of the San Francisco Opera Co. among the performers. Activities start at 7:30 p.m. Reservations recommended.

NEW ENTERTAINER at Peter Alioto's Arbordale in Sausalito starting Feb. 14 will be Louise Beatty from Denver, who was a school teacher until she began performing professionally five years ago in Dallas.

Musical specialties — several things: Blues, ballads, French and German—and calypso.

PLANNING TO CLOSE DOWN at the end of this month, I understand, is Cafe Lito in Sausalito. Negotiations are said to be under way for new tenants to take over the premises after a period of remodeling.

A JULIAN PORRITT PRESENTATION in Santa Rosa this Sunday is Count Basie and his orchestra, playing at the Santa Rosa Veterans' Memorial Building from 8 p.m. to midnight. Admission is $3 per person.

A FEW OF THE OLD landmarks Marin restaurants still remain in business, and like the slogan of a popular cigarette, many of their loyal fans "would rather fight than switch."

Contrariwise, some recent arrivals in the county cannot understand what the fuss is all about. There are no nostalgic associations in these places for them. The wear and weathering have no other significance than the possible need for a repair job. Bygone hopes, ambitions, joys and disappointments of the past are not discernible from this perspective, which is usually without understanding.

One of the county's landmarks for over a half-century has been the old Mountain Home Inn on the slopes of Mount Tamalpais. Probably this time-worn "retreat" has seen more visitors to Marin than any other single institution. I remember having tarried there briefly as a boy when it was a waypoint on the "crookedest railroad in the world." It's been a stopover for hikers, tourists, Sunday sightseers — and many times for visiting VIPs.

Present owners Pat and Marion Vincent have had it about 12 years, and they are only the fourth owner in its entire history. They have tried to maintain its original atmosphere, and to my mind have succeeded in doing this capably as well as having made it an even more delightful spot for German lunches and dinners than it was at the start.

Whether you're bent on mountain footwork with a respite between trails, or simply on having a change in food pace, include Mountain Home Inn in your travels. Even now — in rainy weather.

If you bide there long enough, or make the trip long enough, it's surprising what it does to your "outlook" on Marin County.

SOME CHANGES HAVE BEEN MADE

New wrought iron, brick and concrete patio work at Le Chalet Basque, along with recent remodeling inside and out, gives this Santa Venetia restaurant an entirely different appearance and twice the space.

Job Placements Up In Marin

Job placements at the State Department of Employment office, 805 E Street, San Rafael, rose to 573 during January over a December total of 472, office manager Edwin W. Ayer announced today.

Last month's total, however, was off from the 593 placements during January of 1965, said Ayer.

Unemployment payments at 1,345 per week last month were well below the 1538 per week average of January, 1965. Ayer attributed the drop to a generally active economy and more construction work which the month's unseasonably dry weather allowed.

Due At Conclave

Harold B. Watkins of Kentfield and Thomas Cagwin of San Anselmo will be among participants in panel discussions in a landscape conference sponsored by the California Landscape Contractors Assn. Feb. 26 in Palo Alto.

Citrus Judges

Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey of Kentfield and Mrs. Don V. Cowan of San Anselmo will be judges in the Cloverdale Citrus Fair, Feb. 17-20 in Cloverdale, Sonoma County.

Motorcycle Driver Files $20,000 Suit

Mark E. Vincent, 19, injured when his motorcycle struck a Golden Gate Bridge divider tube last Sept. 22, filed a $20,000 damage suit yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

The youth, of 320 Laverne Avenue, Mill Valley, names the State of California and the bridge district as defendants, and alleges negligence in placing the tube. He suffered multiple cuts and bruises and a fractured right shoulder.

New Officers

Spring semester officers for the Sir Francis Drake High School Art Club are: president, Barabara Manuel of San Anselmo; vice president, Rich Miller of San Anselmo; secretary, Sue Tong of Fairfax, and treasurer, Carl Pain of San Anselmo.

Unruh Calls For Addition To Sales Tax

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The hunt for more tax dollars got a new entry today—a plan by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh to raise $360 million for schools by boosting the sales tax one cent.

It would raise the total retail sales tax to 5 cents. Of that the state, which now gets 3 cents, would get 4 cents. Cities and counties would continue to receive a penny.

BROWN PROPOSAL

The Brown administration also has a tax increase proposal, legislative sources report. It would bring in $136 million more in state income taxes, but the money would be used to balance the budget.

Unruh said the additional sales tax revenue wouldn't be used for financing the 1966-67 budget, expected to top $4.5 billion. All the money would go for state aid to local school districts, which now costs $1.03 billion.

While increasing the sales tax, his plan would require school districts to lower property taxes an average 25 per cent to get the additional aid.

The extra money also would be used to boost Unruh's campaign to unify the state's some 1,250 school districts. The bonus for unification would rise from $15 to $25 a child.

Basic aid to all school districts —unified or not—would go up, sometimes as much as $151 a child.

All special—or override—local school taxes now in effect would be eliminated. A tax rate ceiling would be set for the districts and it couldn't be exceeded without a vote of the people.

PROPERTY TAX HIT

"Local property taxes — the most regressive and inequitable form of taxation we have—are too great a burden at present and this plan will shift some of the responsibility for school costs to other sources of revenue," Unruh said in a statement yesterday. "All should join in direct financial support of the schools."

Brown's plan to raise the income tax would abolish the standard deductions now allowed. Instead, it provides for a smaller, new version of the deduction.

That — plus a bookkeeping change that gives state budget planners $110 million more to work with — will provide $246 million in new revenue. Brown had anticipated a budget deficit of between $250 million and $300 million.

PROFESSOR PROTESTS

Court Battle Vowed Over Parking Ticket

Prof. Vlado Kolitsch of San Rafael, noted for his talent as a concert violinist, is better remembered by a few public officials in Marin for the heat of his ire when he feels he has been wronged.

This week, Kolitsch's temper flared again as he vowed to challenge a San Rafael city ordinance empowering police officers to ticket cars which are parked on private property without the owner's consent.

Kolitsch voiced his bitterness in a letter to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

At 9:10 a.m. Monday, he related, his car was parked in a lot in front of 933 D Street, when Officer Gary K. Walter placed a citation on the windshield.

It was issued on the complaint of Sidney Schwartz, part owner of the property, Kolitsch wrote.

"In the first place, this ordinance is unlawful," declared Kolitsch, "since it designates city police to act as caretakers of private property at taxpayers' expense, and from that basis alone I shall make a test case of this citation with a jury trial."

Kolitsch also contended City Atty. David Menary Jr. had said "he did not like this ordinance at all" and would welcome a test case.

Menary denied this, but conceded he has found the ordinance difficult to prosecute and believes it was originally meant to apply to homeowners rather than commercial lots.

Merchants, he said, are empowered by state law to have cars towed away at their owners' expense and could do so without the help of city police.

Chiesa said his officers do not patrol private lots, and only place a citation when they get a complaint from someone. The owner signs each complaint and must appear in court to testify, he said.

"If he wants to make a test case," said Chiesa, "let him!"

The lot has several large signs saying it is reserved for customers of tenants of the same building, which include stores. Kolitsch said his wife was a customer of one of the stores at the time and has a sales slip to prove it.

Schwartz, however, said he made a point that day of checking the lot before the store was open because he had received many complaints that non-customers were monopolizing the lot. Kolitsch's car was one of two on the lot at 9 a.m., Schwartz said. Both were ticketed. The store, said Schwartz, does not open until 9:30.

Kolitch concluded his letter by admitting that Chiesa was not responsible for the ordinance, but said he had "no other alternative but have the courts decide the issue, otherwise we may drift into police state practices such as this invasion of private property."

Last September, Kolitsch threatened to leave town, thus closing his Violin Institute of California and withdrawing scholarships from several elementary pupils, because one of his children had been transferred from a school near home to another to which he had to take a bus. The San Rafael Board of Education overruled the transfer.

In November, he angrily cancelled a concert at the College of Marin when a college official refused to have his accompanist's piano moved to the concert at college expense.

Hotel Fire Kills Eight In Wisconsin

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Eight persons died today as an early morning fire destroyed the old three-story Astor Hotel in downtown Green Bay.

Thirty other guests escaped, several of theme after being trapped for three hours in their rooms. Four of those rescued were hospitalized for smoke inhalation.

The flames were extinguished about 7 a.m.

The fire was reported at 12:30 a.m. Firemen battled the flames in 15-degree cold and snow flurries.

The blaze apparently began in the rear of the first or second floor and worked its way up to the roof, where it traveled the length of the building, firemen said.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Fire Chief Dave Zuidmulder placed a tentative estimate of damage at $150,000.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Genius Isn't Necessary Simply Look Around For The Trap

The average man can light up a room by flicking a light switch, but he doesn't take credit for magic or genius when he does so.

They are merely obvious moves.

Opening lead — ♠ 5

South ruffed the second spade, drew two rounds of trumps and then led the six of hearts to dummy's seven. It was as simple as that.

Since all four players were experts it would shock them if South had ruffed with his lowest trump.

COSTS NO MORE

South's J-9-8-6 and dummy's 10-7 of trumps are all "equals." It costs nothing to use one of them rather than another.

Since entries to dummy are scarce, South should automatically save his lowest trump and do his thinking later.

If it turns out that he doesn't need that sort of entry to dummy he has lost nothing.

NECESSARY PLAY

South's automatic play enables him to make the contract. He leads a low diamond from dummy to finesse with the jack. West wins and returns a club.

Now South can lead the eight of hearts to dummy's ten and return the nine of diamonds to repeat the finesse.

If necessary, South can thus stay in dummy for a third diamond finesse.

The point is that South must get to dummy twice for diamond finesses and must therefore arrange two trump entries to dummy.

The expert does this arranging without the slightest conscious thought.

The rest of the hand plays itself.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♥ Q 2
♠ 10 9 6 5 3
♦ Q 6 3
♣ 10 9 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You have only 4 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, but your trump length persuades you to raise spades rather than pass.

You can afford to stretch a point or two in most bidding situations when you have unusually good trump support for partner.

JETLINER GROWS LONGER

Douglas Aircraft Co.'s Super 61 DC8, claimed to be the world's largest commercial arliner, recently rolls out of the hangar where it was built in Long Beach, to be readied for flight tests in the Spring. It is 187.4 feet long and will carry 251 passengers as compared to 189 passengers in the 150-foot-long conventional DC8. Except for its longer body, it looks identical to its predecessor, now in airline use around the world.

Profits Reported By Savings Firm

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has reported substantial gains in savings, reserve accumulations, real estate loans, assets, and gross revenues during 1965, its first full year of operation since the merger on Dec. 30, 1964 of three predecessor associations (Pioneer Investors Savings and Loan, Home Mutual Savings and Loan, and Berkeley Savings and Loan).

The association opened 70,625 new savings accounts last year, and net savings inflow of $88.8 million brought the total year-end balance for American's 293,000 savings account holders to $992.2 million. Reserves rose 10.8 per cent to $96.8 million, compared with $87.4 million a year ago.

American's real estate loan portfolio rose $83.7 million during the 12 months. Assets registered an 8 per cent gain and amounted to $1.27 billion at the end of the year, compared with $1.17 billion a year earlier.

Gross revenues of $74.4 million were 11.7 per cent greater than the $66.6 million recorded in 1964.

Kern County Land's Dividend Increased

SAN FRANCISCO—Directors of Kern County Land Co. have voted a quarterly dividend of 65 cents per share, an increase from the past quarterly dividend of 60 cents per share.

On an annual basis the new dividend will amount to $2.60 per share as compared to the $2.40 paid in 1965. The dividend is payable March 21 to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 17.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Some Employees Can Deduct Uniform Costs

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If you are an employee, the Internal Revenue Service says you can deduct any of the following expenses that apply to you subject to the specific rules for each one:

Work clothes and uniforms are deductible if your occupation is one which specifically requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment and it is not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing. Deductible work clothes include the cost of special apparel and equipment required in the occupations of ballplayers, firemen, police officers, letter carriers, nurses, and civilian faculty members of a military school.

P. J. Wikel

The cost of theatrical clothing and accessories used by professional musicians and entertainers is deductible if used solely in the course of their employment.

Uniforms of transportation employees—air, rail, bus, etc.,—are deductible if they are used solely in the course of their employment.

Some occupations require safety shoes and helmets, others require work gloves, oil clothes and rubber boots, such as are worn by commercial fishermen. Costs of these are deductible.

If you are a reservist in the Armed Forces you may deduct, to the extent not reimbursed, the cost of your uniform if it may legally be worn only while performing duties as a reservist. In computing the deduction, the cost must be reduced by any non-taxable allowance you receive on account of such expenses. If you are on full-time duty in the Armed Forces, the cost of your uniform is not deductible.

If you are a school teacher, amounts which you pay for a substitute teacher to take your place are deductible. However, you are not entitled to this deduction to the extent that it is allocable to amounts excluded as sick pay.

Subscriptions to professional journals, etc., relating to your business or profession, membership dues in professional societies and union dues also are deductible.

Small tools and supplies, employment agency fees, and physical examination fees paid by you and required by your employer to establish your physical fitness to retain your job may be deducted.

Moving expenses for a new job, traveling expenses not reimbursed by your employer, entertainment expenses not reimbursed by your employer, schoolteachers' sabbatical leave expenses, or use of your home in your work are deductible.

Automobile expenses not reimbursed by your employer also may be allowed.

These are all tricky and subject to many ifs, ands and buts, so be sure you know the rules before you claim the deduction.

Department Store Chain Acquired

ST. LOUIS (AP)—P. N. Hirsch and Co., a subsidiary of International Shoe Co., said Wednesday it has acquired the assets of four California department stores from W. R. Carithers and Sons, Inc., of Santa Rosa.

The stores are the White House in Santa Rosa, Crawley's in Vallejo, Carithers in Napa and Carithers Department Store in Petaluma.

President Philip N. Hirsch said the acquisition was a cash transaction, effective Jan. 31. Store names will not be changed and operations will be continued with the same personnel, he said.

General Motors Gives Push To Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today with heavy trading near the end.

Late strength in General Motors inspired the list to close at best levels of the day. Rumors circulated that a split may be considered at the GM directors' meeting Monday.

Boeing was weak on news of the crash of a Japanese airliner, a Boeing 727 jet.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7 million shares compared with 8.16 million yesterday.

The averages were bolstered by gains of selected blue chips. American Telephone and Air Reduction rose more than a point each. General Motors nearly a point. Du Pont and U.S. Steel fractions.

Ford, up more than a point, responded to record quarterly earnings. Douglas Aircraft spurted about 2½ while Boeing sank 3.

Pan American World Airways was up nearly 2. United Air Lines more than a point. Eastern Air Lines lost 1.

Zenith slid nearly 3. Xerox advanced about 2½.

Liggett & Myers dropped 2 in reaction to disappointing earnings. Merck recovered a fraction from Thursday's slide.

Ford was pacing the list on activity. American Export Isbrandsten also was heavily traded and up 2. AT&T was among the volume leaders. Sperry Rand, up about ½, was very active also.

Up about 2 were Texas Gulf Sulphur, U.S. Lines and Boston & Maine. Ahead about a point were Checker Motors, Crane Co. and Central Aguirre.

Texas Instruments lost 1 and Mack Trucks about 1½.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

Public Safety More Vital Than Diplomatic Leniency

Several judges in San Francisco are taking a fair and firm position on the matter of traffic tags for flagrant violators among the consular corps.

In San Francisco or in Marin, where congestion in downtown areas is a pressing problem, the community cannot afford to show so much leniency to any special group as to jeopardize public safety.

It is generally standard practice for safety officials to overlook occasional minor infractions by members of the diplomatic corps. We have no particular quarrel with this policy in such cases as overtime parking. But apparently, those who enjoy these little "privileges" have been taking far more liberties—such as blocking fire plugs, parking in bus zones, red zones and on prohibited narrow streets.

The judges are beginning to balk at dismissing traffic tags on serious parking offenses, and rightly so.

"Up to now, I've been dismissing them," said one judge. "But my temper is wearing thin and I may soon stop dismissing them. The letters generally claim the car was tagged while on official consular business. I'm wondering in how many cases was the car used for non-official business—say by a consular corps member's wife, or servant, or son or daughter.

". . . A consular corps official doesn't have the carte blanche right to park illegally, while other motorists have to obey the law."

An attorney for a consul official was quoted as saying that "we feel in borderline cases some courtesy could be shown."

Courtesy should be extended to diplomatic representatives, and we feel that such courtesy is being shown on borderline cases and even in definite violations of a minor nature.

However, blocking of fireplugs, for one, can hardly be classified as "borderline," especially in an emergency when quick access to that fireplug could be essential for the protection of lives and property including those of the diplomatic officials.

We applaud the judges on their non-dismissal policy on flagrant traffic abuses, although such actions might be stepping on sensitive toes.

Courtesies can and should be extended, but not at the risk of public safety.

San Francisco Symphony Welcome

The famous San Francisco Symphony will appear in concert at the College of Marin gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Maestro Josef Krips and the orchestra are making this special trip into Marin. It behooves the music loving citizens of the county to respond by filling the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

Bouquets to the College Community Services Group for sponsoring the San Francisco Symphony, and to the Festival Theater of San Anselmo for help in publicizing and supporting the coming performance.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Many Potential Candidates Seem Not Hasty In Making Up Minds

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

POLITICAL BATTLE lines are gradually taking shape.

Napa's attorney-assemblyman Pearce Young is going all out for the Democratic nomination for the new 4th Senatorial District (Marin, Napa, Solano) and hopes to meet Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, in November.

Novato Mayor Robert Carrow is still reported "considering" running against Pearce Young for the Democratic nod. But the time for "considering" is fast running out. Carrow's decision should be coming in a week or 10 days.

THE SAME IS true among the Democratic contenders for Congress, to oppose incumbent Don H. Clausen, Republican.

George McCabe of Santa Rosa and Frank Petersen of Ukiah ought to be making up their minds in the next few weeks. But whatever they do, Supervisor Tom Storer of Marin says he's not pulling out. He's definitely in the race against Clausen.

"If there's a primary fight," asserts Storer, "it won't be my fault. I announced back in December. I believe the others have waited too long."

Clausen, despite his big win over McCabe two years ago, is taking no chances. His Marin campaign chairman, Robert Huber, has mailed out letters warning against over-confidence and urging voters to "join Clausen's district-wide team."

ON THE LOCAL scene, more new names keep popping up. The expected battle for First District Supervisor, between incumbent Byron Leydecker and John McInnis, takes this new twist:

Seems to be a movement in Terra Linda to run Walter Castro Jr. for supervisor. And another movement to urge Melvin Warenback, chairman of the Terra Linda Community Services District board, to make the try.

Both Castro and Warenback might be receptive, if enough backing can be generated.

Add to this the unconfirmed rumor that Leydecker may not run after all, and you get the possibility of a big free-for-all.

The 7th Assembly District (Marin and all of Sonoma) will be cut down in size to Marin and half of Sonoma. The new district will take in Sebastopol, Rohnert Park, Cotati, Petaluma and the Valley of the Moon, but not Santa Rosa and points north.

Bagley says the reduction in size won't cut down the work load "because you can't serve a half a county." Work will still take the assemblyman into Santa Rosa, the county seat.

A COUPLE OF non-partisan notes:

Dr. Frank H. Howard, San Rafael dentist, takes strong issue with the contention that people favor parallel parking on Fourth Street. He claims he polled people on Fourth Street at random and "19 out of 20 don't want parallel parking." Dr. Howard says he polled storeowners and property owners on Fourth between E and H Streets (where parallel parking is in existence) and found 98 per cent opposed to parallel.

Another query on parallel vs. diagonal parking: Aren't some curbs on Fourth so high that cars parking parallel will scrape fenders and bump doors?

Proponents of parallel admit that some curbs are high. Their answer: This can be remedied by raising the level of the street a few inches, without too much cost.

Youth Tells Views On Viet Struggle

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am very happy to see that the president has decided to continue the bombing of Viet Nam.

I can not understand why some people, including congressmen, resent this decision. We gave them (North Vietnamese) 37 days to go to the conference table, yet they made no attempts what-so-ever to bring peace to Viet Nam.

The only way to gain peace in Viet Nam is through the battle field; the North Vietnamese have made this very clear. We call for peace talks and the V.C. make terrorist attacks on our boys while they sleep.

I say again that I think the only way to bring peace to Viet Nam is to BEAT THE VIET-CONG! And I strongly support President Johnson's decision, and I ask all true Americans, who support our president, to write to their Congressman and let him know that we want to stay in Viet Nam, and win Freedom, Liberty, and Justice for the South Vietnamese.

Course Of Events Is Common Agony

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Art is long and time is fleeting, as someone has said.

But not fleeting enough for the common man, U.S., to be able to change the present course of events by ballot before those events become the common agony.

True, the art of government must seem exceedingly long these days to the men immersed in it, and their sleeping hours quite short, mainly because someone has been overlooking another fine old saying:

Musical Educator Writes Of Discipline

Editor, Independent-Journal:

May I extend belated congratulations on your most timely editorial (Jan. 21) concerning discipline of children.

My personal feeling is that we can take note of successful school orchestras and their conductors with reference to discipline, commitments, and student responsibilities. You can imagine what would happen to a school orchestra if youngsters, during a rehearsal were allowed to express their whims and feelings at any time, interrupting rehearsal procedures and displaying a lack of respect for the conductor.

Being a son of foreign born parents, I grew up in an atmosphere of discipline and respect. After twenty years in music education, I feel stronger than ever that youngsters need direction and discipline in their training.

A conductor does this by commanding respect as a musician-educator, by supplying the youngsters with the best literature possible to challenge and motivate them, by providing leadership for those who are the "cream of the crop", by making the less talented feel successful in becoming a part of the group and good followers. High standards are set for performances, and a dignity is developed whereby internal discipline and respect for fellow workers and the teacher results.

I see no frustrations developing in students when the conductor demands quiet, attentiveness and full commitments to their roles as musicians in the orchestra.

Perhaps some of our ills concerning today's students can be remedied by taking stock of some of the better attributes of some 25 years ago and refining them for the needs of today.

Don't Knock The Choir Singers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

They finally went and did it!

Regarding the letter written by Mr. Wilbur Russel and choir members. As a long time member of Presbyterian choirs, I admit I've been waiting for such a remark from someone.

There seems to be a trend, by adults and "angry" young people, who don't attend church or take part in choir, choral work or orchestra work, to use them as an example of middle class togetherness. Is this bad? Have they tried it? If you haven't tried it, don't knock it.

Do they think people who sing in choir every week, all year, rehearsal and church service, are doing this as an example of goody goodiness or "I'll get to Heaven before you do?" It is just the opposite. It is a very gratifying form of thanks for the people and clergy who are there also, and have the same failings and needs we do.

Also, in attending a concert at Drake High School I was both sorry and amazed to see more young people on stage than audience. This is true in all schools. So skip "Get Smart" or "Man from Uncle" just once. You're in for a real treat. These teachers and young people care enough to give their very best. How about you?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

ON THE NIGHT the late Monty Woolley (the great star of "The Man Who Came to Dinner"), consented to be the guest on the TV hit program, "I've Got a Secret," Allan Sherman, the producer, recalls that the secret they concocted for Woolley was "I sleep with my beard under the covers." After the panel guessed it, Henry Morgan asked, "Now, Mr. Woolley, do you REALLY sleep with your beard under the covers?" The easily riled Mr. Woolley shouted back, "Of course not, you idiot. Your fool producer made me promise to say so."

FROM SPEECHES by President Johnson: "I think it's mighty important that we have a two-party country. I'm a fellow who likes small parties and the Republican Party's about the size I like." . . . "I seldom think of politics more than 18 hours a day." . . ."I like the story of the college debater who told his roommate that an impending debate would be a genuine battle of wits. 'How courageous of you,' approved his friend, 'to go unarmed'."

A COLLECTION of rabid prohibitionists were told about a grizzled old mountaineer of 104 who swore he never had touched a drop of liquor, so they rushed to his shack to get a signed statement from him. The old boy was just affixing a shaky signature to their prepared document when they became aware of a violent disturbance in the next room—furniture and glassware being smashed at a merry clip.

"Heavens, what's that?" quavered the head prohibitionist. "That's Pa," whispered the old man with a sign of resignation. "He's violently drunk again."

Resumption Of Bombing Should Unify United States Behind LBJ

WASHINGTON—The instant results of President Lyndon B. Johnson, resumption of bombing North Viet Nam—because Hanoi rejected all U.S. and all other efforts, to negotiate—will be these:

It will effectively unify the Congress behind whatever is needed to defend South Viet Nam.

It will effectively unify the country behind the "hard decisions" the President will have to make in the near future.

IT WILL MEAN that the U. S. will increase its military actions at every level in order to remove Hanoi's belief it can win because we will become hopelessly divided, grow weary and don't really mean to stick it out.

It will leave open the door to peace talks any time Hanoi so chooses—as the action in taking the issue to the U. N. Security Council shows.

There are conclusive reasons why the bombing pause could not be continued indefinitely without some constructive response from Hanoi. The decision was never in doubt. It rested on two facts:

1. Ho Chi Minh confirmed publicly that he would not negotiate until after unconditional surrender by South Viet Nam and removal of all U. S. forces.

2. North Viet Nam used the bombing pause to increase the flow of troops across the border and to increase the level of Viet Cong attacks and terror in South Viet Nam.

Obviously the diplomatic reasons for continuing the pause were exhausted.

THERE WILL, of course, be some dissident and fear-laden voices in Congress. A democracy is never unanimous. Only three months before Pearl Harbor, Congress came within one vote of killing the draft.

And how will the American people respond? Here, too, there will be honest differences which the Communists see, not as a source of a democracy's strength, but as a weakness on which they continue to count.

But just before the President announced his decision, Louis Harris sampled public opinion and found that if Hanoi refused to talk peace, the American people would support the resumption of bombing by more than 2-to-1. His survey showed that 60 per cent of the country would back a U. S. force of 500,000 troops in South Viet Nam.

The bombing pause is not to be regretted. It proved to the world that it is not the U. S. which blocks the road to the peace table. And it has shown that Hanoi's response has been unyielding.

To have to resume the bombing is not a welcome nor agreeable choice. But the alternative — of yielding South Viet Nam and Southeast Asia to the aggressor—would be far worse for the U. S. and the whole free world.

It would mean worse war under worse conditions somewhere else.

FREEDOM has to be defended where it is attacked.

Red China Nuclear Ability Grows Apace

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Red China apparently is preparing to test within a year an intermediate range ballistic missile capable of carrying a sizable nuclear warhead.

The first IRBM, described as very similar to the type Russia shipped to Cuba in 1962, is reportedly being assembled at a closely guarded center in a Chinese-controlled section of Inner Mongolia.

THE ROCKET may have a range of around 1,200 miles, and be capable of carrying a 20 kiloton (20,000 tons of TNT) warhead.

These details are in a highly speculative report a top-level Johnson administration official, with access to intelligence data, gave a small hand-picked group of publicists for future use in articles and lectures on the "growing peril of Communist China."

OUTSTANDING among the blockbusters dropped by this official was the solemn assertion that "Red China will have a first strike nuclear capability by 1967 and may be preparing to use it shortly thereafter."

Other crackling revelations unfurled at the super-secret briefing were:

1. Communist chief Mao Tse-tung is dying of Parkinson's disease.

2. Red China is expected to test its first H-bomb sometime this year.

3. Soviet missiles with "large nuclear warheads" are zeroed in on targets on China's mainland, including the Chinese plutonium pant.

4. Russian missiles near Komsomolsky, in the Amur River valley, are reported aimed at Japan and South Korea.

5. The Soviet base at Kamchatka, across the Bering Sea from Alaska, is believed to have missiles with ranges of "more than 3,500 miles."

6. Russian rockets at Sverdlovsk, where the U-2 spy plane was downed, and Magnitogorsk, in the central part of the country, are capable of striking either U.S. or Chinese territory.

7. Russia now has an estimated 100 missile bases manned by more than 200,000 technicians and scientists.

Some Soviet and U.S. officials favor an alliance against China. Central Intelligence Director Raborn was described as the "big stumbling block" to winning the President's acceptance to joint military action against Red China.

SOURCES CLOSE to Raborn picture him as regarding "all information about Soviet missiles being pointed at Chinese targets" as highly unreliable, as the details emanate from either Russian or other Communist quarters.

The CIA chief is said to be opposed to an alliance with Russia because, "all hard intelligence still shows that Russia is the No. 1 enemy of the U.S. on the basis of the Soviet's nuclear-missile capability and unswerving determination to dominate the world."

IN REPORTS to the President Raborn has stressed that Peiping has received more than $200,000 worth of instruments used in fabrication of nuclear devices from Britain, France and Italy.

An estimated 25 Chinese scientists and American technicians trained in the U.S. are working in Chinese nuclear plants. Ch'ien Hsuch-sen, former professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is believed to be head of China's ballistic missile program. He is a graduate in nuclear physics of the California Institute of Technology . . . CIA estimates indicate the Chinese Reds' most recent atomic device was dropped from a Soviet TU-4 bomber, which is comparable to the B-29 used in World War II . . . One of the most significant documents Colonel Oleg Penkovsky smuggled to the U.S. was a top-secret report revealing that Russian and Chinese agents were working together in Africa despite public statements by Moscow and Peiping indicating violent disagreement.

Maggie Visits, Films At Stinson, A Fat Cat, Commemorative Pens

He wondered what become of Maggie.

Maggie Grant, with the paper back books and the bus tickets and the yen for the sea.

Well, Margot Marker at the bus depot in Lytton Square says Maggie returned this week, checked over the books, "worked the counter for a bit" and did some shopping.

How did she do at the ticket counter? "She did her job," said Margot.

Maggie, her husband, Merritt, and their dachshund Hermes, moved to the Mendocino Coast from Sausalito. How do they like it? "She loves it," said Margot.

A HOLLYWOOD television company made some pictures at Stinson Beach state park last week and, among the stars to appear on location, were two red Irish setters.

According to sisters Ruth Miller and Harriet Greene of that beach town, the star setter earns $13,000 a year while his stand-in makes but $7,200. The $13,000 dog wouldn't even look at us," said Mrs. Greene, "but the stand-in was very pleasant."

When the movie company pulled up cameras, said Ruth, they released, with permission, a dozen black Mexican Ravens from a cage. "Joe Lawrence got up pretty close and they are not timid at all," said Ruth. The question is, will the black ravens of Mexico, now hopping around on garage roof tops, mix with the black crows of California?

THE FATTEST cat we ever met lives on a hill in Sausalito with a grand view of San Francisco.

He is called "Mr. Puss" by owners Fred and Mrs. Turner but we call him "Fat Cat."

Due to science, he has no gender, unfortunately. He is a mixture of Siamese and cat. Cross and blue-eyed, he is beaver colored and weighs 19 pounds. He talks but doesn't howl like a Siamese, says Fred. "And he has two hobbies—eating and sleeping."

FAT CAT eats fresh horse liver imported from Mill Valley and bonnie tuna imported from Japan. "He loves green beans or cooked zucchini." Fred says the average cat weighs about 9 or 10 pounds.

While visiting Fat Cat, Fred told us pens are political and asked if we had ever seen the pen used by his late father, Theodore Turner, who, 65 years ago, was mayor of Pocatello, Ida.

It was a beauty. It is gold, chased with gold filigree, with a real black rubber extension and a small black case.

"THIS IS A REAL commemorative pen," says Fred, who scoffs at what he terms the two for a dime ball point pens which are now used by President Johnson to sign important papers then given away by the dozens.

Turner pulled another pen out of his pocket—a ball point pen given him by a Sausalito candidate for city council. "The pen is important," he said.

TONY ARRIGO, retired barber, came into Jim's barber shop the other day on Throckmorton and advised Ray Guagliano that he had been victorious on Paper Mill Creek. Said Tony: "I caught an eight-pound steelhead."

"I had to jump in the water to get it. It broke the hook and almost got away. One more jump and it would have been too bad." Tony uses fresh salmon roe for bait and says that the way to fix the fish is to barbecue it. In winter? Yes, he said.

WE ALSO TALKED to Joe Rodrigues, the Mayor of Muir Beach. He is an eel man. But he said he has not been fishing for three months because he is constructing corral fences for three horses for his son-in-law, Ken Carlton, and daughter at Cotati.

Government is "wonderful" at Muir Beach, said Joe. Of course, we have a little fight once in a while." "I am in good health," he added, "As mean as ever."

Ethelwyn Steese says the mud hens are busy pouring salt water over themselves at Waldo Point. They don't like all the fresh water of rain, she added.

What is important?

Old Telephone Stall Reaches Highest Form In Washington

WASHINGTON — Status in Washington depends on many things, not the least being what takes place when you telephone a government official.

The highest status belongs to those who, when they announce their names, are put through right away.

IF THE SECRETARY says, "Mr. Jones is in conference. Can he call you back?" Your status is then rated according to how long Jones takes to return the call.

Once a friend of mine telephoned Sargent Shriver, and Mr. Shriver didn't return the call for two weeks. My friend's status had sunk to an all-time low with his staff. But he managed to save himself, because when Mr. Shriver finally called back my friend said, "It's not important, Mr. Shriver. I forgot what I wanted to talk to you about."

My friend's status immediately shot up with his people.

There is a great deal of phonemanship in Washington where people put other people down. The worst drubbing I ever got at this game was when I called a newspaper columnist and he said, "Do you mind calling me back? I've got the President on hold."

SECRETARIES play the telephone game more than their bosses. One of the favorites is when one man's secretary places a call to an official. The official's secretary refuses to put her boss on the phone until the other secretary has put her boss on. The secretary whose boss gets on first loses.

Some secretaries are ruthless when it comes to the game. If you place a call, a secretary will ask who is calling. After you give your name she will say, "I'll see if Mr. Smith is in."

Now you're really on a spot, because you know she knows damn well whether Smith is in or not, so you wait on tenterhooks for her to come back on the line. If she comes back and says, "I'm terribly sorry, Mr. Smith has just stepped out," you've had it.

A good defense against this type of ploy is to say, "Where did he go?"

THIS CAN FLUSTER a secretary pretty badly and she'll probably say something about his being in another office, to which you can then shout, "I'm calling from across the way and I can see into his office and I know he's there."

When you call many government officials, the secretary automatically says, "Mr. Brown is in a meeting." This is standard operating procedure for Brown's own protection, because if Brown was in his office the caller might not think Brown was working. If the secretary agrees to interrupt the meeting for your call, you know your star in Washington is really on the rise.

The worst beating you can take is if you place a call and a telephone operator asks who is calling.

Then if she comes back and says, "Mr. Brown's SECRETARY just stepped out, "you know your star in Washington is on the wane.

Another way of defeating a caller is when a secretary asks him to spell his name. The best defense against this is to ask her to spell the name of her boss.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Doubts Sprout Over Projects Urged By New Planning Boss

FUSSELMAN

"A PURELY IMPERSONAL observation would be that it will take considerable time to really be competent to function with knowledge and authority, here. I certainly wish him well." This was my comment last Friday, respecting the new planning director.

On page 38 of the I-J, Tuesday, was a long column on his first attendance at a commission meeting. Because of the grave importance to each owner of property, in the economic field as well as tax-wise, it seems we should all take a look at some of the things he had to say. Repeating: This is purely impersonal.

IT WAS reported that he gave his views on, "a general plan for Marin and a design review board." For the entire 22 years I served on the board of supervisors we heard repeatedly . . . "master plan" for this and "master plan" for that. We all could observe the attempts to give master plans all of the legal force and weight of ordinances, which they did not nor do have. But styles seem to be changing, and like the vermiform appendix the "master plan" is no longer needed.

This "general plan" business started with Kentfield.

HE SAID that preparation of a "general plan" would take at least two years and that it should be a study of the entire county. . . . He said that federal funds probably should be requested. Note: The word is "requested."

He said he hoped to develop more detailed recommendations prior to preparation of budget requests. He further stated that the planning staff would probably have to be increased. . . ." I don't think we're staffed up to do the job at this moment" he said. (Increased staff means — increased space and equipment and transportation facilities)

DOESN'T THAT sort of "Wonder you?" It certainly does me. You should look over the files and see stacks and stacks of zoning ordinances. And then let's see, now. There was the extensive Novato master plan which was completely updated. Then we have the Tiburon master plan . . . . the Richardson Bay master plan which was worked over again and again. Also, the extensive and expensive West Marin Master Plan. . . . The San Geronimo Valley Master Plan and the Kentfield "General" Plan. These all had to do with, at that time, unincorporated areas. And of course many of the cities have been doing the shame thing.

I think we had better look alive, my fellow tax payers. This looks like frosting the cake.

While I was writing this, I looked up the clipping of the I-J story of Dec. 21, headed, "Supervisors Pick New Plan Chief." He is receiving $18,000 a year. The salary had been $14,000. He majored in architecture at the University of Nebraska and earned a master's degree in city planning at the University of California at Berkeley. He served as land planner in Bucks County, Pa., 1957-59 and was planning director of Brookline, Mass. He had a few months as an aide to the chairman of the National Capitol Planning Commission. He is 31 years old.

YOU OWN the property and you pay the taxes.

Family Dinner Fetes 50 Married Years

Fifty years of marriage were celebrated Wednesday night by Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Kolb of Greenbrae at a family dinner in San Francisco.

The occasion also marked the 45th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Kolb's sister and brother-in-law, the Peter Schuberts, who live at 425 Vista Grande, a few doors away from the Kolbs at No. 460.

The Kolbs have lived in Marin County since 1947, moving to Greenbrae about 10 years ago.

Both are natives of San Francisco and met at the Hercules Powder Co. there, where she was a secretary and he a salesman. Kolb retired in 1953 after 48 years with the company.

Unwilling to remain inactive, he is now a woodpulp and paper salesman with Perkins Goodman Co. of San Francisco.

Kolb attributed his long and continuing career as a salesman to "exercise and keeping in shape." He has been a member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco since 1907 and used to wrestle there regularly.

In this, he pointed out yesterday, he has followed in the footsteps of his father, who retired in 1890 as the undefeated Pacific Coast middleweight wrestling champion.

Also living in Greenbrae, at 46 Corte Encanto, are the Kolbs' son-in-law and daughter, Norma Davis, and a grandchild.

Stolen Yacht Found Wrecked

A $15,000 sailboat, stolen Monday from Owens Marin Yacht Sales Inc., 40 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, has been found abandoned and pounding against the rock coast of Santa Cruz County.

Sheriff's Inspector Bowen Bridges said the 33-foot craft was a complete loss.

He said a Santa Cruz ranchhand reported seeing two men swimming from the craft shortly before it went aground.

Party To Benefit Stage Production

A benefit party to raise money for the San Francisco production of "Blues for Mr. Charlie" will be held at 8:30 p.m., tomorrow, at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

There will be two bands, for dancing, and refreshments, according to Craig Vincent of Homestead Valley, organizer.

The play, which was presented in December in Mill Valley, is now being presented at the Contemporary Theater, 1725

"Value" means lightness or darkness of a hue.

Purse Snatched From Sausalito Resident

Florence Seymour of 90 Harrison Avenue, Sausalito, complained to police that three youths grabbed her purse and ran with it as she was walking past 156 Bulkley Avenue, Sausalito, at 7:53 p.m. yesterday.

Police said Mrs. Seymour was unsure of the purse's contents.

Innocent Plea In Knife Case

Joseph Santoro, 23, alias Joseph Schembra, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to felony assault with a knife. Setting of a preliminary hearing was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Santoro allegedly held a knife to the throat of Luke Asbury, 164 Santa Rosa Avenue, Sausalito, in a Sausalito residence on Jan. 22. Asbury said an earlier report that he and Santoro were arguing over dating a woman was incorrect.

Santoro, 513 Humboldt Avenue, Sausalito, is free on $2,750 bail.

Charitable Foundation Gives Funds To Marin Youth Groups

Presentation of checks yesterday to four Marin groups serving Marin youth by Mrs. Russell Smith, past president of the Marin Charitable Foundation, climaxed a year of fund raising by the members of the organization.

The two events held last year were A Day at the Races in May at Golden Gate Fields in Albany and the Marin Debutante Ball in December at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

Committees are already at work on this year's Day at the Races under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fred Herrington. Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner is ball chairman for the Debutante Ball to be held on Dec. 20.

Children in the pediatrics ward of Marin General Hospital will appreciate the special treats they will be enjoying thanks to the new large refrigerator provided them by the Marin Hospital Volunteers with the funds received from the Marin Charitable Foundation. Mrs. Robert McKendry, president of the group, accepted the check on behalf of the volunteers.

Accepting the grant for the Family Service Agency of Marin was Walter Busse, president of the board of directors. The grant will enable the agency to provide special casework for families with adolescent children. Last year funds were provided the agency by the Compton Foundation for counseling families with younger children, and it was felt by Nicholas Suntzeff, agency director, that there is a need in the agency for a specialist for family problems relating to the older child.

Mrs. James W. Clark representing the Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa received funds to assist in the maintenance of the Residence for Girls, their successful project in San Rafael. The residence provides a home for girls who might otherwise be held in Juvenile Hall.

Jess France, member of the board of the College of Marin Emergency Student Loan Fund received money which will assist worthy students to stay in college through a period of financial stress which would otherwise force them to abandon their studies.

Many Marinites To Attend Hospitality Ball Tonight

By MOLLY MARIN

Marin will be well represented at the International Hospitality Ball at the Fairmont Hotel tonight. Among those who are hosting tables are the Harding McPhuns of San Rafael, Frank J. Baumgartens of Fairfax, Richard C. Otters of Sausalito, and John Alan Manns of Ross. Reservations have also been made by Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Ramos of San Rafael, and Mrs. M. Galloway Ferrin of Kentfield.

A DINNER PARTY with the immediate family in attendance on Wednesday at the St. Francis Hotel honored Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kolb of Greenbrae who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Celebrants also were Mrs. Kolb's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schubert of Greenbrae, who were married 45 years ago on the same date. The Kolbs, who were married at an Episcopal church in San Francisco, brought some of their old photographs of the wedding and of their children for some reminiscing. Other members of the family at the affair were their daughter, Mrs. Norma Davis of Greenbrae and her son, Jay, and Mr. Kolb's sisters, Mrs. August Oldag of Tiburon, Mrs. Erma Poole of San Francisco, a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kolb of Oakland and Mrs. Edward Kolb of San Francisco.

A LANDSLIDE IN Rio de Janeiro occurred while Mrs. Harry Meilink of San Rafael was winding up a three-month South American tour last month. She reported that a huge boulder came crashing down a mountain to smash the city's water main and residents of the Copacabana Beach area were affected. Metta's tour by plane began with Mexico where she enjoyed especially Cozumel Island where two new hotels have been built, and the ruins of Uxmal and Chichen-Itza. On a tour in Taxco she was happily surprised to encounter Judge and Mrs. Carlos Freitas of San Rafael. Fortin and the snow-capped mountains of Orizabo she termed beautiful in the tropics of Mexico. The Indian worship ceremony and attractive Indian furniture of the Mayan Inn impressed Mrs. Meilink on her visit to Chichicastenango as well as the countryside through Antigua and Lake de Atitlan. She continued on to Bogata, Quito, La Paz, Lima and Santiago where the Chilian Andes and lake area near Bariloche were comparable to some of the finer resort areas of Europe, Mrs. Meilink reported. In spite of the flooding in Rio, where it rained for two days and nights during her stay, she was quite taken with the resort Petropolis area nearby.

HONORING MRS. JAMES E. LASH of Old Greenwich, Conn., was the luncheon which Mrs. Eugene Kilgore gave today at her home in Paradise Cove. Mrs. Lash, the former Jean Christie is a long-time friend of Mimi Kilgore. The two attended Anna Head School in Berkeley and the University of California together. Twenty long-time friends who seldom have an opportunity to visit with Jean Lash since her permanent move to the New York area, were invited. Among those from Marin were Mesdames Edward Russell Rice III, L. G. Maclise, F. W. Mosden, Millen Griffith, Robert M. Joses, Stanton Logan and Hayden Shuey. The Shueys have recently moved to Kentfield. Mrs. Charles Yerxa came from Colusa for the reunion and other friends from Piedmont and San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Lash are stopping over in San Francisco after a trip to Hawaii.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN M. KENNEDY will be hosts at their Kent Woodlands home tonight at a dinner party honoring Miss Lani Stephens and Robert Valentine of San Francisco, who are to be married on St. Valentine's Day at St. Brigid's Church in San Francisco. The Kennedys lived in Mill Valley until they moved into their new home in Kent Woodlands in December.

NANCY ROTH

Nancy Roth Will Marry On March 19

A family dinner at the Sleepy Hollow home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Theodore Roth, was the occasion for their announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nancy A. Roth, to Darrell Dean Davison Jr. of La Plata, Mo.

A March 19 wedding is planned to take place on Treasure Island. Nancy's sisters, Mrs. Robert Agustus Nerrie III and Janet A. Roth, a twin, both reside in San Francisco. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and University of California where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

The bride-elect is employed with McKinsey and Co., Inc., in San Francisco.

Darrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Davison of La Plata, was graduated from University of Missouri where he was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Sigma fraternity. Following the March wedding, the couple will make their home in La Plata, Mo., where the future bridegroom owns a ranch.

'UPBEAT' COIFFURE

The cut is now all-important with "every little hair having a place of its own" as in this coiffure by Vidal Sasson. Properly cut, the hair needs little setting, according to the foremost exponent of the "Upbeat" in coiffure design. The polish is added with frequent brushing.

'Sportlight On Fashion' Show Scheduled By Guild

The Mother's Guild of St. Raphael's School will have its annual Salad Bowl Luncheon and Fashion Show on Feb. 15 starting at 11:30 a.m. in the school auditorium. "Sportlight on Fashion" will be the theme for the clothes for all sports activities modeled by members of the guild.

Chairman will be Mrs. Earl Cummesky, assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Steffans. Other committee chairmen include Mesdames Joseph M. Cotta, Wolff Schweitzer, Jack Sims, Stanley Rupiper and John G. Dillman. Modeling will be Mesdames Richard Nave, James Lamantia, Charles Hoffman, Arthur Lovi, Edward Doherty, Elmo Petterlee, Maurice Kelly, Charles Spongberg, Richard Katerndahl and Antone Petkovich. Assisting the models will be Mrs. Ronald Buffi. Mrs. Donald Rodrigues will be commentator.

Special guests will be chairmen of the event in previous years.

JINKS PARTY THEME SET

Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club will have its jinks party and luncheon on Thursday following a "teens of all times" theme this year.

Mrs. Edward H. Dill is chairman of this annual gala occasion when members cast aside inhibitions and spoof themselves and the trends of the times.

Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. will be followed by skits performed by the members.

Reservations chairmen are Mesdames John M. Nahapiet and Samuel Seifert.

Greenbrae Guild Selects Pioneer Pilot As Officer

A pioneer woman pilot in the United States, Mrs. John R. Verzi of Greenbrae, has been installed as 1966 president of the Greenbrae Oaks Guild of Sunny Hills.

For the last 20 years she and her husband, a San Francisco businessman, have lived in Marin County. Their son, Melvin, attends College of Marin.

Mona Verzi was graduated from Nebraska State College and has taught secondary education and worked in hospital administration. Her hobbies of painting and sewing have been interlaced with world travel.

Mrs. Verzi holds membership in the American Assn. of University Women and various church organizations as well. Under her leadership, Greenbrae Oaks Guild has planned numerous fund-raising events to begin on Feb. 16 with the annual spring fashion parade luncheon at the Meadow Club under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles F. Butler.

Assisting will be Mesdames Marioit, Lamperti, models; Sam Stenstrom, tickets; John Holmgren, decorations and W. B. Baker, donations.

MRS. JOHN VERZI

Other new officers installed were Mesdames Lamperti, vice president, Ruth M. Krough, recording secretary; M. W. Young, corresponding secretary, and Silvio Ruffino, treasurer. Mesdames Stenstrom and R. E. Mittelstaedt are Bargain Box and publicity chairmen.

Susan Hitchcock To Wed Roger Crobarger July 16

SUSAN HITCHCOCK

A family dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hitchcock in San Mateo, was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Kay Hitchcock of San Francisco, to Roger C. Crobarger.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from Hillsdale High School in San Mateo and University of Oregon where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority, is the sister of Mrs. Edmund B. Meals, also of San Mateo. Susan is a first grade teacher at Santa Margarita School.

Roger, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Crobarger of Phoenix, Ariz., has a brother, John, who is serving in the U.S. Air Force. He was graduated from Arizona State University with a degree in economics and is a sales representative in Southern California with Fibreboard Paper Products Corp.

A July 16 wedding is planned after which the couple will reside in Southern California.

Ladies Auxiliary To Fete Officer

The Ladies Auxiliary of Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments will hold its annual president's dinner on Feb. 17 at Confucius Restaurant in Greenbrae. Honored guest will be Mrs. Rodney Biddleman of Kentfield, retiring president.

MUSEUM GUIDE LECTURES

Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur was the setting on Jan. 8 for the wedding of Barbara Morean Evans of Corte Madera and James Murphy Gladney of Kentfield. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. Morgan Evans Jr. of Corte Madera.

The Rev. Frank S. Hamilton performed the double ring ceremony in which Barbara was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a full length gown of white satin in Empire style with detachable train for the noon rite.

Thomas Gladney of Kentfield served as his brother's best man and ushering were Robert Bettete of Corte Madera and Kent Wisecarver of Greenbrae.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Both Barbara and her husband were graduated from Redwood High School and attended College of Marin. James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Gladney of Kentfield is employed with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The bridegroom is also the brother of Dan Gladney who is stationed at Fort Ord.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Fresno where the bridegroom has been transferred and will make their home in Gilroy.

Grandmothers Plan Sale On Wednesday

A silent auction and white elephant sale will be held when the Novamarin Grandmothers Club meets at the Community House in Novato on Wednesday.

A board of directors meeting will be held at Berkeley Farms at an 11 a.m. luncheon prior to the meeting at the Community House when board members will discuss ways of raising money for their charities.

Chill Dough Before

When you are baking hand-shaped cookies, it is usually a good idea to chill the dough before it is shaped into balls, logs or crescents. Not all recipes include the chilling direction, but if the dough is very soft, better chill!

Sophomores Chosen For Food Meet

Two Marin County High school sophomores have been chosen to attend the Food Comes First state-wide conference at Asilomar Feb. 18, 19 and 20, the committee has announced.

The girls are Nora Angress of Tomales Union High School and Mary Davidson of San Domenico in Sleepy Hollow. The food projects of the 200 students from throughout California who will attend will be judged, and four students will be chosen to be sent as delegates to the national food conference in Chicago. Last year a Marin student was chosen.

Sponsors of the annual Asilomar Food Comes First conference are the Farm Bureau and the University of California, and several food companies.

Mrs. R. C. Wilson New President Of Fairfax Guild

A member for three years, Mrs. Russell C. Wilson has been elected president of the Fairfax Guild of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

During the four years Mrs. Wilson has lived in Fairfax she has worked in support of the museum and has been active in the League of Women Voters of Central Marin. She is treasurer of the league and a member of its speakers bureau. She is legislative chairman for the Deer Park and Central schools P-TA and a deputy registrar.

Mrs. Wilson's interest in planning and land use problems made her a candidate for appointment to the Fairfax City Council last year. Although she was unsuccessful she rarely misses a council meeting.

Among the projects Mrs. Wilson has outlined for the Fairfax Guild are a membership luncheon in February and a "Go Go" party in April.

Assisting Mrs. Wilson are Mesdames Gordon Piatanesi, vice president and membership chairman; J. A. Bianchini, treasurer; Louis Vaccaro, recording secretary and Robert Petersen, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen are Mesdames Petersen and Melvin Stanley, telephone; Wesley Roberts, staffing; Bart Richardson, publicity; Merlin Johnson, scrap book; Johnson and Peter Arrigoni, guild fund-raiser, and Vaccaro and Leonard Kristensen, Festival of Trees.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Twice in its history the county of Marin has lost the buildings that sheltered its government and courts to wreckers. Now a third edifice faces a similar fate, as time seems to be running short for the courthouse building in downtown San Rafael. Independent-Journal Historian Florence Donnelly tells the story of that courthouse—and its predecessors—in the featured article in tomorrow's edition of the I-J's Marin Magazine.

Most Americans have little awareness of the extent of their country's musical heritage. Our music, they regard, as something largely borrowed from Europe. Not so, say two Dominican College music department nuns who have made an extensive study of early American music as part of their preparations for this month's American Music Festival at the college. They report on that study and their findings in tomorrow's weekend supplement.

Panel Of Housewives Wages War On Bay Area Prejudices

A housewives' war on prejudice is underway with the recent formation of the "Focus On American Women," a panel of Bay Area women of diverse backgrounds who present an unusual, open discussion of bias and handicaps in a prejudiced world.

The panel, with its racially and religiously diverse members, will appear in Marin on Thursday afternoon, sponsored by the Sisterhood of Congregation Rodef Sholom at the temple in Santa Venetia, with an invitation to all Marin church and synagogue affiliated women's groups to attend. The informal discussion and coffee will begin at 1 p.m. at the Temple social hall, announces Mrs. J. Jack Melnick, human relations and interfaith chairman for the sisterhood. Mrs. Philip Brodzinsky is program chairman.

The first panel in the Bay Area includes Mesdames Neville J. Rich, Mrs. Richard Finnamore, Mrs. Richard Caesar, Mrs. James Colwell, Mrs. John Ulrich and Mrs. Irwin I. Beechen and made its debut last fall before an Oakland Parent-Teacher Assn. group.

Local women who are currently "in training" for future panels include Mrs. Jack Bennett of Mill Valley and Mrs. Herb Mooney of Marinwood, who will attend the Thursday gathering. It is hoped that other Marin women may become interested in participating.

The panel, which was patterned after those in other parts of the country, was formed by the American Jewish Committee, whose executive director, Zane Meckler of Tiburon, trained and guided the members.

Super-Spy Films Come Full Cycle; 'Flint' Presents A Super-Spoof

By LES DARD

The movie-goer can choose wildly this weekend, and almost everywhere find delight. Join me in a quick look:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

It had to happen: An American spoof on the super-spy movies. And 20th Century-Fox has done the job with a super-comic synthetic called "Our Man Flint," which goes on screen tonight.

James Coburn takes the role of Derek Flint, an international playboy who occupies a Manhattan penthouse with international beauties who also serve serve as his secretaries, barber, manicurist and bodyguards.

A la James Bond, the plot revolves around a power-mad syndicate which intends to rule the world by controlling the weather. The name is Galaxy. Flint is assigned to head off the conspiracy, since no one else in the whole world could possess such powers.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Held over is a superlatively true-to-life drama, "The Slender Thread." It stars Anne Bancroft, Sidney Poitier and Telly Savalas.

The slender thread of the title is an hour-long telephone call between Poitier and Miss Bancroft, who has taken a lethal dose of drugs. In that hour, as she slips into a coma, she tells Poitier her story while he desperately reaches for clues to save her.

You'll be on the edge of your seat until the final moments.

LARK THEATER

Rita Tushingham, Britain's uncommon young actress, is seen in two uncommon roles again this weekend.

The first, which was also Rita's first, is "Taste of Honey," in which she plays a school girl who takes up with a sailor and soon is alone and pregnant. She finds security and a strange attachment with a young homosexual.

More recent is "The Leather Boys," a searching look at the troubled youth of England. The tale is a simple one, but its execution here is perceptive and probing.

Miss Tushingham plays a girl who leaves school to marry an attractive young motorcycle rider. Neither is ready for the responsibilities or confinement of marriage. Their relationship simply disintegrates.

RAFAEL THEATER

Held over again is the spectacularly successful "Thunderball," latest of the Ian Fleming adventures of Agent 007, James Bond.

This time, Bond is out to stop Emilio Largo, a SPECTRE agent who takes two atom bombs off a NATO bomber and plans to extort a king's ransom from the free world to prevent you-know-what.

No need to tell you that Bond heads Largo off at the pass, all right, and in the process picks up a companion in Largo's best girl, Claudine Auger.

THE ULTIMATE SPY—James Coburn, as "Our Man Flint" now playing at the Tamalpais Theater, is a millionaire playboy who is the greedy target of practically everyone he encounters. But Flint can do no wrong, so this super-spy super-spoof asserts.

Most of the film is shot under water, which offers a new dimension in Bondian contrivances. At that, Bond doesn't totally abandon his landlocked marvels—like the Aston-Martin DB-5.

Come, and bring your backpack rocket.

NOVATO THEATER

The action and the gags come as fast as the jets overhead in "Boeing, Boeing," now on screen (through Saturday night).

Tony Curtis and Jerry Lewis team up in Paris as newspapermen, and each is more preoccupied with the distaff than with his dispatches.

Curtis has the cutest arrangement. He's engaged to three airline stewardesses: Dany Saval, Christine Schmidter and Susanna Leigh. While he's cuddled up with one beauty, the other two are flying around the world dreaming of him. Works fine, until the airlines switch to jets —and high-speed schedules.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Held over—of course—is that marvelous movie experience, "My Fair Lady."

Rex Harrison plays Professor Henry Higgins, the irascible speech expert who transforms Cockney flower girl Eliza Doolittle into an aristocrat. Audrey Hepburn shines in that soul-filling role.

All the beloved melodies, the charm and enthusiasm of the Lerner-Loewe musical are here to thrill to—with photography and setting that are brilliant and mellow.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Michael Caine stars as an unorthodox secret agent in "The Ipcress File," a British spy thriller of a new genre now on screen.

Sent to locate a kidnapped British scientist, he accidentally stumbles onto the secret of the "brain drain," a devious process "they" are using to brainwash Britain's most important scientists.

Meanwhile, our boy has also managed to get the CIA and a British traitor or two on his trail. Not to mention the enemy. The last few scenes are wonderfully gory, but Caine emerges victorious.

101 DRIVE-IN

"John Goldfarb, Please Come Home," the film Notre Dame University sought to ban, is now showing. It's a nutty, ridiculous farce — and ND should have won the decision.

Starring are Shirley MacLaine, Peter Ustinov, Richard Crenna and Jim Backus.

Ustinov plays an oil-rich Arabian king whose lightweight son fails to make the Notre Dame football squad. The potent potentate vows to field a team to beat the Irish.

Lo and behold, a former player and coach, John Goldfarb, gets lost flying a U-2 over Russia and winds up in Ustinov's kingdom.

You can picture the rest. Just throw in the harem dancers and every harem-scarum joke you ever heard.

Shift To Low Gear Results In Skidding

Lizabeth Stephens, 24, of Oakland, shifted gears to slow her car on the Highway 101 viaduct in San Rafael about 10:30 a.m. yesterday, and her northbound car skidded into the wall at the side of the road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mrs. Stephens was treated for cuts on her face at San Rafael General Hospital.

Opera Singer To Highlight March Of Dimes Evening

Olga Chronis, mezzo-soprano, will sing at the 13th annual March of Dimes benefit next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Rancho Nicasio in Nicasio.

Miss Chronis, a regional winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions and holder of numerous other awards, has sung with the San Francisco Opera Company and the San Francisco Symphony.

Her program will include the "Seguiodilla" from "Carmen," "This Is My Beloved," from "Kismet," "Granada," and a Greek folk song.

Others on the entertainment roster, according to Nick Kobseff, chairman of the Marin County March of Dimes, include banjoist Bo Bryant, singer Clorette Clementina, organist and entertainer Rick Russell, and the Romano Trio. Bill Endicott will be master of ceremonies.

State Board Favors Campus Pay Raise

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Personnel Board recommended today that University of California and state colleges clerical workers receive 4 per cent salary increases already proposed for state civil service employes.

The board asked Gov. Brown and the legislature to make all raises effective April 1, 1966, rather than July 1. The governor has included appropriations for pay raises in his 1966-67 budget.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY 37 ACCIDENT — Two drivers were seriously injured at dusk yesterday when a car driven by Max T. Lepper of El Verano spun across the divider strip just west of the Black Point Bridge into the path of a car driven by Robert H. McMann Jr. of Belmont. In the past two months three persons have been killed in wrecks on Highway 37 near Black Point. In each case, a car crossed the divider strip.

W. G. Fleckles Seeks Election In Larkspur

William G. Fleckles, 36, chairman of the Larkspur Planning Commission, yesterday took out papers of nomination and announced he will be a candidate for election to the Larkspur City Council on April 12.

Fleckles, who lives at 331 Bretany Way in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur, is an attorney with offices in San Francisco. He has served on the planning commission since 1964. He is a past president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn. and, before moving to Greenbrae in 1960, was a director of the Westlake Improvement Assn. in Daly City.

FOR GENERAL PLAN

Fleckles said his prime objective is "to insure the orderly execution of the Larkspur general plan which was just adopted by the city council. In particular, I am very interested in protecting the south slope area, the 350-acre undeveloped hillside which forms the boundary between Larkspur and Mill Valley."

Fleckles said he thinks this area should be classified with one of the two new city zones now being prepared by the city planning commission — planned district or planned unit development zone.

MANAGER IDEA

He said candidates for the Larkspur council should be invited by the present council to participate on an advisory basis in selection of a new city manager.

He also said that, despite rejection of the precise plan for the Larkspur business district on Magnolia Avenue, that area should be retained as the commercial center of town "and not be rezoned for apartments as some have suggested."

"Councilmen should bring as much enthusiasm as they can to the proposed development of a city park and civic center at the site of the old Larkspur dump," he said.

Salary Plan Aired By College Faculty

College of Marin faculty members presented a model salary schedule last night to the Marin Junior College District Board, but said no specific salary request would be made until fringe benefits were settled.

Engineering instructor Michael Hansen, speaking for the college's faculty association, said the schedule change would benefit younger faculty members, but would provide special incentives for work toward master's and doctor's degrees.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said the change to the new schedule, without any general salary increases, would cost $43,184 this year.

Hansen also presented extensive information on what other junior college districts in California are providing in pay and other benefits. He said the Marin district is at the bottom in provision of health insurance.

He acknowledged, however, that the eight per cent increase granted teachers this fiscal year by Marin Junior College District was the biggest jump of any district in the state. The teachers had asked for 13 per cent.

Hansen actually showed two salary schedules. One exhibited the effect of diminishing the pay increases for earning extra units of post-graduate work, compared to pay increases for years of service.

The second, which the instructor urged be adopted, incorporated the changes of the first, allowing a teacher to reach the top of his scale in 12 years, rather than 13, and increased the categories of pay, based on a teacher's education, from four to five.

The range would run from teachers with only a bachelor's degree to those with a doctorate.

The board approved purchase of $7,953 worth of library books, $10,977 worth of library equipment, mainly carols, and $15,450 worth of science equipment, using new federal funds granted to the district as an impacted area, because students living on federal land are served.

College President Stephen E. Epler said the new funds increased the library book purchase this year by 75 per cent over what had been budgeted.

The Marin Junior College Board Also:

1. Approved changes in the procedure for evaluating probationary teachers so that other teachers will participate more in evaluation.
2. Were told by Epler a budget transfer would be requested increasing the student work-study program by $76,678 for on-campus jobs and $17,263 for off-campus jobs, with 90 per sent of the funds to come from the federal government.
3. Heard a report on new classes to be offered, with federal funds of the Manpower Development and Training Act, for small boat repair and household appliance repair.
4. Approved expansion of the police science program, and the hiring of Frank Warner as full-time teacher and coordinator of the program at $860.40 a month.

CHARLES MEACHAM

College Hires Symphony Violinist

The Marin Junior College District Board last night agreed to hire Meacham, who has taught part-time at the college in the past, at $7,744 a year.

A graduate of University of California, Meacham is a former faculty member of Mills College and has also served as concertmaster for the Symphony Guild of Marin and a first violinist of the Marin Art Quartet.

He was named to the post in the San Francisco Symphony in 1959.

Trubach Takes Out Nomination Papers

Sausalito artist Serge Trubach of 631 Bridgeway yesterday took out papers to run for the city council in the April election.

Trubach will be making his fourth try for the council. He ran unsuccessfully in 1960, 1962 and 1964. He announced his candidacy earlier.

Afternoon Concert

The second concert of the Marin Arts Quartet will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, not at 8 p.m. as previously reported.

The new C-5A transport jet to be built will be as long as a 23-story building, as high as a six-story structure and have a wing span equivalent to 22 stories.

Driver Gets Jail, Fine Of $276

Howard Charles Iverson, 48, San Francisco, was sentenced to five days in county jail, fined $276, and placed on three years probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving with a prior conviction.

He was arrested by Fairfax police on Hillside Drive last Oct. 16.

South Bay Crossing Urged—$300 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Division of Bay Toll Crossings today recommmended a India Basin-Aameda-Bay Farm Island southern crossing of the bay in a report to the legislature.

The project would cost an estimated $300.8 million. This would include the cost of freeway approaches from the east and west.

'Death Strip' Is Scene Of Auto Wreck

An eastbound car on Highway 37 near Black Point, in the rainy dusk yesterday, spun across the divider strip into the path of a westbound auto, resulting in serious injury for both drivers.

In fair condition today at Novato General Hospital with a broken right leg and pelvis and cuts on his face, neck and legs was T. Lepper, 59, owner of the Little Switzerland Restaurant in El Verano, Sonoma County.

The accident happened at 5:35 p.m. on a slight curve and grade just west of the Black Point Bridge.

In the past three months, three persons have been killed in head-on collisions on the same strip of divided highway.

Lepper, whose car crossed the divider, was unable to talk to officers from the California Highway Patrol, but McMann said he saw the car start to slide toward him and do a 180-degree turn while skidding across the highway.

McMann said Lepper's car would have continued through a guardrail and down a steep embankment if it had not hit his auto.

Amy May Hayden, 44, of San Anselmo, was killed on the same road, about a half mile east of Atherton Avenue, last Nov. 24 when her car veered across the divider and broadsided into a station wagon.

Mrs. Arlene F. Smith, 21, of Vallejo, died Jan. 4 after a head-on accident near the scene of that wreck. Two days later Mrs. Alma F. Bench, 61, of Novato, died from injuries in the same crash.

Junior College Told To Expect 18,000

At least 18,000 students will be going to the College of Marin 15 years from now, Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, predicted last night.

Actually, he said, the estimate is undoubtedly low, because his office has always been low by about 20 per cent in its guesses for the Marin Junior College District.

But any statistical method which would give a higher figure would not be taken seriously by the state Department of Education in Sacramento, he explained.

He said it was obvious that the district's construction program, depending largely on a 35-cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation, would not supply enough money to keep up with the growth.

Hollis predicted that slightly more than 7,000 of the 18,000 students would be fulltime. Dean Roy G. Mikalson reported 3,538 students had enrolled for the spring semester, of whom 1,915 were fulltime. He said the fulltime enrollment was up 29 per cent over last year.

Hollis said several factors were not included in the projection, because no one knows what their effect will be.

Zoning Lawsuit Could Have Heavy Impact On County

A suit filed Tuesday challenging Marin County's planned community zoing ordinance, though obviously prompted by the Marincello issue, could have a far-reaching effect.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who will defend the county board of supervisors, county planning commission and other officials named in the suit, said today that several land owners and developers may also intervene as defendants.

He pointed to other areas of the county besides Marincello which are under planned community zone. These include the San Geronimo Valley, where Lagunitas Development Co. plans a large-scale residential development; Lucas Valley, where Eichler Homes is building tracts, and Marin City where Barrett Homes and the Marin Development Agency are at work.

The suit claims the planned community zone is not specific as to uses and has no standard to go by, therefore is not fair or just.

Maloney said elimination of such zoning "would set planning back to antideluvian times."

Under the county's planned community ordinance—and most other such ordinances—the developer himself prepares a master plan. The county ordinance permits the area to be zoned before the master plan is presented.

Plaintiffs are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Van der Male and Mr. and Mrs. Hal McIntyre, owners of homes on Wolfback Ridge adjecent to Marincello, and the Marin Assn. for Planning, headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Rodman. She was one of the chairmen of a petition drive which urged reconsideration of Marincello by the board of supervisors.

Tuesday night, Sausalito city councilmen considered entering the suit as a plaintiff.

Leland H. Jordon, city attorney for Sausalito and Mill Valley, said repercussions on cities would depend on two things: how colsely city ordinances compare with the county's and what decision is handed down by the court.

"It is impossible," he said, "to say at this time that if the court decides that the Marin County ordinances are illegal, that would wash out similar ordinances elsewhere. It is something we would have to go into very closely."

Clark M. Palmer, city attorney of Novato, said: "Of course if the Marin County Code portion concerning planned community zoning was held unconstitutional, it could effect planned community ordinances of most cities here.

"It depends on whether the suit is aimed at the whole concept of planned community zoning or just one particular aspect. I think we will all be watching this with interest."

John G. Buresh, city attorney of San Anselmo said, that it would affect only those city ordinances which were identical with the county's "word for word, comma for comma." He predicted those cities which followed the county ordinance closely might have to consider examining the wording for possible alterations should the county lose its case.

Appeal Filed By Mailers Union President

Douglas A. Smith, president of Mailers Union Local 118, was free on $1,000 bail today after filing notice of appeal of his conviction in Marin Municipal Court for trespassing on Marin Guide property in Tamalpais Valley.

Smith, 45, was sentenced to six months in county jail and fined $500 by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., but execution of sentence will await Marin Superior Court appellate hearing.

Harry H. Johnson, Marin Guide publisher accused Smith of trespassing in offices at 200 Shoreline Highway last Oct. 26, when a smoke grenade was hurled, which was followed by a $4,000 fire. The trespassing occurred during a dispute between the publisher and union picket lines.

Three Hurt In Greenbrae Skid, Crash

A northbound auto climbed a metal highway barrier and smashed into a freeway sign post at Greenbrae at 2:50 a.m. today, seriously injuring the driver and two passengers.

The other passenger, John MacMaster, 18, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was also in fair condition, with a cut scalp and head injuries. Driver William M. Burns, 18, of 113 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, was reported in good condition with multiple cuts.

The California Highway Patrol said Burns's auto, which had broad slick racing tires on the rear wheels, went into a skid headed northbound at the Greenbrae off-ramp from Highway 101. The car hit the guard rail and a chain link fence before hitting the supporting pole for the overhead sign at the right side of the road.

Human Rights Report On Tap

Members of the Marin County Human Rights Commission last night further discussed a report on commission reorganization being prepared at the request of county supervisors, commission executive secretary Wyman Hicks reported.

The commission has suffered lately from light attendance at meetings, and is considering new appointments and reorganization, Hicks explained.

Further discussion will be held tomorrow in a day-long meeting at Walter Bremond's home in Lucas Valley. Bremond is the county's community relations coordinator.

The total amounts of water, copper and iron needed to sustain the present U.S. population for the remaining years of their lives is larger than the totals used by all the people who ever previously lived.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Britain's Method For Treating Drug Addicts To Be Changed

VAN DELLEN

The laissez faire approach to drug addiction in Great Britain is failing and tougher measures are needed. The number of known addicts has increased from 454 in 1959 to 753 in 1964. Hereafter the unrestricted dispensing of narcotics by all physicians to addicts will be changed.

The liberal action was taken several years ago because drug addiction was not a problem in England. The majority of morphine users were primarily therapeutic addicts, whose addiction was a by-product of medical treatment for disease conditions. Many were older and more stable.

THE NEW ADDICTS are young and gregarious individuals who started with goof balls and reefers (marijuana) and then switched to heroin and cocaine. Many were introduced to the habit by other addicts, who had obtained the drugs legally. This is done in England provided the dopester is registered with the government. Narcotics are suplied free to Britishers under their national health service.

In 1959, 11 per cent of the addicts were less than 35 years old, but by 1964 nearly 40 per cent were in this age bracket.

THESE MEN and women will continue to be regarded as "sick persons" and not criminals. Special treatment centers will be set up; herion and cocaine will be prescribed only by physicians in these centers.

THE BRITISH experience demonstrates that the profit motive is not essential to the spread of addiction.

An old remedy was publicized recently. Twenty-two male addicts responded so well to a combination of methadone and strong social support that a larger-scale trial has been suggested. This drug is somewhat less narcotic than morphine, and the withdrawal symptoms are less severe.

The rationale of this treatment is to substitute one addiction (methadone) for another and hope that the individual can be weaned away from the lesser of two evils. This drug is not new to addicts, but it has not been practical because they cannot obtain methadone in large amounts.

THYROID

H. T. writes: Could overactivity of the thyroid cause the blood pressure to rise above normal?

REPLY

Yes. The systolic pressure frequently goes up but the diastolic may remain normal or even drop a millimeter or two. When the thyroid condition is brought under control, the blood pressure returns to normal.

THYROID AND HAIR

M. W. writes: Can a sluggish thyroid cause hair to grow on a woman's face?

REPLY

This is not a typical finding but it is conveivable that this might occur if the thyroid deficiency has affected other glands. If a relationship exists in this particular case, thyroid extract should correct the hair disorder.

RHEMATISM

B. T. writes: What is psychogenic rheumatism?

REPLY

Pain in and about the joints and in the muscles and tendons without visible or laboratory evidence of arthritis. This disorder is most common in young and middle-aged adults.

SINUS DISTRESS

A. H. writes: Is pain always present in a sinus attack?

REPLY

Pain usually is present in the acute phase; in the chronic stage, a stuffy sensation is more common. Send a stamped, self-adressed envelope for leaflet on sinus disease.

WASHINGTON — Tactics are changing in man's war on bugs.

Scientists now envision a variety of non-poisonous weapons to control insects—reducing the reliance upon chemical pesticides and their potential hazard to human health.

Dr. E. H. Smith, a North Carolina State University entomologist, suggests the day is near when insect populations can be sharply reduced by disrupting the pattern of their lives.

He likens such manipulation to "jamming a radar by which a plane is directed."

Smith told a meeting on pest control sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences that chemicals will remain the chief weapon for some time. But he said biological methods will replace chemicals in many instances.

Research now shows some insects can be controlled by loosing natural enemies on them. It is possible to breed insect resistance into plants and animals and halt damaging invasions of bugs by changing farming practices.

Residues of synthetic pesticides are now found not only in farm products but in people. Some scientists insist that these residues are entirely harmless. They note that the human body has the capacity to break down most poisons and expel them, with the exception of DDT and some other pesticides.

They have fed amounts of DDT 20 times that of normal residues to human volunteers and found no ill effects.

They also note with pride that the sensitivity of analytical instruments used to locate pesticide residues has increased dramatically. It is now one part in ten billion, which one chemist likens to "looking for a particular set of twins in the entire population of the world."

"Or you might say it's equal to a huge but extremely dry martini—one drop of vermouth in 125,000 gallons of gin."

Other scientists argue that even if pesticides hold potential danger to human health, these hazards, particularly to the hungry people of the world, must be measured against the benefits of using pesticides.

Still, many scientists would like to have the use of poisonous chemicals reduced and replaced by biological control of insects. And they no longer want to kill all the bad bugs.

Smith, for instance, says it is "a costly oversight" that some scientists fail to appreciate ecological principles they upset insect population balance through attempts at wholesale killing of certain species.

There is also concern about the so-called biologic magnification of the pesticides effects. To cite an example: the use of a chemical poison to control gnats in Clear Lake, Calif. The poison was absorbed by plankton, the microscopic aquatic life, which was consumed by fish, which were eaten by other fish, which were eaten by birds.

The poison finally reached a concentration in the birds high enough to "damage severely their ability to reproduce."

Instead of chemical poisons, insects could be controlled with chemical sex attractants which would lure them to their death, by introducing lethal genes into insect populations, and by manipulating insect environment.

Such advanced tools as radiation and even sound-recordings of the insects mating calls could be used, too, scientists say.

The various techniques would be combined into what Smith calls "integrated control." This would also include introduction of diseases among insect species, mass-breeding and release of predator bugs.

Although some techniques have been successfully applied on a small scale in California and elsewhere, Smith points out that insects continue to be man's most serious competitors.

For one thing, he says, "insects have been in business for a long time—about 250 million years—compared to a scant one million for man." Besides, insects now account for 85 per cent of all animal species on earth, comprising at least one million species.

Meeting Is Tuesday

Tiburon City Council will hold its postponed workshop meeting on the proposed subdivision ordinance at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Del Mar School, not on Wednesday as stated in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

TWO NEW WAYS TO TRAVEL

Two futuristic transportation ideas were unveiled this week, one a reality, the other just a prototype model. In Houston, Tex. (left) workmen are finishing preparations on a monorail system to carry airline patrons from the terminal to the reaches of far-flung parking lots. After tests, it is expected to be working by the end of the month. In Pittsburgh, Pa., (right), spectators look over U.S. Steel Corp. "Steel Car of Tomorrow" for mass transit at the First International Conference on Urban Transportation, yesterday.

Russ Taking Softer Line On 'Parasites'

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—A new report shows that the Russians are beginning to take a softer line toward Soviet citizens who "avoid socially useful labor and lead an anti-social, parasitic way of life."

Russian authorities used to banish red drones to distant places to serve work sentences. Now a new law allows the "social parasites" to fulfill mandatory work sentences in their home towns.

The Reds' tough treatment of slackers, criminals and alcoholics is reported by a former Soviet lawyer, Yuri P. Mironenko, in an analysis just released by the Institute for the Study of the USSR, a privately-financed center based in West Germany. Mironenko defected to the West.

Even though the change eased earlier laws which had been enacted in an announced effort "to intensify the struggle against parasitic elements," Mironenko did not interupt the change as an indication of expanded individual rights. To the contrary, he cited evidence that the change was brought about at least to some degree by protests from the communities which had the misfits dumped on them.

The Soviet youth organization newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda, suggested that the "rehabilitation of the parasite consists only in making life impossible for people who have from time immemorial lived in these places specially set aside for deporting." The "parasites" often were sent to Siberian collective or state farms, but the farm chairmen objected because the practice disrupts normal work routine. The work managers had no choice, however, when ordered to put the "parasites" to work.

Mironenko also found opinions by Soviet jurists who argued that the punishment meted out under the old law was too severe. A citizens' committee was also empowered to get rid of an undesirable even before he committed a crime, Mironenko said, citing the example of a juvenile tough who was deported because his threats—with no ensuing action — terrorized the neighborhood.

The culprit who refused to mend his ways not only was deported from two to five years, but his property was confiscated if it had been "acquired without working."

There were published reports deploring the fact that the tippler who failed to show up on the job after a night on the town was treated like the seasoned criminal. Under the new law, according to Mironenko, a person may be prosecuted if he has not buckled down to what is deemed "socially useful labor" within a month after being warned by the militia or a social organization. Even after denunciation by a single fellow citizen, the "parasite" can be brought up for a warning. Decisions of the sentencing body cannot be appealed.

Even the working citizen is in trouble if he goofs off on the job—he may be sentenced to corrective labor for up to a year, with a deduction of 10 per cent of his earnings.

Earlier decision handed down by the Soviet supreme court noted that cases involving "parasites" had in some instances been conducted by one-man hearings, without sufficient evidence, and even without the defendant present.

The new law still does not assure legal procedure for the social misfit, according to Mironenko. He draws the conclusion that the Soviets are finding the problems of dealing with anti-social undesirables to be complex and difficult, defying solution by punitive measures.

Novato Dachshunds Win In Competition

Dogs owned by Blairhaven Kennels and B. K. Simpson, both of 673 Atherton Avenue, Novato, were winners at the Orange Empire dog show in San Bernardino Sunday.

Army Woman Profits By Re-Enlistment

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)— The Women's Army Corps has shelled out more than $3,500 as a re-enlistment bonus to a trim blonde who signed up for another three-year hitch.

Spec. 5 Eleaze Horne joined the WACs three years ago and served as a surgical technician —a skill which ranks very high among the critical jobs for which a bonus is paid.

The WAC, from Norfolk, Va., received $3,586.50, which is four times the ordinary re-enlistment bonus. She says she plans to invest the money.

Doctor Receives Unusual Gift

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — When Dr. Robert M. Filler, 34, comes home from Viet Nam he'll have something extra in his medicine kit — a crossbow and arrow.

The weapon was a present to the doctor, an Army captain, after he successfully removed a Viet Cong bullet from the heart of Xak, a 6-year-old Montagnard village girl.

Dr. Filler told of the incident in a letter to his wife, who lives in Medford. He is due to return home in June.

Civil Rights Leader Technique Changing

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitney Young Jr., National Urban League executive director, says civil rights leaders are relying less on demonstrations and more on sophisticated activities.

The emphasis, he said, is on implementation of civil rights and antipoverty legislation, and making the Negro community realize that it holds the balance of political power in many major cities.

Methodists Now Have 10.3 Million In U.S.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Methodist Church membership in the United States has reached 10,331,574, the Church's Council on World Service and Finance says.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Community Partnership

What property husband and wife gain after marriage—except gifts and inheritances — becomes community property in California. Each owns an undivided half interest in it.

This ownership can be changed. A husband can make gifts to his wife which become her own separate property and is no longer community. Or by agreement they can change the ownership in community property.

When title is held in joint tenancy, upon death of one owner, the survivor becomes the owner at once. No will affects that property. Thus a husband's joint tenancy goes to his wife. He cannot will it to his brother, not even his "half."

In a recent case, the husband and his friend became partners. The husband put in the land and his friend put in money to build a laundry.

That transfer to the partnership broke the joint tenancy. The property now belonged to the partnership and again became subject to the terms of a will.

Later the husband died. He had willed his estate to his sister and not his wife. The court ruled that the sister could take half under the will since the wife no longer had the automatic right of survivorship in the real estate. The wife got her half of the property as community.

Under the law the partners own the partnership assets. When one dies, the surviving partners have to account for his share which then goes into his estate. One half of the property can then be passed on according to will, but the other half goes to his widow as community property.

When you take title to anything whether it be land, stocks and bonds, a car or other things, look into the legal effects of that kind of title. Transfers may change the form of the title and hence the right of heirs in the estate.

Now, new I-J series makes 'MODERN MATH' CLEAR TO PARENTS

10 articles starting Feb. 7
in the I-J women's section

There's no great mystery to the "Modern Math" system of teaching arithmetic that youngsters now encounter in the classroom.

No mystery, that is, if it's properly explained. To make it clear to parents, we have engaged Prof. W. F. Lloyd of the University of Tampa, who has gained a reputation by explaining the system to teachers of the subject.

Prof. Lloyd has written a series that covers the essentials in easy-to-understand language and that starts in this newspaper Monday.

If you will follow it from day to day, and take the simple test that concludes it, you should be able to help your own youngsters with the subject—or at least know what they are talking about!

Also, you can obtain a booklet reprinting the series by sending 50 cents to "Modern Math" in care of this newspaper.

Anti-Viet Officer Loses Freedom

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) —Lt. Henry H. Howe, 23, convicted of showing disrespect for President Johnson by demonstrating against the Viet Nam war, must remain in custody because the Army is not mistreating him, a federal judge ruled yesterday.

Howe, of Boulder, Colo. had gone to U. S. Dist. Court with a petition that charged the Army had inflicted harsh confinement.

He asked to be sent back to his normal Army duties as motor pool officer pending appeal of the conviction.

Howe, arrested after carrying a sign in a demonstration in downtown El Paso Nov. 6 was dismissed from the Army and sentenced to two years' in prison. But Maj. Gen. George Powers III, commander of Ft. Bliss, reduced the sentence to one year.

Planners To Act On Town Center

The San Anselmo Planning Commission is scheduled Monday to make final recommendations on the proposed town center plan and send them on to the city council for consideration Feb. 21.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The item is not on the agenda, but City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell said he expects the recommendations to be ready for discussion Monday.

Also slated is further discussion on a proposed ordinance requiring subdividers to donate land or funds for parks.

Burglars Loot Motel Of Five Televisions

Burglars broke locks off the doors to five rooms at the Edgewater Inn motel at Madera Boulevard and Highway 101 in Corte Madera Wednesday night and stole a television set from each of the rooms, police reported.

Motel desk clerk Henry Buck told police the thefts were discovered by maids at 10 a.m. yesterday. Police said the locks were apparently removed with a wrench. Value of the television sets was reported as $575.

Station Offers Russian News

CHICAGO (UPI) —Radio Station WNUS, Chicago's all-news station, yesterday began broadcasts from Radio Moscow.

Gordon McLendon, president of the station, said the broadcasts in English, received by short wave, would be aired five minutes before every hour for eight days.

The station "will make no commentary or subjective interpretation of the broadcasts," McLendon said.

Marine In Training

Marine Pvt. Wayne C. Pedrazzini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Pedrazzini of 90 Pico Vista, Novato, has been graduated from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Street Work Set In Corte Madera

A low bid of $5,572 by Ghilotti Brothers for street work on Tamalpais Drive was received yesterday by Corte Madera Public Works Director Arthur Morrison.

The original cost estimate was $6,000 for installing turning lanes on Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard and at Lakeside Drive. Included in the work is installation of a bus stop slab at Tamalpais and Madera.

Three other bids were submitted: Cecotti and Sons, $5,726; E. A. Ford, $6,155, and A. J. Bresnan, $6,249.

The bids will be presented to the town council Monday night.

Marijuana Suspects To Juvenile Court

Cases of two 18-year-old Hollywood youths, charged with possession of marijuana, were certified yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to juvenile court.

Networks Increase Viet War Coverage

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Network television coverage of news and opinions about the Viet Nam war has been stepped up in recent weeks, and apparently will continue to be in the future.

In the past months, the networks have been under extreme pressure from various quarters for their coverage, with some of their critics charging they haven't covered enough, or in the right manner, and others alleging they have covered too much (a highly touchy accusation), or at least too much in certain areas. Key criticisms have focused on the lack of sufficient perspective in many Viet Nam video reports, and on the general lack of comment of an outstanding nature, with such rare exceptions as Eric Severeid.

Starting tomorrow, "ABC Scope," will indefinitely devote all its weekly programs to the Viet Nam situation.

On Sunday, CBS-TV will present a one-hour program, "Viet Nam Perspective: The U.N. and the War," in which United Nations diplomats will be questioned on their attitudes toward American policy in the Southeast Asia country.

Lined up thus far to participate in the broadcast, scheduled for 4:30 p.m., EST, are delegates from Nigeria, Algeria, Hungary, the Philippines and Australia.

NBC-TV "In anticipation of a Viet Nam peace conference in Geneva," plans live coverage, partly in color, via the Early Bird communications satellite.

On Friday, Feb. 18, NBC-TV will air an hour program "about this conference, whether it is then in planning, in session or recessed."

Likewise, on NBC-TV's "Today" series Monday, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, India's new prime minister and the daughter of Jawaharlal Nehru, will be seen in an interview in which her subjects are expected to include the Viet Nam war.

Moscow University is the subject of CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" Feb. 20, with segments of the half-hour broadcast devoted to American exchange students there . . . Same network next season will present a special 90-minute adaptation of Sir John Gielgud's production of Anton Chekhov's drama "Ivanov," a major London theatrical hit . . . Sir John adapted and directed the stage version, as well as playing the title role, with the story described as follows:

"Ivanov, central figure in the play, is a moody introspective, misunderstood man who reacts to the approaching death of his first wife by preparing to marry a second. The play moves to its trafic climax as he is wracked by conscience, finding guilt even in pleasure" . . . Claire Bloom portrays the intended second wife.

Civil Rights Worker Back At College

Nineteen - year - old Margaret Kibbee of 312 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley, just back from seven months as a civil rights worker in Mississippi, is ready to return to the South next fall.

Miss Kibbee, who completed her freshman year at College of Marin before leaving for Mississippi last June, will return to the college Monday for the next semester.

"I worked in Sunflower as a Freedom Democratic Party volunteer," Miss Kibbee said. "I worked on voter registration, wrote complaints to the justice department and organized a women's sewing cooperative."

She said she got along well with the Negro community "and by and large was well accepted." She said she worked there alone, as compared to other civil rights volunteers who work in pairs.

Sunflower, she reported, is a community of a few hundred in the cotton growing area, about nine miles from Indianola. "When the cotton ran out in November, there was no more work," she said.

Commenting on the outlook in the South, she said: "Somehow there is hope, and there have been accomplishments. They started paving the streets in Indianola, more people are getting registered, and more and more people are coming into the movement."

She said she will stay in Marin this summer, but wants to go back next fall and "maybe work in a freedom school in Mississippi if I can find one there."

Miss Kibbee, daughter of Mrs. Carleton Williams of Mill Valley and Wallace G. Kibbee of Corte Madera, voiced only one complaint: The summer heat in Mississippi.

Heavy Load For Planners In San Rafael

San Rafael planning commissioners will have their hands full Tuesday night.

The commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. at city hall. The agenda lists 23 items, of which at least two could prove to be heated.

The first item will be a hearing on whether the city should revoke the use permits of two automobile wrecking yards on Jordan Street.

Permits are those of Richard Isi, on the east side of Jordan near Lovell Avenue, and of R. L. Thompson and L. P. Aquilino, at 51 Jordan. The hearing was ordered by the city council after complaints that the operators were violating conditions attached to the permits.

Mostly lively discussion of the evening, however, could center around a new effort to make use of the old Coleman School at 1711 Grand Avenue.

The commission will hold the first hearing on zoning the school for a planned community district, asked by Richard R. Pelton and the Marin Crippled Children Society. Pelton and the society also seek a permit to set up professional-administrative offices in new buildings on the property.

Two previous plans for use of the old building — one for offices, the other for a nursery school — were turned down after vigorous protests by neighbors.

The planning commission also will:

1. Resume hearings on the fate of the courthouse square site when the county sells it this year or next.

2. Hold the first hearing on a new application by Robert L. Menzies to rezone 1428 Mission Avenue under one of the new "B-D" districts. Menzies withdrew a previous application for rezoning.

3. Consider renewing the tentative map for the 108-lot San Rafael Park subdivision, submitted by Dubin Developers.

4. Conisder granting a permit to M and T, Inc., to operate a motion picture theater at the Northgate Shopping Center. Plans for the theater also will be submitted for approval.

5. Consider numerous other variances, sets of plans, and use permit applications.

Garden Club Topics

The Marinwood Garden Club will have a discussion on camellias, azaleas and begonias at 8 p.m. Feb. 16 at the Marinwood Community Center.

Sausalito Police Set Open House

It will be open house at Sausalito's new police headquarters at 29 Caledonia Street from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk has issued an invitation to all residents and guests to attend the informal dedication. Police officers will be present to show visitors around. Coffee will be served.

The police department moved Jan. 15 from the City Hall at 727 Bridgeway where it had been situated 43 years. The new station has about five times as much space as the old one.

Three School Districts Get Poverty War Coin

Three school districts in Marin County will receive federal cash grants to undertake projects this semester aimed specifically at helping children from poor families.

The largest grant was awarded to the San Anselmo School District, $25,230. Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said the bulk of the money will be used to hire library aides to prepare libraries at each of the district's schools.

Part of the money will be used to hire persons to take a selected group of children at the Brookside School and read stories to them, in an attempt to make them become interested in reading.

Other funds will be used for hiring resource teachers to give special help to children with particular classroom problems.

The West Marin School District will receive $16,157 to hire a halftime librarian and books, to triple the time of a school psychologist to a day and a half a week, to pay for field trips and to begin a summer school program.

The Reed School District will receive $3,740, most of which will be spent on a survey of 3-year-old children in the district to try to find those who will have special education problems when they start school.

The balance of the funds will be used to give special instruction or therapy to those children selected in the survey.

League Of Women Voters Plans Registration Drive

The Central Marin League of Women Voters will conduct a voter registration drive tomorrow and Feb. 12 at shopping centers in the central and northern sections of the county.

Mrs. Richard Ocheltree, voters service chairman for the league, announced a "votemobile" will travel to several places each of the two days in hope of registering many potential voters. "We hape to make it more convenient for those who wish to vote in the April municipal elections to register," Mrs. Ocheltree said. Registration for these elections ends Feb. 17.

Voter registration in Marin is down quite sharply from two years ago according to statistics released this week by the secretary of state's office.

The votemobile will be in shopping center parking lots on the following schedule.

Tomorrow: Guasco Supermarket—Sprouse-Reitz, San Anselmo, 10 a.m. to noon; Value World, Larkspur, noon to 2 p.m.; Littleman Market, Corte Madera Shopping Center, 2 to 4 p.m.

Feb. 12: Nave Shopping Center lot near Purity Store in Novato, 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.; Roger Wilco Supermarket, Novak Square, Novato, 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The league will also have registrars stationed inside supermarkets during the two-day drive. Tomorrow they will be at the Purity Store in Nave Shopping Center, 1 to 4 p.m. and Roger Wilco Supermarket, Novak Square, 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Novato and Fairfax Lucky Store 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

They will be in Value World, Larkspur, tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. and on Feb. 12 continuously from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tuberculin Tests Set For Monday In Mill Valley

Ninety per cent of Mill Valley's 3,500 public elementary school children will receive free tuberculin tests at school Monday, according to a count of requests for tests submitted by parents.

Tests are provided as a Christmas Seal community service of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Sixteen physicians and more than 32 registered nurses have volunteered to administer the tests.

Testing will be done simultaneously in all eight schools with completion scheduled for noon, excepting afternoon kindergarten classes which will be tested by two traveling teams of doctors and nurses.

Doctor's Wife Granted Divorce

Margaret B. Anderson, wife of the head of the psychiatric department of San Rafael General Hospital, has been granted a divorce in Marin Superior Court.

She had charged Dr. Samuel T. D. Anderson, 42, with cruelty. Divorce terms give her custody of their six children, support of $100 monthly for each, and alimony of $200 a month for nine months and $50 monthly thereafter.

The family home at 43 Palm Avenue, San Rafael, was declared community property. The couple wed Dec. 24, 1948, in Palo Alto, and separated last March 1.

Choir To Attend Music Clinic

Members of the Sir Francis Drake High School a Cappella Choir and Orchestra will attend the 16th annual Pacific Music Clinic tomorrow at University of the Pacific at Stockton.

The groups, will join with an estimated 2,000 other high school students from Northern California, Nevada, and Arizona in performing a program selected by John Hutford, program director.

Giants Loosen Purse Strings For Mays

Willie Mays may become the highest paid player in baseball history by this time next week.

"I think I had a good enough season in 1965 to merit a raise," Mays said yesterday.

The center fielder of the San Francisco Giants pulled down $105,000 or so last season. No one got more.

Mays won the major league home run title with a career high of 52, hit .317, knocked in 112 runs and scored 118 himself.

He also captured the National League Most Valuable Payer Award for the second time.

Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president and general manager, said last month, "I suspect reports of $125,000 for former Boston Red Sox outfielder Ted Williams might be a little high. But regardless, Willie will probably top all figures."

Feeney negotiates contracts with all the Giants except Mays. That little chore is left to Feeney's father-in-law, Club President Horace Stoneham. If there's ever been any haggling between owner Stoneham and Mays, no one's ever heard about it.

In the past, Stoneham has shown pride that his center fielder draws the highest salary in baseball.

"Willie is not second',' the owner said emphatically once when asked if Mays or Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was the game's highest paid player.

The 34-year-old Mays has just arrived home from a nationwide tour to accept awards at various dinners. His and Stoneham's absence from San Francisco have prevented them from talking about the contract earlier, Mays said.

"We'll have our get-together next week, either at Candlestick Park or maybe we can transact our business over the phone," Mays said. "But there will be no trouble."

There was trouble, however, toward the end of the 1965 season when a misunderstanding led to a story that Mays had been advised by bank president Jake Shemano to ask for $150,000.

Mays paid a personal call on Stoneham to say the report was untrue. Shemano said he never intruded in Mays' contract negotiations but only gave advice once Willie got the money.

"No one talks for me when I talk pay," Mays said then. "Mr. Stoneham and I never had an argument over salary. The longest huddle over contract we ever had was five minutes."

The forthcoming five-minute huddle is not expected to produce a $150,000 contract because of the large increase it would represent and the income tax structure.

SPORTS AND BOAT SHOW OPENS AT COW PALACE

Twenty-second annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show opened today for a 10-day run at the Cow Palace.

Record crowds were expected to jam the spacious exposition building and adjacent halls to ogle the latest in boating, hunting, fishing, camping and vacationing items on display.

Doors are open 2 to 11 p.m. daily, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturdays and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays. Admission is $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for children.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Case Of The Missing Warden; Sausalito's Indoor Sports

WHAT'S THIS?—I find it difficult to believe that the Marin Rod and Gun Club did not invite game warden Al Giddings to its birthday banquet last Saturday night. Especially since the MRGC takes pride in its conservation work and Giddings is a champion of that cause.

A LOCAL TENNIS pro is eyeing Marinship property for an indoor tennis layout, according to my southern Marin undercover agents. That's just what Sausalito needs: MORE indoor sports.

I-J SKI SCENE columnist Rosemary Seal started yesterday's column with ,"It's hard to decide what's prettier—an attractive girl in stretch pants or a tall pine tree plastered in snow."

It is? Well, I don't know about you, Rosie, but I'll take a tall, attractive girl in stretch pants plastered in the snow ANYTIME.

WHEN THE teachers of Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools play their annual faculty basketball game at SRHS tomorrow night they'd better be on their best behaviour. One of the refs will be Carl J. Brown, vice president of the San Rafael Board of Education, who specializes in vice on the boards, I imagine.

A man of high principles, Brown, I am sure, will be in complete command of his faculties.

WHEN SAN RAFAEL'S Bill Guyman watches sports on television these highly-perfected-electronic days he can't help but reminisce about the late 1940's when he helped pioneer TV sports coverage in Northern California.

"The difference between then and now," smiles Guyman, "is like A and Z. Or better yet, a Model T alongside a 1966 Mustang."

"It's particularly fascinating to me," he continued, "because I had the first commercial sports TV show in Northern California back in 1948. Our equipment and techniques then were archaic compared with today's 'Wide World Of Sports' type of coverage."

Guyman had the old "Pix In Sports" live and local show over KPIX in 1948 and remembers one program on which he persuaded racing mogul William B. Kyne to bring one of his thoroughbreds into the studio, which was located in one of San Francisco's better hotels.

"WELL," GUYMAN chortled, "we had only one camera in those days and wouldn't you know it that mare stuck her rear end right up to the camera. Thus, I presented the first television coverage of a horse's rear end in history! You can imagine the ribbing I took. TWO of us on the same show!"

Although the old gray mare ain't what she used to be, Guyman is still dealing in horsepower. He's salesman for Ames Ford Co. in San Rafael, and you'd better believe it, friends, that he knows one end of a Mustang from the other.

Mustang: "Mr. Guyman, did you know mother?"

Guyman: "Certainly, son. In fact, all of us horsemen knew 'er." (Milton Berle: 1918.)

SPORTS BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

GOLF

PALM SPRINGS — Harold (Catfish) Kneece, who has never won a major golf tournament, fired his second straight four-under-par 68 and took a four-stroke lead in the second round of the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

PALM DESERT — John Cook, a 35-year-old professional from Jonesboro, Ark., took the lead in the second round of the $10,000 Hope of Tomorrow Tournament with a four-under-par 66 for a total of 134.

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla.—Herman Keiser and Jack Isaacs took the lead in the PGA Quarter Century Club Tourney with a four-under-par 68.

GENERAL

CHICAGO—The Illinois Athletic Commission renewed the Illinois boxing license of WBA heavyweight champion Ernie Terrell and cleared the way for a possible Chicago title match between Terrell and generally-accepted world champion Cassius Clay.

NEW LONDON, Conn.—The Coast Guard Academy announced the appointment of Lt. Cmdr. Frank S. Kapral as head football coach to replace Capt. Otto Graham, who resigned last week to become head coach of the Washington Redskins of the NFL.

NEW YORK—Joe Reichler, Associated Press sports writer for 22 years and a widely known expert in the field of baseball journalism, was named director of public relations for baseball by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA, Calif.—Tudor Fame, $72.20, shot up the middle from eighth place and won the $29,450 Arcadia Handicap by a neck over Plaque at Santa Anita.

HIALEAH, Fla.—Ginger Fizz, $16.60, closed with a rush and outran Grey Dawn 2nd by two lengths in the Tavernier Purse at Hialeah Park.

MACHEN DOWN — Referee moves in to start count on Eddie Machen (left) after he either slipped or was knocked down by Germany's Karl Mildenberger in their dull, 10-round heavyweight fight in Frankfurt, Germany last night. Machen lost a decision. (AP Wirephoto)

FADING MACHEN LOSES TO GERMAN CHAMPION

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Germany's Karl Mildenberger and California's Eddie Machen, a couple of cautious heavyweights, held to form last night. Mildenberger won as expected and the fight was dull, which was no surprise either.

The 28-year-old West German holds the European crown and hoped to use the fight as a springboard to a title fight with champion Cassius Clay. The left-hander was awarded a unanimous decision in a 10-rounder although the verdict was greeted by both cheers and whistles by the crowd of about 12,000.

Mildenberger's victory, over the fading, 33-year-old American did little to enhance his title aspirations.

In an odd shift, the German Boxing Federation replaced referee Gerhard Seewald at the start of the seventh round, sending in Hans Bertram. The official explanation was that Seewald was ill but ringside observers felt he was replaced for parting the fighters too quickly in the earlier rounds.

Mildenberger weighed 196½ pounds, Machen 192¼.

Ike Leads Arnie's Army, But Kneece Leads Scores

By BOB MYERS

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Led by Harold Kneece, a personable young man with the nickname of Catfish, the unheralded professionals of golf continued to dominate the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic as play resumed today.

There are still 54 holes to be played in this five day, 90-hole tournament. And such fellows as Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., and Ken Venturi could make up a lot of ground in the three remaining rounds.

Kneece, whose nickname stems from his boyhood, when he loved to fish, leads the field by four strokes with successive rounds of 68 for 136.

"I like to catch catfish but I don't like to eat 'em," said Kneece. He added he generally carries fishing tackle with him on his golf trips, but not this time. Fishing, especially for catfish, is somewhat foreign to this romantic sage-and-sagebrush country.

Tied up at 140 as the third round began were Jack McGowan, with 66-74; R. H. Sikes, 70-70 and Jack Rule, 72-68.

Palmer, with 71-70, was tied at 141 with six other players but his morale may suffer without a distinguished supporter.

That would be former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who took personal command of Arnie and his army yesterday at the Eldorado Country Club.

The general, in one of his first appearances in public since his recent heart attack, looked thin but healthy. He wore brown slacks and matching sports jacket and a saucy straw hat, with a feather tacked in the ribbon.

Ike walked all but one of the nine holes — the long, par-5, No. 13 when he climbed into his golf cart — and frequently conversed with Palmer, apparently about Classic strategy.

The General and Palmer had the situation under control for the nine holes they toured together, leaving Palmer two under par. But when Ike left, Palmer was forced to make a truce with par on the other nine.

Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, slipped to a 73 and was tied at 142 with among others, Al Geiberger and Doug Sanders.

Kneece, who has been on the PGA circuit since 1960, has never won a tournament. But in each of the first two rounds here, he required only 20 putts, and in the second round, playing Indiana Wells, he had only one bogey.

MILWAUKEE MUDDLE

Eckert Sees No Solution

NEW YORK (AP) — "I wish I had some magic and knew how to come up with a plan to satisfy Milwaukee and keep baseball out of courts."

That is what William D. Eckert, the new baseball commissioner, said yesterday in acknowledging he can see no compromise plan in time to forestall a Feb. 28 Milwaukee trial of a lawsuit against the Braves.

"I have been in touch with all the parties interested in the Milwaukee situation and I'm available," Eckert said, "but the matter is not in my hands now. It is in court until the situation is settled."

The former Air Force general, who took over as commissioner last Nov. 18, said he was strongly in favor of expansion

Mariners Take On Napa '5'

College of Marin Tars will be trying to stretch their winning basketball streak to 13 tonight when they host the tough Napa Chiefs in Kentfield. Tip off is at 8 o'clock.

Fred Arnold, Marin's 6-foot-7 rebounding whiz, will be out of the game because of a twisted ankle, suffered in Wednesday night's game against Siskiyous in Weed. He hurt his ankle trying for a rebound early in the game, which Marin eventually won in overtime, 78-73.

With Arnold out of the lineup tonight, that means much of the boardwork will have to come from Jim Halm, the other 6-7 cager on the Tars' front line. Joining Halm in the starting lineup will be Rod Minto (6-3) and Larry Wolfe (6-3) at forwards and Lorry Galassi (5-11) and Don Hanson (6-1) at guards.

TOPS LEAGUE

Marin is on top of Golden Valley Conference standings with a 5-0 mark, and Napa is on its heels at 3-1, so it should be quite a game tonight.

Bill Pandiani, little 5-6 guard for the Tars, will get his share of action as he has shown his worth as a key reserve. It was the quick-moving Pandiani's free throws that put Marin ahead for keeps in the overtime period against Siskiyous.

Marin fans are wondering how long Marin's momentum will continue, but none are anxious for it to end. After losing their first four games of the season, the Tars came back to win 14 of their next 15 to boost their record to a lusty 14 wins and 5 losses.

High School League Opens Second Half

Six of the seven teams in the Marin Athletic League start the second half of their loop schedule tonight.

Drake is at Redwood, Tam is at Novato and Terra Linda is at Marin Catholic. Their Class B counterparts start off the action at 7 o'clock, with varsity games following at about 8:15. San Rafael will have a bye.

The Redwood-Drake game shapes up as the games of the night, since Redwood is in first place with a 5-1 mark and Drake is tied for second a game back at 4-2. Tam, tied with Drake, is just ahead of Novato (3-3), so that game should be a thriller, also. Terra Linda is even at 3-3 and Marin Catholic is next to last with a 2-4 mark.

HOME EDGE

In the first go around, Drake stunned Redwood 66-54, Tam out-defensed Novato 36-35, and Marin Catholic beat Terra Linda 50-47. Drake and Tam won on their own courts, and most basketball experts give a few points to the home team because of the "home court advantage."

In the Class B race, Tam is two games ahead of the pack with an unblemished 6-0 mark. Next come Terra Linda and Marin Catholic at 4-2, Redwood and San Rafael at 3-3, Drake 1-5 and Novato winless in 6 tries.

RECREATION CAGE

Results of last night's games in the San Rafael Adult Basketball League: Fox Petroleum Equipment (Tom Corbett, 15) d. Harding Gophers (Glen Schrevder, 10) 51-36; Sheriff's (Chuck Prandi, 16) d. Indian Valley Lumber (Rich Curry, 12) 77-50; Native Sons (Kent Rossi, 20) d. San Francisco Theological Seminary (Jack Waller,20), 49-39; Marin's Marines d. Montgomery Ward by forfeit.

WATCHING NO. 8—College of Marin basketball coach Cal Riemcke and star Fred Arnold show the intenseness of a winning streak, as they watch part of Marin's eighth straight win, this one against Santa Rosa recently. Marin will be shooting for No. 13 tonight and Arnold will have to watch from the bench because of an ankle injury.

April 19 Target For Terrell-Clay

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Athletic Commission has renewed Ernie Terrell's license to fight, warming up the possibility of a heavyweight title bout in Chicago with Cassius Clay.

Target date, if the fight can be arranged, is April 19.

Terrell, recognized as world champion by the World Boxing Assn., was denied a license in New York last week. The New York Commission said Terrell had been hobnobbing with Bernie Glickman, an alleged pal of underworld figures.

Terrell said Glickman never has been more than a booking agent for his rock 'n roll night club group and that he was not even that any more.

"We have no questions about Terrell," said Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois Commission yesterday. "We renewed his license. As for the commission sanctioning a Clay-Terrell fight, I have set up a tentative meeting for next Thursday in the event the Louisville people who manage Clay want to make an appearance."

"Nobody has signed anything yet," said Bentley. "And until they do, there is no fight. But Jacko sounded encouraging when we telephoned him yesterday in Miami and said he would get in touch with us again."

Serena Takes Lead In Race To Mexico

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Decreasing winds today favored Ken Demeuse's 83-foot schooner Serena which was pushed into the lead at the halfway mark of the San Diego-to-Acapulco yacht race.

The Serena, scrach boat from San Francisco, was in front of the 25-boat fleet as the competition entered its fifth day's run, mainly because of failing winds which caused extensive reshuffling of positions.

The Serena logged 197 miles during the fourth day's run to overtake the pace-setting Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch, which dropped to second-place 753 miles out of San Diego and 29 miles behind the leader at last report.

Larry Maio's Redhead, a 40-foot sloop from San Diego, seized the over-all handicap and class B lead from the Aegaeon with a 151 mile run in 24 hours. The 57-foot yawl Ondine from Larchmont, N.Y. wrested the class A lead from the Whistle Wing.

The Serena was last reported a little more than 109 miles ahead of the record pace set by Sirius II in 1964 when it covered the 1,430-mile course in 8:09:15:49.

Sports Almanac Project Started In Mill Valley

The almanac contains records and pictures of a resume of sporting events during the year 1965. Mill Valley's edition will have a cover photograph showing the finish of the 1965 Dipsea Race at Stinson Beach, according to Jerome C. Hauke, project chairman.

Jaycees are going from business to business in Mill Valley and Strawberry asking merchants to help sponsor the book and have two competitive teams, the Goldbricks, headed by Robert Gaskill and the Blue Chips, led by Michael Walker. This is the first year the chamber has worked on such an almanac.

Williams Fans Up In Arms . . .

Okay, everybody, stand back! It's Customer Day at the store.

Ted Williams didn't belong in the Hall of Fame? Sez you, Murray!

Now, let the public tell it. Don't get any on you.

"Your article concerning Ted Williams . . . prompts this letter of bitter protest. Many times in the past . . . I have been tempted to complain about your artificial lionizing of the exploits of the colored stars . . . I simply don't believe they are as great as you have tried to make . . . believe. Your columns are consistently devoted to this sort of . . . propaganda. I have admired Ted Williams because he has never succumbed to a certain power-structure which I call 'THE SPORTSWRITERS.' You cheap creeps have been riding him for years because he would not knuckle under . . . " Vic Chenven, Orinda.

—You sure know how to hurt a fellow, Vic. And I only "lionize" lions.

"Last week we had our cesspool cleaned out and now we know where . . . you sportswriters live. Because it would take living in that kind of environment to write such a column about a ball player, namely, Theodore Samuel Williams. Why didn't you have the guts to mention that Ted spent five of the best years of his life as a Marine pilot—twice had to belly land in the Korean War?" J. P. Jones, Granada Hills.

—I didn't want to keep him out of Arlington Cemetery or the history books — just the Hall of Fame.

"Say, you made a fool of yourself . . . your editorial tripe and insult to the greatest left-handed baseball hitter that ever lived." Walter C. Mack, Glendale.

—Only if you consider Babe Ruth a pitcher, Mack.

"You belong in a condensed cartoon next to Dick Tracy entitled 'Cute Acrimony For Sale.' You are typical of the bush L.A. scribes. You are strictly a hacker and get your kicks sniping at real class . . . " Charles Di Noto, Venice.

—Charlie, you're so right! And it was nice to hear from you.

"Well, you finally went off the deep end. If Ted Williams belongs in the Louve, you belong on the Podunk Center Gazette, the Cassius Clay of sportswriting." N. L. Cheney, Westminster.

—Now, jut a darn minute! Clay isn't going to like that a bit. HE thinks I'm the Floyd Patterson of sportswriting.

"So Ted didn't lead his team to pennants! So what? I also think that an outfielder who runs into fences ought to have his head examined." Paul Pulasky, Huntington Beach.

—Not to say his arms, legs and sacroilac.

"Your rotten attack on Ted Williams is a disgrace. A poor comic writer and a worse sportswriter, you're a disgrace to an already run-down business. You're real bush. I never thought too much of you." Tom Moray, Hollywood.

Why, Tom! I'd never guess!

"I am not prone to writing letters to movie stars, politicians, sports figures and especially frustrated would-be humorists like yourself. It could be by some error your column appeared in the sports section instead of the comic section. Your illiterate remarks had the logic of a blithering idiot. You write such an odoriferous (stinking, to you) column." Ernest E. Fintor, Gardena.

—Well, I'll say one thing: You're frank, Ernest.

"Have had great pleasure in reading you the past few years and never bothered to write and thank you. Today you write the Williams story, which I do not like, so naturally you are going to hear from me." Arthur Robinson, Clark Hotel.

—Naturally.

"You all but say (and you will ultimately deny it) that Williams COST the Red Sox ome pennants . . . " Jack Lockwood, Glendale.

—Never deny anything, Jack.

"My dear Mr. Murray, I could go on but I am sure it would be a waste of time to try to convince a idiotic, bigoted and prejudiced derelict of the written word, such as one Jim Murray, who 'heaven knows why' is a sports writer with the Los Angeles Times." T. E. Barron, Hudson, Wisconsin.

—They tell me Heaven is just as mystified as everyone else, T.E.

Lions Call Off $2 Million Rebellion

DETROIT (AP) — The long winter of discontent in pro football has taken another stormy turn with the revelation that members of the Detroit Lions have held a secret meeting with an eye toward getting $2 million in increased salaries and bonuses.

William Clay Ford, owner of the National Football League club, acknowledged that veteran players had met recently with a Teamsters Union member on hand, and had reached agreement on the $2 million figure before deciding to let the issue drop.

Ford, however, emphasized that "it all has blown over."

Still it is another indication of growing discontent among veteran players in both professional leagues over the lucrative contracts being handed out to rookies.

Last month former St. Louis Coach Wally Lemm confirmed that veteran players on the NFL's Cardinals had held a similar meeting while linebacker Nick Buoniconti of the American League's Boston Patriots publicly discussed player dissatisfaction over the huge bonus trend.

Ford, meanwhile, was asked to confirm a report that the Lions had held such a meeting. When he did, he was asked if the demands included a reported $300,000 in increased salaries.

"That was a low estimate," said Ford. "It was $1.7 shy of the mark.

"As I understand it, they (the players) decided there was no reason to make such a demand and it all has blown over. I have been told there is no reason for me to worry about this."

Ford said he didn't know why a Teamsters official had been at the meeting "unless whoever organized the meeting thought it would be beneficial to have somebody with collective bargaining experience there."

Ford's comments came after two local reports — by Executive Sports Editor George Puscas of the Detroit Free Press and Sports Director Bob Reynolds of radio station WJR. Reynolds said that 14 "disgruntled veterans" had met.

Receiver Gail Cogdill, meanwhile, was quoted as criticizing Coach Harry Gilmer at a Wednesday night speaking engagement, saying if the Lions' rookie coach returned next year he "might be the only one who does."

Cogdill denied making the statements, although two reporters who attended the function at which Cogdill spoke said he had been quoted correctly.

Also among the statements attributed to Cogdill was a blast at the Lions' salary schedule.

"They (management) told us the Lions were the highest paying team in the league," Cogdill was quoted. "But we did some investigating. The team rates 10th" in salaries in the NFL.

Despite Cogdill's denial, Lions' General Manager Edwin Anderson said the club would make a complete, investigation of the matter.

"If it's found that Cogdill made such statements," said Anderson, "we will then take the necessary disciplinary action."

Midwest Next In AFL's Expansion

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss predicts that the American Football League will have 14 or 16 teams by 1970.

Foss told a Boston Patriots award dinner last night that his own plan was "to add one team each year." He said, "We've already taken in Miami for 1966 and we'll announce at least one more team and possibly two this spring."

"We need a team in the Midwest," Foss continued. "Chicago, of course, is the top territory. However, I think we'd do very well in Milwaukee and we wouldn't hurt the Packers."

The Green Bay Packers of the National Football League now play three league games each season in Milwaukee.

Foss said that with all the baseball trouble in Milwaukee, "I think Milwaukee fans would turn out in force to back one of their own teams."

He said "whether the city is Milwaukee, Chicago, Cincinnati or Columbus, Ohio, I think we need a team in the Midwest.

"We've got a good location in the South with Miami. And in the Far West we may have to do something with the Los Angeles complex, taking advantage of such facilities as Chavez Ravine or Pasadena or Anaheim."

Foss said "the availability of stadiums is the big thing in expansion. Without good facilities, you can't expand into a city even though it may have the population."

The commissioner was asked about a league ruling against players wearing goatees or beards.

"Our players aren't seen in hotel lobbies wearing sweatshirts, slacks and sneakers," he answered. "They're gentlemen and we want them to show it."

He said the ruling against beards was made by the owners and he would see that it was enforced.

Before the dinner, given by Patriots boosters called the 1776 Club, Foss met with All-Star linebacker Nick Buoniconti to discuss the latter's complaint that he and others in the league were planning to play out their options in 1966 in an attempt to get pay raises.

"We aren't ever going to try to silence a player who wants to announce a decision to exercise his right to play out his option," Foss said later. "We just want him to limit his announcement to his own personal decision without mentioning other players in the league."

He said when a player "talks about players on other clubs playing out their options, it's the job of the commissioner to step in. It can be detrimental to the league."

Heavyweight Bout Ruled No Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In the opinion of the referee, the two heavyweights had fought to a standstill — or at least danced to one.

Referee George Latka was not impressed with the efforts of top ranking contender Amos (Big Train) Lincoln of Los Angeles or his challenger, Henry Clark of San Francisco.

After eight rounds, Latka ruled the bout no contest and stopped the fight.

His decision stunned a crowd of 4,700, that apparently thought the ring official was going to award the 203-pound Lincoln a technical knock out.

As the referee's decision was announced over the loudspeaker, the Olympic Auditorium echoed with boos and cheers.

Lincoln, who hasn't fought since Nov. 22, immediately announced he would appeal Latka's decision to the California Athletic Commission. He appeared stale, his punches glancing off the 215-pound Clark, apparently without effect.

Clark also said he would protest. A veteran of only 12 pro fights, he had held back throughout the fight, using defensive tactics. Occasionally he would batter Lincoln with a spurt of quick jabs that failed to stun the veteran.

Dons Breeze To 83-43 Cage Win

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A drubbing was the only way to describe the basketball bore last night when the University of San Francisco whipped the University of California at Santa Barbara 83-43.

The game fell apart for the Gauchos after the first five minutes of play, and they scored only 11 points — to San Francisco's 42 — in the first half.

High scorer for the Dons was Joe Ellis, who accounted for 18 points. High man for the Gauchos was reserve center John Hiles, who hit for 10.

The Dons, coasting through much of the second half, put in a lot of reserves for the fun of it, making their season record a perfect 4-0. Santa Barbara's season tally was just the opposite, 0-4.

Police Guard Star After Mail Threat

BOSTON (AP) — The authorities seemed more disturbed than Gordie Howe last night that the superstar of the Detroit Red Wings had received a threatening letter.

Howe, given a police escort while he was in the city for last night's game with the Boston Bruins, didn't let it affect his playing as he scored his 20th goal of the year and assisted linemate Alex Delvecchio on the Detroit captain's 300th National Hockey League goal.

Police ringed the stadium to be sure that nothing more than a few chiding remarks from the fans was thrown at Howe or that no unauthorized individual approached him.

And, except for a brief display of temper which netted Howe two minutes in the penalty box for a high stick, there were no incidents.

Detroit won the game 4-2 and climbed into a tie with idle Chicago for the National Hockey League lead.

Boston Police Capt. Peter J. Donovan headed the police detail keeping watch on the 37-year-old Howe. He said he was sent a copy of the anonymous letter Howe received at Detroit two or three weeks ago by the FBI.

Donovan said the writer identified himself as a 6-foot-4 Negro weighing 240 pounds and he said the letter was mailed from Brooklyn, N.Y.

He also said a detective interviewed Howe without picking up a lead.

Howe's reaction was one of irritation at the publicity.

"Now my wife will be worried," he complained. "And once the story is out, then you get a lot of these things."

Donovan said the letter used obscene language.

A spokesman for the Red Wings said Howe turned the letter over to Manager-coach Sid Abel, who forwarded it to League President Clarence Campbell. Campbell sent it to the FBI.

The letter writer threatened to throw paper clips on the ice, a move which causes skaters to stumble and has resulted in serious injury to many players in the past.

The letter also said:

"If the players don't get you I will."

Howe also was watched by police when Detroit made a visit to New York's Madison Square Garden last week.

Injuns, Cal Host Oregon Cage Teams

Final examinations are out of the way and the cagers of the Pacific Athletic Conference tonight resume the hectic chase for the conference basketball crown.

Stanford, UCLA, and Oregon State are tied for the lead with 3-1 records.

The Beavers invade California (1-3) tonight while Stanford hosts Oregon, which is 2-2 but has been red hot since backcourt ace Jim Barnett returned to top shape. The California teams will swap foes Saturday which means the Indians and Beavers will face in a showdown test.

UCLA, still the title favorite, takes on Washington State (1-3) tomorrow at Pullman. Edgar Lacey sat out the Bruins' nonconference win over Arizona Monday, but will return Saturday. The junior star is suffering from bursitis.

UCLA Cage Star Washington Hurt

Starting guard Kenny Washington has been sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, Bruin coach Johnny Wooden revealed yesterday.

Freddie Goss, who is suffering from an undiagnosed blood ailment, probably will replace Washington.

Forward Edgar Lacey is still suffering from bursitis of the knee and reserve forward Randy Judd has just returned to practice after being out with a skin disorder.

But Wooden said he hopes both will be ready for Saturday's game at Washington State and Monday's meeting with Washington in Seattle.

San Jose '5' Turns Back Santa Clara

SAN JOSE (AP)—S. T. Saffold scored 20 points and took down 14 rebounds last night in leading San Jose State over Santa Clara 74-69 in a West Coast Athletic Conference basketball game.

Saffold's lay-in with 5½ minutes left in the game gave the Spartans a 56-55 lead they never relinquished. Santa Clara then began to foul trying to get the ball and the Spartans capitalized with 14 free throws before the game ended.

San Jose was seven points down in the first half before Pete Newell hit four baskets in the three minutes before intermission, cutting the Bronco lead to 35-32, at half. Newell topped scorers with 21 points.

Terry Porter and Eric Paulson scored 15 points each for the Broncos, now 2-2 in WCAC play and 10-7 over-all. San Jose is 3-1 and 7-7.

Palmer Extends Money Winnings

Palmer's $3,037 for his third place tie at San Francisco gave him a total of $23,787 for the first month this year. That includes $9,750 in winnings outside the PGA tour.

Billy Casper is next with earnings of $11,838. He got $10,008 on the tour.

Ken Venturi's $8,500 in the Lucky vaulted him into third place with a total of $9,478. Venturi got only $340 outside the tour.

Others in the top 10 with official and total winnings: Miller Barber, $7,458 and $7,683; Frank Beard, $7,062 and $7,765; Tom Weiskopf, $6,137 and $6,137; Paul Harney, $5,250 and $5,596; Dave Ragan, $4,833 and $5,670; Don January, $4,700 and $4,840, and Charles Sifford $4,195 and $4,528.

but emphasized such a program had to be worked out on a sound basis.

"Do I consider it a league matter?" he asked, anticipating a question. "It's obviously a league matter but it's also a matter for the commissioner. Anything pertaining to baseball is the commissioner's concern, the way I view it."

Milwaukee interests, faced with the prospect of losing the Braves to Atlanta, applied for another National League franchise last December. The request was denied.

"I don't think we can put a team in Milwaukee this year," Eckert declared. "In fact, I don't see how we can have expansion in all next year or so without diluting the present clubs. After all, we've had 25 per cent expansion in the last few years and I think that's quite something."

Eckert said expansion should be a long range development, but he said he would like to see plans put into effect as soon as feasible for adding more teams to the present 20-team setup in the American and National Leagues.

"I don't think we need government or federal regulations, either," he said. "If you can carry out an expansion program without court or federal regulations, you're better off in getting things done."

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS

Cisco Brings Back Memories; Bad News For Steelie Anglers

STEVENS

Did you ever notice how a picture or even a word brings a wave of nostalgia to you? Such a wave hit me head-on when I read the word "cisco" in a late release from the Department of Fish and Game. Brought memories of fishing Lake Michigan at Mackatawa. Made me remember the mouth-watering taste of "smoked whitefish." My taste buds come full bloom at the mere mention.

The news item concerning the cisco mentions that "The third and final introduction of Bonneville cisco was made in Lake Tahoe earlier this month."

AN ESTIMATED 5,000 of the little (they only grow to about eight or ten inches) were planted in Tahoe. According to the DFG release, the cisco will be sought by other fishes populating the lake as a forage fish. That's okay. When they start spawning they come close to shore and are easy to catch in hand nets. To me that is not so okay. I recall that when a cisco was hooked while fishing for the yellow perch of Lake Michigan, we had a battle on our hands. They really put up a fight when taken on trout tackle. Too bad, they are so taken (in dip nets, I mean) when they should be rated a true game fish. Perhaps the little fellows will be protected when they are on a spawning run. Here's hoping they are.

ANYONE PLANNING a steelhead trip to the Russian River is liable to be bitterly disappointed unless it clears sooner than ever before. In addition to the tributaries pushing dirty water into the main stream, the Army Engineers were scheduled to begin releasing water from Lake Mendocino last Sunday. That means "curtains" for fishing for at least five or six days.

WHENEVER THE rains stay away long enough to allow the various steelhead streams to become fishable, and if you succeed in getting a fish or two and if it is a "downstreamer," but is in good condition — not having frayed fins and tail — don't, I implore you, look with disdain at your catch, or listen to what many of your fellow anglers say about a "spent" steelhead. Above all, don't commit the crime of unhooking the fish and leaving him to gasp out his last breath on the beach. Believe me when I say it's almost impossible to tell a spent steelhead from a fresh-runner. And when served at the table I challenge any epicurean fish eater to tell the difference.

ANOTHER THING you may bet on, is the battle of that off-duty battler! Except that he will seldom leap completely out of the water as will the fresh steelies, the under water battle he puts up is simply out of this world. The longest fight I ever had was with a spent female at the beach side of the highway hole on the Navarro. It took me well over an hour to beach that crazy fish, and it only weighed around 10 or 12 pounds at the most.

I mention all this because from now until the last day of the season nearly 50 per cent of the steelhead landed will be down-streamers.

Drew Hall Named New President Of Tennis Club

The new board of directors for the Novato Tennis Club will meet next Wednesday, 8 p.m., at Lynwood School, and invites anyone interested in presenting ideas to the group.

Interested persons can also submit ideas by writing to treasurer Mrs. Harold Nelson of 1248 Denlyn Street, Novato.

Drew Hall is new president of the board, Paul Wilkins is vice president, and Mrs. Brig Young is secretary. Other board members are Mesdames Willard Denny, Manuel Soares and Alan White.

While present by-laws limit membership to persons living within the boundaries of the Novato Unified School District, the new board will soon be asking the membership to amend the by-laws to permit anyone to join and participate, said Hall.

Seals In Good Shape For Drive At Playoff Berth

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—The San Francisco Seals hope that the trip through six American Hockey League cities can lead them into fourth place in the Western Hockey League.

The Seals open their marathon tonight at Rochester, the toughest AHL team they will face during their Eastern swing. Tomorrow they face Cleveland and Sunday they take on Buffalo. Visits to Baltimore, Hershey and Providence round out the interleague invasion.

It all ends when they return home for a Feb. 16 game with the AHL's big daddy, Quebec, which has a 32-10 win-lost record as it readies for a Western invasion.

The Seals are in "good shape for a playoff berth drive," general manager Bud Poile commented after his team's 4-2 romp at league-leading Victoria Wednesday. Poile is doubling as coach while Charlie Burns recuperates from back surgery.

Marin Fighter Hurt, Quits G.G. Tourney

Dave Tounsel of San Rafael, the only one of a five-man Mar-Vel Athletic Club team to make it to the semi-finals of the Golden Gloves boxing tournament in San Francisco, won't be able to fight.

"On advice from his doctor," said MacPhee, "Tounsel has to pull out of the tournament." Gonzalez, the man he beat, will fight in tonight's semi-finals in his place, MacPhee said.

Bill Goelz and Norm Kreuter, two of the other San Rafael club fighters, lost their single-elimination matches, and Homer Hall and Morlin Smith pulled out before the tourney started.

Three Drake Teachers Planning Far-Flung Sabbatical Journeys

A Sir Francis Drake High School Spanish teacher plans to travel through three continents next school year; a history instructor will spend a year in Europe and the Middle East, and a physical education teacher hopes to teach in Germany or Turkey.

Plans of the three for use of sabbatical leaves have been presented to the Tamalpais High School District Board of Trustees.

The three are Charles Simonds, world history teacher; Miles McColm, Spanish teacher, and George Corson, physical education instructor, all at Drake High.

McColm, who is also district language supervisor, and his wife intend to travel through Mexico, Central and South America, Africa and Europe. McColm said his purpose is to study people and therefore he plans to do only volunteer work throughout the trip. He plans to teach English with what he calls a "natural touch" in the hope of conveying to the children not only the language but a sampling of American culture as well.

CHARLES SIMONDS
Plans year in Europe

MILES McCOLM
To tour three continents

Early in August, Mr. and Mrs. McColm will leave for Mexico to establish their first home with a Mexican family in San Miguel de Allende, a village in the central highlands. From San Miguel, they will travel from one region to another for about a month at a time.

In the spring of 1967, the McColms will move to South America, and when schools reopen, they will resume their volunteer teaching in Peru, Chile, Bolivia, and Paraguay. They will then cross the Atlantic by ship to Africa, where they will visit the Republic of South Africa, Mozambique, Tanzanian, Nigeria, and Liberia. From Africa, they will travel to Europe, where McColm will attend the University of Salamanca in Spain.

McColm, who received his bachelor's degree in Spanish and education from Fresno State College, and his master's degree from University of Southern California, has been with the Tamalpais district for 14 years.

Simonds, history department chairman at Drake, will travel to the Middle East as well as Europe. His trip, scheduled from next August 4 to July 16, 1967, will include Belgium, Spain, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan.

Primary purpose, he said, is to look into the cultures of ancient civilizations, compare the modern with the medieval, see the historical sites and modern conditions.

Simonds and his wife will travel around Europe by Volkswagen camper. He looks forward to a 30-day sail around the Greek islands of the Aegean Sea in an 18-foot sloop.

"This way we'll see Greece as the Greeks would see it," Simonds said.

A graduate of San Jose High School and San Jose State College, Simonds received his master's degree in history from Stanford University.

Corson, his wife and daughter, Cathy, a 1965 Drake graduate, plan to leave in August, returning in time for the fall semester of 1967.

Corson expects to teach boys' physical education at a U.S. Armed Forces dependents' school, in either Germany or Turkey. The family hopes to travel through Italy and southern Spain during the winter holidays.

Corson taught American children abroad in 1960-61 at the Paris American High School. He has been with the Tamalpais District for 23 years, with time out for World War II. He holds bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from College of Pacific (now University of the Pacific). In June, Corson is to receive his secondary administration credential from San Francisco State College.

GEORGE CORSON
Will teach abroad

Container Planting Will Be Discussed

Mrs. William J. Ferguson of Belvedere will speak on "What to Plant in Containers" at the meeting of the Redwood Shade Garden Club at 8 p.m. today at Whitaker Hall of St. Stephen's Parish, Belvedere.

After the speech there will be a demonstration of pruning fuchsias.

Marin Road Funds

Highway users tax funds amounting to $85,992.12 were allocated to Marin County by the state for January, according to the state controller's office. The funds were collected on sales of motor fuel.

Marinites Train As Barbers In Federal Program

Nine Marin County men were among 13 who recently completed a 12-week course in hairdressing at a Strawberry barber shop under the federal Manpower Training Act.

The on-the-job training was co-sponsored by the federal government and Barbers Local 582, according to Manuel Martin of the Marin Town and Country Barber Shop, who was demonstrator for the course.

A new class of 15, including seven from Marin, started the course this week.

Jet's Fuselage Found In Bay Near Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese airliner carrying 133 persons crashed into Tokyo Bay last night. An airline spokesman early today said there was no sign of survivors, making it the world's worst single plane disaster.

A spokesman for All-Nippon Airways, operator of the three-engine Boeing 727, made the announcement that dashed most hope that any could have emerged alive.

He said rescue boats had recovered the fuselage of the plane and found "scores of bodies" inside. Hours after the crash there was no sign of a survivor, he added.

All aboard the plane were Japanese.

The debris was reported six to eight miles from Tokyo International Airport, which is on the edge of the bay just south of the main part of Tokyo.

The plane was on a 600-mile flight from Chitose, northern Japan, to Tokyo. Almost all the 126 passengers had attended the city's annual snow festival. Seven crew members also were aboard the plane.

PILOT HAS TROUBLE

Weather was good when the plane disappeared. An airline official said the pilot had reported a malfunction in his instruments and that he would make a visual landing. He was given clearance. Seconds later contact was broken with ground control.

The plane was 18 miles from the airport when it vanished from radar screens.

The worst previous crash involving a single plane brought death to 130 persons aboard an Air France Boeing 707 jetliner near Paris on June 3, 1962. In the second worst, 129 U.S. servicemen died in June 1953, in another crash near Tokyo.

Tokyo Bay is 50 miles long and about 24 miles at its widest. Tokyo, Yokohama, Kawasaki, Yokosuka and Chiba all are on the bay.

ONE OF THREE

The Japanese jetliner was one of three purchased from the Boeing company in May, 1964.

The Japanese airliner was the fourth Boeing 727 to crash in the past six months. The three other crashes occurred in the United States, taking 140 lives.

Reporting on a fiery crash of a 727 in Salt Lake City that killed 43 persons, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board disclosed last month it recommended rerouting of fuel lines that extend through the fuselage of jet planes, particularly those thot have engines mounted in the rear as does the 727.

NO THOROUGHFARE—Poplar Avenue in Ross, at the entrance to the town's commercial area, was blocked to traffic today as flood water poured down the street and bubbled up from storm drains beneath it. Weather Bureau said rain may continue throughout weekend.

Double Life Discovered

DONALD S. HEIEN
Alias Donald Vaughn

The 28-year-old Heien, a convicted murderer, went over the fence of the San Quentin Prison ranch on the night of May 4, 1964, and vanished.

Last March, the FBI placed him on its list of "10 most wanted," reporting "indications that he had fled from the State of California."

Where he had fled came to light with the arrest yesterday.

In Newton Center, a suburb of Boston, Heien had become Donald Vaughn. He had married, and told FBI agents that his wife was not aware of his true identity, according to the announcement of his capture by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

His wife, he disclosed, had recently given birth to twins.

FBI agents captured him at the dry cleaning plant where he was employed. He was not armed and put up no resistance, Hoover said.

He will be returned here for trial for escape.

The quiet life of husband and father Donald Vaughn was in sharp contrast to the earlier career of Donald S. Heien.

On March 12, 1956, he attempted to rob a service station attendant at Lomita Park, Los Angeles County. When his victim resisted, Heien shot and killed him. After his arrest, he reportedly admitted a series of holdups of service stations and liquor stores in the Los Angeles area. A heroin addict, he needed a "fix" the night he killed the service station attendant, he said.

The Lomita Park murder was not Heien's first crime. He had been charged with resisting arrest and disturbing the peace in Los Angeles in November, 1954, and again in January, 1955, also in Los Angeles, he had been charged with auto theft.

When the FBI put him on its "most wanted" list last year, it said Heien "has been armed with .22 and .38-caliber pistols and should be considered extremely dangerous."

The FBI said nothing about how its agents learned that killer Heien had become Newton Center cleaning plant worker Donald Vaughn.

Luna Makes It —Is Man Next?

JODRELL BANK, England (UPI) —The "most sensational pictures" ever received from the moon appeared to show today a dusty and rocky desert surface dotted with lunar pebbles and craters as small as an average dinner plate.

British scientists picked up four pictures of the world's first televised moonscape transmitted to an impatient world from Russia's Luna-9.

The British scientists stole a march on the Russians by giving out the vivid description of the Russians' own closeup moon shots coming from a quarter of a million miles away But the Russians crowed that the first man on the moon would be a Russian.

In Moscow, an official announcement said only that viewers will be able to see Luna-9 television pictures "in due course." but it gave no idea what to expect.

A jubilant Prof. Sir Bernard Lomell, director of the famed observatory near Manchester, said the "fantastic" pictures appear to destroy the theory that the moon's dust is many feet thick."

After viewing the four pictures, none larger than 10 by 11 inches, Lovell said he would now "support the theory that the dust is only a few inches thick."

One picture showed a sweep of the lunar landscape and another bore a black patch which appeared to be the shadow of the Soviet Luna-9—the world's first space vehicle to make a soft landing on the moon.

A Moscow television announcer said:

"Our Soviet men will be pioneers on the moon."

Soviet spaceman Alexei Leonov said in a broadcast that Cosmonauts are training for a moon trip.

Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin said on television that Luna-9 "transmits what it sees with television cameras."

The transmission of television pictures from the first space ship to make a soft landing on the moon was disclosed yesterday by British scientists who

Tip Leads To Capture Of Convict

William J. Dellinger, 36-year-old murderer who climbed over the San Quentin Prison north wall before dawn on Jan. 14 and camped for two days in a Larkspur thicket, was arrested early today by police in Reno, Nev.

Dellinger was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Ruby Miller of Bellflower, Los Angeles County, when he was arrested at 2:30 a.m., police reported.

Police said they had received a call saying he might be in the Reno area.

Mrs. Miller was driving to her sister's house in Reno when her car was stopped, they reported.

Dellinger did not resist arrest, officers said, but he at first gave a false name.

A trusted prisoner who was a fire guard at the prison's textile plant, Dellinger was serving a life term for the shooting of his stepfather, Sterling Miller, while the two were working together in a Kern County mine in 1958.

"His apprehension was a very clever piece of police work," said Elmer L. Howell, business manager at the prison, today.

Howell said that Dellinger was being held at the Reno City Jail until arrangements are made to return him to San Quentin.

Police Seek Grudge Motive In Murder

Friends, acquaintances and relatives of Marjorie S. Rudolph were interviewed today by police inspectors seeking a lead to anyone who may have a real or imagined grudge against the murdered wife of banker Leroy Rudolph.

"So far, we've turned up nothing," said San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa.

The police department has been flooded with phone calls offering leads, according to the chief. "We check them all out, no matter how strange," he said.

PRINT WORK

Police technicians continued lifting fingerprints at the Rudolph's home at 19 Carroll Court, San Rafael, scene of the brutal slaying Tuesday night.

"We've picked up a lot of prints, including some on the bathtub in which her body was found," Chiesa said, "but it will take a lot of sifting to see if they're any use."

First, the police will have to match up the prints with those of persons having innocent access to the house, a long process, he said.

FULL TIME

Inspector Thomas Cheetham has been assigned full time to the case, in which Mrs. Rudolph was ferociously beaten by someone — presumably known to her — for whom she opened the door to her home. Her family and neighbors agree she would never have admitted a stranger to the house. There

That Rooftop Beat Will Go On And On

No letup was in sight today in continuous rain which had pelted Marin County for more than 24 hours by noon.

Reservoirs and rain gauges were filled to overflowing, at least two trees were down, landslides were causing motorists inconvenience on two roads —but no major flooding had been reported by midday.

The Weather Bureau warned residents to keep umbrellas and raincoats handy for the next five days. The immediate storm, which earlier had been expected to ease off tomorrow, may last until next Wednesday, the bureau said.

Ross and San Anselmo were among the cities worst hit by the rain. More than three inches were recorded in both in 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today.

In San Rafael, 2.14 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours to noon today.

William Grant, senior engineer for Marin Municipal Water District, said Lagunitas, Nicasio, Bon Tempe and Alpine reservoirs were full. He said "Phoenix Lake is being maintained empty although water is flowing in and out."

The North Marin County Water District reported Stafford Lake reached the spillway and started overflowing yesterday. By this morning, there was a six-inch stream over the spillway.

A tree fell into Corte Madera Creek behind the Flying A service station at Barber Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo.

Kentfield firemen were called out at 5:14 p.m. yesterday to clear away a tree which fell at the side of the road at Evergreen and South Ridgewood drives.

Shortly after midnight, a large

Petitions Ask CSD Formation For Tam Valley

Petitions will be circulated within two weeks in Tamalpais and Tennessee Valleys to ask the Local Agency Formation Commission to create a new Community services district.

This was reported last night to directors of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club by director William A. Hargreaves.

The club has bought an 11-acre site and plans to dedicate it to such a district, if one is formed, for a community center.

Hargreaves said the club wants to see a district which would replace the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, expanding its boundaries and adding recreation and parks to its function.

About 200 signatures are needed to bring the matter before the LAFC, Hargreaves said.

Lucas Green Annexation Is Rejected By Commission

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Members of Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, meeting before a full house last night, rejected by 4-1 vote the proposed Lucas Green annexation to San Rafael.

The 54-acre parcel is at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101 and is part of both the Terra Linda Community Services District and Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District.

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, a commission member, moved the denial, saying he was against it mainly because of the economic impact that would be felt by the two small districts in losing the territory.

Commissioner Hugh G. Marchant was the dissenting voter. He said the dispute seemed to

Ex-Sniping Suspect Held In Strawberry Robbery

Two Marin City youths—one of whom was charged in December with shooting at sheriff's deputies—were arrested on suspicion of robbery last night, minutes after a 65-year-old tourist was robbed of $112 in Strawberry.

Booked at the county jail were Dave Townsel Jr., 19, of 211 Drake Avenue—who had been charged with the sniping at sheriff's cars, and Larry Cleary Walker, 18, of 31 Cole Drive, who was free awaiting trial on an auto theft charge. They were held under $3,630 bail each.

A third Marin City youth, picked up with them, was questioned and released.

Victim of the robbery was Ralph J. Bowers of Lancaster, Los Angeles County, who was staying at Alto Motel in Alto. He told sheriff's officers he ate dinner in a restaurant in Marin Town and Country Village at Strawberry and was looking in shop windows nearby at 9 p.m.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Moro Marks Time

ROME (AP)—Premier-designate Aldo Moro appeared to be up a blind alley today in his talks to put a new Cabinet together. President Giuseppe Saragat urged him to hold on while Saragat tried to sort things out with leaders of Parliament.

17th To Ratify

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—New Mexico is the 17th state to ratify the presidential succession amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The State Legislature made the move yesterday hours after the Colorado State Legislature had ratified the amendment.

Russ Tour Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A team of nine U.S. scientists who specialize in low energy physics will tour Russian nuclear installations under the auspices of U.S.-Soviet exchange program, the Atomic Energy Commission said yesterday.

Another A-Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission conducted another low-yield underground nuclear test yesterday at its Nevada test site, the fourth announced this year. A "low yield" test means an explosive force of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Nixon Voices Hope

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon told Republicans at a $500-a-plate dinner that the GOP will field its best candidates in 20 years next autumn. The dinner last night took in $550,000, Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky reported.

Shopping Around?

GENEVA (AP) — The Japanese-born wife of President Sukarno of Indonesia insists she's not in Switzerland to find a villa for his retirement. "I can assure you my husband has no plans to leave Jakarta," Ratna Sari Dewi Sukarno told newsmen yesterday. But then she added: "in the near future." There have been reports Sukarno is postponing surgery because of political instability at home.

Rockwell Is 72

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Artist Norman Rockwell had to wait seven years longer than most to collect Social Security but he still welcomes it. "This gives me a wonderful sense of security," Rockwell said on his 72nd birthday yesterday. Persons with large incomes are not entitled to collect Social Security until they reach 72.

Ring Lost

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Tammy Grimes says she has lost an uninsured $15,000 diamond ring in her Malibu home. Sheriff's deputies said yesterday that Miss Grimes had "torn the house apart" looking for the ring, a 10½-carat stone and 15 one-carat diamonds.

TV Star Explains Viet Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Robert Vaughn, television's "Man From U.N.C.L.E.," said last night he had no intention of causing "an uproar" with his speech about the Viet Nam war last weekend in Indianapolis, Ind.

Vaughn

"The speech was the result of soul searching, historical analysis, contemporary evaluation of the current situation from the congressional record and such periodicals as Time, Newsweek, the Washington Post, the New York Times comments made in the press by the Walter Lippmans, Eric Severeids, James Reston, and my collective judgment."

Vaughn, who indicated he disapproves of the war in Viet Nam, said this was the end product of the year's work and his concern since escalation of the war began.

He said the points of view contained in his speech to the John F. Kennedy-Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Dinner audience were points of view that have been expressed repeatedly by responsible people. He said he has no political aspirations, said he was "a gravely concerned citizen about this country and its policies toward the rest of the world."

'Tired' Hedy Fired From Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I was so tired from sleeping only one hour in four days. I just sort of collapsed for a day. That's human isn't it?"

Thus actress Hedy Lamarr explained her absence from work, which resulted in her firing yesterday from her first starring role in 15 years.

Hedy

It was not, said producer Bert I. Gordon, because of her arrest last week on suspicion of shoplifting $86 in goods from a department store.

Miss Lamarr was replaced in "Picture Mommy Dead" by Zsa Zsa Gabor, Gordon said.

Explained Gordon: "The only remaining scenes are those in which she (Miss Lamarr) appears. . . with a million-dollar budget, the people financing the picture will not allow me to gamble further . . ."

Gordon said he learned Miss Lamarr was hospitalized for nervous exhaustion Wednesday when he sent a studio car to pick her up.

She is due for arraignment on a petty theft charge Feb. 9. She has denied stealing anything.

Although Gordon said he would be pleased to have her in a future picture, Miss Lamarr declared: "I will never act again."

Take Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has withdrawn the passport of Staughton Lynd, the Yale University professor who made an unauthorized trip to North Viet Nam last December. Also lifted were the passports of Lynd's two traveling companions, Herbert Apthker, a U.S. Communist party theoretician, and Thomas E. Hayden, founder of Students for a Democratic Society.

Against Air Raids

SINGAPORE (AP) — More than a thousand students demonstrated yesterday at the U.S. and Communist Chinese embassies in Jakarta against the resumption of air raids on North Viet Nam.

Perversion Argued In Mossler Trial

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The state lost no time in coming to grips with the defense contention that Jacques Mossler's murder may have been the result of weird sexual habits.

State Atty. Richard Gerstein yesterday asked one of his own witnesses at the first - degree murder trial of Mossler's widow, Candace, and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers: "Did it ever occur to you that Jacques was a little bit effeminate?

"Never," replied the witness, Howard B. Walker, for 21 years an executive in Mossler's $33-million banking and loan empire.

BLUNT QUERY

"Was Mr. Mossler a homosexual?" Gerstein asked point blank in a crowded Dade County Circuit Court room.

"To my knowledge, no," said Walker, a tanned man with thin brown hair who is manager of the Miami branch of the Allen-Parker Co., a Mossler-owned auto finance firm.

Only a half-day court session was planned today before an all male jury in Judge George Schulz' courtroom. The state plans to call laboratory experts who examined the Key Biscayne surroundings after the Mossler, 69, was bludgeoned and knifed to death June 30, 1964.

AFFAIR CHARGED

Candy Mossler, a small, shapely blonde who gives her age as 39, and Powers, a brawny, darkly handsome 29, are on trial for their lives. The state claims they plotted Mossler's murder for his money and to further "a sordid, illicit love affair."

In his opening statement, Powers' chief defense attorney, a colorful Texan with steel grey hair, Percy Foreman, told the jury that "there was not a conceivable sexual deviation in all psychiatry that Mossler did not have."

DEFENSE THEORY

The import of the accusation, Foreman explained, was that Mossler could have been the victim of a homosexual companion on the night he met violent death in his apartment while his pet dog barked in frantic protest.

Walker testified on cross examination that Mossler for a year previously had shared a one-bedroom apartment with Vincent T. Caltagirone, described by the witness as a "handsome young man." He is listed as a future state witness.

However, Walker's testimony primarily was intended as support for handyman Roscoe Brown's statement that Mrs. Mossler twice tried to get him to change his story of events preceding her husband's murder.

Brown, 47, a broad-shouldered Negro odd-jobs man with the Mosslers for 17 years, testified that he cleaned a kitchen counter and drain-board eight hours before Mossler's slaying. The state says Powers' palm print was found there after the murder.

Brown also testified that he had a 1960 white company Chevrolet serviced and turned it over to Mrs. Mossler the afternoon before her husband's murder.

The state contends she in turn loaned the car to Powers, that he used it to get away after the slaying and that his fingerprints were found in it.

Brown said Mrs. Mossler in telephone calls after Powers' arrest asked him to change his story.

He quoted her as saying: "My dear husband, he is dead and gone. There is nothing we can do to bring him back. So, remember a man's life is at stake. The wrong thing can hurt."

TARZAN IN A CAGE

Circus Lion Tamer Boasts Polish Of Two Centuries

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Jean Charles Zerbini of Sarasota—husband, father and businessman—drives an air-conditioned car to work each morning and comes home looking like he's been wrestling lions.

He has.

Zerbini, 23, is an eighth-generation lion tamer who will replace the late Clyde Beatty, America's best known animal trainer, in the featured center ring of the touring Shrine Circus this season.

His act with 11 lions has the polish of 200 years—the time his forebears toured Europe and the Mediterranean countries making the name Zerbini synonymous with circus.

Five years ago Zerbini brought his famous name across the Atlantic, added "Tarzan" for its appeal to U.S. audiences, and set out to carve a niche for the Zerbinis in American circus annals.

He will be near to doing this if he can fill Beatty's shoes. Beatty, 61, succumbed to cancer last summer after 17 years as a Shrine Circus headliner. He survived more than 100 maulings over his 40-year career.

Born in North Africa, Zerbini and his aerialist wife, Jacqueline, live in a converted trailer home with their 20-month-old daughter, Patricia, in a circus community west of Sarasota.

Few who watch it will be inclined to disagree. Coached by his father, Charles, 53, who lost a leg to the cats at age 15, Zerbini is calm as a kindergarten teacher as he puts his animals through their paces—jumping, dancing, and acting as if to devour him.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A twin-engine plane smashed into a group of homes yesterday, killing a 2-year-old boy and two occupants of the plane and injuring seven other persons. The pilot was identified as Hal Haines of Phoenix. His body and that of a woman passenger were recovered from the wreckage. Authorities today were attempting to identify the woman. The dead boy was Michael Muniz.

GENERALS CLASH ON VIET TACTICS

Ex-Envoy Gen. Taylor Brands Gavin's Enclave Proposal 'Abandoning Friends'

NEW YORK (UPI) —Gen. Maxwell Taylor and retired Gen. James A. Gavin clashed yesterday over Gavin's recommendation that the United States limit its operation in Viet Nam to the holding of strategic coastal enclaves.

In speeches in New York and Worcester, Mass., Taylor, former ambassador to Viet Nam, attacked Gavin's suggestion because "it suggests abandonment of our friends, the South Vietnamese . . . it would create difficult political problems . . . it would bring on a loss of confidence in our ability and our willingness to defend South Viet Nam.

Gavin, who proposed in the February issue of Harper's magazine that U.S. forces in Viet Nam limit their operations to coastal enclaves, held a news conference in Boston to elaborate on his views, which had come under fire from administration officials, including Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

The retired paratroop general said yesterday the United States has sufficient troops in Viet Nam now to hold a limited number of enclaves indefinitely while working for a political settlement.

"The ingredients for a political settlement may be there, and we must put a great deal of emphasis in that direction," he said.

Gavin said, however, that his letter to Harper's magazine had been misunderstood.

He said that in suggesting "holding several enclaves on the coast," he had intended that we should continue to hold all areas now controlled by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

"It was my assumption that these enclaves are where we are now," Gavin said.

In his speech to the Worcester Economics Club, last night, Gen. Taylor said the withdrawal of U.S. forces would result in "A major defeat for the United States."

"In fact," he said, "it would be a victory for Hanoi because it would prove, at least in the minds of the Communists, that the theory of wars of liberation is correct.

"As far as negotiating under the enclave theory, it is difficult enough to negotiate from a position of strength with the Communists, let alone negotiating with them when they believe they have won."

Novelist Absent, Warrant Issued

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of author Ken Kesey for failing to appear for a probation hearing on a narcotics charge.

The court waited for an hour for Kesey, author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," to appear.

Superior Judge W. Howard Hartley issued the warrant over the objections of Kesey's attorney who said he thought his clien's absence was due to a misunderstanding.

Other-Man Confession Clouds Stabbing Trial

A San Quentin inmate with a history of confessing at trials of other defendants yesterday startled a Marin Superior Court jury by testifying that he, and not Robert Gene Glover, stabbed a fellow-inmate on Sept. 18, 1963.

"Glover didn't do it at all," Thomas Gregory, 26, testified. "I did it."

Gregory, serving five years to life in San Quentin for armed robbery and escape, told the jury that he carried a sharpened brass rod into the prison's adjustment center classroom with the intention of assaulting a prisoner identified as "Harmon."

He said, however, that he saw a scuffle between Glover and Henry L. Wolfenden, 28, and aided Glover by stabbing Wolfenden.

Glover is on trial for assault on Wolfenden, who recovered. He was convicted in earlier trial, but his motion for new trial was granted by an appellate court.

The confession yseterday came only one day before a three-year statute of limitations would expire and prevent his being charged with the crime.

Leonard Shaw, assistant district attorney, discounted the confession, declaring Gregory did the same thing in a stabbing trial in Marin County in October of 1962, when Angel R. Nino, San Quentin inmate, was the defendant.

He said the confusion, however, contributed to a hung jury. Nino was retried in Januarv, 1963. Again Gregory testified that he, not Nino, was the assailant. Again, the jury was unable to agree.

Shaw said Glover, too, confessed belatedly to a crime of which Robert B. Dorado, 27, of Los Angeles was convicted. In April 1963, Glover told district attorney representatives that he, not Dorado, killed San Quentin prisoner Abel A. Nevarez on Dec. 12, 1961.

"I'm the one. It's not my buddy," Glover was quoted as saying.

Dorado has since been granted a new trial on a ruling based on a U.S. Supreme Court decision that a main suspect must be informed of his rights.

Testimony in Glover's trial before Judge Joseph G. Wilson is scheduled to resume Monday, and expected to conclude the following day. Trial started Jan. 24.

section of hillside at 260 Beach Road, Belvedere, slid onto the road, blocking traffic. City Mgr. William C. Cavalli said one lane was open by 9 a.m. today. The remainder of the road was cleared by noon.

A small slide blocked about half the northbound lane of Shoreline Highway, a quarter mile south of the intersection with the Bolinas-Olema Road.

Ely Caillouette, San Rafael city engineer, had men watching for flooding in the Bret Harte area at high tide, 11 a.m. today. None developed, however.

Although the rain may ease off slightly tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said today the storm center, now off the Oregon coast, may hit the coast with more rain Sunday.

Rainfall figures in Marin County during the 24 hours at 8 a.m. today included: Ross 3.09 inches, San Anselmo, 3.05, Hamilton Air Force Base 2.96, Fairfax 2.8, Woodacre 2.44, Terra Linda 2.4, Larkspur 1.9, Novato and Chevy Chase area of Larkspur 1.85, Tamalpais Valley and Inverness 1.8, Mill Valley 1.72, Point Reyes Station 1.65, Sausalito 1.5 and Belvedere 1.43.

Inter-Com System Lost To Burglars

Loss of a new inter-communications system in burglary of a house under construction at 201 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said J. R. Coleman Construction Co., San Rafael, reported entry was made by breaking a rear window.

Mrs. Eugenie K. Vitols, San Francisco, reported her summer home at 756 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, was entered by forcing a rear sliding glass door. A camera, valued at $120 when new, was taken. The home was ransacked.

Carolyn Marie Senske, 279 Cecelia Way, Bel Aire, told officers that burglars forced a garage door for entry. Nothing was believed taken.

Water Increase Hearing Slated

The California Public Utilities Commission will hold a public hearing in Stinson Beach on Feb. 15 on an application for a rate increase by Stinson Beach Water District.

Increases are sought by George P. Leonard and the Stinson Beach Water Co., which he heads.

Examiner P. Everett Emerson will preside at the hearing at 10 a.m. in the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Laborite Dies

REDRUTH, Engand (UPI) — Harold Hayman, 71, a Labor member of Parliament since 1950, died at his home today, reducing the government's slim parliamentary majority back to three.

LUNA

monitored the successful completion of the flight, but the Soviets withheld the announcement in Moscow until today.

Moscow television announcer Yuri Fokin told the Russians that the first space station on the moon had transmitted a total of three hours of information.

"Everything is functioning normally," Fokin said in a progress report on the space feat made almost 24 hours after the landing.

Gherman Titov, Russia's No. 2 spaceman, told Tass that before the Soviets sent a man to the moon, "live organisms may visit it—they may be Belkas and Strelkas."

These were the names of pioneer space dogs which rose on the early Sputniks.

While Tass set no target date for a Russian manned moon landing, the agency predicted Soviet spacemen would be flying to planets by 1976. The Soviets must first complete successful space docking techniques such as carried out in the last American Gemini launch.

Since the United States does not expect to attempt a soft landing before next May, the Soviet achievement may have pushed the Russians ahead of America in the race to the moon. The United States hopes to land a man on the moon by 1970.

Luna-9 set down gently on the moon's surface near the "Ocean of Storms" region after flying 225,000 miles in about three and a half days. It landed with its package of instruments intact and began transmitting radio signals back to earth.

Tass later reported today that astronomers at the Pulkovo Observatory in Leningrad used a giant telescope to photograph the landing site before and after Luna-9 set down on the moon. The pictures "are being developed," it said.

A team of scientists at the giant radio observatory at Jodrell Bank, England, tracked the Soviet flight to its end and reported signals indicating Luna-9 transmitted television pictures for more than 20 minutes after landing.

They said arrangements were being made today to translate the telemetric signals into picture for a sneak preview of what Luna-9 saw on the moon.

Pentagon Boss Draws Curtain On Viet Nam

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara declined today to testify in public in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee investigation of President Johnson's Viet Nam war policies. He drew quick fire from some committeemen. (See story on Viet Nam, page 5.)

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., disclosed in the midst of sharp questioning of Foreign Aid Administrator David E. Bell that McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had refused to be questioned in open sessions.

"They feel that is is not in the public interest to appear in a public session," Fulbright announced.

This stirred up an angry demand from Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.: "Let's have it out with the secretary of defense."

Fulbright said McNamara offered to "appear in executive session—he doesn't want to appear in public session."

Fulbright, spearheading an attack by Senate critics of policies underlying the Viet Nam fighting, said that we are beginning to know what the war means in lives and suffering for Americans and South Vietnamese alike.

"Do you know how many Viet Cong were killed last year?" Fulbright asked Bell earlier.

Bell said he did not have exact figures, but he estimated it was nearer 30,000 than the 11,247 Fulbright said his committee staff estimated.

Fulbright stuck by his estimate, and said the administration contemplates spending $15.8 billion in military and economic assistance to South Viet Nam before this fiscal year ends.

With 11,247 Viet Cong killed, the chairman said, "it works out to a very high cost per kill."

Earlier Fulbright charged that the major factor in the deep U.S. involvement in South Viet Nam is $3 billion in economic aid it has poured into that country in the past 10 years.

The specific purpose of the hearings was to take testimony on the administration's request for $415 million in additional foreign economic aid this fiscal year. Of that amount, $275 million would go to South Viet Nam.

Fulbright then asked the AID chief if some past statements by U.S. officials about an improving outlook in South Viet Nam were not "more optimistic than the facts justified."

"They certainly were," Bell agreed.

The AID chief insisted despite skeptical questioning that there as considerable public support in South Viet Nam for the Saigon government.

He also said murder and terrorism by the Viet Cong now has spread into northeast Thailand, with increasing instances of police and border patrolmen being murdered.

Pickup 4th pgh: The committee

The committee voted yesterday to hold the hearings. The decision was a victory for Fulbright, who has recently been sharply critical of administration policy and who opposed the resumption of U.S. bombing raids on North Viet Nam.

Farm Workers Seek Employment Near Monterey

SALINAS (UPI)—For the first time within memory, able-bodied farm workers are out of work in Monterey County.

The number of jobs has dwindled because frost and wet weather caused local farmers to plow under many crops.

More than 60 workers have received emergency aid of shelter and food in the last two days, and more are expected to apply.

"I've been in this county 24 years and this is the first time I've come for help," said worker Armando Lozano.

Lucas Green Annexation Is Rejected By Commission

be centered on zoning and he did not think it proper for the commission to meddle in San Rafael and county zoning policies.

Marchant also argued that the area would eventually become part of San Rafael. He said the whole issue as he saw it was one of timing. He thought this the time for annexation.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, also a member of the commission, suggested the denial be without prejudice, indicating the proposal might be resubmitted in less than a year. Storer, however, refused to accept the amendment.

The crowd was overwhelmingly opposed to the annexation, and the commission's vote for denial was greeted with applause.

Though most of the protest came from residents of unincorporated Terra Linda, it was a resident of the city, Mrs. Constance Johnstone of the Twelve Oak Hill subdivision west of the proposed annexation, who stated the zoning argument most clearly.

"We have more confidence in the county's planning than we do in the City of San Rafael's," she declared.

She expressed fear that the commercial acreage in the property, now at 9.25 acres for a neighborhood shopping center, would be increased if the annexation to the city were allowed.

The county turned down an increase in commercial zoning over a year ago.

Melvin Warenback, vice chairman of the Terra Linda Community Services District board, said a major shopping center at the intersection, so close to the regional Northgate center, would probably depress the area, leaving many vacant stores.

Jack Brandon, chairman of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District board, declared that it was "unheard of" to have two shopping centers so close together.

Both Brandon and Warenback said the loss of assessed value to the districts would have a major impact on their finances.

Assessed value of the property is $126,230. An increase is expected with development of the 9.25-acre shopping center. Warenback said the community services district has invested in fire fighting equipment with expectation that the district would be serving the area.

Dan E. Andersen, city manager of San Rafael, spoke at some length in favor of the annexation, arguing that it was not a piecemeal annexation as some had charged, and the property was a logical addition to the city.

He said the commercial zoning probably would be increased, at least 20 acres fronting on the highway should be either commercial or business-professional, he argued.

He also said any change in zoning would depend first on an application by owners and then on public hearings and action by the city planning commission and city council.

Dell M. Mallik and Jack Bennett, owners of 43 acres of the parcel, including the present commercial acreage, also spoke in favor of annexation.

Mallik protested being "put in middle" on the issue. He complained at a recommendation of commission executive officer John F. Barrows that the annexation be used as "leverage" in forcing a study of annexing all of Terra Linda to San Rafael.

Barrows asked that the hearing be continued a month to give him time to meet with representatives of the city and the districts to see if some proposal might be evolved on annexing all of Terra Linda. This would have to be approved by Terra Linda voters.

Behr suggested the Lucas Green proposal would undoubtedly come up again in one form or another and knowledge of this should make Terra Linda residents realize that something must be worked out.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon of Larkspur, sitting in on the commission for the absent Wayne Womack of Novato, said his main objection to the annexation was that it would make the Terra Linda Community Services District an unincorporated island within San Rafael.

The commission can waive the ban on unincorporated islands, but Brixon did not think this would be appropriate.

was no evidence of forced entry, Cheetham said.

Cheetham's investigation took him as far afield as Santa Rosa last night, where he interviewed the former husband of Patricia Lee Sovulewski of Santa Venetia, the Rudolphs' daughter.

The slain woman's husband was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital, where he is recovering from a hernia operation.

Paper Predicts Replacement Of Westmoreland

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — U.S. Army Gen. William C. Westmoreland will be replaced soon as U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported today.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Edward W. O'Brien in Washington, said Westmoreland's successor has been selected.

O'Brien wrote that Westmoreland "has fallen into political disfavor with top civilian officials in the administration because of recent disclosures in Saigon of the large Communist military buildup during the 37-day bombing suspension ordered by President Johnson."

The newspaper said the replacement of Westmoreland, who was named commander Aug. 1, 1964, will be attributed to the expiration of a normal two-year tour of duty.

Presidents Will Fly To Hawaii To See Ky

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today he will fly to Hawaii tomorrow for three days of talks with the president of South Viet Nam and with top American officials from Saigon.

Johnson, holding an unannounced news conference in his oval office, said he will leave for Honolulu tomorrow afternoon and will meet there with the South Vietnamese premier, Nguyen Cao Ky, and with Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu.

when someone grabbed him around the neck from behind.

He said two youths threw him to the ground, took his wallet and fled afoot.

Bowers gave chase, unsuccessfully. He reported the holdup to Felix Heredia, a private patrolman for the center.

Heredia notified deputies at the Marin City sheriff's sub-station, giving description of the attackers.

Deputies stopped Townsel, Walker, and the third youth driving in a car near Sabella's Restaurant on Highway 101.

They said Townsel and Walker were identified by Bowers as his assailants. The loot was not recovered.

Townsel was charged with a Dec. 2 felony shooting at sheriff's deputies in Marin City, but a grand jury later failed to indict him because of insufficient evidence. The complaint was dismissed.

Walker was bound over to Marin Superior Court on Jan. 7 for auto theft. His case was referred last Tuesday to juvenile court.

OBITUARIES

Marjorie Rudolph Rites Set

Funeral will be held tomorrow for Marjorie S. Rudolph, slain wife of Leroy Rudolph, manager of the main San Rafael branch of the Bank of America.

Service will be at 10 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Entombment will be in Cypress Hill Cemetery in Petaluma.

Mrs. Rudolph, 60, died Tuesday of injuries suffered in a beating by an unknown assailant in her home at 19 Carroll Court, San Rafael.

Mrs. Rudolph, the former Marjorie Stillwell, was a great niece of Dr. Galen Burdell, early Marin pioneer and holder of the Rancho Olompali land grant. She was born in the Burdell home on the ranch near Novato.

She was a member of Sunny Hills.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Rudolph is survived by two daughters, Barbara Lee Sovulewski of Santa Venetia and Mary Stone of Mountain View, and three grandchildren.

JESSIE McNAB

Private funeral for Jessie Grover McNab, 84, of Kentfield, widow of John L. McNab, attorney for many years for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, was scheduled today at Halsted and Co. mortuary, San Francisco.

A former grand officer of the Oreder of the Eastern Star, Mrs. McNab died yesterday at a local convalescent home after a long illness. She lived for eight years in Kentfield.

Her husband, a nationally known orator, nominated Herbert Hoover for President in 1928. He served as attorney for the bridge district from 1939 until 1950.

Mrs. McNab was also a member of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, the Forum Club, and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Scott of Kentfield, Mrs. Vivian M. Smith of Corte Madera, and Mrs. Mildred M. Chambers of Ukiah.

Entombment was to be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma.

LLOYD CURTIS

Lloyd T. Curtis, 76, of 882 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, died today at a local hospital after a long illness.

A Marin County resident for six years and a resident of California for 10 years, he was a native of Missouri. He was a retired construction worker.

Funeral and burial will be in Neosho, Mo. Friends may call at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, until 9 p.m. Friday.

He is survived by his wife, Mary, of San Rafael; two sons, Lloyd L. Curtis of San Anselmo, and Jerry H. Curtis, now in the Navy; and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Mackey and Mrs. A. L. Anderson, both of Missouri.

LUCIUS BEEBE

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—Lucius Beebe, 63, elegant and outspoken author, gourmet and newspaper columnist, died today.

According to his associate, Charles Clegg, Beebe collapsed as he walked out of the shower at his Hillsborough home this morning. He was dead on arrival at Mills Hospital here.

Beebe, a long-time member of New York's "cafe society," for many years wrote a weekly society column called "This New York" in the New York Herald Tribune.

In 1949, he came west and with Clegg bought the Virginia City, Nev., Territorial Enterprise and embarked on a new crusade to bring back the excitement of the old "wild west."

In Virginia City, Beebe bought a private railroad car and reproduced it in the Victorian furnishings of the late California Sen. Leland Stanford.

He also wrote a number of books on railroads, one of his favorite subjects.

Beebe was born Dec. 9, 1902, at Wakefield, Mass., the fourth child of a wealthy Boston industrialist and financier.

While attending Yale University, he adopted the elegant manners and dress that later would become his trademark. He often rode from New Haven to New York in full evening dress, and carrying a gold-handled cane.

Beebe joined the Herald Tribune in 1929, and in 1934 began the column eagerly awaited each day by New York's society.

In recent years he wrote a syndicated column for the San Francisco Chronicle.

He attended Yale and Harvard and won his master's degree with a thesis on the poetry of Edwin Arlington Robinson, a personal friend.

In 1929, Beebe joined the staff of the New York Herald Tribune when it boasted one of the most remarkable editorial staffs in newspaper history. He worked with such reporters as Henry Cabot Lodge, Walter Lippmann and Joseph Alsop.

He became the Herald Tribune's editorial writer and also wrote a column called "This New York," which chronicled a society as unreal as Beebe's imagination could make it.

He and Clegg reactivated the old Territorial Enterprise in 1952, 26 years after the newspaper had folded. Within months the Enterprise boasted it had the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper west of the Mississippi.

Beebe and Clegg bought a private railroad car from the Georgia Northern Railroad and restored it in the style of the oldtime railroad barons. They called it the "Gold Coast."

Together, Beebe and Clegg produced a number of books, lavishly illustrated, nostalgically recalling the age of steam railroading.

Beebe and Clegg sold the Enterprise in 1960.

Beebe's wealth was inherited.

Beebe had no known relatives surviving.

ANDREW STORM

Funeral for Andrew Storm, 84, of the Aldersly Danish Home, San Rafael, were held yesterday at Hogan and Sullivan Funeral Home, San Francisco.

A native of Denmark, he had lived in Marin for three years, and in California for 60 years. Before moving to San Rafael, he was a longtime resident of San Francisco.

He was a member of Danish Brotherhood 29 and Dania No. 2.

Surviving are his wife, Hansine Storm of the Aldersly Danish Home; a son, Oswald Storm, and a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Sorensen, both of San Francisco, a sister, Mrs. Sigrid LaFan of Thousand Oaks, Ventura County, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

DR. GILBERT H. GROSVENOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, 90, chairman of the board of trustees of the National Geographic Society, died today at his home in Baddeck, Nova Scotia.

His death was announced by the society headquarters here.

Grosvenor had been chairman since 1954 and editor of the National Geographic magazine from 1899 to 1954.

Grosvenor combined half a dozen careers in his lifetime — editor, geographer, educator, scientist, writer and administrator. He built the geographic society from 1,000 members at the turn of the century into an organization which prides itself on being "the world's largest non-profit scientific and educational organization."

As editor of the magazin from 1899 to 1954, he transformed a slim academic journal into a publication of world wide popularity.

COUPLE EVICTED AGAIN

Mrs. Mary Patania, 70, struggles with sheriff's deputies trying to remove her and her husband, Sebastian, 71, from the Monterey home they have occupied for 41 years. Their home, one of 60 in the path of an $18 million redevolpment near Fisherman's Wharf, was bulldozed down as soon as the couple were placed on stretchers and carried away yesterday. The scene was a repeat of last Saturday's forcible eviction of the pair; they had gotten back into the home during the week. (AP Wirephoto)

Tax Rate Study Is Called Off By San Rafael, Dixie

County's Erroneous Figures Disturb Members Of Boards

San Rafael and Dixie school board members called off their scheduled unification tax rate study last night after a blast at the county schools office.

Board members were disturbed when they were told that the tax figures presented at their joint meeting in January were erroneous, and a new set was submitted by Asst. Supt. Robert Stannard of the county schools office.

OPERATING TAX

The erroneous figures indicated that the maximum general operating tax rate would have been higher for a unified San Rafael-Dixie district than the existing rates in either district.

The new figures, not yet confirmed, indicate there would be no loss of state aid, and the unified rate would be lower than originally reported.

"They've never had a cotton picking set of figures right yet," said president Earl H. Koehler of the Dixie School District board.

When told San Rafael and Dixie staff members could not guarantee correctness of the new set of figures, Koehler said, "Let's forget it."

NOT THE SAME

Koehler charged that in projecting tax rates for Tamalpais High School area unification, the county schools office has "not come up with two sets that are the same."

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff of Dixie District said he believes the new figures are "substantially correct," but "the two districts (San Rafael and Dixie) haven't had a real chance to study them."

Trustees agreed the staff's of both districts should get together and present their figures.

Dixie Trustee Dorothy M. Brown said, "It's important to get correct information out to the public."

In a letter to the board, Stannard said that he was in error on his original figures because he "ignored the $15 bonus in the computation of equalization aid."

Trustees agreed to meet again sometime after April 19, when the Dixie district will have an election on a 90-cent increase in its general purpose operating tax rate of $2.45.

In their study, the boards have not considered "override" taxes which may be levied without asking voter approval. The Dixie district levied 22 cents in such taxes this year; San Rafael Elementary District, 24.1 cents, and San Rafael High School District, 16.5 cents.

Total rate for elementary and high schools this year is $6.05 per $100 assessed valuation in the Dixie District and $5.28 in the San Rafael Elementary School District.

Trustees will study a report on the tax rates that would be in effect during the 1966-67 school year if unification fails to pass in the June 7 election.

San Rafael School Board members Walter Castro Jr. and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Dixie Trustee Melvin R. Stidham were absent.

Stock Sale Practices Told Jury

The witness, Morley Turner of Redwood City, said after he had been a stockholder in the bank its president told him: "I made you $15,000 today."

"I asked him how and he said, 'I bought you 1,000 shares of stock at 15 below market'," Turner continued.

"I said, 'I don't have the funds,' and he said, 'Sign a note'," Turner added.

The former bank president is Don C. Silverthorne, who is on trial with money broker William S. Bennett. Both are charged with bank fraud conspiracy and pocketing fees for arranging bank loans.

Turner was called as a defense witness by Bennett's attorney.

Turner testified he signed a blank loan form for Silverthorne. It is part of Bennett's defense that he also signed loan forms in blank.

Convicts Want Viet Nam Duty

STILLWATER, Minn. (UPI) — A group of inmates at Stillwater State Prison who say they "know how to fight dirty" have volunteered for service in the war in Viet Nam.

Inmates William Aird and Willard La Jeunesse said they polled 42 prisoners and found 38 willing to go into the military service. They wrote Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the Joint Chiefs of Staff asking to go to Viet Nam.

"The cons want a chance to prove themselves," Aird said. "We're willing to fight and the cons know how to fight dirty."

Davis Given Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has reserved $3.7 million of college housing loan funds for a dormitory complex on the Davis campus of the University of California, Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., reported today.

School Unification 'Better Education'

School district unification provides "a better way of educating children," according to William Cunningham, superintendent of the Hayward Unified School District.

"Unification is not cheaper, but you should get more for the money spent," he said.

Cunningham described the proposed unification of Dixie and San Rafael districts as a "simple form of unification," because only three districts with only two school boards are involved. The adjustments required "may not be major" but there will be change, he said.

There may be difficulty in the realm of "attitudes, understanding, tradition and vested interests rather than in the functional aspects," he said.

The major financial problem is adopting a salary schedule for both teaching and non-teaching personnel, he said. In all cases of unification, "the best existing salary schedule has been adopted by the unified district."

During a question session, Mrs. Anita Strom of the San Rafael Board of Education asked what the community's reaction was to unification in Hayward.

"By and large, they feel it is going well," Cunningham said. One district had an outstanding science program which was diluted, he said. "They feel they've lost something and they're right." But the majority of residents "feel unification has benefitted the majority of children and has not significantly hurt the rest," Cunningham said.

Dixie Trustee Earl H. Koehler noted the areas of saving by unification such as bussing and purchasing "are not significant financially and surely not educationally."

Cunningham also stressed the advantages of "continuity," and noted there has "been little understanding on the part of the elementary teacher about the high school teacher, and vice versa."

Since unification has been better public participation at school board meetings than at the composite of other boards before unification, he said. "The newspaper has only one shoulder to look over and we get better coverage. There is only one meeting for the people to attend instead of two."

Unification is "the most logical, extensive, flexible educational program for children," he said.

North Viet Bomb Raids Continue Uninterrupted

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. planes bombed North Vietnamese military targets for the fifth consecutive day today and a spokesman disclosed that two more planes had been shot down by Communist anti-aircraft defenses strengthened during the 37-day bombing lull.

U.S. military spokesmen have reported five planes lost since the attacks resumed Monday. The Communists have claimed much higher losses and said "several" American pilots were captured. Two pilots apparently were captured today despite U.S. rescue efforts. A Marine helicopter was shot down in South Viet Nam.

A force of 5,000 U.S. Marines meanwhile pressed deeper into Viet Cong territory in southern Quang Ngai Province 320 miles northeast of Saigon. They were advancing under heavy fighter support in the sweep, called "Operation Double Eagle." Ninety Viet Cong were known dead in the first week of fighting.

The Navy aircraft downed in yesterday's attacks over North Viet Nam were a twin-jet RA5 reconnaissance plane with two crewmen and an A4 Skyhawk from the carrier USS Ranger.

The raids today were on the same targets hit yesterday. The F-105s cratered access roads to a highway bridge 60 miles southwest of the Red capital and hit another bridge south of Vinh, on the coast about 130 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

This is the farthest north the American planes have flown since the bombing lull ended last Monday.

Viet Cong guerrillas raided a South Vietnamese refugee camp 30 miles northwest of Saigon last night after sending a mortar barrage into a government infantry command post northwest of the capital.

Drunken Driver On Probation

Marvin Earnest Miller, 51, of 199 Canal Street, San Rafael, was given a suspended 15-day jail term, fined $220, and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

He was arrested Nov. 10 on Canal Street by San Rafael police.

John M. Galeazzi, 54, Santa Rosa, was fined $220 and placed on probation for one year, for drunken driving. He was arrested on Nova Albion Way by San Rafael police Jan. 23.

B-B Shot Fired

Someone fired a B-B, or other small pellet, at 7:55 a.m. today, through the rear sliding glass door to the patio of the home of Edith Hall Shennum at 40 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

Firehouse Flood Action Sought

The Tiburon Fire Commission last night planned further pressure on the city council to solve flood conditions around the firehouse on Tiburon Boulevard.

Secretary James Jenkins was instructed to write the council insisting that the problem be put on the next agenda. Jenkins was also to request Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to attend the meeting and represent the commissioners.

Flooding continues in the front and rear of the firehouse and Fire Chief Frank Buscher reported the department's radio communications were knocked out for 24 hours recently when water got into the wiring system.

COLLAPSIBLE CAR SAFER?

Senator Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., predicted yesterday that federal safety funds would be budgeted to build a prototype of the safety car shown in this Republic Aviation artist's sketch for New York State. It would feature roll bars, contour seats, a periscope for better vision and a front end that would crumple on impact. (UPI Telephoto)

Marinite Takes Fifth At Wiretap Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service almost lost some expensive bugging equipment when a suspect dropped his dime while making a call from a public telephone booth, a Senate subcommittee learned yesterday.

IRS agent Normal Hemphill told the Senate subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure that a bookmaking suspect noticed the wiretap gear in the public phone booth when he leaned down to pick up his dropped dime.

"We just heard a swish and then rushed to the booth," Hemphill said. "The suspect had left. Fortunately, he had just disconnected the equipment —not taking it with him."

Hemphill was one of nine IRS agents who testified before the subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., which ends a three-day hearing today.

One former agent, Richard Jauch, of 360 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, who now works for a private investigator, declined to answer questions on grounds of self-incrimination. He evoked the Fifth Amendment, saying he would not reply without counsel, which he said should be provided either by the subcommittee or by the IRS. Jauch left the service last month after about three years.

Long also brought out that the IRS has been discreet in at least one case of eavesdropping by turning off a listening device in the apartment of a male suspect when he was entertaining a female guest.

This was testified to by Martin Philpott, Los Angeles, who said a contact microphone had been installed in a Los Angeles apartment with agents listening from the adjoining apartment.

"Then you were not interested in extracurricular activities?" asked committee counsel Bernard Fensterwald.

License Plates Disprove Adage

BOSTON (AP) — Women vain?

It's not working out that way in Massachusetts.

Of 1,500 requests already received for so-called vanity automobile registration plates, 95 per cent of the applications have come from men, the Registry of Motor Vehicles says.

A law passed by the Massachusetts Legislature Dec. 30 permits automobile owners to apply for special plates using combinations of no more than six letters and numerals. The plates cost $9, which is $3 more than the regular fee.

Marin Dredging Plans Approved

The San Francisco Bay Development and Conservation Commission yesterday granted two permits for dredging in Marin County.

Approved were an application by Marin County to dredge in Gallinas Creek northeast of the county fairgrounds site, and one by Clipper Yacht Co. to dredge next to Marinship Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

The Gallinas Creek project, estimated by the county department of public works to cost $150,000, would make the creek navigable up to the fairgrounds site.

The Sausalito project will create a small boat harbor.

Alvin Baum, deputy director of the commission, reported there was no opposition to either project.

Million-Dollar Gift Aids Library Drive

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A retired automobile executive and his wife, who met while attending Goshen Ind. College in the 1920s, have given the college a million dollars to build a new library.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Good of East Lansing made the donation to a fund-raising campaign started by the college last year for $3.5 million in proposed expansion moves.

Rhodesia Boycott Success Predicted By Bishop Pike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The economic boycott against Rhodesia will succeed because the "racists" ultimately will subordinate their principles to their pocketbooks, according to Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of San Francisco.

The Rt. Rev. Pike recently was arrested and deported from Rhodesia when he landed at Salisbury Airport for a visit. He told a news conference yesterday he expected the Ian Smith regime to fall by summer.

Bishop Pike said once the effectiveness of the Rhodesian boycott is demonstrated, it should be extended to other African nations practicing apartheid, including Angola, Portuguese East Africa and the Union of South Africa.

The bishop said he returned to San Francisco this week, in the midst of a sabbatical leave to Cambridge England, to seek financial aid from his diocese for Rhodesian churches.

Mansfield Moves To Halt Union Shop Bill Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana filed today a cloture petition calling for an end to the filibuster against the union shop bill.

The petition was signed by 22 Democrats and one Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. It brings a vote automatically next Tuesday on the debate-limiting procedure.

Mansfield said yesterday that if this attempt failed he planned to file another petition Tuesday. This would have triggered a second cloture vote next Thursday.

The filibuster, now in its 11th day, has blocked Mansfield's efforts to bring before the Senate a bill to repeal Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law. The section allows states to outlaw union shop contracts under which covered employees must join the union. Nineteen states have such bans.

Opponents of the bill were confident that they would be able to defeat cloture as easily as they did last October when Mansfield tried it during the first floor fight on the same legislation.

The measure's supporters conceded that they did not see how the required two-thirds could be mustered to choke off the filibuster.

Jurors Not Happy With Jail Problem

A Marin Municipal Court jury, which yesterday found two county jail inmates guilty of assault on a fellow prisoner, also reported it was "shocked" at lack of surveillance of the jail's day room where the attack occurred.

Anthony A. Munoz, Corte Madera department store manager who was jury foreman, told Judge Peter Allen Smith that "a sad note" from evidence presented in the three-day case was lack of jailer scrutiny of the room, used by inmates for daytime and early evening lounging, television and reading.

Judge Smith, who presided over the trial of Gary John Ammenti, 21, and Blaine J. Walters, 19, both charged with battery last Jan. 4 on James John McElhinney, 43, told the jury he would take the matter up with Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

He added, however, that efforts at economy have long restricted adequate manpower for jail supervision.

Sheriff Mountanos, informed of the jury's observation, also said he has been seeking approval by the county of additional jailers. The shortage of manpower, coupled with the way the aged jail is constructed, makes proper surveillance impossible, he contended.

"This is something we have been living with for a number of years," he declared. "There isn't sufficient manpower to have a 24-hour a day watch in the day room, and even if it was economically possible to do this, there is no assurance what might happen in the cell blocks, either."

He said correction of the problem should come with eventual moving of the jail to the planned new wing of the Civic Center. "It's humanly impossible the way this old jail is laid out to give the supervision that you can with a modern, up-to-date jail," the sheriff said.

Ammenti and Walters, who was tried in absentia following an escape from Napa State Hospital, are scheduled for sentencing Feb. 17. Three other defendants in the case, James Albert Sprague, 21, Thomas Haskett Thompson, 19, and Reynold Ashley Fitch, 18, all pleaded guilty earlier and are to be sentenced Tuesday.

McElhinney, of 108 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, suffered upper lip and left eyebrow cuts in the afternoon assault. He is at Atascadero State Hospital for 90-day observation as a sex deviate.

National Guard Takes Women

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Legislation has been introduced to make it legal for women to volunteer for the Maryland National Guard.

But you needn't start lining up, girls.

Adj. Gen. George M. Gelston said yesterday the administration-sponsored bill is primarily intended to legalize the present status of 15 nurses assigned to duty in the Guard and make Maryland's law conform with federal statutes.

Personnel Board Gets Chore To Do, At Last

It appeared today that the little used Marin County Personnel Commission will soon have a job to do: Hearing the appeal of a county engineer who claims a de facto demotion.

Walter R. Noll Wednesday filed an appeal with the commission.

Noll, an 11-year employee in the engineering division of Public works, has held the designation for some time of assistant civil engineer. This meant he was in the middle of a three-step classification with junior engineers below and associate engineers above.

About two years ago, the classification was further divided with assistant engineers I and II. Last month, through action of supervisors, the junior engineer position was abolished and all junior engineers went into the assistant I classification with a 10 per cent raise.

The same order by supervisors, adopted last July to take effect last month, gave assistant I engineers a 5 per cent raise.

Though Noll's salary went up by 5 per cent to $790 a month, he claims a demotion because he is now at the bottom of the engineering classifications of which he was once in the middle.

Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott, who explained the complaint, said the commission must hold its first hearing on it within 20 days.

More Job Survey

Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality will do a follow-up job survey Sunday afternoon in Marin City to call on persons who were missed when surveyors went out Jan. 9, Mrs. Enid Folger, secretary of the CORE employment committee, said today. ## Youngsters Help Viet Nam Farms

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Farmers in South Viet Nam will be sent half a ton of vegetable seeds late this month — thanks to retarded children at the Rainier State School in Buckley, Wash.

The seed packets had been mixed with flower seed packets in 100 sacks of left-over 1965 seeds donated to the State Highways Department by the Lilly Seed Co.

Sgt. Albert Thierry, who is in South Viet Nam, wrote his wife, a teacher at the school, describing the urgent needs of Vietnamese farmers for seed.

The children, who can not read, separated the packets of seeds by hand after being shown pictures of the various kinds. Junior Chambers of Commerce in the area agreed to ship the seeds from Seattle, Feb. 16.

You give up things when you buy the Mercedes-Benz 230S. Things like rattles, rust, and shabby workmanship.

A pox on the status symbol that's all glitter and no guts. At $4,868, the Mercedes-Benz 230S is an efficient machine, built to endure. Its body is welded 10,000 times—and painted with 7 enamel coats. A 24-pound layer of undercoating stifles rust. Read on for the full story of why the Mercedes-Benz 230S is a shrewd investment indeed.

A SHOCKING admission: the 230S uses a body style first seen in 1959.

Mercedes-Benz engineers refuse to make changes for the sake of change. Superficial styling changes don't make a car better—in fact, they often hinder real technical advances.

And the 230S body is advanced—it's arc welded at 10,000 points. After 50,000 miles, you may begin to wonder if it will ever rattle.

Nor is it likely to rust. The entire body is plunged out of sight in a primer bath before painting. A tough caulking coat swirls into every crevice, every pore. No sooner is the primer baked on than a 24-pound spraying of plasticized undercoat seals the car's underbody against the menace of road salt and rust.

Then comes paint—49 pounds of it, spread on in 7 careful layers. The final coat is hand sprayed, in a paint shop cleaner than a hospital operating room.

Note to nitpickers: You won't find lumpy "orange peel" flaws in the paint. And you won't find pits in the chrome. It's backed by two platings of copper and one of nickel over a steel base. Rust and rot are thwarted again.

The 230S' 6-cylinder engine is designed to last the life of the car. It is so perfectly balanced (engine tolerances are as fine as 4 10,000ths of an inch) that you can keep it humming almost endlessly at near maximum speeds—with no hint of strain.

Sixty-minute engine test

Every 230S engine hums for an hour at the factory on a special test stand. To flush away every speck of dirt and debris, engine oil is changed 62 times during this trial run.

This engine measures about half the size of a domestic V8. Yet the 230S hits a peak speed of 109 mph and in normal driving squeezes over 20 miles from a gallon.

A lesson from racing

"Mercedes-Benz engineers know how to build sports car handling qualities into a family sedan—there's no doubt about that in our minds," comments CAR LIFE magazine.

With rear swing axle, wheels act independently.

The engineers learned how by building a world championship sports-racing car, the 300SLR. Then they adapted its suspension to Mercedes-Benz sedans.

All 4 wheels on the 230S are separately sprung. They soak up ruts and bumps without sending shivers through the whole body.

If this system weren't so costly to build, American cars might have it. No full-sized domestic car does.

European tourists: You'll see the 300SLR at the Daimler-Benz Museum in Stuttgart-Untertürkheim. You'll spot a few dozen other famous racing machines too; Mercedes-Benz has won 4,403 competitions and 5 world championships in the past 70 years.

Forget brake fade

The 230S weighs 1½ tons. Caliper-type, 9-inch disc brakes at front (where 70% of the car's weight is shifted in stopping) help supply braking ability adequate for twice this weight.

Disc brakes shrug off heat buildup in hard use. You can virtually forget the threat of fading (pass the good news along to your wife; it will do wonders for her driving morale).

Science defeats fatigue

Long trips are no ordeal in the 230S. Seats front and rear are almost chair height. They're deeply contoured and firmly padded (just like the doctor ordered—orthopedic physicians guided seat design).

You can tilt both individual front-seat backs to 4 reclining positions. On hot, humid days you'll feel the benefit of those thousands of miniscule air vents in the seat material. Your body won't seem as if it's plastered to a sheet of flypaper.

Comfort without trivia

Mercedes-Benz engineers waste no time on frivolous gadgets. No built-in record players, no card tables, no coffee urns. Yet sensible amenities abound. Item: Small nozzles at either end of the instrument panel. They shoot warm air to defrost the front side windows.

Purists: Note that wood-grain instrument panel trim. Contrary to a popular trend, it's real wood. Contrary to another popular trend, it fits. So does everything else on the 230S. One of every 11 Mercedes-Benz employees is an inspector to keep it that way.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a sober obligation—not a public relations problem. Safety starts with basic car design, not a few tacked-on afterthoughts.

The 230S body is a patented safety feature. Front and rear sections are designed to yield on violent impact, absorbing shock before it can reach the passenger area. Front disc brakes and a dual circuit brake system are standard equipment. The vital matter of tires—so often neglected in new cars—is solved with super premium-grade tires on every 230S. Door locks are designed to keep doors shut in collisions from any angle. Inside, there are no sharp edges. Safety padding extends even to the steering wheel hub—and the rear vision mirror is spring mounted, to break away on heavy impact.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $23,087 to $4,038

Auto License Line Gets Wet Waiting

Lines stretched out the door and into the rain at the Corte Madera office of the State Department of Vehicles today, the last day for renewing auto registrations without penalty.

Mgr. Dave Davis said that persons who had not received punched card statements from the state for their new registrations were waiting as long as an hour and 20 minutes for service.

Persons who had received the cards and who presented them, were being handled as fast as they arrived, he said.

Although the office was scheduled to close at 5 p.m. today, Davis said all persons who had arrived by that time would be processed.

He noted that persons with the cards could also present them to special tellers at the Crocker-Citizens National Bank in Novato or the Wells Fargo Bank in Mill Valley, both of which were ordered to take applications until 6 p.m.

People today who missed both deadlines, but who had the cards could also mail in their cards and checks without penalty, as long as the mail was postmarked by midnight.

San Anselmo Attorney Set To Seek Council Election

Robert M. Scott of 9 Sunview Avenue, San Anselmo, an attorney with offices in San Francisco, yesterday took out papers of nomination for election to San Anselmo City Council on April 12.

Scott, 52, has lived in San Anselmo 18 years. He is a charter member of the San Anselmo Home Owners Assn. He is married and has a married daughter, Mrs. Merry Thompson of Davis.

"The city is a big business and I think it is time to apply business methods when running it," said Scott, who is a corporation lawyer.

He said residents and businessmen should attempt to help themselves before turning to the tax rolls. At budget time, he said, the council "should spend what we have, not what we think we have."

Duane C. Ragan, who has already announced his candidacy, filed his papers today. He is a department sales manager at the Emporium at Northgate Shopping Center, and formerly was with the Food Merchandisers Corp. in San Rafael.

Employees Of Library Due Raises

Three members of the Mill Valley Library Board last night approved salary raises for six library employees, among 19 city employees for whom raises were approved last week by the city council.

The action amounted to a ratification of an action which alreay took effect with council approval, according to City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

Board members spent much of their three-hour session making several additions and deletions in details of the new library's interior furnishings and equipment.

They ordered a simpler design for a redwood display cabinet after learning the price had been quoted at $900. The board will leave out the cabinet if the price is quoted as high again, said Mrs. Noreen Farnham, chairman.

Board members Paul G. Fourman and Leslie Hood were absent.

Poverty Aid Set

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown today approved a $21,296 federal grant to the Monterey Anti-Poverty Council to conduct a Project Head Start pre-school program for underprivileged children in Salinas.

Cal Rally Leaders Called On Carpet

BERKELEY (UPI)— University of California officials today ordered students Bettina Aptheker and Susan C. Stein to appear next week for a hearing on charges of violating campus rults.

The two were cited for breaking a rule which allows only one rally on the campus per week for each organization, and requires rallies to use university-provided sound equipment. Miss Aptheker and Mrs. Stein participated in a Viet Nam Day Committee rally Wednesday which broke both rules.

Tuna Clipper Reports Seizure In Colombia

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The U.S.-owned tuna boat Day Island reports it has been seized by a Colombian destroyer and is being escorted to a port of that South American country.

The captain of the Day Island, O. W. Martin of San Diego, said yesterday by radio that the destroyer seized the vessel 10½ miles off the coast and took half of the 16-man crew aboard.

Teen-Age Sex Ignorance Hit By Educator

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A noted educator said today that teen-age ignorance about sex is appaing—"athough they know the word and do the thing"—and formal sex education should start in kindergarten.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone said sex education "begins at birth and goes on all the days of our lives" and that parents and teachers must get across the fact that "sex is not just something you do in bed."

Dr. Caderone, 61, criticized American mothers and manufacturers and advertisers of clothing and cosmetics for encouraging girls to date before they are ready, and in many cases before there is even real desire to date.

At a news conference preceding a workshop on "New Ways in Sex Education'sponsored by Planned Parenthood of Contra Costa County, Dr. Calderone said schools should have "family life counselors" independent of school administration.

"Children level with me because I am honest with them," she said. "There is a crying need for someone to whom they can take a their problems, someine not connected with the administration.

"If a child tells his sex problems to such a counselor there is no reason for the school administration to know about it. There is aways someone with a punitive attitude."

Bishop Boycotts Abortion Debate

LONDON (UPI) —The Bishop of Exeter, Dr. Robert Mortimer, walked out of the House of Lords last night during debate on a bill which would make abortions legal under some circumstances.

Dr. Mortimer has been the chief spokesman for the Church of England which has opposed the measure.

THE 1966 LEGISLATURE

Watts Will Be Felt In Upcoming Budget

By RONALD L. SOBLE
Last in a series of the 1966 Legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The 1966 legislature will be asked to find cures for the social ills that triggered last year's rioting by Negroes in the Watts district of Los Angeles.

It's clear the price tag will be high.

If all of the education programs recommended by the McCone Commission, created by the governor to study the riots, were to become law, the cost could reach $519 million in state and federal funds, reported Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post.

The commission called for improving some schools, accelerated efforts in job training and creation of jobs for the unemployed.

Post's analysis of the commission's recommendations has been forwarded to lawmakers.

"They would require a separate tax program," he says, in addition to revenue measures needed to make up a budget deficit estimated at up to $300 million.

The governor and legislators agree, however, that the total McCone program will cost more money than will be available this year.

The McCone recommendations concerning education and employment will "definitely be mentioned" in Gov. Brown's budget message, said a spokesman for the governor. Their priority still is an unanswered question.

Most of the employment finding, Post reported, will come from Washington.

The 1965 legislature did the spadework on the basic reading and pre-school projects.

Gov. Brown declared he will propose a $9 million expenditure in his 1966-67 budget to launch intensified reading instruction in primary grades by specialist teachers. Brown says the public school program is aimed at reaching an initial 250,000 youngsters.

The money will be offered to local school districts on a matching basis, Brown said. Most lawmakers agree that the program could eventually cost California $40 million annually.

In the area of preschool education, an as yet undetermined amount of federal cash is available to begin education in poverty communities at age three.

Other budget considerations sparked by the Watts violence will stem from recommendations by Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Napa, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Criminal Procedure.

Young's committee probed the need for changes in the Criminal Code.

Young also will seek an increase in parole officers to increase the correctional parole program. Post said this would cost an additional $112,866 in the first year.

Second, Young recommends that the legislature authorize the employment of nonprofessional parole guides to work with parole officers in priority areas. This item, Post estimated, would cost the state $353,591 the first year.

This legislation, along with some other bills carved out of the McCone report, would have to be placed on a special session agenda to run concurrently with the budget session.

Whether the 1966 legislature will be remembered for finding a remedy for the spreading social illness exemplified by the Watts rebellion remains to be seen.

"Our state government must bear part of the blame for what happened in Watts and what is happening in similar crime and poverty infested areas in California," says Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh. "This state cannot afford another such outbreak."

KLANSMAN SILENT ON KILLING ORDER

Prober Accuses Witness Of Directing Murder Of Woman Civil Rights Worker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Congressional investigator today accused a North Birmingham, Ala., man of being the Ku Klux Klansman who ordered the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in Selma last March.

The witness, Robert S. Thomas, 37, pleaded the 5th amendment to all questions put to him by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which turned its inquiry of the Klan today to Alabama—and the Liuzzo murder that triggered the investigation.

Thomas refused to comment on a direct charge by the committee's chief investigator, Donald Appell, that he directed Collie Leroy Wilkins, Gary Rowe and two other men to go to Selma on the night Mrs. Liuzzo was murdered.

The Detroit civil rights worker was shot to death in her car on a road between Selma and Birmingham.

Rowe, who turned out to be an FBI informer, testified in court in Alabama that Thomas was the man who gave out the murder orders. As a result of Rowe's testimony, four Klansmen implicated in the case were convicted of federal charges.

The federal trials followed proceedings in state courts at which no convictions were obtained.

He sat impassively through the questioning, accompanied by a lawyer.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

11:55 a.m., San Rafael—Defective electrical connector caused minor wire burning at Aldersly Danish Home, 326 Mission Avenue; damage estimated at $15.

2:50 p.m., Sausalito — Illegal burning in parking lot behind Marin Fruit and Grocery, 605 Bridgeway.

4:34 p.m., San Rafael—Canvas bag, being dried out, caught fire at home of Alice Simon, 12 Brookdale Avenue; no structural damage.

11:12 p.m., San Rafael—Defective thermostat caused furnace to overheat at George R. Pfeffer home, 149 Park Street setting fire to a filter; damage $10.

Annexation To Novato Is Approved

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night approved a 5.79-acre annexation to the city of Novato and a 20-acre annexation to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

The Novato acreage is on Entrada Drive and now has only two registered voters, permitting it to be annexed as uninhabited territory. Land must have at least 12 voters before an election is necessary for annexation.

The 20 cars added to the sanitary district is on the east side of the Terra Linda interchange. Known as the Aureguy annexation, the property is in commercial use.

The commission also approved detachment of 100 acres from the Alto Sanitary District. The land was part of the Alto Bowl and Alto Corridor annexations to Mill Valley approved several months ago.

The commission also approved the 1.68-acre Charles H. Apple annexation on Sea View Avenue to the San Rafael Sanitation District, and the .77 of an acre Dias annexation on Center Road to the Novato Sanitary District. Also approved for annexation to the Novato Sanitary District were two small parcels north of Vineyard Avenue known as the Campanilli annexation.

The commission adjourned to 7:30 p.m., March 3, at the Civic Center.

Redwood Empire Demos To Meet

Several hundred Redwood Empire Democrats will meet in Ukiah tomorrow to discuss political races in the First Congressional District and the realigned First Senatorial District.

Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer is thus far the only announced candidate for Democratic nomination for Congress. State Sen. Frank Petersen of Ukiah and George McCabe of Santa Rosa have been prominently mentioned as possible candidates.

In the new First Senatorial District, the battle for the Democratic nomination could be between Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka and either Senator Petersen or State Sen. Joseph Rattigan of Sonoma.

Machine Vandalized

A vandal last night defaced and broke pushbuttons on a cigarette vending machine outside Foster Freeze, 1903 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police reported.

Challenge

Rev. Gordon W. Blenkhorn, district representative of the Bible Meditation League will speak of "Meeting the Challenge of This Generation" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at a service of the Southern Marin Assembly of God, Mill Valley.

Bel Marin Minutes Turn Up After All

Minutes of meetings of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District board of directors during the past two years were delivered to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell yesterday.

The handwritten minutes had been misplaced, director Jack H. West Sr. told Mitchell.

In his audit of the district, Mitchell said there had been no minutes of meetings since December, 1963. He said today the report would be amended.

West told Mitchell that he found the minutes only after an extensive search, and apologized that they were not with the minute book delivered to Mitchell earlier by Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the district.

Mitchell said minutes indicated the three-member board, consisting of West, his wife, Lerona West, and son, Jack H. West Jr., had met on "somewhat regular basis" but there was no notice published, as required, for adoption of the current budget.

Jack H. West Jr. said today that his father has resigned as a director and that James L. Zoeller of 53 Montego Key will be appointed to the vacancy at the next meeting. That will be soon after the Feb. 17 filing deadline for candidates in the April 12 election, when Mrs. West's term expires.

Young West said that no nomination papers have yet been filed.

State Commission Recommends Bay Pollution Study

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Water Commission today recommended a three-year study of water pollution in San Francisco Bay and the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

But commissioners said they hoped the study would not delay construction of the controversial $54 million San Joaquin Drain, proposed to empty into bay region waters near Antioch.

The commission said the proposed pollution study was part of a policy that "water quality and water quantity cannot be viewed as separate avenues toward development, but must be considered as closely related segments of the whole."

The proposed study would examine pollution problems in the bay from additional causes besides the San Joaquin Drain.

Churchill's Vehicle Sold To American

LONDON (AP) —An Oklahoma automobile collector has paid $6,000 for a Humber limousine that belonged to the late Sir Winston Churchill.

The new owner is Arthur G. Hayes of Muskogee. He plans to add the 12-year-old car to the Churchilliana on display in America.

Fireworks Slated By Chamber

The Novato Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a fireworks display on July 4 at Bel Marin Keys, directors decided yesterday.

The chamber will ask for donations from service clubs to help purchase the fireworks, and will seek to have the Hamilton Air Force Base band play a concert at the same time.

The chamber have a free "pizza and beer" party for members from 8 to 10 p.m. on Feb. 23, at Pinky's Pizza Parlor on the Highway 101 frontage road south of Hamilton Air Force Base.

It was announced that six members of the chamber would fly to Los Angeles March 4 in the aircade meeting for the California Assn. of Chambers of Commerce.

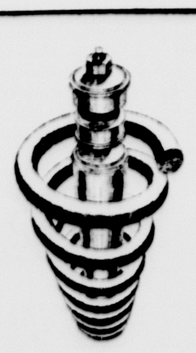
JET-SMOOTHER
THE CHEVROLET WAY

We fussed over parts no bigger than your thumbnail to smooth Chevrolet's ride. We added new bushings and softened body-to-frame mounts. We again put in soft-acting shock absorbers and soft-working coil springs at every wheel.

By soft, though, we don't mean mushy. Chevrolet's Way makes for a smooth, solid ride. Very steady on curves. A bump jumps from the Wide-Stance wheels to the supple springs and shocks—and pffft! It all but disappears. And so does, we hope, the last of anybody's reasons for buying a more expensive car.



Shocks and coil springs are matched to each different body style for a Jet-smoother ride.

Come to The Sea Ranch this weekend.

There may be a lot in it for you!

A new selection of secluded woodland lots has just been opened at this unusual second-home colony on the magnificent Sonoma north coast. And there are also sites near the new recreation center on the ocean terrace.

Take advantage of our warm winter days to come up and look them over. See the award-winning condominium apartments in their sea-cliff setting. And see how cluster planning surrounds a group of country houses with greenbelts of open, common lands.

There's open space for everybody at The Sea Ranch, and outdoor recreation for the whole family all year 'round. Here's a handy checklist of Sea Ranch activities that you and your family can enjoy right now, during your weekend visit:

Horseback riding. You won't find better country for riding than the gentle slopes and ocean terraces of this lovely sea-coast. A number of good riding horses are stabled at The Sea Ranch.

Swimming and tennis. Always in season at the new sunken recreation center. Bring your suit and towel, and take a dip in the heated pool. Play a few sets of tennis on the wind-protected court. Then relax in the sauna, another Sea Ranch amenity.

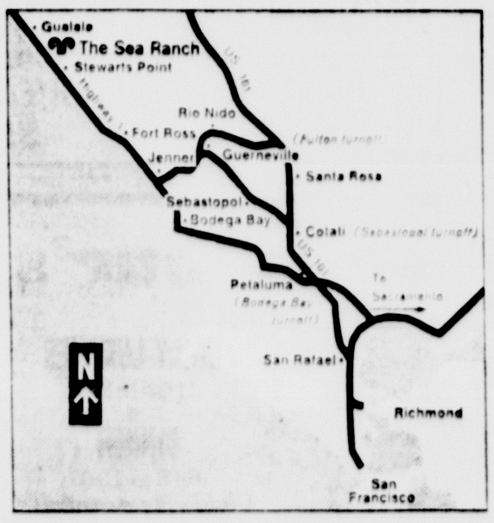
Fishing. You can surf-cast from the ocean beach or off the headlands. Or try your luck at the Gualala River where Jack London used to fish for steelhead. In fact, you may want to enter The Sea Ranch Steelhead Contest, now in progress.

Hiking / Nature study. Rediscover the pleasures of walking as you explore this stronghold of nature—the sea life that flourishes in tidal pools, the wildflowers on the ocean meadows, the forests of fir and redwood and Bishop pine.

Beachcombing. Looking for driftwood? Rocks? Shells? Who knows what treasures you'll find tossed ashore by the Pacific's winter storms!

Photography/Painting. The mighty surfs, the sweeping vistas, the varied landscapes, and the ever-changing sky offer endless inspiration to artists at The Sea Ranch.

General store. You'll find an unusual selection of merchandise—from sporting goods to country clothing and convenience foods. A good place for gift shopping. Feel free to come in and browse.



The Sea Ranch is only 2½ hours from San Francisco. Take any of the main Sonoma County routes from U.S. 101 to the coast and then drive north on Hwy. 1. You'll find The Sea Ranch entrance 17 miles north of Ft. Ross.

Irishman Debunks Old Saw That All Good Chefs Must Be French

An Irish chef? Shades of Escoffier and Killarney—these two words have never been closely associated in culinary annals, to my knowledge.

But Irish chefs are the best kind, to listen to Don Ryan, who gives the back of his hand to dogmatists that contend a French name and accent are basic requirements. And Don certainly can't be accused of having one or the other. Most assuredly his accent is not from either side of the Loire. More like west Shannon.

However, there is definitely nothing amiss with the cooking at Rico's in Sausalito, where Don rules the kitchen. And he's one Irshman who made Holiday magazine when he held that some office at Monroe's in San Francisco.

Don't misunderstand me. I'm sure Don's know-how extends capably to noisettes d'agneau, Cordon Bleu, tournedos or ris de veau. But Rico's patrons (and there are many of them) are more apt to call for steak, lobster tails, roast beef or brochette of beef and they are just as finicky about the way these are prepared as the habitues of a maison Francaise.

In fact, if you don't visit Rico's dining room when you're in Sausalito you're missing a pleasant experience. You'll find it separated from the bar and lounge, with an attractive decor, good service and food that's a pleasure to behold as well as consume (one of the trademarks of a good chef). My wife and I can testify to both the lobster and medallion of beef, and I'm told the Long Island duck is another bellringer.

And there's a nice selection of wines, among which I was pleased to see the Mayacamas vintages of Mary and Jack Taylor of Sleepy Hollow. (That's where they live—the winery is in Napa County). Mary, by the way, is back in Marin, though Jack is still on the East Coast.

Good lunches at Rico's, too.

TWO RESTAURANTS managed to have openings in San Rafael this week, and one more still hopes to make it by tomorrow.

King Cotton on Francisco Boulevard, recently taken over by Jim Bigelow of Sam's, is back in business with a new menu that features a number of hamburger variations, plus a "Parisian hot dog," a new "Sandwich International" and some novel milkshakes.

International House of Pan-Cakes—the chalet with the steep, blue roof at 1825 Fourth Street is also going strong. According to the number of cars I've been seeing here every day this week it must have picked up immediate popularity.

Sunset House at 909 Lincoln Avenue may get under way tonight—but tomorrow is more likely. Finishing touches have taken a little longer than expected, but Ron Bailey already has his sign out and it may be effective tomorrow morning.

IN SAN ANSELMO, reopening of the Chez Dumont (Pandora) by Pierre Bitterer, Ron Mettam and John Napoli is delayed a bit—there's still some work to be done here. Possibly next Wednesday or Thursday it will be ready.

And Ted Wood's new pub on the Miracle Mile—London Arms, is very near completion—but an opening this weekend was doubtful. Look for it the first part or middle of next week.

OUT AT INVERNESS, Alena and Vladimir Nevl are back from their customary winter ski vacation, and have reopened Drake's Arms. You should find both of them in fine fettle and in a good mood to host you.

"HONORING THE CAT" is the new innovation at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon. And instead of doggie bags to take the leftovers home, Sam's substitute is called a "Cat-Pac," which will provide seafood for some 28 million felines—the entire country's cat population, if necessary. Besides, says Jim Bigelow, cats outnumber dogs so it's about time pussy got a break.

CLIMAXING this season's March of Dimes campaign, the 13th annual windup dinner will be held again at Rancho Nicasio Monday evening where Nick and Mary Kobseff, Glenn Kerch and Dorothy Dolcini have arranged a big floor show for the evening.

Bill Endicott will emcee the program which includes Clorette Clementino (formerly with Lawrence Welk) and Olga Chronis of the San Francisco Opera Co. among the performers. Activities start at 7:30 p.m. Reservations recommended.

NEW ENTERTAINER at Peter Alioto's Arbordale in Sausalito starting Feb. 14 will be Louise Beatty from Denver, who was a school teacher until she began performing professionally five years ago in Dallas.

Musical specialties — several things: Blues, ballads, French and German—and calypso.

PLANNING TO CLOSE DOWN at the end of this month, I understand, is Cafe Lito in Sausalito. Negotiations are said to be under way for new tenants to take over the premises after a period of remodeling.

A JULIAN PORRITT PRESENTATION in Santa Rosa this Sunday is Count Basie and his orchestra, playing at the Santa Rosa Veterans' Memorial Building from 8 p.m. to midnight. Admission is $3 per person.

A FEW OF THE OLD landmarks Marin restaurants still remain in business, and like the slogan of a popular cigarette, many of their loyal fans "would rather fight than switch."

Contrariwise, some recent arrivals in the county cannot understand what the fuss is all about. There are no nostalgic associations in these places for them. The wear and weathering have no other significance than the possible need for a repair job. Bygone hopes, ambitions, joys and disappointments of the past are not discernible from this perspective, which is usually without understanding.

One of the county's landmarks for over a half-century has been the old Mountain Home Inn on the slopes of Mount Tamalpais. Probably this time-worn "retreat" has seen more visitors to Marin than any other single institution. I remember having tarried there briefly as a boy when it was a waypoint on the "crookedest railroad in the world." It's been a stopover for hikers, tourists, Sunday sightseers — and many times for visiting VIPs.

Present owners Pat and Marion Vincent have had it about 12 years, and they are only the fourth owner in its entire history. They have tried to maintain its original atmosphere, and to my mind have succeeded in doing this capably as well as having made it an even more delightful spot for German lunches and dinners than it was at the start.

Whether you're bent on mountain footwork with a respite between trails, or simply on having a change in food pace, include Mountain Home Inn in your travels. Even now — in rainy weather.

If you bide there long enough, or make the trip long enough, it's surprising what it does to your "outlook" on Marin County.

Job Placements Up In Marin

Job placements at the State Department of Employment office, 805 E Street, San Rafael, rose to 573 during January over a December total of 472, office manager Edwin W. Ayer announced today.

Last month's total, however, was off from the 593 placements during January of 1965, said Ayer.

Unemployment payments at 1.345 per week last month were well below the 1538 per week average of January, 1965. Ayer attributed the drop to a generally active economy and more construction work which the month's unseasonably dry weather allowed.

Unruh Calls For Addition To Sales Tax

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The hunt for more tax dollars got a new entry today—a plan by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh to raise $360 million for schools by boosting the sales tax one cent.

It would raise the total retail sales tax to 5 cents. Of that the state, which now gets 3 cents, would get 4 cents. Cities and counties would continue to receive a penny.

BROWN PROPOSAL

The Brown administration also has a tax increase proposal, legislative sources report. It would bring in $136 million more in state income taxes, but the money would be used to balance the budget.

Unruh said the additional sales tax revenue wouldn't be used for financing the 1966-67 budget, expected to top $4.5 billion. All the money would go for state aid to local school districts, which now costs $1.03 billion.

While increasing the sales tax, his plan would require school districts to lower property taxes an average 25 per cent to get the additional aid.

The extra money also would be used to boost Unruh's campaign to unify the state's some 1,250 school districts. The bonus for unification would rise from $15 to $25 a child.

Basic aid to all school districts —unified or not—would go up, sometimes as much as $151 a child.

All special—or override—local school taxes now in effect would be eliminated. A tax rate ceiling would be set for the districts and it couldn't be exceeded without a vote of the people.

PROPERTY TAX HIT

"Local property taxes — the most regressive and inequitable form of taxation we have—are too great a burden at present and this plan will shift some of the responsibility for school costs to other sources of revenue," Unruh said in a statement yesterday. "All should join in direct financial support of the schools."

Brown's plan to raise the income tax would abolish the standard deductions now allowed. Instead, it provides for a smaller, new version of the deduction.

That — plus a bookkeeping change that gives state budget planners $110 million more to work with — will provide $246 million in new revenue. Brown had anticipated a budget deficit of between $250 million and $300 million.

PROFESSOR PROTESTS

Court Battle Vowed Over Parking Ticket

Prof. Vlado Kolitsch of San Rafael, noted for his talent as a concert violinist, is better remembered by a few public officials in Marin for the heat of his ire when he feels he has been wronged.

This week, Kolitsch's temper flared again as he vowed to challenge a San Rafael city ordinance empowering police officers to ticket cars which are parked on private property without the owner's consent.

At 9:10 a.m. Monday, he related, his car was parked in a lot in front of 933 D Street, when Officer Gary K. Walter placed a citation on the windshield.

It was issued on the complaint of Sidney Schwartz, part owner of the property, Kolitsch wrote.

"In the first place, this ordinance is unlawful," declared Kolitsch, "since it designates city police to act as caretakers of private property at taxpayers' expense, and from that basis alone I shall make a test case of this citation with a jury trial."

Kolitsch also contended City Atty. David Menary Jr. had said "he did not like this ordinance at all" and would welcome a test case.

Menary denied this, but conceded he has found the ordinance difficult to prosecute and believes it was originally meant to apply to homeowners rather than commercial lots.

Merchants, he said, are empowered by state law to have cars towed away at their owners' expense and could do so without the help of city police.

Chiesa said his officers do not patrol private lots, and only place a citation when they get a complaint from someone. The owner signs each complaint and must appear in court to testify, he said.

"If he wants to make a test case," said Chiesa, "let him!"

The lot has several large signs saying it is reserved for customers of tenants of the same building, which include stores. Kolitsch said his wife was a customer of one of the stores at the time and has a sales slip to prove it.

Schwartz, however, said he made a point that day of checking the lot before the store was open because he had received many complaints that non-customers were monopolizing the lot. Kolitsch's car was one of two on the lot at 9 a.m., Schwartz said. Both were ticketed. The store, said Schwartz, does not open until 9:30.

Kolitch concluded his letter by admitting that Chiesa was not responsible for the ordinance, but said he had "no other alternative but have the courts decide the issue, otherwise we may drift into police state practices such as this invasion of private property."

Last September, Kolitsch threatened to leave town, thus closing his Violin Institute of California and withdrawing scholarships from several elementary pupils, because one of his children had been transferred from a school near home to another to which he had to take a bus. The San Rafael Board of Education overruled the transfer.

In November, he angrily cancelled a concert at the College of Marin when a college official refused to have his accompanist's piano moved to the concert at college expense.

Hotel Fire Kills Eight In Wisconsin

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Eight persons died today as an early morning fire destroyed the old three-story Astor Hotel in downtown Green Bay.

Thirty other guests escaped, several of theme after being trapped for three hours in their rooms. Four of those rescued were hospitalized for smoke inhalation.

The flames were extinguished about 7 a.m.

The fire was reported at 12:30 a.m. Firemen battled the flames in 15-degree cold and snow flurries.

The blaze apparently began in the rear of the first or second floor and worked its way up to the roof, where it traveled the length of the building, firemen said.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Fire Chief Dave Zuidmulder placed a tentative estimate of damage at $150,000.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Genius Isn't Necessary Simply Look Around For The Trap

The average man can light up a room by flicking a light switch, but he doesn't take credit for magic or genius when he does so.

They are merely obvious moves.

Opening lead — ♠ 5

South ruffed the second spade, drew two rounds of trumps and then led the six of hearts to dummy's seven. It was as simple as that.

Since all four players were experts it would shock them if South had ruffed with his lowest trump.

COSTS NO MORE

South's J-9-8-6 and dummy's 10-7 of trumps are all "equals." It costs nothing to use one of them rather than another.

Since entries to dummy are scarce, South should automatically save his lowest trump and do his thinking later.

If it turns out that he doesn't need that sort of entry to dummy he has lost nothing.

NECESSARY PLAY

South's automatic play enables him to make the contract. He leads a low diamond from dummy to finesse with the jack. West wins and returns a club. Now South can lead the eight of hearts to dummy's ten and return the nine of diamonds to repeat the finesse.

If necessary, South can thus stay in dummy for a third diamond finesse.

The point is that South must get to dummy twice for diamond finesses and must therefore arrange two trump entries to dummy.

The expert does this arranging without the slightest conscious thought.

Experience and good playing habits dictate his play on the second round of spades.

The rest of the hand plays itself.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ Q 6 3
♡ 10 9 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You have only 4 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, but your trump length persuades you to raise spades rather than pass.

You can afford to stretch a point or two in most bidding situations when you have unusually good trump support for partner.

JETLINER GROWS LONGER

Douglas Aircraft Co.'s Super 61 DC8, claimed to be the world's largest commercial arliner, recently rolls out of the hangar where it was built in Long Beach, to be readied for flight tests in the Spring. It is 187.4 feet long and will carry 251 passengers as compared to 189 passengers in the 150-foot-long conventional DC8. Except for its longer body, it looks identical to its predecessor, now in airline use around the world.

Profits Reported By Savings Firm

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has reported substantial gains in savings, reserve accumulations, real estate loans, assets, and gross revenues during 1965, its first full year of operation since the merger on Dec. 30, 1964 of three predecessor associations (Pioneer Investors Savings and Loan, Home Mutual Savings and Loan, and Berkeley Savings and Loan).

The association opened 70,625 new savings accounts last year, and net savings inflow of $88.8 million brought the total year-end balance for American's 293,000 savings account holders to $992.2 million. Reserves rose 10.8 per cent to $96.8 million, compared with $87.4 million a year ago.

American's real estate loan portfolio rose $83.7 million during the 12 months. Assets registered an 8 per cent gain and amounted to $1.27 billion at the end of the year, compared with $1.17 billion a year earlier.

Gross revenues of $74.4 million were 11.7 per cent greater than the $66.6 million recorded in 1964.

Kern County Land's Dividend Increased

SAN FRANCISCO—Directors of Kern County Land Co. have voted a quarterly dividend of 65 cents per share, an increase from the past quarterly dividend of 60 cents per share.

On an annual basis the new dividend will amount to $2.60 per share as compared to the $2.40 paid in 1965. The dividend is payable March 21 to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 17.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Some Employees Can Deduct Uniform Costs

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If you are an employee, the Internal Revenue Service says you can deduct any of the following expenses that apply to you subject to the specific rules for each one:

Work clothes and uniforms are deductible if your occupation is one which specifically requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment and it is not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing. Deductible work clothes include the cost of special apparel and equipment required in the occupations of ballplayers, firemen, police officers, letter carriers, nurses, and civilian faculty members of a military school.

P. J. Wikel

The cost of theatrical clothing and accessories used by professional musicians and entertainers is deductible if used solely in the course of their employment.

Uniforms of transportation employees—air, rail, bus, etc., —are deductible if they are used solely in the course of their employment.

Some occupations require safety shoes and helmets, others require work gloves, oil clothes and rubber boots, such as are worn by commercial fishermen. Costs of these are deductible.

If you are a reservist in the Armed Forces you may deduct, to the extent not reimbursed, the cost of your uniform if it may legally be worn only while performing duties as a reservist. In computing the deduction, the cost must be reduced by any non-taxable allowance you receive on account of such expenses. If you are on full-time duty in the Armed Forces, the cost of your uniform is not deductible.

If you are a school teacher, amounts which you pay for a substitute teacher to take your place are deductible. However, you are not entitled to this deduction to the extent that it is allocable to amounts excluded as sick pay.

Subscriptions to professional journals, etc., relating to your business or profession, membership dues in professional societies and union dues also are deductible.

Small tools and supplies, employment agency fees, and physical examination fees paid by you and required by your employer to establish your physical fitness to retain your job may be deducted.

Moving expenses for a new job, traveling expenses not reimbursed by your employer, entertainment expenses not reimbursed by your employer, schoolteachers' sabbatical leave expenses, or use of your home in your work are deductible.

Automobile expenses not reimbursed by your employer also may be allowed.

These are all tricky and subject to many ifs, ands and buts, so be sure you know the rules before you claim the deduction.

Department Store Chain Acquired

ST. LOUIS (AP)—P. N. Hirsch and Co., a subsidiary of International Shoe Co., said Wednesday it has acquired the assets of four California department stores from W. R. Carithers and Sons, Inc., of Santa Rosa.

The stores are the White House in Santa Rosa, Crawley's in Vallejo, Carithers in Napa and Carithers Department Store in Petaluma.

President Philip N. Hirsch said the acquisition was a cash transaction, effective Jan. 31. Store names will not be changed and operations will be continued with the same personnel, he said.

General Motors Gives Push To Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today with heavy trading near the end.

Late strength in General Motors inspired the list to close at best levels of the day. Rumors circulated that a split may be considered at the GM directors' meeting Monday.

Boeing was weak on news of the crash of a Japanese airliner, a Boeing 727 jet.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7 million shares compared with 8.16 million yesterday.

The averages were bolstered by gains of selected blue chips. American Telephone and Air Reduction rose more than a point each. General Motors nearly a point. Du Pont and U.S. Steel fractions.

Ford, up more than a point, responded to record quarterly earnings. Douglas Aircraft spurted about 2½ while Boeing sank 3.

Pan American World Airways was up nearly 2. United Air Lines more than a point. Eastern Air Lines lost 1.

Zenith slid nearly 3. Xerox advanced about 2½.

Liggett & Myers dropped 2 in reaction to disappointing earnings. Merck recovered a fraction from Thursday's slide.

Ford was pacing the list on activity. American Export Isbrandsten also was heavily traded and up 2. AT&T was among the volume leaders. Sperry Rand, up about ½, was very active also.

Up about 2 were Texas Gulf Sulphur, U.S. Lines and Boston & Maine. Ahead about a point were Checker Motors, Crane Co. and Central Aguirre.

Texas Instruments lost 1 and Mack Trucks about 1½.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

Public Safety More Vital Than Diplomatic Leniency

Several judges in San Francisco are taking a fair and firm position on the matter of traffic tags for flagrant violators among the consular corps.

In San Francisco or in Marin, where congestion in downtown areas is a pressing problem, the community cannot afford to show so much leniency to any special group as to jeopardize public safety.

It is generally standard practice for safety officials to overlook occasional minor infractions by members of the diplomatic corps. We have no particular quarrel with this policy in such cases as overtime parking. But apparently, those who enjoy these little "privileges" have been taking far more liberties—such as blocking fire plugs, parking in bus zones, red zones and on prohibited narrow streets.

The judges are beginning to balk at dismissing traffic tags on serious parking offenses, and rightly so.

"Up to now, I've been dismissing them," said one judge. "But my temper is wearing thin and I may soon stop dismissing them. The letters generally claim the car was tagged while on official consular business. I'm wondering in how many cases was the car used for non-official business—say by a consular corps member's wife, or servant, or son or daughter.

". . . A consular corps official doesn't have the carte blanche right to park illegally, while other motorists have to obey the law."

An attorney for a consul official was quoted as saying that "we feel in borderline cases some courtesy could be shown."

Courtesy should be extended to diplomatic representatives, and we feel that such courtesy is being shown on borderline cases and even in definite violations of a minor nature.

However, blocking of fireplugs, for one, can hardly be classified as "borderline," especially in an emergency when quick access to that fireplug could be essential for the protection of lives and property including those of the diplomatic officials.

We applaud the judges on their non-dismissal policy on flagrant traffic abuses, although such actions might be stepping on sensitive toes.

Courtesies can and should be extended, but not at the risk of public safety.

San Francisco Symphony Welcome

The famous San Francisco Symphony will appear in concert at the College of Marin gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Maestro Josef Krips and the orchestra are making this special trip into Marin. It behooves the music loving citizens of the county to respond by filling the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

Bouquets to the College Community Services Group for sponsoring the San Francisco Symphony, and to the Festival Theater of San Anselmo for help in publicizing and supporting the coming performance.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Many Potential Candidates Seem Not Hasty In Making Up Minds

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

POLITICAL BATTLE lines are gradually taking shape.

Napa's attorney-assemblyman Pearce Young is going all out for the Democratic nomination for the new 4th Senatorial District (Marin, Napa, Solano) and hopes to meet Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, in November.

Novato Mayor Robert Carrow is still reported "considering" running against Pearce Young for the Democratic nod. But the time for "considering" is fast running out. Carrow's decision should be coming in a week or 10 days.

THE SAME IS true among the Democratic contenders for Congress, to oppose incumbent Don H. Clausen, Republican.

George McCabe of Santa Rosa and Frank Petersen of Ukiah ought to be making up their minds in the next few weeks. But whatever they do, Supervisor Tom Storer of Marin says he's not pulling out. He's definitely in the race against Clausen.

"If there's a primary fight," asserts Storer, "it won't be my fault. I announced back in December. I believe the others have waited too long."

Clausen, despite his big win over McCabe two years ago, is taking no chances. His Marin campaign chairman, Robert Huber, has mailed out letters warning against over-confidence and urging voters to "join Clausen's district-wide team."

ON THE LOCAL scene, more new names keep popping up. The expected battle for First District Supervisor, between incumbent Byron Leydecker and John McInnis, takes this new twist:

Seems to be a movement in Terra Linda to run Walter Castro Jr. for supervisor. And another movement to urge Melvin Warenback, chairman of the Terra Linda Community Services District board, to make the try.

Both Castro and Warenback might be receptive, if enough backing can be generated.

Add to this the unconfirmed rumor that Leydecker may not run after all, and you get the possibility of a big free-for-all.

The 7th Assembly District (Marin and all of Sonoma) will be cut down in size to Marin and half of Sonoma. The new district will take in Sebastopol, Rohnert Park, Cotati, Petaluma and the Valley of the Moon, but not Santa Rosa and points north.

Bagley says the reduction in size won't cut down the work load "because you can't serve a half a county." Work will still take the assemblyman into Santa Rosa, the county seat.

A COUPLE OF non-partisan notes:

Dr. Frank H. Howard, San Rafael dentist, takes strong issue with the contention that people favor parallel parking on Fourth Street. He claims he polled people on Fourth Street at random and "19 out of 20 don't want parallel parking." Dr. Howard says he polled storeowners and property owners on Fourth between E and H Streets (where parallel parking is in existence) and found 98 per cent opposed to parallel.

Another query on parallel vs. diagonal parking: Aren't some curbs on Fourth so high that cars parking parallel will scrape fenders and bump doors?

Proponents of parallel admit that some curbs are high. Their answer: This can be remedied by raising the level of the street a few inches, without too much cost.

Youth Tells Views On Viet Struggle

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am very happy to see that the president has decided to continue the bombing of Viet Nam.

I can not understand why some people, including congressmen, resent this decision. We gave them (North Vietnamese) 37 days to go to the conference table, yet they made no attempts what-so-ever to bring peace to Viet Nam.

The only way to gain peace in Viet Nam is through the battle field; the North Vietnamese have made this very clear. We call for peace talks and the V.C. make terrorist attacks on our boys while they sleep.

I say again that I think the only way to bring peace to Viet Nam is to BEAT THE VIET-CONG! And I strongly support President Johnson's decision, and I ask all true Americans, who support our president, to write to their Congressman and let him know that we want to stay in Viet Nam, and win Freedom, Liberty, and Justice for the South Vietnamese.

Course Of Events Is Common Agony

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Art is long and time is fleeting, as someone has said.

But not fleeting enough for the common man, U.S., to be able to change the present course of events by ballot before those events become the common agony.

True, the art of government must seem exceedingly long these days to the men immersed in it, and their sleeping hours quite short, mainly because someone has been overlooking another fine old saying:

Musical Educator Writes Of Discipline

Editor, Independent-Journal:

May I extend belated congratulations on your most timely editorial (Jan. 21) concerning discipline of children.

My personal feeling is that we can take note of successful school orchestras and their conductors with reference to discipline, commitments, and student responsibilities. You can imagine what would happen to a school orchestra if youngsters, during a rehearsal were allowed to express their whims and feelings at any time, interrupting rehearsal procedures and displaying a lack of respect for the conductor.

Being a son of foreign born parents, I grew up in an atmosphere of discipline and respect. After twenty years in music education, I feel stronger than ever that youngsters need direction and discipline in their training.

A conductor does this by commanding respect as a musician-educator, by supplying the youngsters with the best literature possible to challenge and motivate them, by providing leadership for those who are the "cream of the crop", by making the less talented feel successful in becoming a part of the group and good followers. High standards are set for performances, and a dignity is developed whereby internal discipline and respect for fellow workers and the teacher results.

I see no frustrations developing in students when the conductor demands quiet, attentiveness and full commitments to their roles as musicians in the orchestra.

Perhaps some of our ills concerning today's students can be remedied by taking stock of some of the better attributes of some 25 years ago and refining them for the needs of today.

Don't Knock The Choir Singers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

They finally went and did it!

Regarding the letter written by Mr. Wilbur Russel and choir members. As a long time member of Presbyterian choirs, I admit I've been waiting for such a remark from someone.

There seems to be a trend, by adults and "angry" young people, who don't attend church or take part in choir, choral work or orchestra work, to use them as an example of middle class togetherness. Is this bad? Have they tried it? If you haven't tried it, don't knock it.

Do they think people who sing in choir every week, all year, rehearsal and church service, are doing this as an example of goody goodiness or "I'll get to Heaven before you do?" It is just the opposite. It is a very gratifying form of thanks for the people and clergy who are there also, and have the same failings and needs we do.

Also, in attending a concert at Drake High School I was both sorry and amazed to see more young people on stage than audience. This is true in all schools. So skip "Get Smart" or "Man from Uncle" just once. You're in for a real treat. These teachers and young people care enough to give their very best. How about you?

ON THE NIGHT the late Monty Woolley (the great star of "The Man Who Came to Dinner"), consented to be the guest on the TV hit program, "I've Got a Secret," Allan Sherman, the producer, recalls that the secret they concocted for Woolley was "I sleep with my beard under the covers." After the panel guessed it, Henry Morgan asked, "Now, Mr. Woolley, do you REALLY sleep with your beard under the covers?" The easily riled Mr. Woolley shouted back, "Of course not, you idiot. Your fool producer made me promise to say so."

FROM SPEECHES by President Johnson: "I think it's mighty important that we have a two-party country. I'm a fellow who likes small parties and the Republican Party's about the size I like." . . . "I seldom think of politics more than 18 hours a day." . . ."I like the story of the college debater who told his roommate that an impending debate would be a genuine battle of wits. 'How courageous of you,' approved his friend, 'to go unarmed'."

A COLLECTION of rabid prohibitionists were told about a grizzled old mountaineer of 104 who swore he never had touched a drop of liquor, so they rushed to his shack to get a signed statement from him. The old boy was just affixing a shaky signature to their prepared document when they became aware of a violent disturbance in the next room—furniture and glassware being smashed at a merry clip.

"Heavens, what's that?" quavered the head prohibitionist. "That's Pa," whispered the old man with a sign of resignation. "He's violently drunk again."

Resumption Of Bombing Should Unify United States Behind LBJ

WASHINGTON—The instant results of President Lyndon B. Johnson, resumption of bombing North Viet Nam—because Hanoi rejected all U.S. and all other efforts, to negotiate—will be these:

It will effectively unify the Congress behind whatever is needed to defend South Viet Nam.

It will effectively unify the country behind the "hard decisions" the President will have to make in the near future.

IT WILL MEAN that the U. S. will increase its military actions at every level in order to remove Hanoi's belief it can win because we will become hopelessly divided, grow weary and don't really mean to stick it out.

It will leave open the door to peace talks any time Hanoi so chooses—as the action in taking the issue to the U. N. Security Council shows.

There are conclusive reasons why the bombing pause could not be continued indefinitely without some constructive response from Hanoi. The decision was never in doubt. It rested on two facts:

1. Ho Chi Minh confirmed publicly that he would not negotiate until after unconditional surrender by South Viet Nam and removal of all U. S. forces.

2. North Viet Nam used the bombing pause to increase the flow of troops across the border and to increase the level of Viet Cong attacks and terror in South Viet Nam.

Obviously the diplomatic reasons for continuing the pause were exhausted.

THERE WILL, of course, be some dissident and fear-laden voices in Congress. A democracy is never unanimous. Only three months before Pearl Harbor, Congress came within one vote of killing the draft.

And how will the American people respond? Here, too, there will be honest differences which the Communists see, not as a source of a democracy's strength, but as a weakness on which they continue to count.

But just before the President announced his decision, Louis Harris sampled public opinion and found that if Hanoi refused to talk peace, the American people would support the resumption of bombing by more than 2-to-1. His survey showed that 60 per cent of the country would back a U. S. force of 500,000 troops in South Viet Nam.

The bombing pause is not to be regretted. It proved to the world that it is not the U. S. which blocks the road to the peace table. And it has shown that Hanoi's response has been unyielding.

To have to resume the bombing is not a welcome nor agreeable choice. But the alternative — of yielding South Viet Nam and Southeast Asia to the aggressor—would be far worse for the U. S. and the whole free world.

It would mean worse war under worse conditions somewhere else.

FREEDOM has to be defended where it is attacked.

Red China Nuclear Ability Grows Apace

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Red China apparently is preparing to test within a year an intermediate range ballistic missile capable of carrying a sizable nuclear warhead.

The first IRBM, described as very similar to the type Russia shipped to Cuba in 1962, is reportedly being assembled at a closely guarded center in a Chinese-controlled section of Inner Mongolia.

THE ROCKET may have a range of around 1,200 miles, and be capable of carrying a 20 kiloton (20,000 tons of TNT) warhead.

These details are in a highly speculative report a top-level Johnson administration official, with access to intelligence data, gave a small hand-picked group of publicists for future use in articles and lectures on the "growing peril of Communist China."

OUTSTANDING among the blockbusters dropped by this official was the solemn assertion that "Red China will have a first strike nuclear capability by 1967 and may be preparing to use it shortly thereafter."

Other crackling revelations unfurled at the super-secret briefing were:

1. Communist chief Mao Tse-tung is dying of Parkinson's disease.

2. Red China is expected to test its first H-bomb sometime this year.

3. Soviet missiles with "large nuclear warheads" are zeroed in on targets on China's mainland, including the Chinese plutonium pant.

4. Russian missiles near Komsomolsky, in the Amur River valley, are reported aimed at Japan and South Korea.

5. The Soviet base at Kamchatka, across the Bering Sea from Alaska, is believed to have missiles with ranges of "more than 3,500 miles."

6. Russian rockets at Sverdlovsk, where the U-2 spy plane was downed, and Magnitogorsk, in the central part of the country, are capable of striking either U.S. or Chinese territory.

7. Russia now has an estimated 100 missile bases manned by more than 200,000 technicians and scientists.

Some Soviet and U.S. officials favor an alliance against China. Central Intelligence Director Raborn was described as the "big stumbling block" to winning the President's acceptance to joint military action against Red China.

SOURCES CLOSE to Raborn picture him as regarding "all information about Soviet missiles being pointed at Chinese targets" as highly unreliable, as the details emanate from either Russian or other Communist quarters.

The CIA chief is said to be opposed to an alliance with Russia because, "all hard intelligence still shows that Russia is the No. 1 enemy of the U.S. on the basis of the Soviet's nuclear-missile capability and unswerving determination to dominate the world."

IN REPORTS to the President Raborn has stressed that Peiping has received more than $200,000 worth of instruments used in fabrication of nuclear devices from Britain, France and Italy.

An estimated 25 Chinese scientists and American technicians trained in the U.S. are working in Chinese nuclear plants. Ch'ien Hsuch-sen, former professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is believed to be head of China's ballistic missile program. He is a graduate in nuclear physics of the California Institute of Technology . . . CIA estimates indicate the Chinese Reds' most recent atomic device was dropped from a Soviet TU-4 bomber, which is comparable to the B-29 used in World War II . . . One of the most significant documents Colonel Oleg Penkovsky smuggled to the U.S. was a top-secret report revealing that Russian and Chinese agents were working together in Africa despite public statements by Moscow and Peiping indicating violent disagreement.

Maggie Visits, Films At Stinson, A Fat Cat, Commemorative Pens

He wondered what become of Maggie.

Maggie Grant, with the paper back books and the bus tickets and the yen for the sea.

Well, Margot Marker at the bus depot in Lytton Square says Maggie returned this week, checked over the books, "worked the counter for a bit" and did some shopping.

How did she do at the ticket counter? "She did her job," said Margot.

Maggie, her husband, Merritt, and their dachshund Hermes, moved to the Mendocino Coast from Sausalito. How do they like it? "She loves it," said Margot.

A HOLLYWOOD television company made some pictures at Stinson Beach state park last week and, among the stars to appear on location, were two red Irish setters.

According to sisters Ruth Miller and Harriet Greene of that beach town, the star setter earns $13,000 a year while his stand-in makes but $7,200. The $13,000 dog wouldn't even look at us," said Mrs. Greene, "but the stand-in was very pleasant."

When the movie company pulled up cameras, said Ruth, they released, with permission, a dozen black Mexican Ravens from a cage. "Joe Lawrence got up pretty close and they are not timid at all," said Ruth. The question is, will the black ravens of Mexico, now hopping around on garage roof tops, mix with the black crows of California?

THE FATTEST cat we ever met lives on a hill in Sausalito with a grand view of San Francisco.

He is called "Mr. Puss" by owners Fred and Mrs. Turner but we call him "Fat Cat."

Due to science, he has no gender, unfortunately. He is a mixture of Siamese and cat. Cross and blue-eyed, he is beaver colored and weighs 19 pounds. He talks but doesn't howl like a Siamese, says Fred. "And he has two hobbies—eating and sleeping."

FAT CAT eats fresh horse liver imported from Mill Valley and bonnie tuna imported from Japan. "He loves green beans or cooked zucchini." Fred says the average cat weighs about 9 or 10 pounds.

While visiting Fat Cat, Fred told us pens are political and asked if we had ever seen the pen used by his late father, Theodore Turner, who, 65 years ago, was mayor of Pocatello, Ida.

It was a beauty. It is gold, chased with gold filigree, with a real black rubber extension and a small black case.

"THIS IS A REAL commemorative pen," says Fred, who scoffs at what he terms the two for a dime ball point pens which are now used by President Johnson to sign important papers then given away by the dozens.

Turner pulled another pen out of his pocket—a ball point pen given him by a Sausalito candidate for city council. "The pen is important," he said.

TONY ARRIGO, retired barber, came into Jim's barber shop the other day on Throckmorton and advised Ray Guagliano that he had been victorious on Paper Mill Creek. Said Tony: "I caught an eight-pound steelhead."

"I had to jump in the water to get it. It broke the hook and almost got away. One more jump and it would have been too bad." Tony uses fresh salmon roe for bait and says that the way to fix the fish is to barbecue it. In winter? Yes, he said.

WE ALSO TALKED to Joe Rodrigues, the Mayor of Muir Beach. He is an eel man. But he said he has not been fishing for three months because he is constructing corral fences for three horses for his son-in-law, Ken Carlton, and daughter at Cotati.

Government is "wonderful" at Muir Beach, said Joe. Of course, we have a little fight once in a while." "I am in good health," he added, "As mean as ever."

Ethelwyn Steese says the mud hens are busy pouring salt water over themselves at Waldo Point. They don't like all the fresh water of rain, she added.

Old Telephone Stall Reaches Highest Form In Washington

WASHINGTON — Status in Washington depends on many things, not the least being what takes place when you telephone a government official.

The highest status belongs to those who, when they announce their names, are put through right away.

IF THE SECRETARY says, "Mr. Jones is in conference. Can he call you back?" Your status is then rated according to how long Jones takes to return the call.

Once a friend of mine telephoned Sargent Shriver, and Mr. Shriver didn't return the call for two weeks. My friend's status had sunk to an all-time low with his staff. But he managed to save himself, because when Mr. Shriver finally called back my friend said, "It's not important, Mr. Shriver. I forgot what I wanted to talk to you about."

My friend's status immediately shot up with his people.

There is a great deal of phonemanship in Washington where people put other people down. The worst drubbing I ever got at this game was when I called a newspaper columnist and he said, "Do you mind calling me back? I've got the President on hold."

SECRETARIES play the telephone game more than their bosses. One of the favorites is when one man's secretary places a call to an official. The official's secretary refuses to put her boss on the phone until the other secretary has put her boss on. The secretary whose boss gets on first loses.

Some secretaries are ruthless when it comes to the game. If you place a call, a secretary will ask who is calling. After you give your name she will say, "I'll see if Mr. Smith is in."

Now you're really on a spot, because you know she knows damn well whether Smith is in or not, so you wait on tenterhooks for her to come back on the line. If she comes back and says, "I'm terribly sorry, Mr. Smith has just stepped out," you've had it.

THIS CAN FLUSTER a secretary pretty badly and she'll probably say something about his being in another office, to which you can then shout, "I'm calling from across the way and I can see into his office and I know he's there."

When you call many government officials, the secretary automatically says, "Mr. Brown is in a meeting." This is standard operating procedure for Brown's own protection, because if Brown was in his office the caller might not think Brown was working. If the secretary agrees to interrupt the meeting for your call, you know your star in Washington is really on the rise.

The worst beating you can take is if you place a call and a telephone operator asks who is calling.

Then if she comes back and says, "Mr. Brown's SECRETARY just stepped out, "you know your star in Washington is on the wane.

Another way of defeating a caller is when a secretary asks him to spell his name. The best defense against this is to ask her to spell the name of her boss.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Doubts Sprout Over Projects Urged By New Planning Boss

FUSSELMAN

"A PURELY IMPERSONAL observation would be that it will take considerable time to really be competent to function with knowledge and authority, here. I certainly wish him well." This was my comment last Friday, respecting the new planning director.

On page 38 of the I-J, Tuesday, was a long column on his first attendance at a commission meeting. Because of the grave importance to each owner of property, in the economic field as well as tax-wise, it seems we should all take a look at some of the things he had to say. Repeating: This is purely impersonal.

IT WAS reported that he gave his views on, "a general plan for Marin and a design review board." For the entire 22 years I served on the board of supervisors we heard repeatedly . . . "master plan" for this and "master plan" for that. We all could observe the attempts to give master plans all of the legal force and weight of ordinances, which they did not nor do have. But styles seem to be changing, and like the vermiform appendix the "master plan" is no longer needed.

This "general plan" business started with Kentfield.

HE SAID that preparation of a "general plan" would take at least two years and that it should be a study of the entire county. . . . He said that federal funds probably should be requested. Note: The word is "requested."

He said he hoped to develop more detailed recommendations prior to preparation of budget requests. He further stated that the planning staff would probably have to be increased. . . ." I don't think we're staffed up to do the job at this moment" he said. (Increased staff means — increased space and equipment and transportation facilities)

DOESN'T THAT sort of "Wonder you?" It certainly does me. You should look over the files and see stacks and stacks of zoning ordinances. And then let's see, now. There was the extensive Novato master plan which was completely updated. Then we have the Tiburon master plan . . . . the Richardson Bay master plan which was worked over again and again. Also, the extensive and expensive West Marin Master Plan. . . . The San Geronimo Valley Master Plan and the Kentfield "General" Plan. These all had to do with, at that time, unincorporated areas. And of course many of the cities have been doing the shame thing.

I think we had better look alive, my fellow tax payers. This looks like frosting the cake.

While I was writing this, I looked up the clipping of the I-J story of Dec. 21, headed, "Supervisors Pick New Plan Chief." He is receiving $18,000 a year. The salary had been $14,000. He majored in architecture at the University of Nebraska and earned a master's degree in city planning at the University of California at Berkeley. He served as land planner in Bucks County, Pa., 1957-59 and was planning director of Brookline, Mass. He had a few months as an aide to the chairman of the National Capitol Planning Commission. He is 31 years old.

YOU OWN the property and you pay the taxes.

"If thou faint in the day of adversity thy strength is small." Old Testament—Proverbs xxiv.

"The smallest actual good is better than the most magnificent promises of impossibilities." Macaulay — Essay on Lord Bacon.

Family Dinner Fetes 50 Married Years

Fifty years of marriage were celebrated Wednesday night by Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Kolb of Greenbrae at a family dinner in San Francisco.

The occasion also marked the 45th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Kolb's sister and brother-in-law, the Peter Schuberts, who live at 425 Vista Grande, a few doors away from the Kolbs at No. 460.

The Kolbs have lived in Marin County since 1947, moving to Greenbrae about 10 years ago.

Both are natives of San Francisco and met at the Hercules Powder Co. there, where she was a secretary and he a salesman. Kolb retired in 1953 after 48 years with the company.

Unwilling to remain inactive, he is now a woodpulp and paper salesman with Perkins Goodman Co. of San Francisco.

Kolb attributed his long and continuing career as a salesman to "exercise and keeping in shape." He has been a member of the Olympic Club of San Francisco since 1907 and used to wrestle there regularly.

In this, he pointed out yesterday, he has followed in the footsteps of his father, who retired in 1890 as the undefeated Pacific Coast middleweight wrestling champion.

Also living in Greenbrae, at 46 Corte Encanto, are the Kolbs' son-in-law and daughter, Norma Davis, and a grandchild.

Stolen Yacht Found Wrecked

A $15,000 sailboat, stolen Monday from Owens Marin Yacht Sales Inc., 40 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, has been found abandoned and pounding against the rock coast of Santa Cruz County.

Sheriff's Inspector Bowen Bridges said the 33-foot craft was a complete loss.

He said a Santa Cruz ranchhand reported seeing two men swimming from the craft shortly before it went aground.

The boat was stolen from a mooring at Lowry's Yacht Harbor.

Party To Benefit Stage Production

A benefit party to raise money for the San Francisco production of "Blues for Mr. Charlie" will be held at 8:30 p.m., tomorrow, at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

There will be two bands, for dancing, and refreshments, according to Craig Vincent of Homestead Valley, organizer.

The play, which was presented in December in Mill Valley, is now being presented at the Contemporary Theater, 1725

"Value" means lightness or darkness of a hue.

Purse Snatched From Sausalito Resident

Florence Seymour of 90 Harrison Avenue, Sausalito, complained to police that three youths grabbed her purse and ran with it as she was walking past 156 Bulkley Avenue, Sausalito, at 7:53 p.m. yesterday.

Police said Mrs. Seymour was unsure of the purse's contents.

Innocent Plea In Knife Case

Joseph Santoro, 23, alias Joseph Schembra, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to felony assault with a knife. Setting of a preliminary hearing was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Santoro allegedly held a knife to the throat of Luke Asbury, 164 Santa Rosa Avenue, Sausalito, in a Sausalito residence on Jan. 22. Asbury said an earlier report that he and Santoro were arguing over dating a woman was incorrect.

Santoro, 513 Humboldt Avenue, Sausalito, is free on $2,750 bail.

Charitable Foundation Gives Funds To Marin Youth Groups

Presentation of checks yesterday to four Marin groups serving Marin youth by Mrs. Russell Smith, past president of the Marin Charitable Foundation, climaxed a year of fund raising by the members of the organization.

The two events held last year were A Day at the Races in May at Golden Gate Fields in Albany and the Marin Debutante Ball in December at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

Committees are already at work on this year's Day at the Races under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fred Herrington. Mrs. Edgar T. Lindner is ball chairman for the Debutante Ball to be held on Dec. 20.

Children in the pediatrics ward of Marin General Hospital will appreciate the special treats they will be enjoying thanks to the new large refrigerator provided them by the Marin Hospital Volunteers with the funds received from the Marin Charitable Foundation. Mrs. Robert McKendry, president of the group, accepted the check on behalf of the volunteers.

Accepting the grant for the Family Service Agency of Marin was Walter Busse, president of the board of directors. The grant will enable the agency to provide special casework for families with adolescent children. Last year funds were provided the agency by the Compton Foundation for counseling families with younger children, and it was felt by Nicholas Suntzeff, agency director, that there is a need in the agency for a specialist for family problems relating to the older child.

Mrs. James W. Clark representing the Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa received funds to assist in the maintenance of the Residence for Girls, their successful project in San Rafael. The residence provides a home for girls who might otherwise be held in Juvenile Hall.

Jess France, member of the board of the College of Marin Emergency Student Loan Fund received money which will assist worthy students to stay in college through a period of financial stress which would otherwise force them to abandon their studies.

Greenbrae Guild Selects Pioneer Pilot As Officer

A pioneer woman pilot in the United States, Mrs. John R. Verzi of Greenbrae, has been installed as 1966 president of the Greenbrae Oaks Guild of Sunny Hills.

For the last 20 years she and her husband, a San Francisco businessman, have lived in Marin County. Their son, Melvin, attends College of Marin.

Mona Verzi was graduated from Nebraska State College and has taught secondary education and worked in hospital administration. Her hobbies of painting and sewing have been interlaced with world travel.

Mrs. Verzi holds membership in the American Assn. of University Women and various church organizations as well. Under her leadership, Greenbrae Oaks Guild has planned numerous fund-raising events to begin on Feb. 16 with the annual spring fashion parade luncheon at the Meadow Club under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles F. Butler.

Assisting will be Mesdames Marioit, Lamperti, models; Sam Stenstrom, tickets; John Holmgren, decorations and W. B. Baker, donations.

MRS. JOHN VERZI

Other new officers installed were Mesdames Lamperti, vice president, Ruth M. Krough, recording secretary; M. W. Young, corresponding secretary, and Silvio Ruffino, treasurer. Mesdames Stenstrom and R. E. Mittelstaedt are Bargain Box and publicity chairmen.

SUSAN HITCHCOCK

A family dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hitchcock in San Mateo, was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Kay Hitchcock of San Francisco, to Roger C. Crobarger.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from Hillsdale High School in San Mateo and University of Oregon where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority, is the sister of Mrs. Edmund B. Meals, also of San Mateo. Susan is a first grade teacher at Santa Margarita School.

Roger, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Crobarger of Phoenix, Ariz., has a brother, John, who is serving in the U.S. Air Force. He was graduated from Arizona State University with a degree in economics and is a sales representative in Southern California with Fibreboard Paper Products Corp.

A July 16 wedding is planned after which the couple will reside in Southern California.

Ladies Auxiliary To Fete Officer

The Ladies Auxiliary of Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments will hold its annual president's dinner on Feb. 17 at Confucius Restaurant in Greenbrae. Honored guest will be Mrs. Rodney Biddleman of Kentfield, retiring president.

Many Marinites To Attend Hospitality Ball Tonight

By MOLLY MARIN

Marin will be well represented at the International Hospitality Ball at the Fairmont Hotel tonight. Among those who are hosting tables are the Harding McPhuns of San Rafael, Frank J. Baumgartens of Fairfax, Richard C. Otters of Sausalito, and John Alan Manns of Ross. Reservations have also been made by Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Ramos of San Rafael, and Mrs. M. Galloway Ferrin of Kentfield.

A DINNER PARTY with the immediate family in attendance on Wednesday at the St. Francis Hotel honored Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kolb of Greenbrae who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Celebrants also were Mrs. Kolb's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schubert of Greenbrae, who were married 45 years ago on the same date. The Kolbs, who were married at an Episcopal church in San Francisco, brought some of their old photographs of the wedding and of their children for some reminiscing. Other members of the family at the affair were their daughter, Mrs. Norma Davis of Greenbrae and her son, Jay, and Mr. Kolb's sisters, Mrs. August Oldag of Tiburon, Mrs. Erma Poole of San Francisco, a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kolb of Oakland and Mrs. Edward Kolb of San Francisco.

A LANDSLIDE IN Rio de Janeiro occurred while Mrs. Harry Meilink of San Rafael was winding up a three-month South American tour last month. She reported that a huge boulder came crashing down a mountain to smash the city's water main and residents of the Copacabana Beach area were affected. Metta's tour by plane began with Mexico where she enjoyed especially Cozumel Island where two new hotels have been built, and the ruins of Uxmal and Chichen-Itza. On a tour in Taxco she was happily surprised to encounter Judge and Mrs. Carlos Freitas of San Rafael. Fortin and the snow-capped mountains of Orizabo she termed beautiful in the tropics of Mexico. The Indian worship ceremony and attractive Indian furniture of the Mayan Inn impressed Mrs. Meilink on her visit to Chichicastenango as well as the countryside through Antigua and Lake de Atitlan. She continued on to Bogata, Quito, La Paz, Lima and Santiago where the Chilian Andes and lake area near Bariloche were comparable to some of the finer resort areas of Europe, Mrs. Meilink reported. In spite of the flooding in Rio, where it rained for two days and nights during her stay, she was quite taken with the resort Petropolis area nearby.

HONORING MRS. JAMES E. LASH of Old Greenwich, Conn., was the luncheon which Mrs. Eugene Kilgore gave today at her home in Paradise Cove. Mrs. Lash, the former Jean Christie is a long-time friend of Mimi Kilgore. The two attended Anna Head School in Berkeley and the University of California together. Twenty long-time friends who seldom have an opportunity to visit with Jean Lash since her permanent move to the New York area, were invited. Among those from Marin were Mesdames Edward Russell Rice III, L. G. Maclise, F. W. Mosden, Millen Griffith, Robert M. Joses, Stanton Logan and Hayden Shuey. The Shueys have recently moved to Kentfield. Mrs. Charles Yerxa came from Colusa for the reunion and other friends from Piedmont and San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Lash are stopping over in San Francisco after a trip to Hawaii.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN M. KENNEDY will be hosts at their Kent Woodlands home tonight at a dinner party honoring Miss Lani Stephens and Robert Valentine of San Francisco, who are to be married on St. Valentine's Day at St. Brigid's Church in San Francisco. The Kennedys lived in Mill Valley until they moved into their new home in Kent Woodlands in December.

NANCY ROTH

Nancy Roth Will Marry On March 19

A family dinner at the Sleepy Hollow home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Theodore Roth, was the occasion for their announcing the engagement of their daughter, Nancy A. Roth, to Darrell Dean Davison Jr. of La Plata, Mo.

A March 19 wedding is planned to take place on Treasure Island. Nancy's sisters, Mrs. Robert Agustus Nerrie III and Janet A. Roth, a twin, both reside in San Francisco. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and University of California where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

The bride-elect is employed with McKinsey and Co., Inc., in San Francisco.

Darrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Davison of La Plata, was graduated from University of Missouri where he was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Sigma fraternity. Following the March wedding, the couple will make their home in La Plata, Mo., where the future bridegroom owns a ranch.

'UPBEAT' COIFFURE

The cut is now all-important with "every little hair having a place of its own" as in this coiffure by Vidal Sasson. Properly cut, the hair needs little setting, according to the foremost exponent of the "Upbeat" in coiffure design. The polish is added with frequent brushing.

'Sportlight On Fashion' Show Scheduled By Guild

The Mother's Guild of St. Raphael's School will have its annual Salad Bowl Luncheon and Fashion Show on Feb. 15 starting at 11:30 a.m. in the school auditorium. "Sportlight on Fashion" will be the theme for the clothes for all sports activities modeled by members of the guild.

Chairman will be Mrs. Earl Cummesky, assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Steffans. Other committee chairmen include Mesdames Joseph M. Cotta, Wolff Schweitzer, Jack Sims, Stanley Rupiper and John G. Dillman. Modeling will be Mesdames Richard Nave, James Lamantia, Charles Hoffman, Arthur Lovi, Edward Doherty, Elmo Petterlee, Maurice Kelly, Charles Spongberg, Richard Katerndahl and Antone Petkovich. Assisting the models will be Mrs. Ronald Buffi. Mrs. Donald Rodrigues will be commentator.

Special guests will be chairmen of the event in previous years.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Emil Boracchia and Mrs. Harry Barbier.

JINKS PARTY THEME SET

Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club will have its jinks party and luncheon on Thursday following a "teens of all times" theme this year.

Mrs. Edward H. Dill is chairman of this annual gala occasion when members cast aside inhibitions and spoof themselves and the trends of the times.

Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. will be followed by skits performed by the members.

Reservations chairmen are Mesdames John M. Nahapiet and Samuel Seifert.

MUSEUM GUIDE LECTURES

Barbara Evans Is Bride Of James Gladney In Larkspur

Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur was the setting on Jan. 8 for the wedding of Barbara Morean Evans of Corte Madera and James Murphy Gladney of Kentfield. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. Morgan Evans Jr. of Corte Madera.

The Rev. Frank S. Hamilton performed the double ring ceremony in which Barbara was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a full length gown of white satin in Empire style with detachable train for the noon rite.

Thomas Gladney of Kentfield served as his brother's best man and ushering were Robert Bettete of Corte Madera and Kent Wisecarver of Greenbrae.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Both Barbara and her husband were graduated from Redwood High School and attended College of Marin. James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Gladney of Kentfield is employed with Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The bridegroom is also the brother of Dan Gladney who is stationed at Fort Ord.

Sophomores Chosen For Food Meet

Two Marin County High school sophomores have been chosen to attend the Food Comes First state-wide conference at Asilomar Feb. 18, 19 and 20, the committee has announced.

The girls are Nora Angress of Tomales Union High School and Mary Davidson of San Domenico in Sleepy Hollow. The food projects of the 200 students from throughout California who will attend will be judged, and four students will be chosen to be sent as delegates to the national food conference in Chicago. Last year a Marin student was chosen.

Sponsors of the annual Asilomar Food Comes First conference are the Farm Bureau and the University of California, and several food companies.

Mrs. R. C. Wilson New President Of Fairfax Guild

A member for three years, Mrs. Russell C. Wilson has been elected president of the Fairfax Guild of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

During the four years Mrs. Wilson has lived in Fairfax she has worked in support of the museum and has been active in the League of Women Voters of Central Marin. She is treasurer of the league and a member of its speakers bureau. She is legislative chairman for the Deer Park and Central schools P-TA and a deputy registrar.

Mrs. Wilson's interest in planning and land use problems made her a candidate for appointment to the Fairfax City Council last year. Although she was unsuccessful she rarely misses a council meeting.

Among the projects Mrs. Wilson has outlined for the Fairfax Guild are a membership luncheon in February and a "Go Go" party in April.

Assisting Mrs. Wilson are Mesdames Gordon Piatanesi, vice president and membership chairman; J. A. Bianchini, treasurer; Louis Vaccaro, recording secretary and Robert Petersen, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen are Mesdames Petersen and Melvin Stanley, telephone; Wesley Roberts, staffing; Bart Richardson, publicity; Merlin Johnson, scrap book; Johnson and Peter Arrigoni, guild fund-raiser, and Vaccaro and Leonard Kristensen, Festival of Trees.

PATRICIA SNYDER

The bride-elect, who is a reading coordinator at Terra Linda High School, was graduated from Cornell University. Mrs. John Murray of Hamburg, Germany, is her sister.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stegall of Springfield, Ohio, was graduated from the University of Montana. He is a forester with the U.S. Dept. of the Interior. Mrs. James Halsey of Columbus, Ohio, is his sister.

The couple will be married on June 18 at Mission San Rafael Arcangel in San Rafael.

Dance Class For Pre-Schoolers

A new class for pre-schoolers in creative dance is being started by the Pacific Dance Guild of Mill Valley Thursdays at 10:15 a.m. This class, for boys and girls over three years of age, emphasizes growth and development. Mrs. Anna Jordan Mill Valley instructor and performer of ballet and modern dance, will teach the class at the Dick Ford Studio. Mrs. Weld Wilkie is coordinator of classes for the dance guild.

Vitamin Sources

Don't forget turnip greens, kale and collards. All three are good vegetable sources of riboflavin as well as vitamins A and C.

Mary Anne Medeiros Weds In Santa Clara Ceremony

St. Clare's Catholic Church in Santa Clara was the setting Saturday morning for the wedding of Mary Anne Elizabeth Medeiros and Edward Lyon Hodges of San Jose.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Mack Medeiros of Santa Clara, wore a full length gown of lace and peau de soie for the ceremony. The Rev. Natale Bacigalupi officiated.

Cathy Martell of San Jose was the honor attendant and bridesmaids were Vickie Hodges of Kentfield, sister of the bridegroom; Mary Ann Connor, Melanie Simpson and Elaine Baker, all of San Jose. They wore red velvet and white crepe gowns.

Peter Ackley of Kentfield served as best man, and the ushers were Mack Medeiros, the bride's brother; Travis Howard and Richard Shermer of San Jose.

The couple left on a Carmel and Hawaii wedding trip and will live in San Jose, where the bridegroom is a senior at San Jose State College and the bride a part-time student.

Mary Anne was graduated from Santa Clara Union High School and San Jose City College and is a medical assistant in San Jose.

Her husband is the son of Mrs. Francis T. Hodges of Kentfield, and the late Dr. Hodges. He was graduated from San Rafael Military Academy and College of Marin.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Twice in its history the county of Marin has lost the buildings that sheltered its government and courts to wreckers. Now a third edifice faces a similar fate, as time seems to be running short for the courthouse building in downtown San Rafael. Independent-Journal Historian Florence Donnelly tells the story of that courthouse—and its predecessors—in the featured article in tomorrow's edition of the I-J's Marin Magazine.

Most Americans have little awareness of the extent of their country's musical heritage. Our music, they regard, as something largely borrowed from Europe. Not so, say two Dominican College music department nuns who have made an extensive study of early American music as part of their preparations for this month's American Music Festival at the college. They report on that study and their findings in tomorrow's weekend supplement.

Panel Of Housewives Wages War On Bay Area Prejudices

A housewives' war on prejudice is underway with the recent formation of the "Focus On American Women," a panel of Bay Area women of diverse backgrounds who present an unusual, open discussion of bias and handicaps in a prejudiced world.

The panel, with its racially and religiously diverse members, will appear in Marin on Thursday afternoon, sponsored by the Sisterhood of Congregation Rodef Sholom at the temple in Santa Venetia, with an invitation to all Marin church and synagogue affiliated women's groups to attend. The informal discussion and coffee will begin at 1 p.m. at the Temple social hall, announces Mrs. J. Jack Melnick, human relations and interfaith chairman for the sisterhood. Mrs. Philip Brodzinsky is program chairman.

The first panel in the Bay Area includes Mesdames Neville J. Rich, Mrs. Richard Finnamore, Mrs. Richard Caesar, Mrs. James Colwell, Mrs. John Ulrich and Mrs. Irwin I. Beecheen and made its debut last fall before an Oakland Parent-Teacher Assn. group.

Local women who are currently "in training" for future panels include Mrs. Jack Bennett of Mill Valley and Mrs. Herb Mooney of Marinwood, who will attend the Thursday gathering. It is hoped that other Marin women may become interested in participating.

The panel, which was patterned after those in other parts of the country, was formed by the American Jewish Committee, whose executive director, Zane Meckler of Tiburon, trained and guided the members.

MARIN FILM FARE

Super-Spy Films Come Full Cycle; 'Flint' Presents A Super-Spoof

By LES DARD

The movie-goer can choose wildly this weekend, and almost everywhere find delight. Join me in a quick look:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

It had to happen: An American spoof on the super-spy movies. And 20th Century-Fox has done the job with a super-comic synthetic called "Our Man Flint," which goes on screen tonight.

James Coburn takes the role of Derek Flint, an international playboy who occupies a Manhattan penthouse with international beauties who also serve serve as his secretaries, barber, manicurist and bodyguards.

A la James Bond, the plot revolves around a power-mad syndicate which intends to rule the world by controlling the weather. The name is Galaxy. Flint is assigned to head off the conspiracy, since no one else in the whole world could possess such powers.

Lee J. Cobb shares top billing, along with the beautiful Gila Golan.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Held over is a superlatively true-to-life drama, "The Slender Thread." It stars Anne Bancroft, Sidney Poitier and Telly Savalas.

The story is built around Seattle's suicide-prevention agency, the Crisis Clinic. Poitier plays a student who works at the clinic, Savalas the clinic's head.

The slender thread of the title is an hour-long telephone call between Poitier and Miss Bancroft, who has taken a lethal dose of drugs. In that hour, as she slips into a coma, she tells Poitier her story while he desperately reaches for clues to save her.

You'll be on the edge of your seat until the final moments.

LARK THEATER

Rita Tushingham, Britain's uncommon young actress, is seen in two uncommon roles again this weekend.

The first, which was also Rita's first, is "Taste of Honey," in which she plays a school girl who takes up with a sailor and soon is alone and pregnant. She finds security and a strange attachment with a young homosexual.

More recent is "The Leather Boys," a searching look at the troubled youth of England. The tale is a simple one, but its execution here is perceptive and probing.

Miss Tushingham plays a girl who leaves school to marry an attractive young motorcycle rider. Neither is ready for the responsibilities or confinement of marriage. Their relationship simply disintegrates.

RAFAEL THEATER

Held over again is the spectacularly successful "Thunderball," latest of the Ian Fleming adventures of Agent 007, James Bond.

This time, Bond is out to stop Emilio Largo, a SPECTRE agent who takes two atom bombs off a NATO bomber and plans to extort a king's ransom from the free world to prevent you-know-what.

No need to tell you that Bond heads Largo off at the pass, all right, and in the process picks up a companion in Largo's best girl, Claudine Auger.

Most of the film is shot under water, which offers a new dimension in Bondian contrivances. At that, Bond doesn't totally abandon his landlocked marvels—like the Aston-Martin DB-5.

Come, and bring your backpack rocket.

NOVATO THEATER

The action and the gags come as fast as the jets overhead in "Boeing, Boeing," now on screen (through Saturday night).

Tony Curtis and Jerry Lewis team up in Paris as newspapermen, and each is more preoccupied with the distaff than with his dispatches.

Curtis has the cutest arrangement. He's engaged to three airline stewardesses: Dany Saval, Christine Schmidter and Susanna Leigh. While he's cuddled up with one beauty, the other two are flying around the world dreaming of him. Works fine, until the airlines switch to jets —and high-speed schedules.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Held over—of course—is that marvelous movie experience, "My Fair Lady."

Rex Harrison plays Professor Henry Higgins, the irascible speech expert who transforms Cockney flower girl Eliza Doolittle into an aristocrat. Audrey Hepburn shines in that soul-filling role.

All the beloved melodies, the charm and enthusiasm of the Lerner-Loewe musical are here to thrill to — with photography and setting that are brilliant and mellow.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Michael Caine stars as an unorthodox secret agent in "The Ipceress File," a British spy thriller of a new genre now on screen.

Sent to locate a kidnapped British scientist, he accidentally stumbles onto the secret of the "brain drain," a devious process "they" are using to brainwash Britain's most important scientists.

Meanwhile, our boy has also managed to get the CIA and a British traitor or two on his trail. Not to mention the enemy. The last few scenes are wonderfully gory, but Caine emerges victorious.

Co-featured is "Wild Seed."

101 DRIVE-IN

"John Goldfarb, Please Come Home," the film Notre Dame University sought to ban, is now showing. It's a nutty, ridiculous farce — and ND should have won the decision.

Starring are Shirley MacLaine, Peter Ustinov, Richard Crenna and Jim Backus.

Ustinov plays an oil-rich Arabian king whose lightweight son fails to make the Notre Dame football squad. The potent potentate vows to field a team to beat the Irish.

Lo and behold, a former player and coach, John Goldfarb, gets lost flying a U-2 over Russia and winds up in Ustinov's kingdom.

You can picture the rest. Just throw in the harem dancers and every harem-scarum joke you ever heard.

THE ULTIMATE SPY—James Coburn, as "Our Man Flint" now playing at the Tamalpais Theater, is a millionaire playboy who is the greedy target of practically everyone he encounters. But Flint can do no wrong, so this super-spy super-spoof asserts.

Opera Singer To Highlight March Of Dimes Evening

Olga Chronis, mezzo-soprano, will sing at the 13th annual March of Dimes benefit next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Rancho Nicasio in Nicasio.

Miss Chronis, a regional winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions and holder of numerous other awards, has sung with the San Francisco Opera Company and the San Francisco Symphony.

Her program will include the "Seguiodilla" from "Carmen," "This Is My Beloved," from "Kismet," "Granada," and a Greek folk song.

Others on the entertainment roster, according to Nick Kobseff, chairman of the Marin County March of Dimes, include banjoist Bo Bryant, singer Clorette Clementina, organist and entertainer Rick Russell, and the Romano Trio. Bill Endicott will be master of ceremonies.

Shift To Low Gear Results In Skidding

Lizabeth Stephens, 24, of Oakland, shifted gears to slow her car on the Highway 101 viaduct in San Rafael about 10:30 a.m. yesterday, and her northbound car skidded into the wall at the side of the road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mrs. Stephens was treated for cuts on her face at San Rafael General Hospital.

State Board Favors Campus Pay Raise

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Personnel Board recommended today that University of California and state colleges clerical workers receive 4 per cent salary increases already proposed for state civil service employes.

The board asked Gov. Brown and the legislature to make all raises effective April 1, 1966, rather than July 1. The governor has included appropriations for pay raises in his 1966-67 budget.

ANOTHER HIGHWAY 37 ACCIDENT — Two drivers were seriously injured at dusk yesterday when a car driven by Max T. Lepper of El Verano spun across the divider strip just west of the Black Point Bridge into the path of a car driven by Robert H. McMann Jr. of Belmont. In the past two months three persons have been killed in wrecks on Highway 37 near Black Point. In each case, a car crossed the divider strip.

W. G. Fleckles Seeks Election In Larkspur

William G. Fleckles, 36, chairman of the Larkspur Planning Commission, yesterday took out papers of nomination and announced he will be a candidate for election to the Larkspur City Council on April 12.

Fleckles, who lives at 331 Bretany Way in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur, is an attorney with offices in San Francisco. He has served on the planning commission since 1964. He is a past president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn. and, before moving to Greenbrae in 1960, was a director of the Westlake Improvement Assn. in Daly City.

FOR GENERAL PLAN

Fleckles said his prime objective is "to insure the orderly execution of the Larkspur general plan which was just adopted by the city council. In particular, I am very interested in protecting the south slope area, the 350-acre undeveloped hillside which forms the boundary between Larkspur and Mill Valley."

Fleckles said he thinks this area should be classified with one of the two new city zones now being prepared by the city planning commission — planned district or planned unit development zone.

MANAGER IDEA

He said candidates for the Larkspur council should be invited by the present council to participate on an advisory basis in selection of a new city manager.

He also said that, despite rejection of the precise plan for the Larkspur business district on Magnolia Avenue, that area should be retained as the commercial center of town "and not be rezoned for apartments as some have suggested."

"Councilmen should bring as much enthusiasm as they can to the proposed development of a city park and civic center at the site of the old Larkspur dump," he said.

Salary Plan Aired By College Faculty

College of Marin faculty members presented a model salary schedule last night to the Marin Junior College District Board, but said no specific salary request would be made until fringe benefits were settled.

Engineering instructor Michael Hansen, speaking for the college's faculty association, said the schedule change would benefit younger faculty members, but would provide special incentives for work toward master's and doctor's degrees.

Business Mgr. Norman Bird said the change to the new schedule, without any general salary increases, would cost $43,184 this year.

Hansen also presented extensive information on what other junior college districts in California are providing in pay and other benefits. He said the Marin district is at the bottom in provision of health insurance.

He acknowledged, however, that the eight per cent increase granted teachers this fiscal year by Marin Junior College District was the biggest jump of any district in the state. The teachers had asked for 13 per cent.

Hansen actually showed two salary schedules. One exhibited the effect of diminishing the pay increases for earning extra units of post-graduate work, compared to pay increases for years of service.

The second, which the instructor urged be adopted, incorporated the changes of the first, allowing a teacher to reach the top of his scale in 12 years, rather than 13, and increased the categories of pay, based on a teacher's education, from four to five.

The range would run from teachers with only a bachelor's degree to those with a doctorate.

The board approved purchase of $7,953 worth of library books, $10,977 worth of library equipment, mainly carols, and $15,450 worth of science equipment, using new federal funds granted to the district as an impacted area, because students living on federal land are served.

College President Stephen E. Epler said the new funds increased the library book purchase this year by 75 per cent over what had been budgeted.

The Marin Junior College Board Also:

1. Approved changes in the procedure for evaluating probationary teachers so that other teachers will participate more in evaluation.
2. Were told by Epler a budget transfer would be requested increasing the student work-study program by $76,678 for on-campus jobs and $17,263 for off-campus jobs, with 90 per sent of the funds to come from the federal government.
3. Heard a report on new classes to be offered, with federal funds of the Manpower Development and Training Act, for small boat repair and household appliance repair.
4. Approved expansion of the police science program, and the hiring of Frank Warner as full-time teacher and coordinator of the program at $860.40 a month.

CHARLES MEACHAM
Joins College of Marin

College Hires Symphony Violinist

Charles Meacham of Tamalpais Valley will give up his post as principal of the second violin section of the San Francisco Symphny Orchestra to become a fulltime music teacher at College of Marin next fall.

The Marin Junior College District Board last night agreed to hire Meacham, who has taught part-time at the college in the past, at $7,744 a year.

A graduate of University of California, Meacham is a former faculty member of Mill College and has also served as concertmaster for the Symphony Guild of Marin and as first violinist of the Marin Art Quartet.

He was named to the post in the San Francisco Symphony in 1959.

Trubach Takes Out Nomination Papers

Sausalito artist Serge Trubach of 631 Bridgeway yesterday took out papers to run for the city council in the April election.

Trubach will be making his fourth try for the council. He ran unsuccessfully in 1960, 1962 and 1964. He announced his candidacy earlier.

Afternoon Concert

The second concert of the Marin Arts Quartet will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, not at 8 p.m. as previously reported.

The new C-5A transport jet to be built will be as long as a 23-story building, as high as a six-story structure and have a wing span equivalent to 22 stories.

Driver Gets Jail, Fine Of $276

Howard Charles Iverson, 48, San Francisco, was sentenced to five days in county jail, fined $276, and placed on three years probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving with a prior conviction.

He was arrested by Fairfax police on Hillside Drive last Oct. 16.

South Bay Crossing Urged—$300 Million

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - The Division of Bay Toll Crossings today recommmended a India Basin-Aameda-Bay Farm Island southern crossing of the bay in a report to the legislature.

The project would cost an estimated $300.8 million. This would include the cost of freeway approaches from the east and west.

'Death Strip' Is Scene Of Auto Wreck

An eastbound car on Highway 37 near Black Point, in the rainy dusk yesterday, spun across the divider strip into the path of a westbound auto, resulting in serious injury for both drivers.

In fair condition today at Novato General Hospital with a broken right leg and pelvis and cuts on his face, neck and legs was T. Lepper, 59, owner of the Little Switzerland Restaurant in El Verano, Sonoma County.

The westbound driver, Robert H. McMann Jr., 57, of Belmont, was also listed in fair condition in Novato Hospital with a dislocated right hip and cuts on his face.

The accident happened at 5:35 p.m. on a slight curve and grade just west of the Black Point Bridge.

In the past three months, three persons have been killed in head-on collisions on the same strip of divided highway.

Lepper, whose car crossed the divider, was unable to talk to officers from the California Highway Patrol, but McMann said he saw the car start to slide toward him and do a 180-degree turn while skidding across the highway.

McMann said Lepper's car would have continued through a guardrail and down a steep embankment if it had not hit his auto.

Amy May Hayden, 44, of San Anselmo, was killed on the same road, about a half mile east of Atherton Avenue, last Nov. 24 when her car veered across the divider and broadsided into a station wagon.

Mrs. Arlene F. Smith, 21, of Vallejo, died Jan. 4 after a head-on accident near the scene of that wreck. Two days later Mrs. Alma F. Bench, 61, of Novato, died from injuries in the same crash.

Junior College Told To Expect 18,000

At least 18,000 students will be going to the College of Marin 15 years from now, Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, predicted last night.

Actually, he said, the estimate is undoubtedly low, because his office has always been low by about 20 per cent in its guesses for the Marin Junior College District.

But any statistical method which would give a higher figure would not be taken seriously by the state Department of Education in Sacramento, he explained.

"I think it's rather appalling," commented trustee Robert E. Rogers.

He said it was obvious that the district's construction program, depending largely on a 35-cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation, would not supply enough money to keep up with the growth.

Hollis predicted that slightly more than 7,000 of the 18,000 students would be fulltime. Dean Roy G. Mikalson reported 3,538 students had enrolled for the spring semester, of whom 1,915 were fulltime. He said the fulltime enrollment was up 29 per cent over last year.

Hollis said several factors were not included in the projection, because no one knows what their effect will be.

Zoning Lawsuit Could Have Heavy Impact On County

A suit filed Tuesday challenging Marin County's planned community zoing ordinance, though obviously prompted by the Marincello issue, could have a far-reaching effect.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who will defend the county board of supervisors, county planning commission and other officials named in the suit, said today that several land owners and developers may also intervene as defendants.

He pointed to other areas of the county besides Marincello which are under planned community zone. These include the San Geronimo Valley, where Lagunitas Development Co. plans a large-scale residential development; Lucas Valley, where Eichler Homes is building tracts, and Marin City where Barrett Homes and the Marin Development Agency are at work.

The suit claims the planned community zone is not specific as to uses and has no standard to go by, therefore is not fair or just.

Maloney said elimination of such zoning "would set planning back to antideluvian times."

Under the county's planned community ordinance—and most other such ordinances—the developer himself prepares a master plan. The county ordinance permits the area to be zoned before the master plan is presented.

Plaintiffs are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Van der Male and Mr. and Mrs. Hal McIntyre, owners of homes on Wolfback Ridge adjecent to Marincello, and the Marin Assn. for Planning, headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Rodman. She was one of the chairmen of a petition drive which urged reconsideration of Marincello by the board of supervisors.

Tuesday night, Sausalito city councilmen considered entering the suit as a plaintiff.

Leland H. Jordon, city attorney for Sausalito and Mill Valley, said repercussions on cities would depend on two things: how colsely city ordinances compare with the county's and what decision is handed down by the court.

"It is impossible," he said, "to say at this time that if the court decides that the Marin County ordinances are illegal, that would wash out similar ordinances elsewhere. It is something we would have to go into very closely."

Clark M. Palmer, city attorney of Novato, said: "Of course if the Marin County Code portion concerning planned community zoning was held unconstitutional, it could effect planned community ordinances of most cities here.

"It depends on whether the suit is aimed at the whole concept of planned community zoning or just one particular aspect. I think we will all be watching this with interest."

John G. Buresh, city attorney of San Anselmo said, that it would affect only those city ordinances which were identical with the county's "word for word, comma for comma." He predicted those cities which followed the county ordinance closely might have to consider examining the wording for possible alterations should the county lose its case.

Appeal Filed By Mailers Union President

Douglas A. Smith, president of Mailers Union Local 118, was free on $1,000 bail today after filing notice of appeal of his conviction in Marin Municipal Court for trespassing on Marin Guide property in Tamalpais Valley.

Smith, 45, was sentenced to six months in county jail and fined $500 by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., but execution of sentence will await Marin Superior Court appellate hearing.

Harry H. Johnson, Marin Guide publisher accused Smith of trespassing in offices at 200 Shoreline Highway last Oct. 26, when a smoke grenade was hurled, which was followed by a $4,000 fire. The trespassing occurred during a dispute between the publisher and union picket lines.

Three Hurt In Greenbrae Skid, Crash

A northbound auto climbed a metal highway barrier and smashed into a freeway sign post at Greenbrae at 2:50 a.m. today, seriously injuring the driver and two passengers.

The other passenger, John MacMaster, 18, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was also in fair condition, with a cut scalp and head injuries. Driver William M. Burns, 18, of 113 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, was reported in good condition with multiple cuts.

The California Highway Patrol said Burns's auto, which had broad slick racing tires on the rear wheels, went into a skid headed northbound at the Greenbrae off-ramp from Highway 101. The car hit the guard rail and a chain link fence before hitting the supporting pole for the overhead sign at the right side of the road.

Human Rights Report On Tap

Members of the Marin County Human Rights Commission last night further discussed a report on commission reorganization being prepared at the request of county supervisors, commission executive secretary Wyman Hicks reported.

The commission has suffered lately from light attendance at meetings, and is considering new appointments and reorganization, Hicks explained.

Further discussion will be held tomorrow in a day-long meeting at Walter Bremond's home in Lucas Valley. Bremond is the county's community relations coordinator.

The total amounts of water, copper and iron needed to sustain the present U.S. population for the remaining years of their lives is larger than the totals used by all the people who ever previously lived

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE CHANGE OF NAMES
No. 44672

In the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the Change of Names.

In the Matter of the Application of ALMA MARIE NORTH and CHRISTOPHER NORTH for Changes of Names.

ALMA MARIE NORTH and CHRISTOPHER NORTH, residents of the City of Mill Valley, County of Marin, State of California, have this day filed herein their applications praying for an order of this Court changing their present names to the proposed names of ALMA MARIE BARRIE and CHRISTOPHER NORTH BARRIE, respectively, on the grounds that they have been married for a period of more than one year and that they have changed their residence from the City of Mill Valley, County of Marin, State of California, to the City of Sausalito, County of Marin, State of California, and that they desire to have their children's names changed to the name of BARRIE.

It is ORDERED that all persons interested in the above entitled matter appear before the said Superior Court in Department No. One thereof, at the Courthouse, in San Rafael, Marin County, California, on the 28 day of February, 1966, at 2 o'clock p.m. of said day, to show cause, if any they have, why the said application for change of names should not be granted.

And it is further ORDERED that a copy of this order be published in Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in said County of Marin, one day per week for four consecutive weeks prior to the said 28 day of February, 1966.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Britain's Method For Treating Drug Addicts To Be Changed

The laissez faire approach to drug addiction in Great Britain is failing and tougher measures are needed. The number of known addicts has increased from 454 in 1959 to 753 in 1964. Hereafter the unrestricted dispensing of narcotics by all physicians to addicts will be changed.

VAN DELLEN

The liberal action was taken several years ago because drug addiction was not a problem in England. The majority of morphine users were primarily therapeutic addicts, whose addiction was a by-product of medical treatment for disease conditions. Many were older and more stable.

THE NEW ADDICTS are young and gregarious individuals who started with goof balls and reefers (marijuana) and then switched to heroin and cocaine. Many were introduced to the habit by other addicts, who had obtained the drugs legally. This is done in England provided the dopester is registered with the government. Narcotics are suplied free to Britishers under their national health service.

In 1959, 11 per cent of the addicts were less than 35 years old, but by 1964 nearly 40 per cent were in this age bracket.

THESE MEN and women will continue to be regarded as "sick persons" and not criminals. Special treatment centers will be set up; herion and cocaine will be prescribed only by physicians in these centers.

THE BRITISH experience demonstrates that the profit motive is not essential to the spread of addiction.

An old remedy was publicized recently. Twenty-two male addicts responded so well to a combination of methadone and strong social support that a larger-scale trial has been suggested. This drug is somewhat less narcotic than morphine, and the withdrawal symptoms are less severe.

The rationale of this treatment is to substitute one addiction (methadone) for another and hope that the individual can be weaned away from the lesser of two evils. This drug is not new to addicts, but it has not been practical because they cannot obtain methadone in large amounts.

THYROID

H. T. writes: Could overactivity of the thyroid cause the blood pressure to rise above normal?

REPLY

Yes. The systolic pressure frequently goes up but the diastolic may remain normal or even drop a millimeter or two. When the thyroid condition is brought under control, the blood pressure returns to normal.

THYROID AND HAIR

M. W. writes: Can a sluggish thyroid cause hair to grow on a woman's face?

REPLY

This is not a typical finding but it is conveivable that this might occur if the thyroid deficiency has affected other glands. If a relationship exists in this particular case, thyroid extract should correct the hair disorder.

RHEMATISM

B. T. writes: What is psychogenic rheumatism?

REPLY

Pain in and about the joints and in the muscles and tendons without visible or laboratory evidence of arthritis. This disorder is most common in young and middle-aged adults.

SINUS DISTRESS

A. H. writes: Is pain always present in a sinus attack?

REPLY

Pain usually is present in the acute phase; in the chronic stage, a stuffy sensation is more common. Send a stamped, self-adressed envelope for leaflet on sinus disease.

Less Poisons Held Curbing Insect World

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Tactics are changing in man's war on bugs.

Scientists now envision a variety of non-poisonous weapons to control insects—reducing the reliance upon chemical pesticides and their potential hazard to human health.

Dr. E. H. Smith, a North Carolina State University entomologist, suggests the day is near when insect populations can be sharply reduced by disrupting the pattern of their lives.

He likens such manipulation to "jamming a radar by which a plane is directed."

Smith told a meeting on pest control sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences that chemicals will remain the chief weapon for some time. But he said biological methods will replace chemicals in many instances.

Research now shows some insects can be controlled by loosing natural enemies on them. It is possible to breed insect resistance into plants and animals and halt damaging invasions of bugs by changing farming practices.

Residues of synthetic pesticides are now found not only in farm products but in people. Some scientists insist that these residues are entirely harmless. They note that the human body has the capacity to break down most poisons and expel them, with the exception of DDT and some other pesticides.

They have fed amounts of DDT 20 times that of normal residues to human volunteers and found no ill effects.

They also note with pride that the sensitivity of analytical instruments used to locate pesticide residues has increased dramatically. It is now one part in ten billion, which one chemist likens to "looking for a particular set of twins in the entire population of the world."

"Or you might say it's equal to a huge but extremely dry martini—one drop of vermouth in 125,000 gallons of gin."

Other scientists argue that even if pesticides hold potential danger to human health, these hazards, particularly to the hungry people of the world, must be measured against the benefits of using pesticides.

Still, many scientists would like to have the use of poisonous chemicals reduced and replaced by biological control of insects. And they no longer want to kill all the bad bugs.

Smith, for instance, says it is "a costly oversight" that some scientists fail to appreciate ecological principles they upset insect population balance through attempts at wholesale killing of certain species.

There is also concern about the so-called biologic magnification of the pesticides effects. To cite an example: the use of a chemical poison to control gnats in Clear Lake, Calif. The poison was absorbed by plankton, the microscopic aquatic life, which was consumed by fish, which were eaten by other fish, which were eaten by birds.

The poison finally reached a concentration in the birds high enough to "damage severely their ability to reproduce."

Instead of chemical poisons, insects could be controlled with chemical sex attractants which would lure them to their death, by introducing lethal genes into insect populations, and by manipulating insect environment.

Such advanced tools as radiation and even sound-recordings of the insects mating calls could be used, too, scientists say.

The various techniques would be combined into what Smith calls "integrated control." This would also include introduction of diseases among insect species, mass-breeding and release of predator bugs.

Although some techniques have been successfully applied on a small scale in California and elsewhere, Smith points out that insects continue to be man's most serious competitors.

For one thing, he says, "insects have been in business for a long time—about 250 million years—compared to a scant one million for man." Besides, insects now account for 85 per cent of all animal species on earth, comprising at least one million species.

Two futuristic transportation ideas were unveiled this week, one a reality, the other just a prototype model. In Houston, Tex. # Russ Taking Softer Line On 'Parasites'

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—A new report shows that the Russians are beginning to take a softer line toward Soviet citizens who "avoid socially useful labor and lead an anti-social, parasitic way of life."

Russian authorities used to banish red drones to distant places to serve work sentences. Now a new law allows the "social parasites" to fulfill mandatory work sentences in their home towns.

The Reds' tough treatment of slackers, criminals and alcoholics is reported by a former Soviet lawyer, Yuri P. Mironenko, in an analysis just released by the Institute for the Study of the USSR, a privately-financed center based in West Germany. Mironenko defected to the West.

Even though the change eased earlier laws which had been enacted in an announced effort "to intensify the struggle against parasitic elements," Mironenko did not interupt the change as an indication of expanded individual rights. To the contrary, he cited evidence that the change was brought about at least to some degree by protests from the communities which had the misfits dumped on them.

The Soviet youth organization newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda, suggested that the "rehabilitation of the parasite consists only in making life impossible for people who have from time immemorial lived in these places specially set aside for deporting." The "parasites" often were sent to Siberian collective or state farms, but the farm chairmen objected because the practice disrupts normal work routine. The work managers had no choice, however, when ordered to put the "parasites" to work.

Mironenko also found opinions by Soviet jurists who argued that the punishment meted out under the old law was too severe. A citizens' committee was also empowered to get rid of an undesirable even before he committed a crime, Mironenko said, citing the example of a juvenile tough who was deported because his threats—with no ensuing action — terrorized the neighborhood.

The culprit who refused to mend his ways not only was deported from two to five years, but his property was confiscated if it had been "acquired without working."

There were published reports deploring the fact that the tippler who failed to show up on the job after a night on the town was treated like the seasoned criminal. Under the new law, according to Mironenko, a person may be prosecuted if he has not buckled down to what is deemed "socially useful labor" within a month after being warned by the militia or a social organization. Even after denunciation by a single fellow citizen, the "parasite" can be brought up for a warning. Decisions of the sentencing body cannot be appealed.

Even the working citizen is in trouble if he goofs off on the job—he may be sentenced to corrective labor for up to a year, with a deduction of 10 per cent of his earnings.

Earlier decision handed down by the Soviet supreme court noted that cases involving "parasites" had in some instances been conducted by one-man hearings, without sufficient evidence, and even without the defendant present.

The new law still does not assure legal procedure for the social misfit, according to Mironenko. He draws the conclusion that the Soviets are finding the problems of dealing with anti-social undesirables to be complex and difficult, defying solution by punitive measures.

Army Woman Profits By Re-Enlistment

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)— The Women's Army Corps has shelled out more than $3,500 as a re-enlistment bonus to a trim blonde who signed up for another three-year hitch.

Spec. 5 Eleaze Horne joined the WACs three years ago and served as a surgical technician —a skill which ranks very high among the critical jobs for which a bonus is paid.

The WAC, from Norfolk, Va., received $3,589.50, which is four times the ordinary re-enlistment bonus. She says she plans to invest the money.

Doctor Receives Unusual Gift

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — When Dr. Robert M. Filler, 34, comes home from Viet Nam he'll have something extra in his medicine kit — a crossbow and arrow.

The weapon was a present to the doctor, an Army captain, after he successfully removed a Viet Cong bullet from the heart of Xak, a 6-year-old Montagnard village girl.

Dr. Filler told of the incident in a letter to his wife, who lives in Medford. He is due to return home in June.

Civil Rights Leader Technique Changing

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitney Young Jr., National Urban League executive director, says civil rights leaders are relying less on demonstrations and more on sophisticated activities.

The emphasis, he said, is on implementation of civil rights and antipoverty legislation, and making the Negro community realize that it holds the balance of political power in many major cities.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Methodist Church membership in the United States has reached 10,331,574, the Church's Council on World Service and Finance says.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Community Partnership

What property husband and wife gain after marriage—except gifts and inheritances — becomes community property in California. Each owns an undivided half interest in it.

This ownership can be changed. A husband can make gifts to his wife which become her own separate property and is no longer community. Or by agreement they can change the ownership in community property.

When title is held in joint tenancy, upon death of one owner, the survivor becomes the owner at once. No will affects that property. Thus a husband's joint tenancy goes to his wife. He cannot will it to his brother, not even his "half."

In a recent case, the husband and his friend became partners. The husband put in the land and his friend put in money to build a laundry.

That transfer to the partnership broke the joint tenancy. The property now belonged to the partnership and again became subject to the terms of a will.

Later the husband died. He had willed his estate to his sister and not his wife. The court ruled that the sister could take half under the will since the wife no longer had the automatic right of survivorship in the real estate. The wife got her half of the property as community.

Under the law the partners own the partnership assets. When one dies, the surviving partners have to account for his share which then goes into his estate. One half of the property can then be passed on according to will, but the other half goes to his widow as community property.

When you take title to anything whether it be land, stocks and bonds, a car or other things, look into the legal effects of that kind of title. Transfers may change the form of the title and hence the right of heirs in the estate.

Now, new I-J series makes 'MODERN MATH' CLEAR TO PARENTS

10 articles starting Feb. 7
in the I-J women's section

There's no great mystery to the "Modern Math" system of teaching arithmetic that youngsters now encounter in the classroom.

No mystery, that is, if it's properly explained. To make it clear to parents, we have engaged Prof. W. F. Lloyd of the University of Tampa, who has gained a reputation by explaining the system to teachers of the subject.

Prof. Lloyd has written a series that covers the essentials in easy-to-understand language and that starts in this newspaper Monday.

If you will follow it from day to day, and take the simple test that concludes it, you should be able to help your own youngsters with the subject—or at least know what they are talking about!

Also, you can obtain a booklet reprinting the series by sending 50 cents to "Modern Math" in care of this newspaper.

Anti-Viet Officer Loses Freedom

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) —Lt. Henry H. Howe, 23, convicted of showing disrespect for President Johnson by demonstrating against the Viet Nam war, must remain in custody because the Army is not mistreating him, a federal judge ruled yesterday.

Howe, of Boulder, Colo. had gone to U. S. Dist. Court with a petition that charged the Army had inflicted harsh confinement.

He asked to be sent back to his normal Army duties as motor pool officer pending appeal of the conviction.

Howe, arrested after carrying a sign in a demonstration in downtown El Paso Nov. 6 was dismissed from the Army and sentenced to two years' in prison. But Maj. Gen. George Powers III, commander of Ft. Bliss, reduced the sentence to one year.

Planners To Act On Town Center

The San Anselmo Planning Commission is scheduled Monday to make final recommendations on the proposed town center plan and send them on to the city council for consideration Feb. 21.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The item is not on the agenda, but City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell said he expects the recommendations to be ready for discussion Monday.

Also slated is further discussion on a proposed ordinance requiring subdividers to donate land or funds for parks.

Douglas Is Speaker

Street Work Set In Corte Madera

A low bid of $5,572 by Ghilotti Brothers for street work on Tamalpais Drive was received yesterday by Corte Madera Public Works Director Arthur Morrison.

The original cost estimate was $6,000 for installing turning lanes on Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard and at Lakeside Drive. Included in the work is installation of a bus stop slab at Tamalpais and Madera.

Three other bids were submitted: Cecotti and Sons, $5,726; E. A. Ford, $6,155, and A. J. Bresnan, $6,249.

The bids will be presented to the town council Monday night.

Marijuana Suspects To Juvenile Court

Cases of two 18-year-old Hollywood youths, charged with possession of marijuana, were certified yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to juvenile court.

Burglars Loot Motel Of Five Televisions

Burglars broke locks off the doors to five rooms at the Edgewater Inn motel at Madera Boulevard and Highway 101 in Corte Madera Wednesday night and stole a television set from each of the rooms, police reported.

Motel desk clerk Henry Buck told police the thefts were discovered by maids at 10 a.m. yesterday. Police said the locks were apparently removed with a wrench. Value of the television sets was reported as $575.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's lines extend into the U.S.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Networks Increase Viet War Coverage

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Network television coverage of news and opinions about the Viet Nam war has been stepped up in recent weeks, and apparently will continue to be in the future.

In the past months, the networks have been under extreme pressure from various quarters for their coverage, with some of their critics charging they haven't covered enough, or in the right manner, and others alleging they have covered too much (a highly touchy accusation), or at least too much in certain areas. Key criticisms have focused on the lack of sufficient perspective in many Viet Nam video reports, and on the general lack of comment of an outstanding nature, with such rare exceptions as Eric Severeid.

Starting tomorrow, "ABC Scope," will indefinitely devote all its weekly programs to the Viet Nam situation.

On Sunday, CBS-TV will present a one-hour program, "Viet Nam Perspective: The U.N. and the War," in which United Nations diplomats will be questioned on their attitudes toward American policy in the Southeast Asia country.

Lined up thus far to participate in the broadcast, scheduled for 4:30 p.m., EST, are delegates from Nigeria, Algeria, Hungary, the Philippines and Australia.

NBC-TV "In anticipation of a Viet Nam peace conference in Geneva," plans live coverage, partly in color, via the Early Bird communications satellite.

On Friday, Feb. 18, NBC-TV will air an hour program "about this conference, whether it is then in planning, in session or recessed."

Likewise, on NBC-TV's "Today" series Monday, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, India's new prime minister and the daughter of Jawaharlal Nehru, will be seen in an interview in which her subjects are expected to include the Viet Nam war.

Moscow University is the subject of CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" Feb. 20, with segments of the half-hour broadcast devoted to American exchange students there . . . Same network next season will present a special 90-minute adaptation of Sir John Gielgud's production of Anton Chekhov's drama "Ivanov," a major London theatrical hit . . . Sir John adapted and directed the stage version, as well as playing the title role, with the story described as follows:

"Ivanov, central figure in the play, is a moody introspective, misunderstood man who reacts to the approaching death of his first wife by preparing to marry a second. The play moves to its trafic climax as he is wracked by conscience, finding guilt even in pleasure" . . . Claire Bloom portrays the intended second wife.

Civil Rights Worker Back At College

Nineteen - year - old Margaret Kibbee of 312 Montford Avenue, Mill Valley, just back from seven months as a civil rights worker in Mississippi, is ready to return to the South next fall.

Miss Kibbee, who completed her freshman year at College of Marin before leaving for Mississippi last June, will return to the college Monday for the next semester.

"I worked in Sunflower as a Freedom Democratic Party volunteer," Miss Kibbee said. "I worked on voter registration, wrote complaints to the justice department and organized a women's sewing cooperative."

She said she got along well with the Negro community "and by and large was well accepted." She said she worked there alone, as compared to other civil rights volunteers who work in pairs.

Sunflower, she reported, is a community of a few hundred in the cotton growing area, about nine miles from Indianola. "When the cotton ran out in November, there was no more work," she said.

Commenting on the outlook in the South, she said: "Somehow there is hope, and there have been accomplishments. They started paving the streets in Indianola, more people are getting registered, and more and more people are coming into the movement."

She said she will stay in Marin this summer, but wants to go back next fall and "maybe work in a freedom school in Mississippi if I can find one there."

Miss Kibbee, daughter of Mrs. Carleton Williams of Mill Valley and Wallace G. Kibbee of Corte Madera, voiced only one complaint: The summer heat in Mississippi.

Heavy Load For Planners In San Rafael

San Rafael planning commissioners will have their hands full Tuesday night.

The commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. at city hall. The agenda lists 23 items, of which at least two could prove to be heated.

The first item will be a hearing on whether the city should revoke the use permits of two automobile wrecking yards on Jordan Street.

Permits are those of Richard Isi, on the east side of Jordan near Lovell Avenue, and of R. L. Thompson and L. P. Aquilino, at 51 Jordan. The hearing was ordered by the city council after complaints that the operators were violating conditions attached to the permits.

Mostly lively discussion of the evening, however, could center around a new effort to make use of the old Coleman School at 1711 Grand Avenue.

The commission will hold the first hearing on zoning the school for a planned community district, asked by Richard R. Pelton and the Marin Crippled Children Society. Pelton and the society also seek a permit to set up professional-administrative offices in new buildings on the property.

Two previous plans for use of the old building — one for offices, the other for a nursery school — were turned down after vigorous protests by neighbors.

The planning commission also will:

1. Resume hearings on the fate of the courthouse square site when the county sells it this year or next.

2. Hold the first hearing on a new application by Robert L. Menzies to rezone 1428 Mission Avenue under one of the new "B-D" districts. Menzies withdrew a previous application for rezoning.

3. Consider renewing the tentative map for the 108-lot San Rafael Park subdivision, submitted by Dubin Developers.

4. Conisder granting a permit to M and T, Inc., to operate a motion picture theater at the Northgate Shopping Center. Plans for the theater also will be submitted for approval.

5. Consider numerous other variances, sets of plans, and use permit applications.

Sausalito Police Set Open House

It will be open house at Sausalito's new police headquarters at 29 Caledonia Street from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk has issued an invitation to all residents and guests to attend the informal dedication. Police officers will be present to show visitors around. Coffee will be served.

The police department moved Jan. 15 from the City Hall at 727 Bridgeway where it had been situated 43 years. The new station has about five times as much space as the old one.

Three School Districts Get Poverty War Coin

Three school districts in Marin County will receive federal cash grants to undertake projects this semester aimed specifically at helping children from poor families.

The largest grant was awarded to the San Anselmo School District, $25,230. Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said the bulk of the money will be used to hire library aides to prepare libraries at each of the district's schools.

Part of the money will be used to hire persons to take a selected group of children at the Brookside School and read stories to them, in an attempt to make them become interested in reading.

Other funds will be used for hiring resource teachers to give special help to children with particular classroom problems.

The West Marin School District will receive $16,157 to hire a halftime librarian and books, to triple the time of a school psychologist to a day and a half a week, to pay for field trips and to begin a summer school program.

The Reed School District will receive $3,740, most of which will be spent on a survey of 3-year-old children in the district to try to find those who will have special education problems when they start school.

The balance of the funds will be used to give special instruction or therapy to those children selected in the survey.

League Of Women Voters Plans Registration Drive

The Central Marin League of Women Voters will conduct a voter registration drive tomorrow and Feb. 12 at shopping centers in the central and northern sections of the county.

Mrs. Richard Ocheltree, voters service chairman for the league, announced a "votemobile" will travel to several places each of the two days in hope of registering many potential voters. "We hope to make it more convenient for those who wish to vote in the April municipal elections to register," Mrs. Ocheltree said. Registration for these elections ends Feb. 17.

Voter registration in Marin is down quite sharply from two years ago according to statistics released this week by the secretary of state's office.

The votemobile will be in shopping center parking lots on the following schedule.

Tomorrow: Guasco Supermarket—Sprouse-Reitz, San Anselmo, 10 a.m. to noon; Value World, Larkspur, noon to 2 p.m.; Littleman Market, Corte Madera Shopping Center, 2 to 4 p.m.

Feb. 12: Nave Shopping Center lot near Purity Store in Novato, 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.; Roger Wilco Supermarket, Novak Square, Novato, 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The league will also have registrars stationed inside supermarkets during the two-day drive. Tomorrow they will be at the Purity Store in Nave Shopping Center, 1 to 4 p.m. and Roger Wilco Supermarket, Novak Square, 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Novato and Fairfax Lucky Store 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

They will be in Value World, Larkspur, tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. and on Feb. 12 continuously from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tuberculin Tests Set For Monday In Mill Valley

Ninety per cent of Mill Valley's 3,500 public elementary school children will receive free tuberculin tests at school Monday, according to a count of requests for tests submitted by parents.

Tests are provided as a Christmas Seal community service of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Sixteen physicians and more than 32 registered nurses have volunteered to administer the tests.

Testing will be done simultaneously in all eight schools with completion scheduled for noon, excepting afternoon kindergarten classes which will be tested by two traveling teams of doctors and nurses.

Doctor's Wife Granted Divorce

Margaret B. Anderson, wife of the head of the psychiatric department of San Rafael General Hospital, has been granted a divorce in Marin Superior Court.

She had charged Dr. Samuel T. D. Anderson, 42, with cruelty. Divorce terms give her custody of their six children, support of $100 monthly for each, and alimony of $200 a month for nine months and $50 monthly thereafter.

The family home at 43 Palm Avenue, San Rafael, was declared community property. The couple wed Dec. 24, 1948, in Palo Alto, and separated last March 1.

Choir To Attend Music Clinic

Members of the Sir Francis Drake High School a Cappella Choir and Orchestra will attend the 16th annual Pacific Music Clinic tomorrow at University of the Pacific at Stockton.

The groups, will join with an estimated 2,000 other high school students from Northern California, Nevada, and Arizona in performing a program selected by John Hutford, program director.

Giants Loosen Purse Strings For Mays

Willie Mays may become the highest paid player in baseball history by this time next week.

"I think I had a good enough season in 1965 to merit a raise," Mays said yesterday.

The center fielder of the San Francisco Giants pulled down $105,000 or so last season. No one got more.

Mays won the major league home run title with a career high of 52, hit .317, knocked in 112 runs and scored 118 himself.

He also captured the National League Most Valuable Payer Award for the second time.

Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president and general manager, said last month, "I suspect reports of $125,000 for former Boston Red Sox outfielder Ted Williams might be a little high. But regardless, Willie will probably top all figures."

Feeney negotiates contracts with all the Giants except Mays. That little chore is left to Feeney's father-in-law, Club President Horace Stoneham. If there's ever been any haggling between owner Stoneham and Mays, no one's ever heard about it.

In the past, Stoneham has shown pride that his center fielder draws the highest salary in baseball.

"Willie is not second',' the owner said emphatically once when asked if Mays or Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was the game's highest paid player.

The 34-year-old Mays has just arrived home from a nationwide tour to accept awards at various dinners. His and Stoneham's absence from San Francisco have prevented them from talking about the contract earlier, Mays said.

"We'll have our get-together next week, either at Candlestick Park or maybe we can transact our business over the phone," Mays said. "But there will be no trouble."

There was trouble, however, toward the end of the 1965 season when a misunderstanding led to a story that Mays had been advised by bank president Jake Shemano to ask for $150,000.

Mays paid a personal call on Stoneham to say the report was untrue. Shemano said he never intruded in Mays' contract negotiations but only gave advice once Willie got the money.

"No one talks for me when I talk pay," Mays said then. "Mr. Stoneham and I never had an argument over salary. The longest huddle over contract we ever had was five minutes."

The forthcoming five-minute huddle is not expected to produce a $150,000 contract because of the large increase it would represent and the income tax structure.

SPORTS AND BOAT SHOW OPENS AT COW PALACE

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Case Of The Missing Warden; Sausalito's Indoor Sports

WHAT'S THIS?—I find it difficult to believe that the Marin Rod and Gun Club did not invite game warden Al Giddings to its birthday banquet last Saturday night. Especially since the MRGC takes pride in its conservation work and Giddings is a champion of that cause.

A LOCAL TENNIS pro is eyeing Marinship property for an indoor tennis layout, according to my southern Marin undercover agents. That's just what Sausalito needs: MORE indoor sports.

I-J SKI SCENE columnist Rosemary Seal started yesterday's column with ,"It's hard to decide what's prettier—an attractive girl in stretch pants or a tall pine tree plastered in snow."

It is? Well, I don't know about you, Rosie, but I'll take a tall, attractive girl in stretch pants plastered in the snow ANYTIME.

WHEN THE teachers of Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools play their annual faculty basketball game at SRHS tomorrow night they'd better be on their best behaviour. One of the refs will be Carl J. Brown, vice president of the San Rafael Board of Education, who specializes in vice on the boards, I imagine.

A man of high principles, Brown, I am sure, will be in complete command of his faculties.

WHEN SAN RAFAEL'S Bill Guyman watches sports on television these highly-perfected-electronic days he can't help but reminisce about the late 1940's when he helped pioneer TV sports coverage in Northern California.

"The difference between then and now," smiles Guyman, "is like A and Z. Or better yet, a Model T alongside a 1966 Mustang."

"It's particularly fascinating to me," he continued, "because I had the first commercial sports TV show in Northern California back in 1948. Our equipment and techniques then were archaic compared with today's 'Wide World Of Sports' type of coverage."

Guyman had the old "Pix In Sports" live and local show over KPIX in 1948 and remembers one program on which he persuaded racing mogul William B. Kyne to bring one of his thoroughbreds into the studio, which was located in one of San Francisco's better hotels.

"WELL," GUYMAN chortled. "we had only one camera in those days and wouldn't you know it that mare stuck her rear end right up to the camera. Thus, I presented the first television coverage of a horse's rear end in history! You can imagine the ribbing I took. TWO of us on the same show!"

Although the old gray mare ain't what she used to be, Guyman is still dealing in horsepower. He's salesman for Ames Ford Co. in San Rafael, and you'd better believe it, friends, that he knows one end of a Mustang from the other.

Mustang: "Mr. Guyman, did you know mother?"

Guyman: "Certainly, son. In fact, all of us horsemen knew 'er." (Milton Berle: 1918.)

SPORTS BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

GOLF

PALM SPRINGS — Harold (Catfish) Kneece, who has never won a major golf tournament, fired his second straight four-under-par 68 and took a four-stroke lead in the second round of the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

PALM DESERT — John Cook, a 35-year-old professional from Jonesboro, Ark., took the lead in the second round of the $10,000 Hope of Tomorrow Tournament with a four-under-par 66 for a total of 134.

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla.—Herman Keiser and Jack Isaacs took the lead in the PGA Quarter Century Club Tourney with a four-under-par 68.

GENERAL

CHICAGO—The Illinois Athletic Commission renewed the Illinois boxing license of WBA heavyweight champion Ernie Terrell and cleared the way for a possible Chicago title match between Terrell and generally-accepted world champion Cassius Clay.

NEW LONDON, Conn.—The Coast Guard Academy announced the appointment of Lt. Cmdr. Frank S. Kapral as head football coach to replace Capt. Otto Graham, who resigned last week to become head coach of the Washington Redskins of the NFL.

NEW YORK—Joe Reichler, Associated Press sports writer for 22 years and a widely known expert in the field of baseball journalism, was named director of public relations for baseball by Commissioner William D. Eckert.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA, Calif.—Tudor Fame, $72.20, shot up the middle from eighth place and won the $29,450 Arcadia Handicap by a neck over Plaque at Santa Anita.

HIALEAH, Fla.—Ginger Fizz, $16.60, closed with a rush and outran Grey Dawn 2nd by two lengths in the Tavernier Purse at Hialeah Park.

MACHEN DOWN — Referee moves in to start count on Eddie Machen (left) after he either slipped or was knocked down by Germany's Karl Mildenberger in their dull, 10-round heavyweight fight in Frankfurt, Germany last night. Machen lost a decision. (AP Wirephoto)

FADING MACHEN LOSES TO GERMAN CHAMPION

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Germany's Karl Mildenberger and California's Eddie Machen, a couple of cautious heavyweights, held to form last night. Mildenberger won as expected and the fight was dull, which was no surprise either.

The 28-year-old West German holds the European crown and hoped to use the fight as a springboard to a title fight with champion Cassius Clay. The left-hander was awarded a unanimous decision in a 10-rounder although the verdict was greeted by both cheers and whistles by the crowd of about 12,000.

Mildenberger's victory, over the fading, 33-year-old American did little to enhance his title aspirations.

In an odd shift, the German Boxing Federation replaced referee Gerhard Seewald at the start of the seventh round, sending in Hans Bertram. The official explanation was that Seewald was ill but ringside observers felt he was replaced for parting the fighters too quickly in the earlier rounds.

Mildenberger weighed 196½ pounds, Machen 192¼.

Ike Leads Arnie's Army, But Kneece Leads Scores

By BOB MYERS

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Led by Harold Kneece, a personable young man with the nickname of Catfish, the unheralded professionals of golf continued to dominate the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic as play resumed today.

There are still 54 holes to be played in this five day, 90-hole tournament. And such fellows as Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., and Ken Venturi could make up a lot of ground in the three remaining rounds.

Kneece, whose nickname stems from his boyhood, when he loved to fish, leads the field by four strokes with successive rounds of 68 for 136.

"I like to catch catfish but I don't like to eat 'em," said Kneece. He added he generally carries fishing tackle with him on his golf trips, but not this time. Fishing, especially for catfish, is somewhat foreign to this romantic sage-and-sagebrush country.

Tied up at 140 as the third round began were Jack McGowan, with 66-74; R. H. Sikes, 70-70 and Jack Rule, 72-68.

Palmer, with 71-70, was tied at 141 with six other players but his morale may suffer without a distinguished supporter.

That would be former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who took personal command of Arnie and his army yesterday at the Eldorado Country Club.

The general, in one of his first appearances in public since his recent heart attack, looked thin but healthy. He wore brown slacks and matching sports jacket and a saucy straw hat, with a feather tacked in the ribbon.

Ike walked all but one of the nine holes — the long, par-5, No. 13 when he climbed into his golf cart — and frequently conversed with Palmer, apparently about Classic strategy.

The General and Palmer had the situation under control for the nine holes they toured together, leaving Palmer two under par. But when Ike left, Palmer was forced to make a truce with par on the other nine.

Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, slipped to a 73 and was tied at 142 with among others, Al Geiberger and Doug Sanders.

Kneece, who has been on the PGA circuit since 1960, has never won a tournament. But in each of the first two rounds here, he required only 20 putts, and in the second round, playing Indiana Wells, he had only one bogey.

MILWAUKEE MUDDLE

Eckert Sees No Solution

NEW YORK (AP) — "I wish I had some magic and knew how to come up with a plan to satisfy Milwaukee and keep baseball out of courts."

That is what William D. Eckert, the new baseball commissioner, said yesterday in acknowledging he can see no compromise plan in time to forestall a Feb. 28 Milwaukee trial of a lawsuit against the Braves.

"I have been in touch with all the parties interested in the Milwaukee situation and I'm available," Eckert said, "but the matter is not in my hands now. It is in court until the situation is settled."

The former Air Force general, who took over as commissioner last Nov. 18, said he was strongly in favor of expansion

Mariners Take On Napa '5'

College of Marin Tars will be trying to stretch their winning basketball streak to 13 tonight when they host the tough Napa Chiefs in Kentfield. Tip off is at 8 o'clock.

Fred Arnold, Marin's 6-foot-7 rebounding whiz, will be out of the game because of a twisted ankle, suffered in Wednesday night's game against Siskiyous in Weed. He hurt his ankle trying for a rebound early in the game, which Marin eventually won in overtime, 78-73.

With Arnold out of the lineup tonight, that means much of the boardwork will have to come from Jim Halm, the other 6-7 cager on the Tars' front line. Joining Halm in the starting lineup will be Rod Minto (6-3) and Larry Wolfe (6-3) at forwards and Lorry Galassi (5-11) and Don Hanson (6-1) at guards.

TOPS LEAGUE

Marin is on top of Golden Valley Conference standings with a 5-0 mark, and Napa is on its heels at 3-1, so it should be quite a game tonight.

Bill Pandiani, little 5-6 guard for the Tars, will get his share of action as he has shown his worth as a key reserve. It was the quick-moving Pandiani's free throws that put Marin ahead for keeps in the overtime period against Siskiyous.

Marin fans are wondering how long Marin's momentum will continue, but none are anxious for it to end. After losing their first four games of the season, the Tars came back to win 14 of their next 15 to boost their record to a lusty 14 wins and 5 losses.

High School League Opens Second Half

Six of the seven teams in the Marin Athletic League start the second half of their loop schedule tonight.

Drake is at Redwood, Tam is at Novato and Terra Linda is at Marin Catholic. Their Class B counterparts start off the action at 7 o'clock, with varsity games following at about 8:15. San Rafael will have a bye.

The Redwood-Drake game shapes up as the games of the night, since Redwood is in first place with a 5-1 mark and Drake is tied for second a game back at 4-2. Tam, tied with Drake, is just ahead of Novato (3-3), so that game should be a thriller, also. Terra Linda is even at 3-3 and Marin Catholic is next to last with a 2-4 mark.

HOME EDGE

In the first go around, Drake stunned Redwood 66-54, Tam out-defensed Novato 36-35, and Marin Catholic beat Terra Linda 50-47. Drake and Tam won on their own courts, and most basketball experts give a few points to the home team because of the "home court advantage."

In the Class B race, Tam is two games ahead of the pack with an unblemished 6-0 mark. Next come Terra Linda and Marin Catholic at 4-2, Redwood and San Rafael at 3-3, Drake 1-5 and Novato winless in 6 tries.

RECREATION CAGE

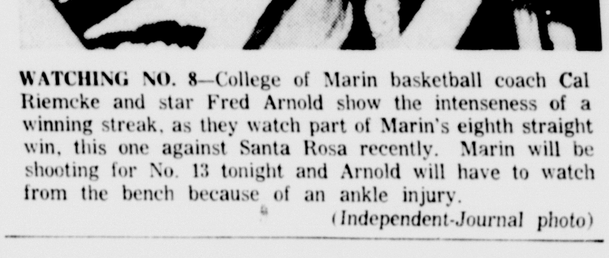
Results of last night's games in the San Rafael Adult Basketball League: Fox Petroleum Equipment (Tom Corbett, 15) d. Harding Gophers (Glen Schrevder, 10) 51-36; Sheriff's (Chuck Prandi, 16) d. Indian Valley Lumber (Rich Curry, 12) 77-50; Native Sons (Kent Rossi, 20) d. San Francisco Theological Seminary (Jack Waller,20), 49-39; Marin's Marines d. Montgomery Ward by forfeit.



WATCHING NO. 8—College of Marin basketball coach Cal Riemcke and star Fred Arnold show the intenseness of a winning streak, as they watch part of Marin's eighth straight win, this one against Santa Rosa recently. Marin will be shooting for No. 13 tonight and Arnold will have to watch from the bench because of an ankle injury.

April 19 Target For Terrell-Clay

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Athletic Commission has renewed Ernie Terrell's license to fight, warming up the possibility of a heavyweight title bout in Chicago with Cassius Clay.

Target date, if the fight can be arranged, is April 19.

Terrell, recognized as world champion by the World Boxing Assn., was denied a license in New York last week. The New York Commission said Terrell had been hobnobbing with Bernie Glickman, an alleged pal of underworld figures.

Terrell said Glickman never has been more than a booking agent for his rock 'n roll night club group and that he was not even that any more.

"We have no questions about Terrell," said Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois Commission yesterday. "We renewed his license. As for the commission sanctioning a Clay-Terrell fight, I have set up a tentative meeting for next Thursday in the event the Louisville people who manage Clay want to make an appearance."

"Nobody has signed anything yet," said Bentley. "And until they do, there is no fight. But Jacko sounded encouraging when we telephoned him yesterday in Miami and said he would get in touch with us again."

Serena Takes Lead In Race To Mexico

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Decreasing winds today favored Ken Demeuse's 83-foot schooner Serena which was pushed into the lead at the halfway mark of the San Diego-to-Acapulco yacht race.

The Serena, scrach boat from San Francisco, was in front of the 25-boat fleet as the competition entered its fifth day's run, mainly because of failing winds which caused extensive reshuffling of positions.

The Serena logged 197 miles during the fourth day's run to overtake the pace-setting Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch, which dropped to second-place 753 miles out of San Diego and 29 miles behind the leader at last report.

Larry Maio's Redhead, a 40-foot sloop from San Diego, seized the over-all handicap and class B lead from the Aegaeon with a 151 mile run in 24 hours. The 57-foot yawl Ondine from Larchmont, N.Y. wrested the class A lead from the Whistle Wing.

The Serena was last reported a little more than 109 miles ahead of the record pace set by Sirius II in 1964 when it covered the 1,430-mile course in 8:09:15:49.

Sports Almanac Project Started In Mill Valley

The almanac contains records and pictures of a resume of sporting events during the year 1965. Mill Valley's edition will have a cover photograph showing the finish of the 1965 Dipsea Race at Stinson Beach, according to Jerome C. Hauke, project chairman.

Jaycees are going from business to business in Mill Valley and Strawberry asking merchants to help sponsor the book and have two competitive teams, the Goldbricks, headed by Robert Gaskill and the Blue Chips, led by Michael Walker. This is the first year the chamber has worked on such an almanac.

Williams Fans Up In Arms . . .

Okay, everybody, stand back! It's Customer Day at the store.

Ted Williams didn't belong in the Hall of Fame? Sez you, Murray!

Now, let the public tell it. Don't get any on you.

"Your article concerning Ted Williams . . . prompts this letter of bitter protest. Many times in the past . . . I have been tempted to complain about your artificial lionizing of the exploits of the colored stars . . . I simply don't believe they are as great as you have tried to make . . . believe. Your columns are consistently devoted to this sort of . . . propaganda. I have admired Ted Williams because he has never succumbed to a certain power-structure which I call 'THE SPORTSWRITERS.' You cheap creeps have been riding him for years because he would not knuckle under . . . " Vic Chenven, Orinda.

—You sure know how to hurt a fellow, Vic. And I only "lionize" lions.

"Last week we had our cesspool cleaned out and now we know where . . . you sportswriters live. Because it would take living in that kind of environment to write such a column about a ball player, namely, Theodore Samuel Williams. Why didn't you have the guts to mention that Ted spent five of the best years of his life as a Marine pilot—twice had to belly land in the Korean War?" J. P. Jones, Granada Hills.

—I didn't want to keep him out of Arlington Cemetery or the history books — just the Hall of Fame.

"Say, you made a fool of yourself . . . your editorial tripe and insult to the greatest left-handed baseball hitter that ever lived." Walter C. Mack, Glendale.

—Only if you consider Babe Ruth a pitcher, Mack.

"You belong in a condensed cartoon next to Dick Tracy entitled 'Cute Acrimony For Sale.' You are typical of the bush L.A. scribes. You are strictly a hacker and get your kicks sniping at real class . . . " Charles Di Noto, Venice.

—Charlie, you're so right! And it was nice to hear from you.

"Well, you finally went off the deep end. If Ted Williams belongs in the Louve, you belong on the Podunk Center Gazette, the Cassius Clay of sportswriting." N. L. Cheney, Westminster.

—Now, jut a darn minute! Clay isn't going to like that a bit. HE thinks I'm the Floyd Patterson of sportswriting.

"So Ted didn't lead his team to pennants! So what? I also think that an outfielder who runs into fences ought to have his head examined." Paul Pulasky, Huntington Beach.

—Not to say his arms, legs and sacroilac.

"Your rotten attack on Ted Williams is a disgrace. A poor comic writer and a worse sportswriter, you're a disgrace to an already run-down business. You're real bush. I never thought too much of you." Tom Moray, Hollywood.

Why, Tom! I'd never guess!

"I am not prone to writing letters to movie stars, politicians, sports figures and especially frustrated would-be humorists like yourself. It could be by some error your column appeared in the sports section instead of the comic section. Your illiterate remarks had the logic of a blithering idiot. You write such an odoriferous (stinking, to you) column." Ernest E. Fintor, Gardena.

—Well, I'll say one thing: You're frank, Ernest.

"Have had great pleasure in reading you the past few years and never bothered to write and thank you. Today you write the Williams story, which I do not like, so naturally you are going to hear from me." Arthur Robinson, Clark Hotel.

—Naturally.

"You all but say (and you will ultimately deny it) that Williams COST the Red Sox ome pennants . . . " Jack Lockwood, Glendale.

—Never deny anything, Jack.

"My dear Mr. Murray, I could go on but I am sure it would be a waste of time to try to convince a idiotic, bigoted and prejudiced derelict of the written word, such as one Jim Murray, who 'heaven knows why' is a sports writer with the Los Angeles Times." T. E. Barron, Hudson, Wisconsin.

—They tell me Heaven is just as mystified as everyone else, T.E.

Lions Call Off $2 Million Rebellion

DETROIT (AP) — The long winter of discontent in pro football has taken another stormy turn with the revelation that members of the Detroit Lions have held a secret meeting with an eye toward getting $2 million in increased salaries and bonuses.

William Clay Ford, owner of the National Football League club, acknowledged that veteran players had met recently with a Teamsters Union member on hand, and had reached agreement on the $2 million figure before deciding to let the issue drop.

Ford, however, emphasized that "it all has blown over."

Still it is another indication of growing discontent among veteran players in both professional leagues over the lucrative contracts being handed out to rookies.

Last month former St. Louis Coach Wally Lemm confirmed that veteran players on the NFL's Cardinals had held a similar meeting while linebacker Nick Buoniconti of the American League's Boston Patriots publicly discussed player dissatisfaction over the huge bonus trend.

Ford, meanwhile, was asked to confirm a report that the Lions had held such a meeting. When he did, he was asked if the demands included a reported $300,000 in increased salaries.

"That was a low estimate," said Ford. "It was $1.7 shy of the mark.

"As I understand it, they (the players) decided there was no reason to make such a demand and it all has blown over. I have been told there is no reason for me to worry about this."

Ford said he didn't know why a Teamsters official had been at the meeting "unless whoever organized the meeting thought it would be beneficial to have somebody with collective bargaining experience there."

Ford's comments came after two local reports — by Executive Sports Editor George Puscas of the Detroit Free Press and Sports Director Bob Reynolds of radio station WJR. Reynolds said that 14 "disgruntled veterans" had met.

Receiver Gail Cogdill, meanwhile, was quoted as criticizing Coach Harry Gilmer at a Wednesday night speaking engagement, saying if the Lions' rookie coach returned next year he "might be the only one who does."

Cogdill denied making the statements, although two reporters who attended the function at which Cogdill spoke said he had been quoted correctly.

Also among the statements attributed to Cogdill was a blast at the Lions' salary schedule.

"They (management) told us the Lions were the highest paying team in the league," Cogdill was quoted. "But we did some investigating. The team rates 10th" in salaries in the NFL.

Despite Cogdill's denial, Lions' General Manager Edwin Anderson said the club would make a complete, investigation of the matter.

"If it's found that Cogdill made such statements," said Anderson, "we will then take the necessary disciplinary action."

MAYS GOING INTO THE HARDWARE BUSINESS

Home from a nation-wide tour of awards dinners at which he collected a roomful of glittering hardware, San Francisco Giant star Willie Mays poses with some of the trophies. He is expected to sign baseball's all-time most lucrative contract next week. Story on page 37. (AP Wirephoto)

Midwest Next In AFL's Expansion

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss predicts that the American Football League will have 14 or 16 teams by 1970.

Foss told a Boston Patriots award dinner last night that his own plan was "to add one team each year." He said, "We've already taken in Miami for 1966 and we'll announce at least one more team and possibly two this spring."

"We need a team in the Midwest," Foss continued. "Chicago, of course, is the top territory. However, I think we'd do very well in Milwaukee and we wouldn't hurt the Packers."

The Green Bay Packers of the National Football League now play three league games each season in Milwaukee.

Foss said that with all the baseball trouble in Milwaukee, "I think Milwaukee fans would turn out in force to back one of their own teams."

He said "whether the city is Milwaukee, Chicago, Cincinnati or Columbus, Ohio, I think we need a team in the Midwest.

"We've got a good location in the South with Miami. And in the Far West we may have to do something with the Los Angeles complex, taking advantage of such facilities as Chavez Ravine or Pasadena or Anaheim."

Foss said "the availability of stadiums is the big thing in expansion. Without good facilities, you can't expand into a city even though it may have the population."

The commissioner was asked about a league ruling against players wearing goatees or beards.

"Our players aren't seen in hotel lobbies wearing sweatshirts, slacks and sneakers," he answered. "They're gentlemen and we want them to show it."

He said the ruling against beards was made by the owners and he would see that it was enforced.

Before the dinner, given by Patriots boosters called the 1776 Club, Foss met with All-Star linebacker Nick Buoniconti to discuss the latter's complaint that he and others in the league were planning to play out their options in 1966 in an attempt to get pay raises.

"We aren't ever going to try to silence a player who wants to announce a decision to exercise his right to play out his option," Foss said later. "We just want him to limit his announcement to his own personal decision without mentioning other players in the league."

He said when a player "talks about players on other clubs playing out their options, it's the job of the commissioner to step in. It can be detrimental to the league."

Heavyweight Bout Ruled No Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In the opinion of the referee, the two heavyweights had fought to a standstill — or at least danced to one.

Referee George Latka was not impressed with the efforts of top ranking contender Amos (Big Train) Lincoln of Los Angeles or his challenger, Henry Clark of San Francisco.

After eight rounds, Latka ruled the bout no contest and stopped the fight.

His decision stunned a crowd of 4,700, that apparently thought the ring official was going to award the 203-pound Lincoln a technical knock out.

As the referee's decision was announced over the loudspeaker, the Olympic Auditorium echoed with boos and cheers.

Lincoln, who hasn't fought since Nov. 22, immediately announced he would appeal Latka's decision to the California Athletic Commission. He appeared stale, his punches glancing off the 215-pound Clark, apparently without effect.

Clark also said he would protest. A veteran of only 12 pro fights, he had held back throughout the fight, using defensive tactics. Occasionally he would batter Lincoln with a spurt of quick jabs that failed to stun the veteran.

Dons Breeze To 83-43 Cage Win

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A drubbing was the only way to describe the basketball bore last night when the University of San Francisco whipped the University of California at Santa Barbara 83-43.

The game fell apart for the Gauchos after the first five minutes of play, and they scored only 11 points — to San Francisco's 42 — in the first half.

High scorer for the Dons was Joe Ellis, who accounted for 18 points. High man for the Gauchos was reserve center John Hiles, who hit for 10.

The Dons, coasting through much of the second half, put in a lot of reserves for the fun of it, making their season record a perfect 4-0. Santa Barbara's season tally was just the opposite, 0-4.

Police Guard Star After Mail Threat

BOSTON (AP) — The authorities seemed more disturbed than Gordie Howe last night that the superstar of the Detroit Red Wings had received a threatening letter.

Howe, given a police escort while he was in the city for last night's game with the Boston Bruins, didn't let it affect his playing as he scored his 20th goal of the year and assisted linemate Alex Delvecchio on the Detroit captain's 300th National Hockey League goal.

Police ringed the stadium to be sure that nothing more than a few chiding remarks from the fans was thrown at Howe or that no unauthorized individual approached him.

And, except for a brief display of temper which netted Howe two minutes in the penalty box for a high stick, there were no incidents.

Detroit won the game 4-2 and climbed into a tie with idle Chicago for the National Hockey League lead.

Boston Police Capt. Peter J. Donovan headed the police detail keeping watch on the 37-year-old Howe. He said he was sent a copy of the anonymous letter Howe received at Detroit two or three weeks ago by the FBI.

Donovan said the writer identified himself as a 6-foot-4 Negro weighing 240 pounds and he said the letter was mailed from Brooklyn, N.Y.

He also said a detective interviewed Howe without picking up a lead.

Howe's reaction was one of irritation at the publicity.

"Now my wife will be worried," he complained. "And once the story is out, then you get a lot of these things."

Donovan said the letter used obscene language.

A spokesman for the Red Wings said Howe turned the letter over to Manager-coach Sid Abel, who forwarded it to League President Clarence Campbell. Campbell sent it to the FBI.

The letter writer threatened to throw paper clips on the ice, a move which causes skaters to stumble and has resulted in serious injury to many players in the past.

The letter also said:

"If the players don't get you I will."

Howe also was watched by police when Detroit made a visit to New York's Madison Square Garden last week.

Injuns, Cal Host Oregon Cage Teams

Final examinations are out of the way and the cagers of the Pacific Athletic Conference tonight resume the hectic chase for the conference basketball crown.

Stanford, UCLA, and Oregon State are tied for the lead with 3-1 records.

The Beavers invade California (1-3) tonight while Stanford hosts Oregon, which is 2-2 but has been red hot since backcourt ace Jim Barnett returned to top shape. The California teams will swap foes Saturday which means the Indians and Beavers will face in a showdown test.

UCLA, still the title favorite, takes on Washington State (1-3) tomorrow at Pullman. Edgar Lacey sat out the Bruins' nonconference win over Arizona Monday, but will return Saturday. The junior star is suffering from bursitis.

Southern California (2-2) meets Washington (1-3) tomorrow afternoon in televised action.

UCLA Cage Star Washington Hurt

Starting guard Kenny Washington has been sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, Bruin coach Johnny Wooden revealed yesterday.

Freddie Goss, who is suffering from an undiagnosed blood ailment, probably will replace Washington.

Forward Edgar Lacey is still suffering from bursitis of the knee and reserve forward Randy Judd has just returned to practice after being out with a skin disorder.

But Wooden said he hopes both will be ready for Saturday's game at Washington State and Monday's meeting with Washington in Seattle.

San Jose '5' Turns Back Santa Clara

SAN JOSE (AP)—S. T. Saffold scored 20 points and took down 14 rebounds last night in leading San Jose State over Santa Clara 74-69 in a West Coast Athletic Conference basketball game.

Saffold's lay-in with 5½ minutes left in the game gave the Spartans a 56-55 lead they never relinquished. Santa Clara then began to foul trying to get the ball and the Spartans capitalized with 14 free throws before the game ended.

San Jose was seven points down in the first half before Pete Newell hit four baskets in the three minutes before intermission, cutting the Bronco lead to 35-32, at half. Newell topped scorers with 21 points.

Terry Porter and Eric Paulson scored 15 points each for the Broncos, now 2-2 in WCAC play and 10-7 over-all. San Jose is 3-1 and 7-7.

but emphasized such a program had to be worked out on a sound basis.

"Do I consider it a league matter?" he asked, anticipating a question. "It's obviously a league matter but it's also a matter for the commissioner. Anything pertaining to baseball is the commissioner's concern, the way I view it."

Milwaukee interests, faced with the prospect of losing the Braves to Atlanta, applied for another National League franchise last December. The request was denied.

"I don't think we can put a team in Milwaukee this year," Eckert declared. "In fact, I don't see how we can have expansion in all next year or so without diluting the present clubs. After all, we've had 25 per cent expansion in the last few years and I think that's quite something."

Eckert said expansion should be a long range development, but he said he would like to see plans put into effect as soon as feasible for adding more teams to the present 20-team setup in the American and National Leagues.

"I don't think we need government or federal regulations, either," he said. "If you can carry out an expansion program without court or federal regulations, you're better off in getting things done."

Palmer Extends Money Winnings

Palmer's $3,037 for his third place tie at San Francisco gave him a total of $23,787 for the first month this year. That includes $9,750 in winnings outside the PGA tour.

Billy Casper is next with earnings of $11,838. He got $10,008 on the tour.

Ken Venturi's $8,500 in the Lucky vaulted him into third place with a total of $9,478. Venturi got only $340 outside the tour.

Others in the top 10 with official and total winnings: Miller Barber, $7,458 and $7,683; Frank Beard, $7,062 and $7,765; Tom Weiskopf, $6,137 and $6,137; Paul Harney, $5,250 and $5,596; Dave Ragan, $4,833 and $5,670; Don January, $4,700 and $4,840, and Charles Sifford $4,195 and $4,528.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Cisco Brings Back Memories; Bad News For Steelie Anglers

STEVENS

Did you ever notice how a picture or even a word brings a wave of nostalgia to you? Such a wave hit me head-on when I read the word "cisco" in a late release from the Department of Fish and Game. Brought memories of fishing Lake Michigan at Mackatawa. Made me remember the mouth-watering taste of "smoked whitefish." My taste buds come full bloom at the mere mention.

The news item concerning the cisco mentions that "The third and final introduction of Bonneville cisco was made in Lake Tahoe earlier this month."

AN ESTIMATED 5,000 of the little (they only grow to about eight or ten inches) were planted in Tahoe. According to the DFG release, the cisco will be sought by other fishes populating the lake as a forage fish. That's okay. When they start spawning they come close to shore and are easy to catch in hand nets. To me that is not so okay. I recall that when a cisco was hooked while fishing for the yellow perch of Lake Michigan, we had a battle on our hands. They really put up a fight when taken on trout tackle. Too bad, they are so taken (in dip nets, I mean) when they should be rated a true game fish. Perhaps the little fellows will be protected when they are on a spawning run. Here's hoping they are.

ANYONE PLANNING a steelhead trip to the Russian River is liable to be bitterly disappointed unless it clears sooner than ever before. In addition to the tributaries pushing dirty water into the main stream, the Army Engineers were scheduled to begin releasing water from Lake Mendocino last Sunday. That means "curtains" for fishing for at least five or six days.

WHENEVER THE rains stay away long enough to allow the various steelhead streams to become fishable, and if you succeed in getting a fish or two and if it is a "downstreamer," but is in good condition — not having frayed fins and tail — don't, I implore you, look with disdain at your catch, or listen to what many of your fellow anglers say about a "spent" steelhead. Above all, don't commit the crime of unhooking the fish and leaving him to gasp out his last breath on the beach. Believe me when I say it's almost impossible to tell a spent steelhead from a fresh-runner. And when served at the table I challenge any epicurean fish eater to tell the difference.

ANOTHER THING you may bet on, is the battle of that off-duty battler! Except that he will seldom leap completely out of the water as will the fresh steelies, the under water battle he puts up is simply out of this world. The longest fight I ever had was with a spent female at the beach side of the highway hole on the Navarro. It took me well over an hour to beach that crazy fish, and it only weighed around 10 or 12 pounds at the most.

I mention all this because from now until the last day of the season nearly 50 per cent of the steelhead landed will be down-streamers.

Drew Hall Named New President Of Tennis Club

The new board of directors for the Novato Tennis Club will meet next Wednesday, 8 p.m., at Lynwood School, and invites anyone interested in presenting ideas to the group.

Interested persons can also submit ideas by writing to treasurer Mrs. Harold Nelson of 1248 Denlyn Street, Novato.

Drew Hall is new president of the board, Paul Wilkins is vice president, and Mrs. Brig Young is secretary. Other board members are Mesdames Willard Denny, Manuel Soares and Alan White.

While present by-laws limit membership to persons living within the boundaries of the Novato Unified School District, the new board will soon be asking the membership to amend the by-laws to permit anyone to join and participate, said Hall.

Marin Fighter Hurt, Quits G.G. Tourney

Dave Tounsel of San Rafael, the only one of a five-man Mar-Vel Athletic Club team to make it to the semi-finals of the Golden Gloves boxing tournament in San Francisco, won't be able to fight.

"On advice from his doctor," said MacPhee, "Tounsel has to pull out of the tournament." Gonzalez, the man he beat, will fight in tonight's semi-finals in his place, MacPhee said.

Bill Goelz and Norm Kreuter, two of the other San Rafael club fighters, lost their single-elimination matches, and Homer Hall and Morlin Smith pulled out before the tourney started.

Seals In Good Shape For Drive At Playoff Berth

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—The San Francisco Seals hope that the trip through six American Hockey League cities can lead them into fourth place in the Western Hockey League.

The Seals open their marathon tonight at Rochester, the toughest AHL team they will face during their Eastern swing. Tomorrow they face Cleveland and Sunday they take on Buffalo. Visits to Baltimore, Hershey and Providence round out the interleague invasion.

It all ends when they return home for a Feb. 16 game with the AHL's big daddy, Quebec, which has a 32-10 win-lost record as it readies for a Western invasion.

The Seals are in "good shape for a playoff berth drive," general manager Bud Poile commented after his team's 4-2 romp at league-leading Victoria Wednesday. Poile is doubling as coach while Charlie Burns recuperates from back surgery.

Three Drake Teachers Planning Far-Flung Sabbatical Journeys

A Sir Francis Drake High School Spanish teacher plans to travel through three continents next school year; a history instructor will spend a year in Europe and the Middle East, and a physical education teacher hopes to teach in Germany or Turkey.

Plans of the three for use of sabbatical leaves have been presented to the Tamalpais High School District Board of Trustees.

The three are Charles Simonds, world history teacher; Miles McColm, Spanish teacher, and George Corson, physical education instructor, all at Drake High.

McColm, who is also district language supervisor, and his wife intend to travel through Mexico, Central and South America, Africa and Europe. McColm said his purpose is to study people and therefore he plans to do only volunteer work throughout the trip. He plans to teach English with what he calls a "natural touch" in the hope of conveying to the children not only the language but a sampling of American culture as well.

CHARLES SIMONDS
Plans year in Europe

MILES McCOLM
To tour three continents

Early in August, Mr. and Mrs. McColm will leave for Mexico to establish their first home with a Mexican family in San Miguel de Allende, a village in the central highlands. From San Miguel, they will travel from one region to another for about a month at a time.

In the spring of 1967, the McColms will move to South America, and when schools reopen, they will resume their volunteer teaching in Peru, Chile, Bolivia, and Paraguay. They will then cross the Atlantic by ship to Africa, where they will visit the Republic of South Africa, Mozambique, Tanzanian, Nigeria, and Liberia. From Africa, they will travel to Europe, where McColm will attend the University of Salamanca in Spain.

McColm, who received his bachelor's degree in Spanish and education from Fresno State College, and his master's degree from University of Southern California, has been with the Tamalpais district for 14 years.

Simonds, history department chairman at Drake, will travel to the Middle East as well as Europe. His trip, scheduled from next August 4 to July 16, 1967, will include Belgium, Spain, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan.

Primary purpose, he said, is to look into the cultures of ancient civilizations, compare the modern with the medieval, see the historical sites and modern conditions.

Simonds and his wife will travel around Europe by Volkswagen camper. He looks forward to a 30-day sail around the Greek islands of the Aegean Sea in an 18-foot sloop.

"This way we'll see Greece as the Greeks would see it," Simonds said.

A graduate of San Jose High School and San Jose State College, Simonds received his master's degree in history from Stanford University.

Corson, his wife and daughter, Cathy, a 1965 Drake graduate, plan to leave in August, returning in time for the fall semester of 1967.

Corson expects to teach boys' physical education at a U.S. Armed Forces dependents' school, in either Germany or Turkey. The family hopes to travel through Italy and southern Spain during the winter holidays.

Corson taught American children abroad in 1960-61 at the Paris American High School. He has been with the Tamalpais District for 23 years, with time out for World War II. He holds bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from College of Pacific (now University of the Pacific). In June, Corson is to receive his secondary administration credential from San Francisco State College.

GEORGE CORSON
Will teach abroad

Container Planting Will Be Discussed

Mrs. William J. Ferguson of Belvedere will speak on "What to Plant in Containers" at the meeting of the Redwood Shade Garden Club at 8 p.m. today at Whitaker Hall of St. Stephen's Parish, Belvedere.

After the speech there will be a demonstration of pruning fuchsias.

Marin Road Funds

Highway users tax funds amounting to $85,992.12 were allocated to Marin County by the state for January, according to the state controller's office. The funds were collected on sales of motor fuel.

Marinites Train As Barbers In Federal Program

Nine Marin County men were among 13 who recently completed a 12-week course in hairdressing at a Strawberry barber shop under the federal Manpower Training Act.

The on-the-job training was co-sponsored by the federal government and Barbers Local 582, according to Manuel Martin of the Marin Town and Country Barber Shop, who was demonstrator for the course.

A new class of 15, including seven from Marin, started the course this week.
